SEC. 211. REDUCTION OF WATER RIGHTS.

(a) Reduction of TBI Eligible Acres.—

(1) In general.—Consistent with this title and as provided in the UVD agreement to assist in reducing the total water demand for irrigation use in the upper valley of the Gila River, the Secretary shall provide funds to the Gila Valley Irrigation District and the Franklin Irrigation District (hereafter in this section referred to as "the Districts") for the acquisition of UV decreed water rights and the extinguishment of those rights to decrease demands on the Gila River, or severance and transfer of those rights to the San Carlos Irrigation Project for the benefit of the Community and the San Carlos Irrigation and Drainage District in accordance with applicable law.

(2) Acquisitions.—

(A) Required phase I acquisition.—Not later than December 31 of the third calendar year that begins after the enforceability date (or December 31 of the first calendar year that begins after the payment provided by subparagraph (D)(iii), if later), the Districts shall acquire the UV decreed water rights appurtenant to 1,000 acres of land (other than special hot lands).

(B) Required phase II acquisition.—Not later than December 31 of the sixth calendar year that begins after the enforceability date (or December 31 of the first calendar year that begins after the payment provided by subparagraph (D)(iii), if later), the Districts shall acquire the UV decreed water rights appurtenant to 1,000 acres of land (other than special hot lands). The reduction of TBI eligible acres under this subparagraph shall be in addition to that accomplished under subparagraph (A).

(C) Additional acquisition in case of settlement.—If the San Carlos Apache Tribe reaches a comprehensive settlement that is approved by Congress and finally approved by all courts the approval of which is required, the Secretary shall offer to acquire for fair market value the UV decreed water rights associated with not less than 500 nor more than 3,000 TBI eligible acres of land (other than special hot lands).

(D) Methods of acquisition for rights acquired pursuant to subparagraphs (A) and (B).—

(i) Determination of value.—

(I) Appraisals.—Not later than December 31 of the first calendar year that begins after the enforceability date in the case of the phase I acquisition, and not later than December 31 of the fourth calendar year that begins after the enforceability date in the case of the phase II acquisition, the Districts shall submit to the Secretary an appraisal of the average value of water rights appurtenant to 1,000 TBI eligible acres.

(II) Review.—The Secretary shall review the appraisal submitted to ensure its consistency with the Uniform Appraisal Standards for Federal Land Acquisition and notify the Districts of the results of the review within 30 days of submission of the appraisal. In the event that the Secretary finds that the appraisal is not consistent with such standards, the Secretary shall so notify the Districts with a full explanation of the reasons for that finding. Within 60 days of being notified by the Secretary that the appraisal is not consistent with such Standards, the Districts shall resubmit an appraisal to the Secretary that is consistent with such standards. The Secretary shall review the resubmitted appraisal to ensure its consistency with nationally approved standards and notify the Districts of the results of the review within 30 days of resubmission.

(III) Petition.—In the event that the Secretary finds that such resubmitted appraisal is not consistent with those Standards, either the Districts or the Secretary may petition a Federal court in the District of Arizona for a determination of whether the appraisal is consistent with nationally approved Standards. If such court finds the appraisal is so consistent, the value stated in the appraisal shall be final for all purposes. If such court finds the appraisal is not so consistent, the court shall determine the average value of water rights appurtenant to 1,000 TBI eligible acres.

(IV) No objection.—If the Secretary does not object to an appraisal within the time periods provided in this clause (i), the value determined in the appraisal shall be final for all purposes.

(ii) Appraisal.—In determining the value of water rights pursuant to this paragraph, any court, the Districts, the Secretary, and any appraiser shall take into account the obligations the owner of the land (to which the rights are appurtenant) will have after acquisition for phreatophyle control as provided in the UVD agreement and to comply with environmental laws because of the acquisition and severance and transfer or extinguishment of the water rights.

(iii) Payment.—No more than 30 days after the average value of water rights appurtenant to 1,000 acres of land has been determined in accordance with clauses (i) and (ii), the Secretary shall pay 125 percent of such values to the Districts.

(iv) Reduction of acreage.—No later than December 31 of the first calendar year that begins after each such payment, the Districts shall acquire the UV decreed water rights appurtenant to one thousand (1,000) acres of lands that would have been included in the calculation of TBI eligible acres (other than special hot lands), if the calculation of TBI eligible acres had been undertaken at the time of acquisition. To the extent possible, the Districts shall select the rights to be acquired in compliance with subsection 5.3.7 of the UVD agreement.

(3) Reduction of TBI eligible acres.—Simultaneously with the acquisition of UV decreed water rights under paragraph (2), the number of TBI eligible acres, but not the number of acres of UV subjugated land, shall be reduced by the number of acres associated with those UV decreed water rights.

(4) Alternatives to acquisition.—

(A) Special hot lands.—After the payments provided by paragraph (2)(D)(iii), the Districts may fulfill the requirements of paragraphs (2) and (3) in full or in part, by entering into an agreement with an owner of special hot lands to prohibit permanently future irrigation of the special hot lands if the UVD settling parties simultaneously—

(i) acquire UV decreed water rights associated with a like number of UV decreed acres that are not TBI eligible acres; and

(ii) sever and transfer those rights to the San Carlos Irrigation Project for the benefit of the Community and the San Carlos Irrigation and Drainage District.

(B) Fallowing agreement.—After the payment provided by paragraph (2)(D)(iii), the Districts may fulfill the requirements of paragraphs (2) and (3) in full or in part, by entering into an agreement with 1 or more owners of UV decreed acres and the UV irrigation district in which the acres are located, if any, under which—

California (376 U.S. 340). Such increased consumptive uses shall continue only so long as delivery of Colorado River water to downstream Gila River users in Arizona is being accomplished in accordance with this Act, in quantities sufficient to replace any diminution of their supply resulting from such diversion from the Gila River, its tributaries and underground water sources. In determining the amount required for this purpose, full consideration shall be given to any differences in the quality of the water involved.";

(2) by striking paragraph (2); and

(3) by redesignating paragraph (3) as paragraph (2).

If New Mexico exercises all reasonable efforts to obtain the issuance of such Record of Decision, but the Secretary is not able to issue such Record of Decision by December 31, 2019, for reasons outside the control of the State of New Mexico, the Secretary may extend the deadline for a reasonable period of time, not to extend beyond December 31, 2030.

The amount of such additional payments shall be equal to 25 percent of the total return on the carryover funds earned during the period in question that is in excess of a return on such funds at an annual average effective return of 4 percent, up to a maximum total of not more than $28,000,000, as adjusted to reflect changes since January 1, 2004, in the construction cost indices applicable to the types of construction involved in construction of the New Mexico Unit.

(l) DISCLAIMER.—Nothing in this Act shall affect, alter, or diminish rights to use of water of the Gila River within New Mexico, or the authority of the State of New Mexico to administer such rights for use within the State, as such rights are quantified by article IV of the decree of the United States Supreme Court in Arizona v. California (376 U.S. 340).

(m) PRIORITY OF OTHER EXCHANGES.—The Secretary shall not approve any exchange of Gila River water for water supplied by the CAP that would amend, alter, or conflict with the exchanges authorized by section 304(f) of the Colorado River Basin Project Act (43 U.S.C. 1524(f)).

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Arizona (Mr. HAYWORTH) and the gentlewoman from the Virgin Islands (Mrs. CHRISTENSEN) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Arizona (Mr. HAYWORTH).

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. HAYWORTH. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on S. 437, the Senate bill under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Arizona?

There was no objection.

Mr. HAYWORTH. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, S. 437, sponsored by Senator JOHN KYLE and supported by a bipartisan group of our House colleagues in Arizona and New Mexico, represents years of negotiations among representatives of the Federal Government, the States of Arizona and New Mexico, the Gila River Indian community, as well as various communities in the region.

This bill offers a comprehensive approach to resolving certain Indian water claims and settles long-standing litigation. It also provides long-term water use certainty for non-Indian water users and allows New Mexico to develop long-promised water supplies.

I commend my colleague, Senator KYL, the sponsor of this bill, and so many others for helping foster the historic agreements in this legislation.

Mr. Speaker, this legislation offers most everyone something, but not everything to anyone. It represents hard-fought compromise that deserves passage. I would urge my colleagues to support this bipartisan bill.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. CHRISTENSEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, it is with pleasure that I join my colleagues in support of S. 437. The bill includes several important revisions, including new language in title 4 that will assist the San Carlos Apache Tribe, the White Mountain Apache Tribe, and other tribes in Arizona, as they work to complete their own comprehensive water settlements. I am grateful for the cooperation shown by everyone who participated in this effort.

As I express my support for S. 437, I also wish to remind my colleagues that this legislation is the most significant and far-reaching water settlement legislation ever considered by this House.

Certainly, the benefits to all parties including the United States will be significant. But this legislation will also be very expensive, and many of the costs will be off-budget, avoiding the annual appropriations process.

The legislation, in effect, will settle claims of the Gila River Indian Community by dramatically restructuring the payments for the Central Arizona Project. However, I am satisfied that, on balance, the benefits of this legislation will significantly outweigh the costs on the taxpayers.

We support the passage of S. 437.

Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Arizona (Mr. GRIJALVA).

Mr. GRIJALVA. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the ranking member, the gentleman from West Virginia (Mr. RAHALL), and the chairman of the Committee on Resources, my esteemed colleague, the gentlewoman from the Virgin Islands (Mrs. CHRISTENSEN) for her support on the Committee on Resources for assuring that we would have an opportunity to consider this legislation today.

This important piece of legislation, S. 437, H.R. 885, will begin the process of settling major issues related to water in Arizona today. While I agree this legislation is not perfect, it does provide the opportunity to resolve Indian water rights claims in Arizona and secure water for their future use.

But the benefits of this legislation are not restricted to Indian tribes. The bill will also provide certainty for municipal governments such as the City of Tucson and my district, which will now have assurances as to water supply.

Under this legislation nearly half of the benefits provided by the Central Arizona Project will be available to support economic development within Indian reservations. Two tribes within my district, the Gila River Indian Community and the Tohono o'Odham, are among the beneficiaries of this enhanced opportunity.

In Indian Country today, one of the most difficult hurdles to tribes utilizing their water rights is the high cost of water project development.

While the Federal government over the years has helped facilitate and pay for non-Indian water projects, Indian tribes have been left without such assistance. This legislation, however, provides a reliable funding source which will help pay the operation, maintenance and replacement costs associated with each acre foot of water.

Funding will also be available to underwrite the cost of two tribal water settlements provided by this legislation, approved by this legislation. In addition, a new source of funding will be available to underwrite the costs of new Indian water rights settlements. By making the CAP water and unappropriated funding available, this legislation makes it much more likely that all the remaining Indian water right disputes in Arizona can and will be resolved in the near future.

Finally, the sponsors and the Resources staff members have worked hard to include language in this bill to protect other tribes' future settlements, in particular, White Mountain Apache and San Carlos Apache Tribes. Title IV of this bill provides funding for these tribes and others to work on their own settlements and also makes it clear that the San Carlos Apache Tribe will not be prejudiced in settling their water claims. In addition, the Secretary of Interior is required to report to us annually on efforts to settle the Apache claims that were not settled by the partial San Carlos water settlement in 1992.

I hope all of my colleagues will support this legislation and the innovative effort it represents to resolve some of the most difficult and pressing water management issues in Arizona.

Mr. HAYWORTH. Mr. Speaker, I yield two minutes to the gentleman from New Mexico (Mr. PEARCE).

Mr. PEARCE. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of S. 437. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the gentleman from California (Mr. POMBO) and the ranking member, the gentleman from West Virginia (Mr. RAHALL), along with the subcommittee chairman, the gentleman from California (Mr. CALVERT), and the ranking member, the gentlewoman from California (Mrs. NAPOLITANO), for their hard work in getting an agreement that allows us to vote on this important water settlement bill today.

I would also like to pay tribute to the gentleman from Arizona (Mr. HAYWORTH) and the Arizona delegation in anticipation of receiving the same from them in this bill.

In the 1968 Colorado River Basin Project Act, New Mexico was apportioned 18,000 acre feet of Gila River water. The Gila River's headwaters are in New Mexico and, therefore, New Mexicans always felt like they had claim to some of this water. However, we had not been able to use any of it, and it has simply been paper water.

New Mexicans have long sought to develop this water and because of their willingness to negotiate in good faith and compromise with the State of Arizona and downstream water users, we have now reached an agreement. That agreement is a bipartisan solution which I feel represents the best interests of both States.

This historic water bill will not only provide a settlement to long-standing Indian water rights in Arizona, but it will also ensure Southwestern New Mexico gets the water it was apportioned in the 1968 Act. New Mexico was not able to develop this water because the 1968 Act required New Mexico to keep whole senior water uses in Arizona. After many long months of negotiation, all the necessary agreements between Arizona and New Mexico are in place to allow this bill to move forward.

It is Congress's role to codify agreed-upon settlements, especially where almost every part has been negotiated in good faith for a number of years on very difficult and contentious issues. Without the agreements negotiated between the two States and which are reflected in the amendments to the 2004 Arizona Water Settlements Act, the New Mexico unit could not be developed. However, with this agreement, after nearly 40 years New Mexico water users will be able to develop water that they were promised in 1968.

Mr. Speaker, I urge all of my colleagues to support S. 437.

Mrs. CHRISTENSEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Arizona (Mr. PASTOR).

Mr. PASTOR. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of this critical legislation, which is co-sponsored by the entire Arizona delegation.

Since before the founding of Arizona as a State, we have, like most other Western States, struggled to meet the water demands of our inhabitants. It has not been easy. In 1968, in hopes of resolving these problems, the Central Arizona Project was authorized by the Federal Government and charged with distributing water from the Colorado River to communities and tribes in the central and southern parts of Arizona. However, for decades there have been disputes on the appropriate distribution of these waters, resulting in litigation.

I believe this legislation will resolve most of these disputes. The entire Arizona delegation, both my Democratic and Republican colleagues as well as our two senators and our governor, all believe this is the best possible solution to this water issue. The people, municipalities, Native American tribes and nations and agricultural and environmental organizations within the State also agree.

This legislation represents a significant step forward in Arizona's continuing effort to resolve Native American water rights claims for the benefit of all of the people of Arizona. This bill will resolve the claims of the Gila River Indian community and the remaining claims of the Tohono o'Odham Nation, while laying the groundwork for resolving the other outstanding water right claims of Arizona's Native American communities and nations.

The bill approves and ratifies the Gila River Indian Community Water Rights Settlement Act, amends the Southern Arizona Water Rights Settlement Act of 1982, and affirms the right of the San Carlos Apache Tribe to make future claims for water rights. The Senate has approved this bill unanimously and has passed the House Committee on Resources, which I would like to thank the ranking member, the gentleman from West Virginia (Mr. RAHALL), for bringing this bill to the floor.

It is critical to our State that we approve it here today and move it forward to the President for enactment. I urge my colleagues to follow the lead of all eight Arizona representatives and support its passage.

Mr. BACA. Mr. Speaker, today, I rise in support of S. 437, the Arizona Water Settlements Act.

I am a cosponsor of H.R. 885, the House version of this landmark bill that resolves critical water issues facing Arizona and Arizona tribes today.

Congress authorized the Central Arizona project 35 years ago.

Today, S. 347 offers resolution for water use in Arizona, providing additional water supplies to resolve tribal claims and accommodate rapid population growth.

Among other improvements, this bill designs a solid system and infrastructure to provide Arizona tribes with affordable water.

After many years, tribes in this region, such as the Gila River Indian Community, will be able to retain and maintain their water rights without continuous years of court battles.

Everyone has the right to clean, abundant and affordable water—and our first Americans are no exception.

The Arizona Water Settlements Act will be considered the largest Indian water settlement in U.S. history, and this was obviously no small task.

The bill is strongly supported by appropriate state agencies, the entire Arizona delegation, the Gila River Community, the Tohono O'odham tribe, and a number of diverse Arizona interests.

I commend the Arizona delegation and the Democratic and Republican staff for working through their differences for a polished bill.

I look forward to seeing this bill become law, and the positive changes it will make for Arizona's water supply in the future.

Mr. HAYWORTH. Mr. Speaker, I would simply comment that I welcome the statements of my two colleagues from Arizona on the other side of the aisle. I thank my friend from the Virgin Islands for managing on the minority side.

Mr. Speaker, we have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mrs. CHRISTENSEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. TERRY). The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Arizona (Mr. HAYWORTH) that the House suspend the rules and pass the Senate bill, S. 437.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the Senate bill was passed.

SEC. 115. ADJACENT MANAGEMENT.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Congress does not intend for the designation of wilderness in the State pursuant to this title to lead to the creation of protective perimeters or buffer zones around any such wilderness area.

(b) NONWILDERNESS ACTIVITIES.—The fact that nonwilderness activities or uses can be seen or heard from areas within a wilderness designated under this title shall not preclude the conduct of those activities or uses outside the boundary of the wilderness area.

(b) MANAGEMENT ACTIVITIES.—In furtherance of the purposes and principles of the Wilderness Act, management activities to maintain or restore fish and wildlife populations and the habitats to support such populations may be carried out within wilderness areas designated by this title where consistent with relevant wilderness management plans, in accordance with appropriate policies such as those set forth in Appendix B of House Report 101–405, including the occasional and temporary use of motorized vehicles, if such use, as determined by the Secretary, would promote healthy, viable, and more naturally distributed wildlife populations that would enhance wilderness values and accomplish those purposes with the minimum impact necessary to reasonably accomplish the task.

(c) EXISTING ACTIVITIES.—Consistent with section 4(d)(1) of the Wilderness Act (16 U.S.C. 1133(d)) and in accordance with appropriate policies such as those set forth in Appendix B of House Report 101–405, the State may continue to use aircraft, including helicopters, to survey, capture, transplant, monitor, and provide water for wildlife populations, including bighorn sheep, and feral stock, horses, and burros.

Consistent with section 4 of the Wilderness Act (16 U.S.C. 1133), nothing in this title precludes a Federal, State, or local agency from conducting wildfire management operations (including operations using aircraft or mechanized equipment) to manage wildfires in the wilderness areas designated by this title.

SEC. 121. CLIMATOLOGICAL DATA COLLECTION.

Subject to such terms and conditions as the Secretary may prescribe, nothing in this title precludes the installation and maintenance of hydrologic, meteorologic, or climatological collection devices in the wilderness areas designated by this title if the facilities and access to the facilities are essential to flood warning, flood control, and water reservoir operation activities.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Nevada (Mr. GIBBONS) and the gentlewoman from the Virgin Islands (Mrs. CHRISTENSEN) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Nevada (Mr. GIBBONS).

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on H.R. 4593.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Nevada?

There was no objection.

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 4593 introduced by me and passed in this House on October 4, 2004, was subsequently amended and passed by the Senate.

H.R. 4593 is a broad and complex piece of legislation that, among other things, responsibly deals with the issues of wilderness in Lincoln County, Nevada, through both codification and release of lands currently being managed as wilderness study areas. The bill would also create a 260-mile off-highway vehicle trail, establish roughly 450 miles of utility corridors within the County, and privatize roughly 90,000 acres of public land deemed disposable by the Bureau of Land Management within the County, while conveying roughly 15,000 acres of public land to the State and Lincoln County for use as parks and open space. It is important to note that this proposal enjoys the support of the entire Nevada Congressional delegation and is the product of exhaustive public participation, which is vital in a comprehensive bill such as this.

I urge my colleagues to adopt this bill.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. CHRISTENSEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 4593 has been returned to the House with Senate amendments that both add and detract from the bill that originally passed the House last month. The additions to the bill involve modifications that the Senate made to the Lincoln County, Nevada, public land provisions. These changes bring the bill's language more in line with what has been done previously on public land sales in Nevada.

This refinement has been tempered, however, by the fact that the Senate deleted the designation of the Ojito wilderness in New Mexico that was included in the original House-passed version of H.R. 4593. The gentleman from New Mexico (Mr. UDALL), the sponsor of the Ojito wilderness language, had developed a bipartisan proposal that has significant local, State and national support, and it is regrettable that his language is not this bill before us today.

Mr. Speaker, the amendments made by the Senate to the Lincoln County public lands provisions are an improvement, and notwithstanding the dropping of the Ojito wilderness land designation, we have no objection to the consideration of H.R. 4593 by the House today.

Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as she might consume to the gentlewoman from Nevada (Ms. BERKLEY).

Ms. BERKLEY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to thank the Congresswoman for her courtesy and her help with this legislation.

I rise today in strong support of the Lincoln County Conservation, Recreation, and Development Act of 2004. I would like to thank Senator REID and Senator ENSIGN and my House colleagues, the gentleman from Nevada (Mr. GIBBONS), and the gentleman from Nevada (Mr. PORTER) for their tireless efforts in reaching a compromise on this bipartisan legislation that is important to all Nevadans.

I would also like to thank the gentleman from California (Mr. POMBO) for his leadership and especially acknowledge the gentleman from West Virginia (Mr. RAHALL), a truly good friend who worked with the Nevada delegation to reach this compromise.

The Nevada delegation worked diligently with the people of Lincoln County, the environmental community, wilderness groups, ranchers and officials in southern Nevada to carefully craft this piece of legislation. While every group did not get every provision they wanted in the bill, this is a compromise we are all proud of.

This bill is well-balanced. It will help Lincoln County flourish and create economic opportunities for its citizens. Lincoln County officials and residents will be able to develop their community and expand their financial base. Protecting Nevada's environment is very important to me, and this allows for development without jeopardizing Nevada's precious resources.

The Federal Government owns over 98 percent of the land in Lincoln County. This restricts vital economic growth for the area. Allowing for private development will give the people of Lincoln County a way to increase prosperity for themselves and their children.

The Bureau of Land Management will only auction off approved lands. Lincoln County will use the proceeds from land sales to preserve parks, trails and natural resources Nevadans utilize and the natural beauty Nevadans have grown to love.

Nearly 770,000 acres of land will be designated as wilderness. This will protect treasured sites important to Native Americans in Nevada and rich in archaeological artifacts such as petroglyphs. The Nevada desert is also home to many species of wildlife, such as the sage grouse and desert tortoise.

Nevada is facing an unprecedented challenge as a result of a 5-year drought affecting the Colorado River Basin. This bill provides for additional water resources in southern Nevada which are desperately needed.

I urge all of my colleagues to support this legislation. I appreciate their support and their help.

Mr. PORTER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to speak in support of H.R. 4593, the Lincoln County Conservation, Recreation, and Development Act of 2004.

I appreciate the opportunity to speak in favor of this valuable legislation and I am proud to be an original co-sponsor.

I applaud the local governments of Clark and Lincoln Counties along with the Nevada Delegation and local officials that have helped with this collaborative legislation.

This is the result of many years of work with many parties and I am proud to be part of this legislation.

H.R. 4593 represents an important compromise between the Department of Interior and the State of Nevada. It enjoys strong bipartisan support from the entire Nevada Congressional Delegation.

Nevada's Third District, located in Clark County, is one of the fastest growing areas in the country. The growth has provided many positive opportunities for jobs and created a strong economic climate, but it has also placed an increased strain on our water supply and resources.

The fact is, the State of Nevada, and my congressional district in particular, continue to lead the Nation in population growth, yet we have access to the smallest water allocation of the seven States using the Colorado River.

As drought continues in the West and our State continues to grow, the development of in-state water resources grows increasingly important.

This new legislation will help the development and economy of both Lincoln and Clark Counties while continuing to preserve and protect Nevada's precious lands.

It will help us maintain a balance between land management and public use.

In Clark County we have enjoyed the benefits of improved parks, trails, and recreational areas using the proceeds from Federal land sales.

H.R. 4593 would provide similar opportunities for Lincoln County, located just north of Clark County. It offers a comprehensive plan that will contribute to the proposed development of Nevada's in-state resources intended to diversify southern Nevada's water supply and supplement the area's water entitlement from the Colorado River.

This legislation will help to expedite a solution to southern Nevada's current water situation without compromising public involvement and environmental compliance.

H.R. 4593 will also create utility corridors, resolve wilderness study issues, provide for competitive Federal land sales, and provide for the conveyance of Federal land to the State of Nevada and Lincoln County for use as public parks.

For the past decade Clark County's use of the Colorado River and an emphasis on water conservation have helped us in southern Nevada balance our growth and our need for water; however, as we plan for the future we realize we need additional water resources and planning.

I would like to urge my colleagues in the House to support this important bipartisan legislation and join with me in voting for this amendment.

Mrs. CHRISTENSEN. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Nevada (Mr. GIBBONS) that the House suspend the rules and concur in the Senate amendment to the bill, H.R. 4593.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the Senate amendment was concurred in.

FORT FREDERICA NATIONAL MONUMENT LAND EXCHANGE

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and concur in the Senate amendment to the bill (H.R. 1113) to authorize an exchange of land at Fort Frederica National Monument, and for other purposes.

The Clerk read as follows:

Senate amendment:

Page 2, line 2 strike out "any other provision of law" and insert "section 5(b) of Public Law 90–401 (16 U.S.C. 4601–22(b))".

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Nevada (Mr. GIBBONS) and the gentlewoman from the Virgin Islands (Mrs. CHRISTENSEN) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Nevada (Mr. GIBBONS).

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on H.R. 1113.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Nevada?

There was no objection.

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 1113, as amended, was introduced by the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. KINGSTON) and would authorize the Secretary of the Interior to convey 6 acres of land within the boundaries of the Fort Frederica National Monument on St. Simons Island, Georgia, to the Christ Church, also located on St. Simons Island. In return, the National Park Service would receive 8.7 acres of nearby property that would be acquired by the church from the Sea Island Company and then exchanged with the Park Service. The exchange is viewed by all parties as a win-win.

Christ Church has doubled in size in the last 9 years, and the additional land is needed for its expansion. In return, the monument would receive lands that are known to contain valuable archaeological remains from the colonial period.

I urge adoption of the bill.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. CHRISTENSEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 1113, which authorizes a land exchange at Fort Frederica National Monument in Georgia, has been amended by the Senate to clarify that the proposed land exchange is only exempt from a narrow and specific provision of law.

Even with the passage of this legislation, there is much work left to be done with this proposed exchange. Appraisals and archaeological surveys of the lands in question have not been completed. As such, the value and historic significance of the proposed lands have not been established.

Furthermore, the National Park Service testified that the noncontiguous parcel that would be acquired through the exchange will likely increase the administrative and operational costs of the national monument necessitating an evaluation of this question as well.

It is important to note that H.R. 1113 authorizes but does not require a land exchange at Fort Frederica National Monument. Before any exchange could occur, the National Park Service would be required to complete appraisals and historical surveys, as well as comply with the requirements of NEPA and the National Park Service management standards. These legal and administrative procedures are in place to ensure that the exchange, if it does go forward, is in the public interest.

Mr. Speaker, that being the case, we do not object to consideration of H.R. 1113, as amended.

Mr. Speaker, I have no further speakers at this time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. TERRY). The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Nevada (Mr. GIBBONS) that the House suspend the rules and concur in the Senate amendment to the bill, H.R. 1113.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the Senate amendment was concurred in.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

MESSAGES FROM THE PRESIDENT

Messages in writing from the President of the United States were communicated to the House by Mr. Sherman Williams, one of his secretaries.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Nevada (Mr. GIBBONS) and the gentlewoman from the Virgin Islands (Mrs. CHRISTENSEN) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Nevada (Mr. GIBBONS).

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on the bill now under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Nevada?

There was no objection.

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

H.R. 1964, introduced by the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. FRELINGHUYSEN), our friend and colleague, passed this House on November 11, 2003. It was subsequently amended and passed by the Senate.

H.R. 1964 would authorize the Secretaries of the Interior and Agriculture to provide financial assistance to the States of New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Pennsylvania to preserve and protect high-priority conservation lands in the Highlands region. This geographic region encompasses over 3 million acres of land stretching from western Connecticut across the lower Hudson River Valley and northern New Jersey into northeastern Pennsylvania.

Not only has the U.S. Forest Service documented the national significance of the Highlands area in two extensive studies in 1990 and 2002, but the administration in its 2004 budget recognized the New York-New Jersey Highlands forest area as one of nine priority forest areas in the country that are currently threatened by urbanization.

I urge adoption of the bill.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. CHRISTENSEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 1964 originally passed the House last November and has been returned to the House with amendments by the Senate to clarify the scope of the legislation. Even with the Senate changes, the legislation remains a sweeping conservation and preservation mandate for a large area across four States.

Mr. Speaker, we support the goals of H.R. 1964 and do not object to its consideration by the House today.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, I yield as much time as he may consume to the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. FRELINGHUYSEN).

Mr. FRELINGHUYSEN. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Nevada and all members of the House Committee on Resources for their support and guidance on this bill, particularly the gentleman from California (Chairman POMBO) who has been with me every step of the way over the last couple of years, and this has been a work in progress for over 4 years.

I would also like to take this opportunity to thank the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. GOODLATTE), chairman of the Committee on Agriculture, for his support of this legislation, as well as the staffs of both committees and the many cosponsors from the four mentioned States for their hard work and, particularly, the gentleman from California (Mr. RADANOVICH), the chairman of the Subcommittee on National Parks, Recreation and Public Lands, as well.

A special kudos to my colleague from New Jersey (Mr. SAXTON) who is a member of the Committee on Resources, for his particular guidance and support and his ability to articulate with his committee colleagues the case for this bill.

The leadership of all of these individuals has been extremely invaluable.

The Highlands Conservation Act represents a major Federal commitment to preserve more open space and protect water supplies in the northeastern part of these United States. While remaining mindful of property rights, this bill compliments ongoing State, local and private partnerships to preserve open space.

Federal support and the passage of this Act this afternoon presents a unique substantive and symbolic opportunity for our government once again to express its commitment to preserving our natural resources.

Mr. Speaker, the Highlands, as was said earlier, is one of last open space treasures in the most densely populated area of the United States. In New Jersey alone, my home State, it includes more than a million acres of forest, farms, streams, wetlands, lakes, reservoirs and historic sites.

Mr. Speaker, the Highlands Conservation Act is a national priority, as has been mentioned, and a major imperative. Passage of this Act will give the people of New Jersey, New York, Connecticut and Pennsylvania more of the tools they need to preserve and protect these remarkable resources and assets.

I thank the gentleman from California (Mr. POMBO), the chairman, and the gentleman from Nevada (Mr. GIBBONS) for their support and the work of their committee and staff and urge adoption of the bill.

Mrs. CHRISTENSEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from New York (Mr. ENGEL).

Mr. ENGEL. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H.R. 1964. I thank the chairs and ranking members of the Committee on Resources who ushered this bill through the process, and I want to thank the author of this bill, the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. FRELINGHUYSEN) for his stalwart support.

The Highlands is a vast area of land which stretches from Connecticut to Pennsylvania, and my district is smack in the middle of it in New York. The Highlands run through Rockland County, which is home to some of New York's great history, scenic areas and wildlife, too. In fact, 1.4 million people live within the Highlands area. The Highlands adjoin a metropolitan area with a population of more than 20 million people, and more than 11 million people rely on the Highlands drinking water resources, which serves at least half of New York City's water supply.

More than 14 million people visit the Highlands each year for recreational opportunities as well. Over 240 species of birds, mammals, amphibians, and reptiles depend on Highlands habitat. More than 160 historical and cultural sites have been identified in the region. Thus, I thank my colleagues for their support in preserving this important resource for our constituents and visitors as well.

Mr. HOLT. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of the Highlands Conservation Act.

My constituents, like most people around the state of New Jersey, have seen the ills of sprawl and the consequences of poor planning and meager preservation efforts. Most of us are surrounded by rampant commercial and industrial development in New Jersey.

Despite the overdevelopment of our state, unique areas of beauty and open space remain. One such tract of land, the Highlands Region, will be saved through today's legislation.

The Highlands is an incredible 2 million acre swath across four states—New Jersey, New York, Connecticut, and Pennsylvania. This tract is home to nearly one and a half million people and is still a quick drive away from New York City and other major metropolitan areas.

Even more importantly, the Highlands provides and protects the drinking water supplies for over 15 million people who live in the Philadelphia-New York-Hartford metropolitan area, which cuts right through my central New Jersey district. Protecting these valuable water sources now will save the Federal government untold millions in future costs associated with building more treatment plants for the nation's most densely populated metropolitan area.

The Highlands Conservation Act authorizes the use of federal Land and Water Conservation Fund money to preserve and protect this area. This legislation fosters community involvement in the future of this region by allowing the governors of the four Highlands states to identify which lands are best eligible for conservation efforts. This act also increases local and state investment in this project by requiring that federal funds be matched dollar for dollar by local, state, and private funding sources. I am confident that the governor and the residents of New Jersey are eager to begin identifying and planning for the future of this green space in New Jersey.

In addition to monetary assistance to preserve the Highlands, this bill will provide technical assistance to communities and organizations involved in conservation efforts in the region. So many people have already done so much to help preserve this area, and they will now get the added benefit of assistance and expertise from the federal government.

I would like to take this opportunity to recognize Mr. FRELINGHUYSEN for his leadership on this issue and his hard work in getting this legislation to the floor. His tireless effort will ensure that future generations will have the opportunity to enjoy the beauty of region.

I am pleased that the House of Representatives is considering this legislation today. This bill means a lot to New Jersey, and I urge my colleagues to support it.

Mrs. CHRISTENSEN. Mr. Speaker, I have no further speakers, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of our time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Nevada (Mr. GIBBONS) that the House suspend the rules and concur in the Senate amendment to the bill, H.R. 1964.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the Senate amendment was concurred in.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and concur in the Senate amendment to the bill (H.R. 1446) to support the efforts of the California Missions Foundation to restore and repair the Spanish colonial and mission-era missions in the State of California and to preserve the artworks and artifacts of these missions, and for other purposes.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Nevada (Mr. GIBBONS) and the gentlewoman from the Virgin Islands (Mrs. CHRISTENSEN) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Nevada (Mr. GIBBONS).

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on the bill now under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Nevada?

There was no objection.

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 1446, as amended, authorizes the Secretary of the Interior to enter into a cooperative agreement with the California Missions Foundation to support their effort to resolve and repair the California missions and to preserve the artworks and artifacts associated with the California missions.

Currently, the 21 California missions of the El Camino Real, or Royal Highway, have had to rely on nominal entrance fees, sales from gift shops, donations and special events to cover their operating expenses. Unfortunately, these sources of income have not been enough to keep up with the increasing structural needs of these aging missions that date back to 1769, when Fray Junipero Serra founded Alta, California, the first Spanish mission in California.

Today, over 5 million people annually visit the mission system, and it is obvious to many that outside financial help is needed.

The California Missions Foundation, a charitable corporation established in California in 1998, is dedicated to raising funds for the ongoing preservation, restoration and maintenance needs of the California missions to ensure that their historical legacy is kept alive for future generations.

As part of the cooperative agreement process, the Secretary must submit a proposed agreement to the Attorney General for a finding that the agreement does not violate the establishment clause of the First Amendment of the Constitution.

With that, Mr. Speaker, I urge adoption by all our colleagues of this bill.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. CHRISTENSEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 1446 is a bipartisan proposal which was introduced by the gentleman from California (Mr. FARR), our colleague, which originally passed the House on October 20, 2003.

This bill has been returned to the House with a Senate amendment that makes a number of changes to the bill. These changes do not detract from the overall goal and direction of the legislation, and we do not object to them.

The California missions are important historical and cultural resources that preserve and interpret a rich and varied history of exploration, conquest and settlement. The small grant program authorized by H.R. 1446 will be used for secular purposes which preserve those qualities of the missions that are historically and culturally significant.

Mr. Speaker, we support the passage of H.R. 1446 as amended by the House today.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself 5 minutes to enter into and engage in a colloquy with the author of the bill, the gentleman from California (Mr. FARR).

While I remain very supportive of this legislation and do support its adoption, Mr. Speaker, I believe it is important to remember that we are preserving buildings and structures that bring up uneasy memories for many who live today in California. As was noted in a recent letter to the editor which appeared in the San Francisco Chronicle, with the help of Spain's soldiers, thousands of California's Indians became slaves, directed by the friars to build the missions. After the missions were built, beginning in 1769, the Indians were forbidden to leave the mission boundaries. It is estimated that California's Indian population was about 310,000 at the beginning of Spanish rule. At the close of the 19th century, their population shrunk to approximately 100,000, largely due to the inhumane conditions under which the Indians were forced to live while serving as slaves.

I would encourage the gentleman from California to request that the Department of the Interior not lose sight of these facts when awarding the grants authorized under this legislation. I believe it is important that when the missions are refurbished that it is not just the bricks and mortar which are restored, but also the truth. These facilities are deserving of our help, but they also must be restored with the acknowledgment of all those who suffered so that the missions themselves could survive.

Mr. Speaker, I submit for the RECORD one of the letters to the editor to which I earlier referred:

[From the San Francisco Chronicle, November 8, 2004]

THE DARK, TERRIBLE SECRET OF CALIFORNIA'S MISSION

(By Elias Castillo)

Sometime soon, the House will give final consideration to the California Mission Preservation Act, sponsored by Sen. Barbara Boxer, D-Calif., providing $10 million to help restore California's Roman Catholic Missions—those historic sites where Franciscan friars and California's Indians supposedly existed in gentle harmony.

In part, the act describes how "the knowledge and cultural influence of native California Indians made a lasting contribution to the early settlements of California and the development of the California missions." What the bill utterly omits is that locked within the missions is a terrible truth—that they were little more than concentration camps where California's Indians were beaten, whipped, maimed, burned, tortured and virtually exterminated by the friars.

The California Indians, as the proposal says, did have a culture, but they never got a chance to contribute it to California. The Spanish crown decreed in the 1760s that the Indians were to be rounded up, baptized into Christianity and their culture destroyed. It was the same policy that Spain had followed in eradicating the complex and advanced cultures of the Mayans, Incas and Aztecs in Latin America.

In 1769, that near-genocidal policy was launched, under the direction of Father Junipero Serra, with the founding of California's first mission. One scholar, Robert Archibald, has written that the missions were akin to the "forced movement of black people from Africa to the American South." With the help of Spain's soldiers, the Indians were herded to the sites of the missions. Once there, they became slaves, directed by the friars to build the missions. Once within the mission boundaries, they were forever forbidden to leave. No less an authority than the U.S. National Park Service has documented and described the hellish and tragic fate of the California Indians, especially the coastal tribes. They were not warring tribes, but instead gentle harvesters who lived in equilibrium with their land and seashore.

Their terrible fate at the hands of the Spanish and friars was described by Jean François de Galaup de la Perouse, a French explorer and sea voyager hired by the French government to report on the western coastal areas of North America. In 1786 he visited Mission San Carlos Borromeo in the Monterey area and described the severe punishments inflicted on the Indians. The friars, he determined, considered the Indians "too much a child, too much a slave, too little a man." California historians Walton Bean and James J. Rawls, described La Perouse as likening the missions to the slave plantations of Santo Domingo.

Yet, the Indians did not easily accede to the cruel mission life. They rebelled several times, in one instance burning nearly all of the buildings of Mission La Purisima in Santa Ynez. Historian Robert F. Heizer attributed the flare-up to the "flogging of a La Purisma neophyte" (as the Indians were called in the missions).

In the late 1820s, Mexico rebelled against Spain and won its independence. Within a decade, it also declared that the missions had to vest half their property to the Indians while the other half went to the friars and government officials. It was the beginning of the end for the missions. By the late 19th century, the missions were in ruins, abandoned by the friars who could not continue operating them without the slave labor of the Indians, whose numbers had been decimated by hard labor, starvation and disease. It is estimated that California's Indian population was about 310,000 at the beginning of Spanish rule. At the close of the 19th century, they had been reduced to approximately 100,000.

Restoration of the missions was started at the beginning of the 20th century by well-meaning persons who either ignored the cruelties inflicted on the Indians or simply were unaware of the horrors that had occurred within them. While enough historians have accurately documented those terrible ordeals, however, their findings are not well known. Visit any of the missions and there is no mention of Indians being put in stocks, whipped or chained. Instead, the usual description is of friars and Indians living side by side in peaceful harmony and happily helping each other.

The California Missions Preservation Act is expected to be voted on soon. Besides the potential and obvious conflict of its violating the constitutional separation of church and state, there is the moral responsibility that if government funds are to be used in restoring the missions, the granting of those funds must be dependent on memorializing the suffering of California's native people in the missions.

This nation has recently opened the National Museum of the American Indian in Washington, D.C. It is a monument to the Native Americans of North, Central and South America. The existence of the museum mandates that the ordeal of California's Indians cannot continue to be largely ignored and forgotten. Too many Native Americans died within the missions, which were supposed to be monuments to God's mercy, forgiveness and benevolence.

The act must require that descriptions of the enslavement of California's Indians within the missions and the horrible ordeals they endured be clearly and visibly provided to all visitors. America has not buried the shameful history of slavery in its Southern states; instead, books have been written and museums opened so that all may forever know of the cruelties of that practice. Why then, should the shameful history of the missions be hidden and ignored?

Additionally, the act must also require that funds be set aside for research to be conducted on mission grounds for the purpose of determining if mass graves of Indians exist within them. While some missions have clearly marked graveyards set aside for the friars, little knowledge exists of what happened to the thousands of deceased Indians who toiled within the missions. If sites are found containing the remains of those Indians, those areas must then be clearly marked for visitors and declared hallowed ground.

California and the nation cannot continue to look the other way at what happened in the missions; it must confront that awful specter and unveil it as a dark chapter of the state's history. It does not matter that those vicious practices occurred during Spanish rule. The missions are now revered as beloved monuments. Their continued restoration must also bring to light the most frightful chamber of their history.

Mr. FARR. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. GIBBONS. I yield to the gentleman from California.

Mr. FARR. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for his comments, and I agree with the serious issues raised by the gentleman from Nevada and will contact the Secretary of the Interior by letter requesting that the Department consider these facts when awarding a grant authorized by this bill.

It is a sad fact that slavery has played such a role in our American history, whether it be Native American or imported men and women who were taken from their native lands. I find it refreshing, for example, that the National Museum of the American Indian, our newest addition to the Smithsonian system, is addressing the issue towards Native Americans and making the public aware of what occurred as the United States grew into a Nation. Until we come to grips with the issues and all the various peoples affected by it, slavery will remain a dark cloud in our history.

If the gentleman would indulge me further, I want to make sure that our colleagues understand that there have been many positive editorials in support of rehabilitating the California missions nationwide, and I submit them for inclusion in the RECORD.

SAVING HISTORY: CALIFORNIA'S AGING MISSIONS NEED AND DESERVE FEDERAL ASSISTANCE

(Editorial)

In 1883, Walt Whitman wrote, "We American have yet to really learn our own antecedents. . . . Thus far, impress'd by New England writers and schoolmasters, we tacitly abandon ourselves to the notion that our United States have been fashion'd from the British Islands only . . . which is a very great mistake."

He could have written that with California in mind.

The most obvious symbols of California's early history are the 21 missions stretching from San Diego to Sonoma. The first was founded at San Diego in 1769, the last in 1823. More than 5 million people a year visit the missions, making them California's most visited landmarks.

San Diego, Monterey, Los Angeles, Carmel, San Luis Obispo, San Francisco, Santa Barbara, Santa Cruz, San Jose and others began as missions.

Yet few know the history of Spain's New World venture. Today it is literally crumbling from natural disasters such as earthquakes, neglect and lack of funding, and even thievery. In August 2003, a 205-year-old Indian-made violin disappeared from the 1771 mission at San Antonio de Padua.

If we don't make a public commitment to preserve the national heritage the missions represent, we'll lose them.

In Congress, the California Missions Preservation Act (H.R. 1446 S. 1306) is a start. After emerging from key Senate committee, it appears headed for final approval. (The House passed the bill last October, but it languished in the Senate committee for unknown reasons.) The bill would provide $10 million in matching funds over five years to help restore and repair California's Spanish missions and to preserve artwork and artifacts. So far, the California Missions Foundation has raised $3.4 million of the needed $10 million match.

Spain set about settling California in earnest after 1768 to prevent Russian and English encroachment.

Mountains and deserts made overland access difficult, so the Spanish settled the coast. They raised horses, cattle and sheep and tended orchards, and vineyards. Interaction with Indians was marked by dynamic confrontation, conflict and exchange—different in character from the westward expansion of British eastern colonies.

California became a province of Mexico in 1821. The new government secularized the missions, selling off some and using others as barns and saloons. By the time the Untied States won California in the war with Mexico, the missions were decaying. President Lincoln returned them to the Catholic Church, which still owns 19 of the 21.

Why can't California's 21 missions get status and a public commitment like the San Antonio Missions National Historical Park, established in Texas in 1978? Like California's missions, San Antonio's remain active places of worship, but their significance to the nation's heritage and use by the general public are vital as well.

It's time California's missions are afforded the same respect. Congress, along with private donors in the community, can make that preservation happen—and not a minute too soon.

RESTORING HISTORY: PASS CALIFORNIA MISSIONS PRESERVATION ACT

(Editorial)

What is California's most defining historic landmark? Sutter's Mill, the site of the gold discovery that led to the 1849 Gold Rush? Perhaps. But think again.

In 1883, Walt Whitman wrote, "We Americans have yet to really learn our own antecedents. . . . Thus far, impress'd by New England writers and schoolmasters, we tacitly abandon ourselves to the notion that our United States have been fashion'd from the British Islands only . . . which is a very great mistake."

He could have written that with California in mind.

The most obvious symbols of California's early history are the 21 missions stretching from San Diego to Sonoma. The first was founded at San Diego in 1769, the last in 1823. More than 5 million people a year visit the missions, making them the most visited historic landmarks in California.

Today's coastal cities, from San Diego, Monterey, Los Angeles, Carmel, San Luis Obispo, San Francisco, Santa Barbara, Santa Cruz, San Jose and others began as Spanish missions.

Yet few know the history of Spain's vast New World venture—begun long before English settlement in America. Today that history is literally crumbling—from natural disasters such as earthquakes, neglect and lack of funding, and, worst of all, thievery. In August 2003, a 205-year-old Indian-made violin disappeared from the 1771 mission at San Antonio de Padua.

If we don't want to lose the national heritage represented by the missions, we've got to make a public commitment to preserve them.

In Congress, the California Missions Preservation Act (H.R. 1446/S. 1306) is a start. After emerging from a key Senate committee, it appears headed for final approval. (The House passed the bill last October, but it languished in the Senate committee for unknown reasons.) The bill would provide $10 million in matching funds over five years to help restore and repair California's Spanish missions and to preserve artwork and artifacts. So far, the California Missions Foundation has raised $3.4 million of the needed $10 million match.

Spain set about settling California in earnest after 1768 to prevent Russian and English encroachment.

Mountains and deserts made overland access difficult, so the Spanish settled the coast. They raised horses, cattle and sheep and tended fruit orchards and vineyards. The interaction between the Spanish and Indians was marked by dynamic confrontation, conflict and exchange—different in character from the westward expansion of British eastern seabroad colonies.

When Spain lost its empire, California became a province of independent Mexico in 1821. The new government secularized the missions, selling off some of them and using others as barns and saloons. By the time the United States won California in the war with Mexico, the missions were decaying. President Abraham Lincoln returned the missions to the Catholic Church, which still owns 19 of the 21.

Why can't California's chain of 21 missions get status and a public commitment like the San Antonio Missions National Historical Park, established in Texas in 1978? Like California's missions, San Antonio's mission churches remain active places of worship, but their significance to the nation's heritage and use by the general public are vital as well.

It's time California's missions are afforded the same respect. Congress, along with private donors in the community, can make that preservation happen—and not a minute too soon.

THE MISSION IS CLEAR

(By Taylor Holliday)

SAN MIGUEL, CA—"Unsafe. Peligroso." This building "has been found to be seriously damaged and is unsafe to occupy, says the sign on the door of Mission San Miguel Arcangel.

A small group of us don our hardhats and tiptoe inside one of the most lovely of the 21

Spanish colonial missions that gave birth to California coastal towns from San Diego to Sonoma. It's the mission with the most authentic, intact interior, its adobe walls adorned with colorful frescoes—trompe l'oeil marble columns and the eye of god—painted by the Salinan Indians in 1821 and untouched through the years due to the mission's remote location 200 miles north of Los Angeles.

It's also the mission—especially since the December earthquake in nearby Paso Robles—most likely to come crashing down at any moment. Chunks of adobe mingle with rat droppings on the floor; water damage mars the painted wood ceiling; centuries-old statues lie in pieces; and, most ominously, makeshift braces hold up windows, archways and walls.

"We were lucky that it didn't collapse," said Tina Foss, museum director of Mission Santa Barbara and vice president of the California Missions Foundation. "Even before the earthquake, [an engineer] told me that the walls were holding up just by force of habit."

San Miguel is the California mission in the worst shape. Each mission must rely on its own resources—parishioner contributions, bake sales—to meet expenses, and they have little left over for major repairs, especially the painstaking kind required for historic preservation. So despite the fact that the missions attract more than five million tourists a year, many have yet to be retrofitted to withstand an earthquake; most operate as historical sites and churches in varying states of disrepair and structural decay; and none have the resources for safeguarding their priceless collections of Spanish colonial and mission-era artworks and artifacts.

Realizing how dire the situation is, a group led by Stephen Hearst first started the nonprofit, nonsectarian California Missions Foundation in 1998. (Great grandfather William Randolph Hearst first came to the aid of the missions a hundred years earlier.) Since then the foundation has been struggling to raise the $50 million needed to rescue, repair and preserve the structures and their art.

Founded between 1769 and 1823, the missions were Spain's effort to colonize Alta California and Christianize the Indians. With the missions came the farming, ranching, winemaking, architecture and Hispanic culture that help define the state to this day. Through two centuries, they have survived disease (which killed many early Indian converts who lived at the missions), earthquakes (which necessitated extensive rebuilding in the early parts of both the 19th and 20th centuries) and heavy use—as well as misuse during a period when they were sold off by the newly independent Mexico and used as barns, homes and saloons. (Not long after California became part of the U.S. in 1848, President Lincoln returned the missions to the Catholic Church, which still owns 19 of them.)

Now they just have to survive the modern American political process.

"The mind of preservation that buildings like this require is so costly that it is beyond the reasonable expectation of private owners, the Catholic Church, or even state parks [which own two missions]," says Ms. Foss. "But if a building is historically important enough to be a landmark—all of the missions are California landmarks and seven are national landmarks—then we are all responsible for its preservation."

"Public funding is critical," adds Knox Mellon, executive director of the foundation, which so far has raised only $3 million from private sources. "It will be the shot in the arm that allows us to bring in matching funds from private donors."

Forty-nine of California's 53 U.S. representatives agreed, sponsoring the bipartisan California Missions Preservation Act, which passed the House in October 2003. In June of that year, Barbara Boxer and Dianne Feinstein introduced the same legislation in the Senate, calling for $10 million in matching grants over five years to be administered by the California Missions Foundation.

But the bill has since faced unexpected hurdles and is now considered a "controversial measure." At an Energy and Natural Resources subcommittee hearing in March, first the Americans United for Separation of Church and State objected on the grounds that 19 of the 21 missions are active churches—even though the bill clearly states that the foundation will ensure that none of the money goes toward religious operations. Then the Bush administration (the National Park Service) went on record saying it does not support earmarking limited historic preservation funds for these specific purposes.

The bill's sponsors came back with an amendment stipulating that the act would not take effect until the attorney general ruled on the constitutionality of providing federal funds to these landmark churches. Still the bill has gone nowhere, unable to get a hearing in the full committee for reasons known only to its chairman, Sen. Pete Domenici. And with this session of Congress scheduled to adjourn Oct. 1, those who care about the missions are holding their breath: If it doesn't pass this Congress, they're back to square one.

And so the missions wait. For San Miguel, the earthquake may turn out to be "a blessing in disguise," says Father Ray Tintle, the parish priest. FEMA did not come to its aid—even though, as he notes, "for every one hour the local parish uses the facilities here, the public uses it 10 [for nonreligious activities]." But Mission San Miguel will at least receive some insurance money—roughly $8 million of the $20 million it needs to restore its church, museum and adjacent quadrangle buildings, including a wing with (mostly) original early 1800s living quarters.

As for other missions, all they can do at the moment is hope for divine intervention. Despite having the "finest collections of Spanish colonial art in California," according to Ms. Foss—mostly Baroque and Neoclassical paintings and statutes imported from Mexico and South America, as well as silk vestments and historical documents—mission museums can't provide the lighting, climate-control or security the items need, much less the art conservation they deserve.

So rare artworks will continue to deteriorate. And treasures, like the 200-year-old Indian-made violin stolen from Mission San Antonio de Padua, or the 30-pound hand-carved tabernacle door taken from San Miguel, or the painting cut out of its frame and the collection of Indian baskets carried off from Mission Santa Barbara, will continue to disappear, taking a little bit of California history with them each time they do.

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. CHRISTENSEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. SCOTT).

Mr. SCOTT of Virginia. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentlewoman for yielding me this time.

California's 21 missions, which run along a 600-mile stretch of highway from San Diego to Sonoma, are indeed historically significant and contribute tremendously to the rich historical, cultural, and architectural heritage of California and this country's westward growth. At the same time we strive to preserve these historical landmarks, we must also be careful to preserve religious liberty and honor the establishment clause of the first amendment of the Constitution.

Nineteen of the 21 missions that comprise California's historic mission trail are currently owned by the Roman Catholic Church; they operate as active parishes and hold regularly scheduled religious services. There is a clear line of Supreme Court cases that address government funding of improvement of real property for the direct benefit of buildings used for religious purposes including worship, sectarian service, or instruction.

Three Supreme Court decisions, Tilton v. Richardson in 1971, Hunt v. McNair in 1973, and Committee For Public Education v. Nyquist in 1973, make it clear that no government funds may be used to construct, maintain, restore, or make capital improvements to physical structures that are used as houses of worship, even if religious services are infrequent.

H.R. 1446 contains a provision which requires that the purpose of any grant under this act is secular, does not promote religion, and seeks to protect qualities that are historically significant. It is therefore clear that any grant or assistance provided under this act must also be consistent with the Supreme Court decisions in this area of the law.

Mr. Speaker, I am submitting for inclusion in the RECORD at this point a letter from Americans United for Separation of Church and State, which raises questions about the issue I have just raised.

PRESERVE RELIGIOUS LIBERTY: OPPOSE THE CALIFORNIA MISSIONS PRESERVATION ACT (H.R. 1446)

NOVEMBER 17, 2004.

DEAR REPRESENTATIVE: Americans United for Separation of Church and State urges you to oppose the California Missions Preservation Act, H.R. 1446, which we understand will be on the floor of the House of Representatives today. Americans United represents more than 70,000 individual members throughout the fifty states and in the District of Columbia, as well as cooperating houses of worship and other religious bodies committed to preservation of religious liberty. This bill is unconstitutional and would significantly erode key church-state separation protections.

H.R. 1446 would authorize the Secretary of the Interior to enter into agreements and make grants to the California Missions Foundation to "restore and repair" the California missions and the religious artwork and artifacts associated with the missions. The bill would authorize a $10,000,000 appropriation for the 2004–2009 period to fund these goals.

The 21 missions comprising California's historic mission trail were founded between 1769 and 1823. 19 of the 21 missions are owned by the Roman Catholic Church, operate as active parishes, and have regularly scheduled religious services. There is no doubt that California's 21 missions are historically significant, and contribute greatly to the rich historical, cultural and architectural heritage of California and the American West. Although we recognize that preservation of these historic buildings is important, we strongly believe that the preservation of Americans' constitutional rights is vital. In short, the California Missions Preservation Act would violate the First Amendment by forcing taxpayers nationwide to pay for church repairs, even repairs and restoration of facilities with active congregations.

Under the bill, government funding will flow to houses of worship for capital improvements in violation of the Constitution. Time after time, the United states Supreme Court has required that no government funds be used to maintain, restore, or make capital improvements to physical structures that are used as houses of worship, even if religious services are infrequent. Three Supreme Court decisions (Tilton v. Richardson, 403 U.S. 672 (1971), Hunt v. McNair, 413 U.S. 734 (1973), Committee for Public Education v. Nyquist, 413 U.S. 756 (1973)) make clear that it is unconstitutional to allow federal grants for capital improvements of structures devoted to worship or religious instruction, and all three of these decisions remain binding law on all government entities.

The illegality of the proposal to fund the California missions is exacerbated when one considers the issue of government directly funding religious icons. Because one of the objectives of the California Missions Foundation is to preserve the Spanish colonial and mission-era artworks and artifacts of the California missions, and because the bill specifically authorizes federal funds to be used to preserve the artworks and artifacts associated with the California missions, the Secretary of the Interior would be empowered to provide government money specifically to maintain or restore religious artifacts and icons associated with devotional and worship activities at the missions, a result that would be clearly unconstitutional.

We are fully aware of the historical and cultural significance of the California missions. However, it is essential for Congress to maintain our nation's commitment to safeguarding religious liberty for all Americans. Nineteen of the 21 California missions are churches, not just museums, and are still used for religious services. The repair and upkeep of the missions, therefore, must be paid for by those who worship there or by other interested individuals or private organizations through voluntary contributions. The House of Representatives should refrain from passing this blatantly unconstitutional bill.

If you have any questions regarding this legislation or would like further information on any other issue of importance to Americans United, please contact Aaron D. Schuham, Legislative Director, at (202) 466–3234, extension 240.

Sincerely,

REV. BARRY W. LYNN,
Executive Director.

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. CHRISTENSEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield 6 minutes to the gentleman from California (Mr. FARR), the sponsor of the bill.

Mr. FARR. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentlewoman for yielding me this time, and I thank my colleagues for speaking in support.

I want to respond first of all to the comments of the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. SCOTT). In the bill it says: "The Secretary shall ensure that the purpose of any grant or financial assistance provided by the Secretary to the Foundation under this Act is secular, does not promote religion, and seeks to protect qualities that are historically significant."

This is a private foundation separate from the church and raises money separately from the church, so we are trying to assure here there is no benefit to the church from the restoration efforts.

Let me rise in support of this bill, the California Missions Preservation Act. Interestingly enough, one of the statues in Statuary Hall is that of Father Serra, and in his hand is a replica of the Carmel mission, just a few blocks from my home.

This legislation has been cosponsored by 48 of my California colleagues in the House of Representatives. Both Senators sponsored similar legislation on their side of the Capitol. I again want to thank the efforts of the chairman of the committee, the gentleman from California (Mr. POMBO), and the gentleman from West Virginia (Mr. RAHALL) for moving this legislation today, as well as the principal cosponsors, the gentleman from California (Mr. DREIER).

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 1446 passed the House under suspension by a voice vote on October 20, 2003, and then passed the Senate almost a full year later after it was amended by unanimous consent on October 10, 2004. All 21 missions are California registered historical landmarks. Seven of the missions have Federal status as national historic places. And one of the two changes made by the other body is that the remaining 14 must be recognized before that particular mission would be eligible for receiving funding.

The second change made by the other body was that the Secretary of the Interior must enter into a cooperative agreement with the California Missions Foundation, and the U.S. Attorney General must issue a finding that the proposed agreement does not violate the establishment clause of the first amendment of the Constitution regarding the separation of church and state.

I am fortunate to have five of the 21 missions in my district, extending along the coast of California on the El Camino Real: Santa Cruz; San Juan Bautista; La Soledad; San Antonio de Padua; and in my hometown of Carmel, San Carlos Borromeo del Rio Carmelo, known as the Cathedral in the Wilderness.

The California missions represent a historic vein running through our State from south to north. They also symbolize the east to the west, the exploration that expanded our Nation to its four corners.

Mr. Speaker, as I mentioned when this bill was originally brought to the floor, so much of the west coast's earliest expansion has been overshadowed in history. In 1768, King Carlos III saw Russia and England as threats to Spain's claim of Alta California, and ordered troops and missionaries to colonize new territory. In 1769, Commander Don Gaspar de Portola, Sergeant Jose Francisco de Ortega, and Fray Junipero Serra departed with troops and supplies for San Diego from Baja California, on May 13, and established on July 16 Alta California's first mission, San Diego de Alcala.

Twenty missions followed, with the final missions in the chain established in Sonoma in 1823. Of all the institutions that define California's heritage, none has the historic significance and emotional impact of the chain of Spanish missions that stretches from San Diego to Sonoma.

The missions are an important part of the State's cultural fabric and must be preserved as priceless historic monuments. They are a living link to our past. The missions stand as landmarks of more than 2 centuries and are recognized for the important impact they have had on the development of California, including art, architecture, agriculture, food, music, language, apparel, and recreation.

The missions help drive tourism, the State's third largest industry. These iconic symbols of California are the most visited historic attractions in the State, attracting over 5.3 million visitors a year. They account for a sizable contribution to the State's economy from millions of tourists, including a large number of international visitors.

They have become synonymous with the State's fourth grade curriculum. Students build mission models and write research reports as part of California history lessons. This serves as an important education function in teaching young students about the role of missions in the history of our State and our Nation.

Four 230 years, the missions have stood as symbols of Western exploration and settlement. Time, natural deterioration, and neglect have taken a heavy toll on the missions. Some are crumbling and at risk of full destruction. Most need preservation and seismic work to restore their antique beauty and bring them up to modern safety. Without immediate repairs, these centuries-old structures could be lost. The need is urgent and near crisis proportions.

In 1769 Commander Don Gaspar de Portolá, Sergeant José Francisco de Ortega, and Fray Junipero Serra departed with troops and supplies for San Diego from Baja California May 13 and established on July 16th Alta California's first mission—San Diego de Alcalá.

Twenty missions followed with the final missions in the chain established in Sonoma in 1823.

Of all the institutions that define California's heritage, none has the historic significance and emotional impact of the chain of Spanish missions that stretch from San Diego to Sonoma.

For 230 years, the missions have stood as symbols of Western exploration and settlement. Time, natural deterioration and neglect have taken a heavy toll on the missions. Some are Rotting roofs. Cracking tiles. Crumbling adobe. The backlog of needed repairs is long. The price tag is high. And the message is clear. The California missions need our help. Now.

H.R. 1446 will provide an important step toward addressing some of the most severe problems the missions are facing. This legislation provides authorization for funding of $10 million over five years, in partnership with the State of California and the California Missions Foundation's statewide funding campaign.

Under this legislation, the process requires that each mission submit a list to the Foundation of its most urgent preservation needs. All mission repairs and restoration projects are reviewed, approved and supervised by professionals qualified in the disciplines of history, history archeology, architectural history, planning, architecture, folklore, cultural anthropology, curation, conservation, landscape architecture or related fields.

Projects must be accomplished in accordance with the applicable Secretary of Interior's Standards for the Treatment of Historical Properties.

All repairs and capital improvements must have competitive bids which the Foundation's Funding Review Committee reviews. The Foundation Board of Directors assesses the proposals and has final approval of all restoration projects funded. The missions are required to submit timely progress reports and accounting to the Foundation on all projects funded.

Since the Spanish friars and native peoples joined together in the building of these settlements, the land we call California has been shaped and influenced by what they accomplished in that most ambitious undertaking.

From the vineyards of Sonoma to the ranches of Santa Barbara to the adobe arcades and red tile roofs of San Diego, the California missions have left their mark on who we are and what we have become.

Passage today presents us with the opportunity to address the needs of the missions and to preserve an integral part of our nation's history and the heritage of the west that combines with the east to make these truly united states.

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, I continue to reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. CHRISTENSEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentlewoman from California (Mrs. CAPPS).

Mrs. CAPPS. Mr. Speaker, I thank my colleague for yielding me this time, and I rise today to support the California Missions Preservation Act. I also want to thank our colleague, the gentleman from California (Mr. FARR), the gentleman from California (Mr. DREIER), and the gentleman from California (Mr. POMBO) for their assistance, and the leadership of our chairman as well in moving this legislation. I also want to thank our Senators, BARBARA BOXER and DIANE FEINSTEIN, for helping to get this bill successfully through the Senate.

Mr. Speaker, California's missions are instantly recognizable as symbols of our States's rich history and cultural heritage, but they are also some of the oldest structures in North America and an integral part of our Nation's heritage, and so they deserve our Federal support.

Our State's missions are in dire need of structural attention and major rehabilitation. Natural deterioration and neglect have taken a heavy toll on these missions. Some are crumbling and are at risk. Most need preservation and seismic work to restore their antique beauty and to bring them up to modern safety standards. Without immediate repairs, centuries-old buildings and artifacts could be lost to a major earthquake or a flood.

For example, at Mission Santa Barbara in my congressional district, often called the Queen of the Missions, $1.5 million is needed now to repair adobe columns that are turning to salt.

Keeping California's missions together will require about $50 million in structural repair work and another $11 million to renovate art works and accommodate visitors. The primary goal of this legislation is to restore and repair the missions and to preserve the art works and artifacts associated with them.

Mr. Speaker, I thank my colleague, the gentleman from California (Mr. FARR), for giving us the history of what the missions have meant to our State. As every California school child learns, the missions have shaped the future of California. They were among the first European settlements in our region and formed a chain along the coast from San Diego to Sonoma.

With respect to our colleague from Nevada and his concerns about chapters of history that the missions were associated with, I would submit that preserving the missions gives us an opportunity to preserve that sorry chapter of our Nation's history and to learn from those lessons so that we do not repeat them.

The missions are also among the State's most frequently visited historic sites, attracting more than 5.5 million tourists each year, contributing greatly to our State's economy.

Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to be part of this important effort on behalf of California's missions. This long overdue effort is encouraging in that the entire California congressional delegation has responded with such enthusiasm about this bill.

Again, I want to thank my colleagues for supporting it and urge its immediate passage.

Mrs. CHRISTENSEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentlewoman from California (Ms. WOOLSEY).

☐ 1630

Ms. WOOLSEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 1446, the California Missions Preservation Act. I would like to thank the gentleman from California (Mr. FARR) for introducing this bill, and I am proud to be an original cosponsor.

The California missions provide an important part of California's past, and their history can be traced to 1493. The Sixth District of California, located across the Golden Gate Bridge from San Francisco, is the district I am so pleased to represent. We are fortunate to have one of these missions, the San Raphael Mission and another, the Sonoma Mission, is just outside of my district.

The San Raphael Mission was originally built in 1817 as an outpost chapel of the San Francisco Mission. Named for Saint Raphael, the angel of bodily healing, it was thought that the sunny hillside on the north side of the bay would be a good place for the sick to convalesce. In only 5 years, it became a healthy settlement, and on October 19, 1822, it became an independent mission. After it was secularized, the mission fell into ruin, and 32 years later the original mission was torn down. But in 1947 a new mission was built near the original site, based on a painting of the old mission.

The San Francisco Solano Mission, founded in 1823 in Sonoma County, was the last and most northerly of the 21 Franciscan missions of Alta California. Sonoma Mission, as it is properly called, was the dedicated goal of the young and zealous Padre Jose Altimira. He headed into the northern wilderness to find a more healthy location for a mission than the crowded San Francisco area. In Sonoma Valley he found his ideal location, with fertile soil and mild, sunny climate.

Secularization of the mission in 1834 was followed by neglect and decay. In 1881, the church and padres' quarters were sold and used as a hay barn, winery and blacksmith shop. However, the mission was rescued from disintegration in 1903 when it was bought by the Historic Landmarks League and turned over to the State. Full restoration began in 1911.

There is still so much more to do to restore these historic treasures. Mr. Speaker, it is important that we save these missions so they can pass on their history to future generations. I urge my colleagues to join me in support of this bill.

Mr. SCHIFF. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of the Senate Amendments to the California Missions Preservation Act. I am a co-sponsor of this bill, and I am pleased that we are sending it to the White House before we adjourn.

Because of this legislation, important historical sites in California will be better preserved for future generations of Americans to enjoy and learn about our state's rich heritage.

I am proud to represent in my district the Mission San Gabriel Arcángel. This is the fourth of twenty-one missions established in California during the Spanish colonial era.

Orginally founded in 1771 in present-day Montebello, it was moved in 1776 to what is now San Gabriel. Built by the Franciscans and Native American Gabrielenos, the Mission San Gabriel Arcángel would become what famed Spanish missionary Junipero Serra would call "The Pride of the Missions."

The government eventually changed from Spanish to Mexican, then from Mexican to American. In the early 20th Century, control of the Mission would eventually go to the Claretian Missionaries with the Dominican Sisters of Mission San Jose providing education at the parish school. Yet the Mission would always be an integral part of the community, a jewel of the southland, a wondrous remnant from the first of many who built the greater Los Angeles area into a world-class destination.

Today, the Mission is set amount a large, diverse and gracious community. Local residents still seek spiritual guidance there, and cactus garden. The Mission thrives as a source of pride among residents of the San Gabriel Valley, and I pleased that Congress is recognizing the importance of protecting this and other Missions.

Ms. LORETTA SANCHEZ of California. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in strong support of H.R. 1446, the California Missions Protection Act. I thank my colleague from California, Mr. FARR, for his continued role in preserving the Golden State's wonderful treasures. I also thank our distinguished California colleagues in the other chamber for their leadership and support in pushing this bill through the Senate.

The missions inspired by Father Junipero Serra are a favorite destination for millions of people around the world. These historical monuments are a symbol of Catholicism, and the early efforts to unify Native Americans with the Spanish settlers. We admire the missions as a sanctuary, a place of worship, and a symbol of American History.

In 1769, Father Serra erected Mission San Diego Alcala. This would be the first of 21 historic missions built along the beautiful Pacific coastline. The missions have been a significance part of California's culture for over two centuries. Even Pope John Paul II, recognizing the significance of Father Serra, blessed these missions in his visit to the San Carlos Borromeo de Carmelo Mission in 1987.

The citizens of Orange County treasure our local mission, Mission San Juan Capistrano. Created in 1776, it continues to be used as a place of peace and worship. We consider ourselves fortunate to experienced the Serra Chapel, the only building left in which Father Serra gave mass. We watch in delight every year as the world famous swallows return to their summer home.

Unfortunately, after two centuries of wear and tear, as well as numerous earthquakes, much of the infrastructure of these buildings is deteriorating. It is our interest,for the sake of preservinga piece of American History, that we put forth the effort to restore these elegant buildings and artifacts.

Again, I thank the Honorable SAM FARR for his efforts to restore California's treasures. I am proud to support his efforts, and the efforts of so many others to protect and preserve the Missions of California.

Mrs. CHRISTENSEN. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. TERRY). The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Nevada (Mr. GIBBONS) that the House suspend the rules and concur in the Senate amendment to the bill, H.R. 1446.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the Senate amendment was concurred in.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

KATE MULLANY NATIONAL HISTORIC SITE ACT

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the Senate bill (S. 1241) to establish the Kate Mullany National Historic Site in the State of New York, and for other purposes.

The Clerk read as follows:

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Nevada (Mr. GIBBONS) and the gentlewoman from the Virgin Islands (Mrs. CHRISTENSEN) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Nevada (Mr. GIBBONS).

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on the bill under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Nevada?

There was no objection.

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, S. 1241 would authorize the Secretary of the Interior to establish the Kate Mullany National Historic Site as an affiliated site in the State of New York. The site would consist of the home of Kate Mullany, an existing national historic landmark located in Troy, New York.

Kate Mullany organized and led the first all-female labor union at the Nation's first commercial laundry. When employers installed new machinery that stepped up production but made the working conditions worse, Kate Mullany led 300 workers in a week-long labor strike in February, 1864, that resulted in the owners conceding to all of their demands. Unlike many other unions of the day, the "Collar Laundry Union" stayed organized long after their initial battle, helping other unions along the way. I urge my colleagues to support S. 1241.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. CHRISTENSEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, the majority has already explained the purpose of S. 1241, and it is altogether fitting that we proceed with this legislative designation.

Kate Mullany was an early female labor organizer and leader. In the 1860s, at a time when there were few labor unions and even fewer women involved in the labor movement, she organized and led the first all-female union for laundry workers. She achieved national recognition in 1868 when she was appointed assistant secretary of the National Labor Union, making her the first woman appointed to a national union office.

I want to commend the gentleman from New York (Mr. MCNULTY) for his sponsorship and tireless work on behalf of the companion legislation he introduced in the House. I would also note the contributions of the ranking member of the Committee on Resources, the gentleman from West Virginia (Mr. RAHALL), who guided this designation through the Committee on Resources both this Congress and last Congress.

Mr. Speaker, the Kate Mullany House is on the National Register of Historic Places and was designated a National Historic Landmark in 1998. Designation as a National Historic Site will enhance the preservation and interpretation of the work of this pioneering woman, and thus I support the passage of S. 1241 by the House today.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. CHRISTENSEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from New York (Mr. MCNULTY), the sponsor of the bill in the House.

Mr. MCNULTY. Mr. Speaker, I thank my colleagues for their explanation of the bill, and I also thank Senator HILLARY RODHAM CLINTON for her dedication to the memory of Kate Mullany. I also thank the gentleman from California (Chairman RADANOVICH), the gentleman from California (Chairman POMBO), and the ranking members, the gentleman from West Virginia (Mr. RAHALL) and the gentlewoman from the Virgin Islands (Mrs. CHRISTENSEN), for their tremendous help.

Special thanks goes to my constituents, Paul Cole, Rachel Bliven, and Paul Bray for their years of work on this project. Most of all, I thank Kate Mullany for her courageous and daring leadership which forever changed the labor movement in America.

Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding me this time to comment on S. 1241, which will establish the Kate Mullany National Historic Site in Troy, New York, in my congressional district.

I was pleased to introduce the House companion to this legislation, H.R. 305. The bill before us today, S. 1241, was introduced by my good friend from New York, Senator HILLARY RODHAM CLINTON. As First Lady of the United States, HILLARY CLINTON came to Troy in 1998 to unveil the National Historic Landmark designation at the Mullany House during her "Save America's Treasures" tour. I am incredibly grateful to Senator CLINTON for her tireless efforts on this legislation, and on behalf of American workers throughout the Nation.

I must thank the gentleman from California, Mr. RADANOVICH, Chairman of the Resources Subcommittee on National Parks, Recreation and Public Lands, and ranking Member CHRISTENSEN, for holding a hearing on this bill.

And I must certainly thank the gentleman from California, Mr. POMBO, Chairman of the Resources Committee, and the Ranking Member, the gentleman from West Virginia, Mr. RAHALL, for receiving this bill and moving it swiftly to the floor today.

Today we will finally and appropriately recognize a remarkable American and her legacy—as a determined immigrant, a tireless working women, a pioneer of the American labor movement, and a central figure in the rich industrial history of our country.

In its heyday, the city of Troy was a prosperous industrial city known around the world for its large iron works and textile factories. It was home to the world's first commercial laundry and had earned the nickname, "The Collar City," for the many thousands of shirts, detachable shirt collars, and cuffs produced there.

Kate Mullany emigrated to America from Ireland in the mid-nineteenth century. She made her way to Upstate New York and settled in the city of Troy, eventually making her home at 350 Eighth Street. Like many women of the time, Kate Mullany found work in one of Troy's shirt factories. On a daily basis, she undertook physically demanding work steaming and pressing collars, earning minimal wages of just 3 to 4 dollars a day.

Kate quickly became a leader among her peers in the factory—among the women who felt as though they had no choice but to endure 12 to 14 hour workdays in awful conditions while receiving very little pay. These women who had no voice soon found one, and it belonged to Kate Mullany. In 1864, Kate led over 200 fellow female workers on strike, demanding better wages and improved working conditions—and they won. Kate secured a 25 percent wage increase—a remarkable figure at the time, particularly for a group of women.

This bargaining success led to the formation of the Collar Laundry Union—the first all-female labor union in the United States—with Kate Mullany in charge.

Kate's record of individual accomplishment continued as well. In 1868, she was elected a 2nd vice president of the National Labor Union—becoming the first woman ever to hold a national position in any labor organization. Kate became a national figure. Her death in 1906 was noted in newspapers around the Nation, a testament to her amazing story and groundbreaking accomplishments.

The bill before us, S. 1241, designates the Mullany House as a national historic site and as an "Affiliated Site," authorizing the National Park Service to provide technical, planning, and financial assistance to the site's local cooperative partners. This approach responds to the concerns of, and relieves any potential burden placed upon, the Park Service.

I am pleased that the relevant House and Senate committees have recognized the great advantages of having the Park Service, the guardian and protector of our Nation's most treasured sites, involved with this project. This plan enjoys broad bipartisan support from our two Senators; my colleagues in the New York delegation, including Mr. SWEENEY, Mr. BOEHLERT, and Mr. QUINN; the Majority Leader of the New York State Senate, Joe Bruno; and the present and past Mayors of the City of Troy.

The Mullany House is now part of the American Labor Studies Center, a not-for-profit corporation which will continue to own, manage, and operate the site on a daily basis. Plans and funding are in place for the establishment of Kate Mullany Park on the adjacent lot.

Today, we ensure that the Mullany Home will continue to serve as a resource for students, researchers, and tourists for decades to come. This site will be an outstanding addition to the National Park System. I am so pleased to see this long effort and the hard work of so many—such as Paul Cole, Paul Bray, and Rachel Bliven come to a successful conclusion.

Mrs. CHRISTENSEN. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Nevada (Mr. GIBBONS) that the House suspend the rules and pass the Senate bill, S. 1241.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the Senate bill was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

The Clerk read as follows:

S. 1727

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. ADDITIONAL AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS FOR THE RECLAMATION SAFETY OF DAMS ACT OF 1978.

(2) by striking "$750,000" and inserting "$1,250,000 (October 1, 2003, price levels), as adjusted to reflect any ordinary fluctuations in construction costs indicated by applicable engineering cost indexes,".

SEC. 2. PARTICIPATION BY PROJECT BENEFICIARIES.

(a) COST CONTAINMENT; MODIFICATION STATUS.—Section 4 of the Reclamation Safety of Dams Act of 1978 (43 U.S.C. 508) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(e)(1) During the construction of the modification, the Secretary shall consider cost containment measures recommended by a project beneficiary that has elected to consult with the Bureau of Reclamation on a modification.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Nevada (Mr. GIBBONS) and the gentlewoman from the Virgin Islands (Mrs. CHRISTENSEN) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Nevada (Mr. GIBBONS).

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on the Senate bill under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Nevada?

There was no objection.

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, S. 1727, sponsored by Senator PETE DOMENICI, increases the authorization ceiling on the Federal Safety of Dams Program. This important program allows the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation to make necessary structural modifications on aging dams and helps protect the public and our natural resources. The House companion bill is sponsored by the gentlewoman from California (Mrs. NAPOLITANO) and the gentleman from California (Mr. CALVERT).

Approximately 50 percent of the Bureau of Reclamation's dams were built between 1900 and 1950 before the state-of-the-art design practices were used. With more aging dams needing corrective action, the authorization level for the Safety of Dams Program will soon be exhausted. This bill not only gives the Bureau of Reclamation added financial tools to fix these structural problems for the next 10 years but requires the agency to consult with local beneficiaries on implementing these projects. I urge my colleagues to support this bipartisan bill.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. CHRISTENSEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, it is with pleasure that I join my colleagues in full support of S. 1727.

Farming communities and urban areas who benefit from Bureau of Reclamation projects will now be ensured that ongoing dam safety work will continue. In addition, the Bureau will now be required to consider ways of reducing cost for new dam safety projects.

We support the passage of S. 1727.

Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Nevada (Mr. GIBBONS) that the House suspend the rules and pass the Senate bill, S. 1727.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the Senate bill was passed.

AMENDING RECLAMATION PROJECTS AUTHORIZATION AND ADJUSTMENT ACT OF 1992

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and concur in the Senate amendment to the bill (H.R. 1284) to amend the Reclamation Projects Authorization and Adjustment Act of 1992 to increase the Federal share of the cost of the San Gabriel Basin demonstration project.

The Clerk read as follows:

Senate amendment:

Page 2, line 15, strike out "$12,500,000" and insert "$6,500,000".

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Nevada (Mr. GIBBONS) and the gentlewoman from the Virgin Islands (Mrs. CHRISTENSEN) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Nevada (Mr. GIBBONS).

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on the bill under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Nevada?

There was no objection.

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 1284 introduced by the gentlewoman from California (Mrs. NAPOLITANO) increases the authorized Federal cost ceiling for the San Gabriel Demonstration Project by $12.5 million. The bill, as amended, reduces the Federal share from $12.5 million to $6.5 million.

Local project sponsors have expressed a desire to expand the Demonstration Project, which treats contaminated groundwater and then delivers the effluent to nearby localities to justify the Federal cost ceiling increase. I urge my colleagues to support this measure.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. CHRISTENSEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 1284, legislation to increase the spending cap imposed on the San Gabriel Basin Demonstration Project. The funding level for this program was capped at $38 million in 1996. With the increase authorized by H.R. 1284, communities in southeast Los Angeles County are assured of continued financial support for their groundwater cleanup projects.

I extend my compliments to the gentlewoman from California for her tireless work on this bill and also wish to recognize the gentleman from California (Chairman POMBO), the ranking member, the gentleman from West Virginia (Mr. RAHALL), Senator FEINSTEIN and Senator BOXER for their assistance. I urge my colleagues to support this bill.

Mrs. NAPOLITANO. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 1284, legislation to increase the spending cap imposed on the San Gabriel Basin Demonstration Project. Funding level for this program authorized in 1992 was capped at $38 million in 1996.

I want to thank my California colleagues on the other side of the aisle—Chairman DREIER, Chairman CALVERT and Chairman POMBO—for their continued assistance to me and other Members who are working to ensure a clean and reliable water supply for their local communities. I would also like to thank Ranking Member RAHALL and Congresswoman SOLIS for their support of this bill.

H.R. 1284, if enacted, would simply allow cities of Industry, El Monte and South El Monte located in and near my district throughout Southeast Los Angeles County to have the ability to request an additional $6.5 million in funding for assistance from the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation for cleanup of volatile organic compounds or VOC's once they are able to secure 75 percent State and local matching fund.

Although the authorizing amount under this bill was decreased from $12.5 million to $6.5 million by the Senate, local water agencies and municipalities serving residents throughout my district in the San Gabriel Valley remain supportive of this bill, and they are eager to continue their aggressive groundwater cleanup efforts with the assurance of continued Federal funding.

I urge my House colleagues to support this bill, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Ms. SOLIS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 1284, additional funding for the San Gabriel Valley Basin Demonstration Project.

The San Gabriel Valley is facing serious water quality and public health problems. The aquifer is contaminated with volatile organic compounds and perchlorate, or rocket-fuel. Water providers in the San Gabriel Valley draw water from the Basin, home to Superfund sites that span more than 170 square miles. Despite its contamination, the Basin is needed to provide water to more than 1.5 million people.

Our water agencies have done a wonderful job working to maintain a reliable, dependable and safe source of water, but they can not do it alone. This bill authorizes an additional $6.5 million to expand the Basin Demonstration Project to El Monte, South El Monte, and Puente Valley.

I am proud to represent a community working so diligently to ensure long term reliability of its water supply, and I am proud that, together with Congresswoman NAPOLITANO and Congressman DREIER, that we could secure these funds to help ensure a safe, reliable and dependable source of water for southern California.

Mrs. CHRISTENSEN. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Nevada (Mr. GIBBONS) that the House suspend the rules and concur in the Senate amendment to the bill, H.R. 1284.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the Senate amendment was concurred in.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

There are authorized to be appropriated such sums as are necessary to carry out this Act.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. Terry). Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Nevada (Mr. Gibbons) and the gentlewoman from the Virgin Islands (Mrs. Christensen) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Nevada (Mr. Gibbons).

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on the bill now under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Nevada?

There was no objection.

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, Senate 434, introduced by Senator Larry Craig, would authorize the Secretary of Agriculture to sell or exchange all or part of certain parcels of National Forest System land in the State of Idaho and use the proceeds derived from the sale or exchange for national forest purposes.

This legislation would sell or exchange roughly 150 acres, comprised of three separate parcels, and deposit the proceeds in the fund established under the Sisk Act. The bill promotes good stewardship by consolidating scattered parcels of public land while generating revenue for property improvements rather than using taxpayer dollars.

Additionally, it will finally allow for the construction of a public sewer system in the area that has been contingent on the land acquisition authorized in Senate 434.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. CHRISTENSEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, we have no objection to S. 434 and support the passage of this bill by the House today.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Nevada (Mr. Gibbons) that the House suspend the rules and pass the Senate bill, S. 434.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the Senate bill was passed.

ALASKA LAND TRANSFER ACCELERATION ACT

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the Senate bill (S. 1466) to facilitate the transfer of land in the State of Alaska, and for other purposes.

The Clerk read as follows:

S. 1466

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

(1) In general.—An agreement under subsection (a) shall not—

(A) affect the obligations of Native Corporations under prior agreements; or

(B) result in a Native Corporation relinquishing valid selections of land in order to qualify for the withdrawal of other tracts of land.

(2) Effect on subsurface rights.—The terms of an agreement entered into under subsection (a) shall be binding on a Regional Corporation with respect to the location and quantity of subsurface rights of the Regional Corporation under section 14(f) of the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (43 U.S.C. 1613(f)).

(3) Effect on entitlement.—Nothing in this section increases the entitlement provided to any Native Corporation under—

(A) the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (43 U.S.C. 1601 et seq.); or

(B) the Alaska National Interest Lands Conservation Act (16 U.S.C. 3101 et seq.).

(g) Boundaries of a Native Village.—An agreement entered into under subsection (a) may not define the boundaries of a Native Village.

(h) Availability of Agreements.—An agreement entered into under subsection (a) shall be available for public inspection in the appropriate offices of the Department of the Interior.

TITLE III—NATIVE ALLOTMENTS

SEC. 301. CORRECTION OF CONVEYANCE DOCUMENTS.

Section 18 of the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (43 U.S.C. 1617) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(d)(1) If an allotment application is valid or would have been approved under section 905 of the Alaska National Interests Lands Conservation Act (43 U.S.C. 1634) had the land described in the application been in Federal ownership on December 2, 1980, the Secretary may correct a conveyance to a Native Corporation or to the State that includes land described in the allotment application to exclude the described allotment land with the written concurrence of the Native Corporation or the State.

"(2) A written concurrence shall—

"(A) include a finding that the land description proposed by the Secretary is acceptable; and

"(B) attest that the Native Corporation or the State has not—

"(i) granted any third party rights or taken any other action that would affect the ability of the United States to convey full title under the Act of May 17, 1906 (34 Stat. 197, chapter 2469); and;

"(ii) stored or allowed the deposit of hazardous waste on the land.

"(3) On receipt of an acceptable written concurrence, the Secretary, shall—

"(A) issue a corrected conveyance document to the State or Native Corporation, as appropriate; and

"(B) issue a certificate of allotment to the allotment applicant.

"(4) No documents of reconveyance from the State or an Alaska Native Corporation or evidence of title, other than the written concurrence and attestation described in paragraph (2), are necessary to use the procedures authorized by this subsection.".

SEC. 302. TITLE RECOVERY OF NATIVE ALLOTMENTS.

(a) In General.—In lieu of the process for the correction of conveyance documents available under subsection (d) of section 18 of the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (as added by section 301), any Native Corporation may elect to reconvey all of the land encompassed by an allotment claim or a portion of the allotment claim agreeable to the applicant in satisfaction of the entire claim by tendering a valid and appropriate deed to the United States.

(b) Certificate of Allotment.—If the United States determines that the allotment application is valid or would have been approved under section 905 of the Alaska National Interests Lands Conservation Act (42 U.S.C. 1634) had the land described in the allotment application been in Federal ownership on December 2, 1980, and obtains title evidence acceptable under the Department of Justice title standards, the United States shall accept the deed from the Native Corporation and issue a certificate of allotment to the allotment applicant.

(c) Probate Not Required.—If the Native Corporation reconveys the entire interest of the Native Corporation in the allotment claim of a deceased applicant, the United States may accept the deed and issue the certificate of allotment without waiting for a determination of heirs or the approval of a will.

(d) No Liability.—The United States shall not be subject to liability under Federal or State law for the presence of any hazardous substance in land or an interest in land solely as a result of any reconveyance to, and transfer by, the United States of land or interests in land under this section.

SEC. 303. NATIVE ALLOTMENT REVISIONS ON LAND SELECTED BY OR CONVEYED TO A NATIVE CORPORATION.

Section 18 of the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (43 U.S.C. 1617) (as amended by section 301) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(e)(1) An allotment applicant who had an application pending before the Department of the Interior on December 18, 1971, and whose application is still open on the records of the Department of the Interior as of the date of enactment of this subsection may revise the land description in the application to describe land other than the land that the applicant originally intended to claim if—

"(A) the application—

"(i) describes land selected by or conveyed by interim conveyance or patent to a Native Corporation formed to receive benefits under this Act; or

"(ii) otherwise conflicts with an interest in land granted to a Native Corporation by the United States;

"(B) the revised land description describes land selected by or conveyed by interim conveyance or patent to a Native Corporation of approximately equal acreage in substitution for the land described in the original application;

"(C) the Director of the Bureau of Land Management has not adopted a final plan of survey for the final entitlement of the Native Corporation or its successor in interest; and

"(D) the Native Corporation that selected the land or its successor in interest provides a corporate resolution authorizing reconveyance or relinquishment to the United States of the land, or interest in land, described in the revised application.

"(2) The land description in an allotment application may not be revised under this section unless the Secretary has determined—

"(A) that the allotment application is valid or would have been approved under section 905 of the Alaska National Interest Lands Conservation Act (43 U.S.C. 1634) had the land in the allotment application been in Federal ownership on December 2, 1980;

"(B) in consultation with the administering agency, that the proposed revision would not create an isolated inholding within a conservation system unit (as defined in section 102 of the Alaska National Interest Lands Conservation Act (16 U.S.C. 3102)); and

"(C) that the proposed revision will facilitate completion of a land transfer in the State.

"(3)(A) On obtaining title evidence acceptable under Department of Justice title standards and acceptance of a reconveyance or relinquishment from a Native Corporation under paragraph (1), the Secretary shall issue a Native allotment certificate to the applicant for the land reconveyed or relinquished by the Native Corporation.

"(B) Any allotment revised under this section shall, when allotted, be made subject to any easement, trail, right-of-way, or any third-party interest (other than a fee interest) in existence on the revised allotment land on the date of revision.".

SEC. 304. COMPENSATORY ACREAGE.

(a) In General.—The Secretary shall adjust the acreage entitlement computation records for the State or an affected Native Corporation to account for any difference in the amount of acreage between the corrected description and the previous description in any conveyance document as a result of actions taken under section 18(d) of the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (as added by section 301) or section 18(e) of the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (as added by section 303), or for other voluntary reconveyances to the United States for the purpose of facilitating land transfers in the State.

(b) Limitation.—No adjustment to the acreage conveyance computations shall be made where the State or an affected Native Corporation retains a partial estate in the described allotment land.

(c) Availability of Additional Land.—If, as a result of implementation under section 18(d) of the Alaska Native Claims Settlement

Act (as added by section 301) or any voluntary reconveyance to facilitate a land transfer, a Village Corporation has insufficient remaining selections from which to receive its full entitlement under the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act, the Secretary may use the authority and procedures available under paragraph (3) of section 22(j) of the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (43 U.S.C. 1621(j)) (as added by section 208) to make additional land available for selection by the Village Corporation.

SEC. 305. REINSTATEMENTS AND RECONSTRUCTIONS.

Section 18 of the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (43 U.S.C. 1617) (as amended by section 303) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(f)(1) If an applicant for a Native allotment filed under the Act of May 17, 1906 (34 Stat. 197, chapter 2469) petitions the Secretary to reinstate a previously closed Native allotment application or to accept a reconstructed copy of an application claimed to have been timely filed with an agency of the Department of the Interior, the United States—

"(A) may seek voluntary reconveyance of any land described in the application that is reinstated or reconstructed after the date of enactment of this subsection; but

"(B) shall not file an action in any court to recover title from a current landowner.

"(2) A certificate of allotment that is issued for any allotment application for which a request for reinstatement or reconstruction is received or accepted after the date of enactment of this subsection shall be made subject to any Federal appropriation, trail, right-of-way, easement, or existing third party interest of record, including third party interests created by the State, without regard to the date on which the Native allotment applicant initiated use and occupancy.".

SEC. 306. AMENDMENTS TO SECTION 41 OF THE ALASKA NATIVE CLAIMS SETTLEMENT ACT.

Section 41(b) of the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (43 U.S.C. 1629g(b)) is amended—

(1) in paragraph (1)(A), by inserting before the semicolon at the end the following: "(except that the term 'nonmineral', as used in that Act, shall for the purpose of this subsection be defined as provided in section 905(a)(3) of the Alaska National Interest Lands Conservation Act (42 U.S.C. 1634(a)(3)), except that such definition shall not apply to land within a conservation system unit)"; and

(2) in paragraph (2)—

(A) by redesignating subparagraphs (A), (B), and (C) as clauses (i), (ii), and (iii), respectively, and indenting the clauses appropriately;

(B) by inserting "(A)" after "(2)";

(C) in clause (ii) (as redesignated by subparagraph (A)), by inserting after "Department of Veterans Affairs" the following: "or based on other evidence acceptable to the Secretary"; and

(D) by adding at the end the following:

"(B)(i) If the Secretary requests that the Secretary of Veterans Affairs make a determination whether a veteran died as a direct consequence of a wound received in action, the Secretary of Veterans Affairs shall, within 60 days of receipt of the request—

"(I) provide a determination to the Secretary if the records of the Department of Veterans Affairs contain sufficient information to support such a determination; or

"(II) notify the Secretary that the records of the Department of Veterans Affairs do not contain sufficient information to support a determination and that further investigation will be necessary.

"(ii) Not later than 1 year after notification to the Secretary that further investigation is necessary, the Department of Veterans Affairs shall complete the investigation and provide a determination to the Secretary.".

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Nevada (Mr. Gibbons) and the gentlewoman from the Virgin Islands (Mrs. Christensen) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Nevada (Mr. Gibbons).

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days to revise and extend their remarks and to include extraneous material on the bill now under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Nevada?

There was no objection.

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, Senate 1466 accelerates the process of conveying public land in Alaska under the Native Allotment Act of 1906, the Alaska Statehood Act of 1958, and the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act of 1971.

Ninety million acres of Federal land entitlements intended for Alaska natives, the State of Alaska, and native corporations under these three acts are yet to be surveyed. While such lands may be selected or conveyed on an interim basis, full ownership of the lands is not enjoyed until the final conveyance. Existing procedures for transferring the lands affected by this bill are highly complex. Lawsuits and delays are inevitable as competing claims attempt to sort out the confusion. Senate 1466 enhances the ability of the Federal Government, the State, and Alaska natives to speed up the conveyance process through a more flexible process of negotiation and through authorization of appropriations to finish the necessary surveys of the land.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to adopt this bill.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. CHRISTENSEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, S. 1466 is intended to accelerate the transfer of millions of acres of Federal lands to Alaska natives, the State of Alaska, and to native corporations. Those individuals and entities are entitled to receive lands from the public domain under past acts of Congress.

As described by the sponsor's floor statement when the bill was introduced in July 2003, the land conveyance program in Alaska is the largest and most complex of any in United States history. Yet notwithstanding the complexity of this subject matter, there is very little legislative history concerning S. 1466. The bill was not reported by the Senate Energy Committee. An amendment was adopted on the Senate floor on October 10, but there is no statement or debate to explain what changes were made. And the House Resources Committee has neither held hearings nor a markup on this legislation.

Despite the curious absence of regular order, the majority has brought S. 1466 before the House today and intends to pass it along to the President without further scrutiny. S. 1466 is exclusively the product of the other body and apparently we have little choice but to hope that they got it right.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Nevada (Mr. Gibbons) that the House suspend the rules and pass the Senate bill, S. 1466.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the Senate bill was passed.

THREE AFFILIATED TRIBES HEALTH FACILITY COMPENSATION ACT

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the Senate bill (S. 1146) to implement the recommendations of the Garrison Unit Joint Tribal Advisory Committee by providing authorization for the construction of a rural health care facility on the Fort Berthold Indian Reservation, North Dakota.

The Clerk read as follows:

S. 1146

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

Congress finds that—

(1) in 1949, the United States assumed jurisdiction over more than 150,000 prime acres on the Fort Berthold Indian Reservation, North Dakota, for the construction of the Garrison Dam and Reservoir;

(2) the reservoir flooded and destroyed vital infrastructure on the reservation, including a hospital of the Indian Health Service;

(3) the United States made a commitment to the Three Affiliated Tribes of the Fort Berthold Indian Reservation to replace the lost infrastructure;

(4) on May 10, 1985, the Secretary of the Interior established the Garrison Unit Joint Tribal Advisory Committee to examine the effects of the Garrison Dam and Reservoir on the Fort Berthold Indian Reservation;

(5) the final report of the Committee issued on May 23, 1986, acknowledged the obligation of the Federal Government to replace the infrastructure destroyed by the Federal action;

(6) the Committee on Indian Affairs of the Senate—

(A) acknowledged the recommendations of the final report of the Committee in Senate Report No. 102-250; and

(B) stated that every effort should be made by the Administration and Congress to provide additional Federal funding to replace the lost infrastructure; and

(7) on August 30, 2001, the Chairman of the Three Affiliated Tribes testified before the Committee on Indian Affairs of the Senate that the promise to replace the lost infrastructure, particularly the hospital, still had not been kept.

SEC. 3. RURAL HEALTH CARE FACILITY, FORT BERTHOLD INDIAN RESERVATION, NORTH DAKOTA.

The Three Affiliated Tribes and Standing Rock Sioux Tribe Equitable Compensation Act is amended—

(1) in section 3504 (106 Stat. 4732), by adding at the end the following:

"(c) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There are authorized to be appropriated such sums as are necessary to carry out this section."; and

(2) by striking section 3511 (106 Stat. 4739) and inserting the following:

"SEC. 3511. RURAL HEALTH CARE FACILITY, FORT BERTHOLD INDIAN RESERVATION, NORTH DAKOTA.

"There are authorized to be appropriated to the Secretary of Health and Human Services $20,000,000 for the construction of, and such sums as are necessary for other expenses relating to, a rural health care facility on the Fort Berthold Indian Reservation of the Three Affiliated Tribes, North Dakota.".

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Nevada (Mr. GIBBONS) and the gentlewoman from the Virgin Islands (Mrs. CHRISTENSEN) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Nevada (Mr. GIBBONS).

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days to revise and extend their remarks and to include extraneous material on the bill now under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Nevada?

There was no objection.

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, Senate 1146 was sponsored by the gentleman from North Dakota, Senator KENT CONRAD. It was reported by unanimous consent of the House Resources Committee on June 3, 2004.

This legislation fulfills a government commitment to replace a U.S. Public Health Service hospital serving the members of the Three Affiliated Tribes of the Fort Berthold Reservation. In the late 1940s, the hospital was destroyed in a flood resulting from the construction of the Garrison Dam and Reservoir Project by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and the Bureau of Reclamation. The flood forced the relocation of many Indian families, and it is long overdue that Congress fulfills all components of its pledge to compensate the tribe. I urge the speedy adoption of this bill.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. CHRISTENSEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, in 1948, then Chairman George Gillette of the Three Affiliated Tribes of Fort Berthold, North Dakota, wept as a contract was signed to sell over 150,000 acres of tribal land to the U.S. Government to build the Garrison Dam. Through his grief, Chairman Gillette stated, "We will sign this contract with a heavy heart. With a few scratches of the pen, we will sell the best part of our reservation. Right now, the future does not look good for us."

Chairman Gillette was correct as 80 percent of the tribe was forcibly relocated, 94 percent of their agricultural land was destroyed and their hospital flooded. Today, 56 years later, Chairman Gillette can now smile as we finally authorize this health care facility.

Over this period of time, there has been one reason or another not to fulfill this promise made to the tribes. In fact, we are only here today because of the hard work and determined persistence of several people. The North Dakota delegation, led by Senator CONRAD, the sponsor of this bill, has worked tirelessly to get this passed. Senators CONRAD and DORGAN and our colleague, the gentleman from North Dakota (Mr. POMEROY), deserve much of the credit. I also want to thank the gentleman from California (Mr. POMBO) for allowing this bill to come to the floor today.

I would truly be remiss, however, if I did not credit Tex Hall, chairman of the Three Affiliated Tribes of Fort Berthold, and Ranking Member RAHALL of the Committee on Resources for all of their efforts to get us here today. Certainly there is a connection through the years from Chairman Gillette to Chairman Hall which has kept the drumbeat alive and steady not to give up the fight for this facility. Ranking Member RAHALL heard that drum and took heed, making this bill a high priority. You see, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from West Virginia knows all too well how promises made when resources are desired can quickly turn into devastated lands and broken promises. With that empathy, the gentleman from West Virginia kept pushing to get this bill heard today and I thank him.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support this bill.

Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from North Dakota (Mr. POMEROY).

Mr. POMEROY. I thank my colleague for yielding me this time.

Mr. Speaker, this bill corrects a long overdue problem. When the Missouri River was dammed in North Dakota as part of the Pick-Sloan water project, the resulting flood created a lake about the size of Rhode Island. The lake is still with us. A number of communities were flooded out in the course of creating the reservoir. One of them, Elbowoods, was a community that was part of the Three Affiliated Tribes Reservation in western North Dakota. Elbowoods had a hospital, a 28-bed, 35,000 square foot hospital, a most significant medical facility in that rural part of North Dakota, certainly the most significant medical facility serving the reservation.

In order to persuade the Three Affiliated Tribes, Mandan, Hidatsa and Arikare nations, to vote in favor of the dam and give up 156,000 acres under this reservoir, the Federal Government made a commitment to replace the hospital. The tribes in western North Dakota are still waiting. This authorization will authorize up to $20 million for the construction of this medical facility.

My colleagues, I am very familiar with this area. I have been there many, many times. I am acquainted with their medical facilities. They are grossly inadequate. This is an area where there are significant health needs and grossly inadequate facilities in which to meet them and a 50-year promise unmet by the Federal Government.

I certainly want to thank those that have made it possible for this bill to come to the floor, the gentleman from California (Mr. POMBO) and, of course, as was mentioned by the preceding speaker, the very aggressive, ongoing efforts by the gentleman from West Virginia (Mr. RAHALL) to get this matter considered.

As I told the gentleman from California (Mr. POMBO), this matter is deeply important to me as a representative of North Dakota because I feel so strongly about the injustice of what was done with the flooding out of this hospital, promising another one and then never getting it done; so I am really deeply grateful that this has been allowed for consideration under the suspension calendar. I urge the unanimous adoption of it in the course of our deliberations.

Mrs. CHRISTENSEN. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

It marks a historic point in the Committee on Resources, having just passed its more than 200th piece of legislation under suspension in the House for the year which sets a record for not only the committee but I believe for the House in terms of legislation passed.

Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Nevada (Mr. GIBBONS) that the House suspend the rules and pass the Senate bill, S. 1146.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the Senate bill was passed.

CORRECTING ENROLLMENT OF H.R. 1417

Mr. SENSENBRENNER. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and concur in the Senate concurrent resolution (S. Con. Res. 145) to correct the enrollment of H.R. 1417.

The Clerk read as follows:

S. CON. RES. 145

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Wisconsin (Mr. SENSENBRENNER) and the gentleman from California (Mr. BERMAN) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Wisconsin (Mr. SENSENBRENNER).

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. SENSENBRENNER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on Senate Concurrent Resolution 145 currently under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Wisconsin?

There was no objection.

Mr. SENSENBRENNER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, prior to our last recess, the other body was frantically applying their finishing touches to H.R. 1417, a bill to reform the copyright royalty arbitration process which we will consider in a few minutes. When we get to that bill, I will describe the core amendments that were developed there. For now, I will just state that they are acceptable to the House Committee on the Judiciary.

Unfortunately, in the rush to send the amended bill back to the House, some inadvertent drafting errors were included in the text. The purpose of this concurrent resolution which passed the other body yesterday is to correct these provisions before the fact in the enrollment of the bill. In other words, the concurrent resolution will automatically make the appropriate changes to H.R. 1417, thereby ensuring that the measure will work as intended.

The most expeditious way to address this matter is by concurring in the Senate concurrent resolution. Because we cannot approve H.R. 1417 conditionally, it is important that we consider and support the enrolling resolution first.

The concurrent resolution is especially important because of the interaction of the present language in H.R. 1417 with that of H.R. 4518, the Satellite Home Viewer Extension and Reauthorization Act of 2004, which passed the House on October 6. Among other things, that measure extends the copyright compulsory license for satellite broadcasts for another 5 years.

As the Committee on the Judiciary moved H.R. 4518 through the legislative process, the major developers of copyrighted programming and the satellite carriers arrived at a voluntary agreement on the use and compensation of this programming.

However, the relevant Senate text in H.R. 1417 inadvertently required ratemaking proceedings under the satellite license to be conducted pursuant to the rules and practices in place prior to the enactment of the CARP performed bill. This conflicts with those provisions in the satellite bill that take into account the voluntary agreement. In other words, unless the error is corrected, the voluntary agreement will not work as intended once the satellite bill is adopted.

Senate Concurrent Resolution 145 will ensure that the voluntary agreement and the text of the satellite bill will operate as intended by Congress and the parties to the rate-making negotiations.

This major fix aside, the concurrent resolution makes other noncontroversial tweaks to additional drafting errors. These tweaks include developing language that clarifies certain definitions; imposing time deadlines on the Copyright Office when reviewing legal matters; and tightening those rules that prevent claimants from "gaming" small-claim proceedings.

Finally, the concurrent resolution eliminates typographical errors and adopts other grammatical and stylistic changes where appropriate.

Mr. Speaker, after 3 years of the excruciating process, it is time to put CARP reform to bed. I urge Members to support this concurrent resolution and the underlying bill.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join me in supporting Senate Concurrent Resolution 145. It is a critical adjunct to H.R. 1417, the next bill to be considered on the suspension calendar today. S. Con. Res. 145 will correct a number of drafting errors within H.R. 1417 prior to enrollment of that bill. While many of these drafting errors are purely technical in nature, some may have significant negative repercussions. So it is critical that we concur in S. Con. Res. 145 now and thus ensure these errors will be corrected before H.R. 1417 becomes law.

I am not going to bore my colleagues with an explanation of all the technical changes made by S. Con. Res. 145, but I would like to bore my colleagues with a few of the changes that have the most substantive effect.

S. Con. Res. 145 ensures that H.R. 1417 will not create a major conflict with H.R. 4518, the satellite bill now pending before the Senate. Section 6(b)(2) of H.R. 1417 states that, notwithstanding any other provision of law, satellite license rate-setting proceedings will be conducted pursuant to the law, rules and practices in place prior to enactment of H.R. 1417. Thus, even if H.R. 4518 is enacted after H.R. 1417, section 6(b)(2) would take precedence over the provisions of H.R. 4518. Such an outcome would undo provisions of H.R. 4518 that created an expedited procedure for submitting and adopting voluntary section 119 rate agreements and thus undo language critical to the viability of H.R. 4518. S. Con. Res. 145 fixes this problem by ensuring that the process H.R. 4518 may later establish for determining satellite TV royalties will not be preempted by the terms of H.R. 1417.

S. Con. Res. 145 also addresses the concern that the Senate amendments to H.R. 1417 will render it impossible for decisions of copyright royalty judges to take effect.

The Senate amendments to H.R. 1417 state that the Librarian of Congress shall cause a copyright royalty judge determination to be published in the Federal Register following the Register's review of the CRJ's determination. However, the Register's review is both permissive and unlimited in time. If the Register never undertakes such a review, H.R. 1417 would appear to prohibit the Librarian from publishing the CRJ's determination.

S. Con. Res. 145 addresses this problem by establishing a time frame within which the Register must complete its review for legal error. As a result, the Librarian will, after a date certain, be authorized to publish the determinations of CRJs.

S. Con. Res. 145 addresses concerns that, as structured in Senate-passed H.R. 1417, the small claims process in distribution proceedings would not work. H.R. 1417 allows a distribution proceeding participant, who has a legitimate claim of $6 to avoid being forced into a small claims proceeding if he asserts a claim of $10,005. However, under H.R. 1417, that same participant cannot be sanctioned for bad faith inflation of a claim because the amount in controversy is less than $10,000. This anomaly allows participants to game the system and force full-blown distribution proceedings, exactly the problem small claim proceedings were designed to address.

S. Con. Res. 145 addresses this problem by hewing to the approach taken in the House-passed version of H.R. 1417. This approach ensures that participants are forced into small claims proceedings if the contested amount of their claim is $10,000 or less. Thus, a participant who asserts a claim of $10,005 could still be forced into a small claims proceeding if other participants asserted they were willing to pay $6, and thus the contested amount is less than $10,000. If the participant attempts to game the system by asserting a claim of $10,007, then the participant would face fines for asserting in bad faith an amount in controversy in excess of $10,000.

And, finally, S. Con. Res. 145 addresses one further substantive problem created by the Senate amendments to H.R. 1417. H.R. 1417 unintentionally removed the current legal requirement that voluntary agreements submitted to establish rates and terms under the section 112 compulsory license must include a minimum payment for uses of copyrighted works covered by section 112. S. Con. Res. 145 would ensure that H.R. 1417 does not alter this current legal obligation.

In conclusion, Mr. Speaker, adoption of S. Con. Res. 145 is critical to ensuring that H.R. 1417, which we will take up next, will operate as intended. Thus, I urge its adoption by my colleagues.

Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. CONYERS), ranking member of the Committee on the Judiciary.

Mr. CONYERS. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from California (Mr. BERMAN), ranking member of this very important Subcommittee on Courts, the Internet, and Intellectual Property, for yielding me this time.

His explanation has been more than sufficient in which we make sure that what we are doing with the Copyright Arbitration Royalty Panel is done correctly. And with H.R. 1417, with which I was pleased to join him and the gentleman from Wisconsin (Chairman SENSENBRENNER) and gentleman from Texas (Mr. SMITH), subcommittee chairman, on, with the gentleman from California (Mr. BERMAN), does it.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of this legislation. Those of us in Congress and the private sector who follow how the government sets copyright royalty rates agree that the current system needs change. It is expensive, unwieldy, and too unpredictable. Based on that, subcommittee Chairman SMITH, subcommittee Ranking Member BERMAN, and I introduced legislation, H.R. 1417, that would make substantial procedural changes.

We heard the current system is costly because the copyright owners and users have to pay for the arbitrators. Because copyright law subjects copyright owners and users to a compulsory process, we believe the law should not place this additional financial burden on them. Our bill creates 3 Copyright Royalty Judges who would be paid from appropriated funds to set royalty rates and distribute royalty fees.

Another complaint was that the CARP does not have adequate rules on how to address hearsay evidence. This bill explicitly requires that the judges treat hearsay evidence in the same manner that it is treated in Federal court. This will bring uniformity to the proceedings for parties on both sides of royalty disputes.

This bill also alters the terms for which certain royalty rates are in effect. Rates that are determined by the Judges will be in effect for 5 years. This should create some predictability and uniformity for those who rely on the Judges' determinations.

I urge my colleagues to vote "yes" on this bill as amended.

Mr. BERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. SENSENBRENNER. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. STEARNS). The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Wisconsin (Mr. SENSENBRENNER) that the House suspend the rules and concur in the Senate concurrent resolution, S. Con. Res. 145.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the Senate concurrent resolution was concurred in.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

"(3)(A) To authorize the distribution, under sections 111, 119, and 1007, of those royalty fees collected under sections 111, 119, and 1005, as the case may be, to the extent that the Copyright Royalty Judges have found that the distribution of such fees is not subject to controversy.

"(f) INDEPENDENCE OF COPYRIGHT ROYALTY JUDGE.—

"(1) IN MAKING DETERMINATIONS.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—(i) Subject to clause (ii) of this subparagraph and subparagraph (B), the Copyright Royalty Judges shall have full independence in making determinations concerning adjustments and determinations of copyright royalty rates and terms, the distribution of copyright royalties, the acceptance or rejection of royalty claims, rate adjustment petitions, and petitions to participate, and in issuing other rulings under this title, except that the Copyright Royalty Judges may consult with the Register of Copyrights on any matter other than a question of fact.

*"(ii) A Copyright Royalty Judge or Judges, or, by motion to the Copyright Royalty Judge or Judges, any participant in a proceeding may request an interpretation by the Register of Copyrights concerning any material question of substantive law (not including questions of procedure before the Copyright Royalty Judges, the ultimate adjustments and determinations of copyright royalty rates and terms, the ultimate distribution of copyright royalties, or the acceptance or rejection of royalty claims, rate adjustment petitions, or petitions to participate) concerning an interpretation or construction of those provisions of this title that are the subject of the proceeding. Any such request for a written interpretation by the Register of Copyrights shall be on the record. Reasonable provision shall be made for comment by the participants in the proceeding on the material question of substantive law in such a way as to minimize duplication and delay. Except as provided in subparagraph (B), the Register of Copyrights shall deliver to the Copyright Royalty Judges a response within 14 days of receipt by the Register of Copyrights of all of the briefs or comments of the participants. Reasonable provision shall be made for comment on such request by the participants in the proceeding, in such a way as to minimize duplication and delay. The Register shall transmit his or her decision to the Copyright Royalty Judges within 30 days of receipt by the Register of Copyrights of all of the briefs or comments of the participants. Such decision shall be in writing and included by the Copyright Royalty Judges in the record that accompanies their final determination. "(ii) In clause (i), a 'novel question of law' is a question of law that has not been determined in prior decisions, determinations, and rulings described in section 803(a).

"(C) CONSULTATION.—Notwithstanding the provisions of subparagraph (A), the Copyright Royalty Judges shall consult with the Register of Copyrights with respect to any determination or ruling that would require that any act be performed by the Copyright Office, and any such determination or ruling shall not be binding upon the Register of Copyrights.

"(D) REVIEW OF LEGAL CONCLUSIONS BY THE REGISTER OF COPYRIGHTS.—The Register of Copyrights may review for legal error the resolution by the Copyright Royalty Judges of a material question of substantive law under this title that underlies or is contained in a final determination of the Copyright Royalty Judges. If the Register of Copyrights concludes, after taking into consideration the views of the participants in the proceeding, that any resolution reached by the Copyright Royalty Judges was in material error, the Register of Copyrights shall issue a written decision correcting such legal error, which shall be made part of the record of the proceeding. Additionally, the Register of Copyrights shall cause to be published in the Federal Register such written decision together with a specific identification of the legal conclusion of the Copyright Royalty Judges that is determined to be erroneous. As to conclusions of substantive law involving an interpretation of the statutory provisions of this title, the decision of the Register of Copyrights shall be binding as precedent upon the Copyright Royalty Judges in subsequent proceedings under this chapter. When a decision has been rendered pursuant to section 802(f)(1)(D), the Register of Copyrights may, on the basis of and in accordance with such decision, intervene as of right in any appeal of a final determination of the Copyright Royalty Judges pursuant to section 803(d) in the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit. If, prior to intervening in such an appeal, the Register of Copyrights gives notification and undertakes to consult with the Attorney General with respect to such intervention, and the Attorney General fails within reasonable period after receipt of such notification to intervene in such appeal, the Register of Copyrights may intervene in such appeal in his or her own name by any attorney designated by the Register of Copyrights for such purpose. Intervention by the Register of Copyrights in his or her own name shall not preclude the Attorney General from intervening on behalf of the United States in such an appeal as may be otherwise provided or required by law.

"(E) EFFECT ON JUDICIAL REVIEW.—Nothing in this section shall be interpreted to alter the standard applied by a court in reviewing legal determinations involving an interpretation or construction of the provisions of this title or to affect the extent to which any construction or interpretation of the provisions of this title shall be accorded deference by a reviewing court.

"(2) PERFORMANCE APPRAISALS.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law or any regulation of the Library of Congress, and subject to subparagraph (B), the Copyright Royalty Judges shall not receive performance appraisals.

"(i) REMOVAL OR SANCTION.—The Librarian of Congress may sanction or remove a Copyright Royalty Judge for violation of the standards of conduct adopted under subsection (h), misconduct, neglect of duty, or any disqualifying physical or mental disability. Any such sanction or removal may be made only after notice and opportunity for a hearing, but the Librarian of Congress may suspend the Copyright Royalty Judge during the pendency of such hearing. The Librarian shall appoint an interim Copyright Royalty Judge during the period of any such suspension.

"(1) IN GENERAL.—The Copyright Royalty Judges shall act in accordance with regulations issued by the Copyright Royalty Judges and the Librarian of Congress, and on the basis of a written record, prior determinations and interpretations of the Copyright Royalty Tribunal, Librarian of Congress, copyright arbitration royalty panels, the Register of Copyrights, and the Copyright Royalty Judges (to the extent those determinations are not inconsistent with a decision of the Register of Copyrights that was timely delivered to the Copyright Royalty Judges pursuant to section 802(f)(1) (A) or (B), or with a decision of the Register of Copyrights pursuant to section 802(f)(1)(D)), under this chapter, and decisions of the court of appeals under this chapter before, on, or after the effective date of the Copyright Royalty and Distribution Reform Act of 2004.

*"(2) JUDGES ACTING AS PANEL AND INDIVIDUALLY.—The Copyright Royalty Judges shall preside over hearings in proceedings under this chapter en banc. *"(3) DETERMINATIONS.—Final determinations of the Copyright Royalty Judges in proceedings under this chapter shall be made by majority vote. "(ii) Petitions to participate shall be filed by no later than 30 days after publication of notice of commencement of a proceeding, under clause (i), except that the Copyright Royalty Judges may, for substantial good cause shown and if there is no prejudice to the participants that have already filed petitions, accept late petitions to participate at any time up to the date that is 90 days before the date on which participants in the proceeding are to file their written direct statements. Notwithstanding the preceding sentence, petitioners whose petitions are filed more than 30 days after publication of notice of commencement of a proceeding are not eligible to object to a settlement reached during the voluntary negotiation period under section 803(b)(3), and any objection filed by such a petitioner shall not be taken into account by the Copyright Royalty Judges.

"(B) PETITIONS TO PARTICIPATE.—Each petition to participate in a proceeding shall describe the petitioner's interest in the subject matter of the proceeding. Parties with similar interests may file a single petition to participate.

"(2) PARTICIPATION IN GENERAL.—Subject to paragraph (4), a person may participate in a proceeding under this chapter, including through the submission of briefs or other information, only if—

"(A) that person has filed a petition to participate in accordance with paragraph (1) (either individually or as a group under paragraph (1)(B)), together with a filing fee of $150;

"(B) the Copyright Royalty Judges have not determined that the petition to participate is facially invalid; and

"(C) the Copyright Royalty Judges have not determined, sua sponte or on the motion of another participant in the proceeding, that the person lacks a significant interest in the proceeding.

"(3) VOLUNTARY NEGOTIATION PERIOD.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—Promptly after the date for filing of petitions to participate in a proceeding, the Copyright Royalty Judges shall make available to all participants in the proceeding a list of such participants and shall initiate a voluntary negotiation period among the participants.

"(B) LENGTH OF PROCEEDINGS.—The voluntary negotiation period initiated under subparagraph (A) shall be 3 months.

"(C) DETERMINATION OF SUBSEQUENT PROCEEDINGS.—At the close of the voluntary negotiation proceedings, the Copyright Royalty Judges shall, if further proceedings under this chapter are necessary, determine whether and to what extent paragraphs (4) and (5) will apply to the parties.

"(4) SMALL CLAIMS PROCEDURE IN DISTRIBUTION PROCEEDINGS.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—If, in a proceeding under this chapter to determine the distribution of royalties, a participant in the proceeding asserts a claim in the amount of $10,000 or less, the Copyright Royalty Judges shall decide the controversy on the basis of the filing of the written direct statement by the participant, the response by any opposing participant, and 1 additional response by each such party. The participant asserting the claim shall not be required to pay the filing fee under paragraph (2).

"(B) BAD FAITH INFLATION OF CLAIM.—If the Copyright Royalty Judges determine that a participant asserts in bad faith an amount in controversy in excess of $10,000 for the purpose of avoiding a determination under the procedure set forth in subparagraph (A), the Copyright Royalty Judges shall impose a fine on that participant in an amount not to exceed the difference between the actual amount distributed and the amount asserted by the participant.

"(5) PAPER PROCEEDINGS.—The Copyright Royalty Judges in proceedings under this chapter may decide, sua sponte or upon motion of a participant, to determine issues on the basis of the filing of the written direct statement by the participant, the response by any opposing participant, and one additional response by each such participant. Prior to making such decision to proceed on such a paper record only, the Copyright Royalty Judges shall offer to all parties to the proceeding the opportunity to comment on the decision. The procedure under this paragraph—

"(A) shall be applied in cases in which there is no genuine issue of material fact, there is no need for evidentiary hearings, and all participants in the proceeding agree in writing to the procedure; and

"(B) may be applied under such other circumstances as the Copyright Royalty Judges consider appropriate.

"(6) REGULATIONS.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—The Copyright Royalty Judges may issue regulations to carry out their functions under this title. All regulations issued by the Copyright Royalty Judges are subject to the approval of the Librarian of Congress. Not later than 120 days after Copyright Royalty Judges or interim Copyright Royalty Judges, as the case may be, are first appointed after the enactment of the Copyright Royalty and Distribution Reform Act of 2004, such judges shall issue regulations to govern proceedings under this chapter.

"(B) INTERIM REGULATIONS.—Until regulations are adopted under subparagraph (A), the Copyright Royalty Judges shall apply the regulations in effect under this chapter on the day before the effective date of the Copyright Royalty and Distribution Reform Act of 2004, to the extent such regulations are not inconsistent with this chapter, except that functions carried out under such regulations by the Librarian of Congress, the Register of Copyrights, or copyright arbitration royalty panels that, as of such date of enactment, are to be carried out by the Copyright Royalty Judges under this chapter, shall be carried out by the Copyright Royalty Judges under such regulations.

"(C) REQUIREMENTS.—Regulations issued under subparagraph (A) shall include the following:

"(i) The written direct statements of all participants in a proceeding under paragraph (2) shall be filed by a date specified by the Copyright Royalty Judges, which may be not earlier than 4 months, and not later than 5 months, after the end of the voluntary negotiation period under paragraph (3). Notwithstanding the preceding sentence, the Copyright Royalty Judges may allow a participant in a proceeding to file an amended written direct statement based on new information received during the discovery process, within 15 days after the end of the discovery period specified in clause (iii).

"(ii)(I) Following the submission to the Copyright Royalty Judges of written direct statements by the participants in a proceeding under paragraph (2), the judges shall meet with the participants for the purpose of setting a schedule for conducting and completing discovery. Such schedule shall be determined by the Copyright Royalty Judges.

"(II) In this chapter, the term 'written direct statements' means witness statements, testimony, and exhibits to be presented in the proceedings, and such other information that is necessary to establish terms and rates, or the distribution of royalty payments, as the case may be, as set forth in regulations issued by the Copyright Royalty Judges.

"(iii) Hearsay may be admitted in proceedings under this chapter to the extent deemed appropriate by the Copyright Royalty Judges.

"(iv) Discovery in such proceedings shall be permitted for a period of 60 days, except for discovery ordered by the Copyright Royalty Judges in connection with the resolution of motions, orders and disputes pending at the end of such period.

"(v) Any participant under paragraph (2) in a proceeding under this chapter to determine royalty rates may request of an opposing participant nonprivileged documents directly related to the written direct statement or written rebuttal statement of that participant. Any objection to such a request shall be resolved by a motion or request to compel production made to the Copyright Royalty Judges according to regulations adopted by the Copyright Royalty Judges. Each motion or request to compel discovery shall be determined by the Copyright Royalty Judges, or by a Copyright Royalty Judge when permitted under subsection (a)(2). Upon such motion, the Copyright Royalty Judges may order discovery pursuant to regulations established under this paragraph.

"(vi)(I) Any participant under paragraph (2) in a proceeding under this chapter to determine royalty rates may, by means of written motion or on the record, request of an opposing participant or witness other relevant information and materials if absent the discovery sought the Copyright Royalty Judges' resolution of the proceeding would be substantially impaired. In determining whether discovery will be granted under this clause, the Copyright Royalty Judges may consider—

"(aa) whether the burden or expense of producing the requested information or materials outweighs the likely benefit, taking into account the needs and resources of the participants, the importance of the issues at stake, and the probative value of the requested information or materials in resolving such issues;

"(bb) whether the requested information or materials would be unreasonably cumulative or duplicative, or are obtainable from another source that is more convenient, less burdensome, or less expensive; and

"(cc) whether the participant seeking discovery has had ample opportunity by discovery in the proceeding or by other means to obtain the information sought.

"(II) This clause shall not apply to any proceeding scheduled to commence after December 31, 2010.

"(vii) In a proceeding under this chapter to determine royalty rates, the participants entitled to receive royalties shall collectively be permitted to take no more than 10 depositions and secure responses to no more than 25 interrogatories and the participants obligated to pay royalties shall collectively be permitted to take no more than 10 depositions and secure responses to no more than 25 interrogatories. The Copyright Royalty Judges shall resolve any disputes among similarly aligned participants to allocate the number of depositions or interrogatories permitted under this clause.

"(viii) The rules and practices in effect on the day before the effective date of the Copyright Royalty and Distribution Reform Act of 2004, relating to discovery in proceedings under this chapter to determine the distribution of royalty fees, shall continue to apply to such proceedings on and after such effective date.

"(ix) In proceedings to determine royalty rates, the Copyright Royalty Judges may issue a subpoena commanding a participant or witness to appear and give testimony or to produce and permit inspection of documents or tangible things if the Copyright Royalty Judges' resolution of the proceeding would be substantially impaired by the absence of such testimony or production of documents or tangible things. Such subpoena shall specify with reasonable particularity the materials to be produced or the scope and nature of the required testimony. Nothing in this subparagraph shall preclude the Copyright Royalty Judges from requesting the production by a nonparticipant of information or materials relevant to the resolution by the Copyright Royalty Judges of a material issue of fact.

"(x) The Copyright Royalty Judges shall order a settlement conference among the participants in the proceeding to facilitate the presentation of offers of settlement among the participants. The settlement conference shall be held during a 21-day period following the end of the discovery period and shall take place outside the presence of the Copyright Royalty Judges.

"(xi) No evidence, including exhibits, may be submitted in the written direct statement or written rebuttal statement of a participant without a sponsoring witness, except where the Copyright Royalty Judges have taken official notice, or in the case of incorporation by reference of past records, or for good cause shown.

"(c) DETERMINATION OF COPYRIGHT ROYALTY JUDGES.—

"(1) TIMING.—The Copyright Royalty Judges shall issue their determination in a proceeding not later than 11 months after the conclusion of the 21-day settlement conference period under subsection (b)(3)(C)(x), but, in the case of a proceeding to determine successors to rates or terms that expire on a specified date, in no event later than 15 days before the expiration of the then current statutory rates and terms.

"(2) REHEARINGS.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—The Copyright Royalty Judges may, in exceptional cases, upon motion of a participant under subsection (b)(2), order a rehearing, after the determination in a proceeding is issued under paragraph (1), on such matters as the Copyright Royalty Judges determine to be appropriate.

"(B) TIMING FOR FILING MOTION.—Any motion for a rehearing under subparagraph (A) may only be filed within 15 days after the date on which the Copyright Royalty Judges deliver their initial determination concerning rates and terms to the participants in the proceeding.

"(C) PARTICIPATION BY OPPOSING PARTY NOT REQUIRED.—In any case in which a rehearing is ordered, any opposing party shall not be required to participate in the rehearing, except as provided under subsection (d)(1).

"(D) NO NEGATIVE INFERENCE.—No negative inference shall be drawn from lack of participation in a rehearing.

"(E) CONTINUITY OF RATES AND TERMS.—(i) If the decision of the Copyright Royalty Judges on any motion for a rehearing is not rendered before the expiration of the statutory rates and terms that were previously in effect, in the case of a proceeding to determine successors to rates and terms that expire on a specified date, then—

"(I) the initial determination of the Copyright Royalty Judges that is the subject of the rehearing motion shall be effective as of the day following the date on which the rates and terms that were previously in effect expire; and

"(II) in the case of a proceeding under section 114(f)(1)(C) or 114(f)(2)(C), royalty rates and terms shall, for purposes of section 114(f)(4)(B), be deemed to have been set at those rates and terms contained in the initial determination of the Copyright Royalty Judges that is the subject of the rehearing motion, as of the date of that determination.

"(ii) The pendency of a motion for a rehearing under this paragraph shall not relieve persons obligated to make royalty payments who would be affected by the determination on that motion from providing the statements of account and any reports of use, to the extent required, and paying the royalties required under the relevant determination or regulations.

"(iii) Notwithstanding clause (ii), whenever royalties described in clause (ii) are paid to a person other than the Copyright Office, the entity designated by the Copyright Royalty Judges to which such royalties are paid by the copyright user (and any successor thereto) shall, within 60 days after the motion for rehearing is resolved or, if the motion is granted, within 60 days after the rehearing is concluded, return any excess amounts previously paid to the extent necessary to comply with the final determination of royalty rates by the Copyright Royalty Judges. Any underpayment of royalties resulting from a rehearing shall be paid within the same period.

"(3) CONTENTS OF DETERMINATION.—A determination of the Copyright Royalty Judges shall be supported by the written record and shall set forth the findings of fact relied on by the Copyright Royalty Judges. Among other terms adopted in a determination, the Copyright Royalty Judges may specify notice and recordkeeping requirements of users of the copyrights at issue that apply in lieu of those that would otherwise apply under regulations.

"(4) CONTINUING JURISDICTION.—The Copyright Royalty Judges may, with the approval of the Register of Copyrights, issue an amendment to a written determination to correct any technical or clerical errors in the determination or to modify the terms, but not the rates, of royalty payments in response to unforeseen circumstances that would frustrate the proper implementation of such determination. Such amendment shall be set forth in a written addendum to the determination that shall be distributed to the participants of the proceeding and shall be published in the Federal Register.

"(5) PROTECTIVE ORDER.—The Copyright Royalty Judges may issue such orders as may be appropriate to protect confidential information, including orders excluding confidential information from the record of the determination that is published or made available to the public, except that any terms or rates of royalty payments or distributions may not be excluded.

"(6) PUBLICATION OF DETERMINATION.—Following review of the determination by the Register of Copyrights under section 802(f)(1)(D), the Librarian of Congress shall cause the determination, and any corrections thereto, to be published in the Federal Register. The Librarian of Congress shall also publicize the determination and corrections in such other manner as the Librarian considers appropriate, including, but not limited to, publication on the Internet. The Librarian of Congress shall also make the determination, corrections, and the accompanying record available for public inspection and copying.

"(7) LATE PAYMENT.—A determination of Copyright Royalty Judges may include terms with respect to late payment, but in no way shall such terms prevent the copyright holder from asserting other rights or remedies provided under this title.

"(d) JUDICIAL REVIEW.—

"(1) APPEAL.—Any determination of the Copyright Royalty Judges under subsection (c) may, within 30 days after the publication of the determination in the Federal Register, be appealed, to the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit, by any aggrieved participant in the proceeding under subsection (b)(2) who fully participated in the proceeding and who would be bound by the determination Any participant that did not participate in a rehearing may not raise any issue that was the subject of that rehearing at any stage of judicial review of the hearing determination. If no appeal is brought within that 30-day period, the determination of the Copyright Royalty Judges shall be final, and the royalty fee or determination with respect to the distribution of fees, as the case may be, shall take effect as set forth in paragraph (2).

"(2) EFFECT OF RATES.—

"(A) EXPIRATION ON SPECIFIED DATE.—When this title provides that the royalty rates and terms that were previously in effect are to expire on a specified date, any adjustment or determination by the Copyright Royalty Judges of successor rates and terms for an ensuing statutory license period shall be effective as of the day following the date of expiration of the rates and terms that were previously in effect, even if the determination of the Copyright Royalty Judges is rendered on a later date. A transmission service shall be obligated to continue making payments under the rates and terms previously in effect until such time as rates and terms for the successor period are established. Whenever royalties pursuant to this section are paid to a person other than the Copyright Office, the entity designated by the Copyright Royalty Judges to which such royalties are paid by the copyright user (and any successor thereto) shall, within 60 days after the final determination of the Copyright Royalty Judges establishing rates and terms for a successor period or the exhaustion of all rehearings or appeals of such determination, if any, return any excess amounts previously paid to the extent necessary to comply with the final determination of royalty rates. Any underpayment of royalties by a copyright user shall be paid to the entity designated by the Copyright Royalty Judges within the same period.

"(B) OTHER CASES.—In cases where rates and terms have not, prior to the inception of an activity, been established for that particular activity under the relevant license, such rates and terms shall be retroactive to the inception of activity under the relevant license covered by such rates and terms. In other cases where rates and terms do not expire on a specified date, successor rates and terms shall take effect on the first day of the second month that begins after the publication of the determination of the Copyright Royalty Judges in the Federal Register, except as otherwise provided in this title, or by the Copyright Royalty Judges, or as agreed by the participants in a proceeding that would be bound by the rates and terms. Except as otherwise provided in this title, the rates and terms, to the extent applicable, shall remain in effect until such successor rates and terms become effective.

"(C) OBLIGATION TO MAKE PAYMENTS.—

"(i) The pendency of an appeal under this subsection shall not relieve persons obligated to make royalty payments under section 111, 112, 114, 115, 116, 118, 119, or 1003, who would be affected by the determination on appeal, from—

"(I) providing the statements of account and any report of use; and

"(II) paying the royalties required under the relevant determination or regulations.

"(ii) Notwithstanding clause (i), whenever royalties described in clause (i) are paid to a person other than the Copyright Office, the entity designated by the Copyright Royalty Judges to which such royalties are paid by the copyright user (and any successor thereto) shall, within 60 days after the final resolution of the appeal, return any excess amounts previously paid (and interest thereon, if ordered pursuant to paragraph (3)) to the extent necessary to comply with the final determination of royalty rates on appeal. Any underpayment of royalties resulting from an appeal (and interest thereon, if ordered pursuant to paragraph (3)) shall be paid within the same period.

"(3) JURISDICTION OF COURT.—If the court, pursuant to section 706 of title 5, modifies or vacates a determination of the Copyright Royalty Judges, the court may enter its own determination with respect to the amount or distribution of royalty fees and costs, and order the repayment of any excess fees, the payment of any underpaid fees, and the payment of interest pertaining respectively thereto, in accordance with its final judgment. The court may also vacate the determination of the Copyright Royalty Judges and remand the case to the Copyright Royalty Judges for further proceedings in accordance with subsection (a).

"(e) ADMINISTRATIVE MATTERS.—

"(1) DEDUCTION OF COSTS OF LIBRARY OF CONGRESS AND COPYRIGHT OFFICE FROM FILING FEES.—

"(A) DEDUCTION FROM FILING FEES.—The Librarian of Congress may, to the extent not otherwise provided under this title, deduct from the filing fees collected under subsection (b) for a particular proceeding under this chapter the reasonable costs incurred by the Librarian of Congress, the Copyright Office, and the Copyright Royalty Judges in conducting that proceeding, other than the salaries of the Copyright Royalty Judges and the 3 staff members appointed under section 802(b).

"(B) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There are authorized to be appropriated such sums as may be necessary to pay the costs incurred under this chapter not covered by the filing fees collected under subsection (b). All funds made available pursuant to this subparagraph shall remain available until expended.

"(2) POSITIONS REQUIRED FOR ADMINISTRATION OF COMPULSORY LICENSING.—Section 307 of the Legislative Branch Appropriations Act, 1994, shall not apply to employee positions in the Library of Congress that are required to be filled in order to carry out section 111, 112, 114, 115, 116, 118, or 119 or chapter 10.

(3) PENDING PROCEEDINGS.—Notwithstanding paragraph (1), any proceedings to establish or adjust rates and terms for the statutory licenses under section 114(f)(2) or 112(e) of title 17, United States Code, for a statutory period commencing on or after January 1, 2005, shall be terminated upon the date of enactment of this Act and shall be null and void. The rates and terms in effect under section 114(f)(2) or 112(e) of title 17, United States Code, on December 31, 2004, for new subscription services, eligible nonsubscription services, and services exempt under section 114(d)(1)(C)(iv) of such title, and the rates and terms published in the Federal Register under the authority of the Small Webcaster Settlement Act of 2002 (17 U.S.C. 114 note; Public Law 107–321) (including the amendments made by that Act) for the years 2003 through 2004, as well as any notice and recordkeeping provisions adopted pursuant thereto, shall remain in effect until the later of the first applicable effective date for successor terms and rates specified in section 804(b) (2) or (3)(A) of title 17, United States Code, or such later date as the parties may agree or the Copyright Royalty Judges may establish. For the period commencing January 1, 2005, an eligible small webcaster or a noncommercial webcaster, as defined in the regulations published by the Register of Copyrights pursuant to the Small Webcaster Settlement Act of 2002 (17 U.S.C. 114 note; Public Law 107–321) (including the amendments made by that Act), may elect to be subject to the rates and terms published in those regulations by complying with the procedures governing the election process set forth in those regulations not later than the first date on which the webcaster would be obligated to make a royalty payment for such period. Until successor terms and rates have been established for the period commencing January 1, 2006, licensees shall continue to make royalty payments at the rates and on the terms previously in effect, subject to retroactive adjustment when successor rates and terms for such services are established.

(4) INTERIM PROCEEDINGS.—Notwithstanding subsection (a), as soon as practicable after the date of enactment of this Act, the Copyright Royalty Judges or interim Copyright Royalty Judges shall publish the notice described in section 803(b)(1)(A) of title 17, United States Code, as amended by this Act, to initiate a proceeding to establish or adjust rates and terms for the statutory licenses under section 114(f)(2) or 112(e) of title 17, United States Code, for new subscription services and eligible nonsubscription services for the period commencing January 1, 2006. The Copyright Royalty Judges or Interim Copyright Royalty Judges are authorized to cause that proceeding to take place as provided in subsection (b) of section 803 of that title within the time periods set forth in that subsection. Notwithstanding section 803(c)(1) of that title, the Copyright Royalty Judges shall not be required to issue their determination in that proceeding before the expiration of the statutory rates and terms in effect on December 31, 2004.

(c) EXISTING APPROPRIATIONS.—Any funds made available in an appropriations Act to carry out chapter 8 of title 17, United States Code, shall be available to the extent necessary to carry out this section.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Wisconsin (Mr. SENSENBRENNER) and the gentleman from California (Mr. BERMAN) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Wisconsin (Mr. SENSENBRENNER).

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. SENSENBRENNER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on the bill, H.R. 1417, currently under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Wisconsin?

There was no objection.

Mr. SENSENBRENNER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H.R. 1417, legislation to reform the rate-making and royalty distribution system for compulsory and statutory licenses. The House passed its version of the bill on March 3 of this year by a vote of 406 to nothing. The other body subsequently passed H.R. 1417 on October 6 with certain amendments incorporated into a committee substitute. These changes are acceptable to both the majority and minority members of our committee with the adoption of the enrolling resolution just considered.

Mr. Speaker, with the adoption of the three copyright compulsory licenses in 1976, Congress contemplated the need for an administrative body charged with periodically adjusting the rates as well as distributing royalties under the respective licenses. The resulting entity was the Copyright Royalty Tribunal or CRT.

Over the next 17 years, however, CRTs were roundly criticized, prompting Congress to reassess the rate-making and royalty distribution construct. This deliberation produced the current system in 1993 that features copyright royalty arbitration panels or CARPs. Eleven years later we are seeking further improvements in response to existing deficiencies in the CARP system.

Among other things, H.R. 1417 addresses the uniform complaint that CARP decisions are unpredictable and inconsistent. This is generally accomplished by changing the structure from one featuring ad hoc arbitration panels to one comprised of three permanent copyright royalty judges or CRJs. To justify the need for these full-time judges and to alleviate overwhelming workloads associated with multiple proceedings that occur simultaneously, the bill staggers the timing during which individual proceedings can be adjudicated.

The bill also addresses the complaint that the process is unnecessarily expensive by eliminating the costs of the arbitrators upon private parties and by creating a specific process to give small claimants a more balanced ability to participate. The bill discourages persons or entities from disrupting the process at the 11th hour by requiring potential participants to show that they have a significant interest in the proceedings. In furtherance of marketplace negotiations, the measure establishes a cooling-off period during which time parties are to focus on reaching their own agreements.

Mr. Speaker, the amendments adopted by the other body that require our further consideration of the bill today concern the scope of discovery in the role of the copyright office under the new construct.

Briefly, the original House version created greater open-ended discovery of relevant material information over a 60-day period. The changes adopted by the other body make it more difficult for a participant to acquire documents and materials other than statements made by stakeholders and witnesses. In addition, another revision specifically limits the number of interrogatories and depositions that each participant may seek. Both of these changes are consistent with the current trend in administrative law that pares the discovery process. This will save participants time and money.

In addition, the other body strengthened the role of the copyright offices relative to the CRJs. This represents a policy preference that deviates somewhat from the House bill which conferred greater autonomy upon the CRJs to make independent decisions.

I am nonetheless satisfied that the changes adopted were born of a legitimate concern that the proceedings would be fairer and more predictable if the Copyright Office retained plenary authority to offer guidance regarding copyright law. This is especially important when novel questions of law arise.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 1417 was painstakingly negotiated amongst the various congressional, executive, and industry stakeholders. We have worked in a bipartisan manner and developed a consensus product over a 3-year period that will effectively address an arcane, but important, matter. I urge the adoption of the bill.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H.R. 1417. The House passed a substantially identical version of this bill by a vote of 406 to zero on March 3. After making a number of amendments, the Senate passed H.R. 1417 on October 6 by unanimous consent. I think it is safe to say this bill is noncontroversial, and I ask all of my colleagues to once again support it.

Certainly, my colleagues should be aware that the Senate amendments do make some significant changes to the bill as passed by the House. However, I believe those changes are noncontroversial. Further, our passage of Senate Concurrent Resolution 145 just minutes ago ensures that H.R. 1417 will now work as intended.

Since H.R. 1417 already passed the House unanimously, I will spare my colleagues a detailed explanation of the provisions with which they are already familiar. In summary, H.R. 1417 significantly reforms the Copyright Arbitration Royalty Panel, or CARP, system. CARPs establish the rates, terms, and distribution of royalties generated by the half dozen statutory licenses that require copyright owners to make their works available to certain users under government-set rates and terms. There is widespread agreement that the CARP process is broken, and H.R. 1417 is designed to remedy its defects.

After House passage in March, the Senate gave full consideration to H.R. 1417. Following a September markup before the Senate Committee on the Judiciary, the Senate passed its own amendments to H.R. 1417. These amendments largely leave intact the substance and structure of H.R. 1417. Rather than make wholesale changes, the Senate has made a number of focused amendments to several provisions of the House-passed bill. Many of these changes are distinctive improvements to which I can give my wholehearted support. Others may not reflect the exact policy choices I would prefer, but are still acceptable in the context of this bill.

Perhaps the most significant changes made by the Senate amendments involve the interplay between the new Copyright Royalty Judges and the Copyright Office. The Senate opted to give the CRJs less autonomy and independence from the Copyright Office. For instance, the Senate amendments give the Copyright Office the right to review for legal errors CRJ interpretations of the Copyright Act. Further, the Senate amendments require the CRJs to obtain Copyright Office approval before correcting clerical technical errors in their issued determinations. While I reserve the right to revisit some of these changes in future legislation, I do not think they should prove fatal to the bill before us today.

Another major change implemented by the Senate amendments to H.R. 1417 involves the discovery process that will be utilized in rate-making proceedings. In essence, the Senate amendments more severely limit the discovery that will be available to participants in rate-making proceedings. To my mind, these amendments represent a significant improvement over the analogous provisions in the House-passed version of H.R. 1417. These changes will further reduce the cost of participation in rate-making proceedings and thus advance one of the fundamental goals of H.R. 1417. I commend the Senate for making these improvements.

In addition, the Senate amendments altered to a certain degree the ability of affected parties to object to negotiated settlements of royalty rates. In essence, the Senate amendments give all parties bound by proposed rates the ability to comment, but only allows participants in a proceeding to actually object to the proposed rates.

The Senate amendments also make a number of other changes; but as they are primarily technical, they do not merit discussion in the full House.

In conclusion, Mr. Speaker, I think H.R. 1417, as corrected by Senate Concurrent Resolution 145, will substantially improve the CARP process, and I ask my colleagues to support it.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. SENSENBRENNER. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Texas (Mr. SMITH), the chairman of the subcommittee.

Mr. SMITH of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I thank the chairman of the Committee on the Judiciary, the gentleman from Wisconsin (Mr. SENSENBRENNER), for yielding me this time.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 1417 passed the House unanimously in March. The bill before us today reflects noncontroversial amendments added by the Senate.

As the gentleman from Wisconsin (Chairman SENSENBRENNER) indicated, the Senate included some inadvertent, but serious, drafting errors when it passed the bill with these amendments in October. It is now necessary to adopt a concurrent resolution that reflects the fixes to those errors.

The Senate passed this resolution yesterday.

H.R. 1417 is a bipartisan effort to reform the process of copyright royalty rate-making and distribution in a way that is fair to all participants. It is important to the artists, songwriters, music publishers, and webcasters caught in a long, laborious, and costly royalty system. It will provide an incentive for the creation and distribution of content.

The copyright royalty rate-making and distribution process is one of the most complicated and arcane areas of our legal system, but it affects an expansive universe of people and industries.

This bill addresses two complaints about the current system: cost and lack of stability and accountability.

Work on reforms to this system has been a long and tough process over the past 3 years. I would like to thank the gentleman from Wisconsin (Chairman SENSENBRENNER) and the gentleman from Michigan (Ranking Member CONYERS) and the gentleman from California (Ranking Member BERMAN) for their commitment to the process.

This legislation is necessary to ensure an efficient and effective system for copyright royalties.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support this bill.

Mr. BERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. CONYERS), the ranking member of the Committee on the Judiciary.

Mr. CONYERS. Mr. Speaker, I rise only to congratulate the House leadership of the Committee on the Judiciary for the really tireless efforts that they brought to the negotiation process to get us to where we are. We have come a considerable way, and I want to start out by thanking our ranking member on the subcommittee, who has been absolutely brilliant in negotiating with the other side, and our chairman and subcommittee chairman as well.

Mr. BERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Michigan (Ranking Member CONYERS) for those comments. But in all fairness, I have to thank the staff of the committee on both sides of the aisle here who deserve great appreciation because this may not be interesting, but it is complicated, and they spent dozens and perhaps hundreds of hours working through the details of what I think is actually a very significant reform of a process that is very important for a select group of people.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. SENSENBRENNER. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. STEARNS). The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Wisconsin (Mr. SENSENBRENNER) that the House suspend the rules and concur in the Senate amendment to the bill, H.R. 1417.

The question was taken.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. In the opinion of the Chair, two-thirds of those present have voted in the affirmative.

Mr. SENSENBRENNER. Mr. Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX and the Chair's prior announcement, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

IMPROVING ACCESS TO PHYSICIANS IN MEDICALLY UNDERSERVED AREAS

Mr. SENSENBRENNER. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the Senate bill (S. 2302) to improve access to physicians in medically underserved areas.

The Clerk read as follows:

S. 2302

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. MODIFICATION OF VISA REQUIREMENTS WITH RESPECT TO INTERNATIONAL MEDICAL GRADUATES.

(a) EXTENSION OF DEADLINE.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Section 220(c) of the Immigration and Nationality Technical Corrections Act of 1994 (8 U.S.C. 1182 note) (as amended by section 11018 of Public Law 107–273) is amended by striking "2004." and inserting "2006.".

(2) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendment made by paragraph (1) shall take effect as if enacted on May 31, 2004.

(b) EXEMPTION FROM H–1B NUMERICAL LIMITATIONS.—Section 214(l)(2)(A) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. 1184(l)(2)(A)) is amended by adding at the end the following: "The numerical limitations contained in subsection (g)(1)(A) shall not apply to any alien whose status is changed under the preceding sentence, if the alien obtained a waiver of the 2-year foreign residence requirement upon a request by an interested Federal agency or an interested State agency.".

(c) LIMITATION ON MEDICAL PRACTICE AREAS.—Section 214(l)(1)(D) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. 1184(l)(1)(D)) is amended by striking "agrees to practice medicine" and inserting "agrees to practice primary care or specialty medicine".

(d) EXEMPTIONS.—Section 214(l)(1)(D) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. 1184(l)(1)(D)) is further amended—

(1) by striking "except that," and all that follows and inserting "except that—"; and

(2) by adding at the end the following:

"(i) in the case of a request by the Department of Veterans Affairs, the alien shall not be required to practice medicine in a geographic area designated by the Secretary;

"(ii) in the case of a request by an interested State agency, the head of such State agency determines that the alien is to practice medicine under such agreement in a facility that serves patients who reside in one or more geographic areas so designated by the Secretary of Health and Human Services (without regard to whether such facility is located within such a designated geographic area), and the grant of such waiver would not cause the number of the waivers granted on behalf of aliens for such State for a fiscal year (within the limitation in subparagraph (B)) in accordance with the conditions of this clause to exceed 5; and

"(iii) in the case of a request by an interested Federal agency or by an interested State agency for a waiver for an alien who agrees to practice specialty medicine in a facility located in a geographic area so designated by the Secretary of Health and Human Services, the request shall demonstrate, based on criteria established by such agency, that there is a shortage of health care professionals able to provide services in the appropriate medical specialty to the patients who will be served by the alien.".

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Wisconsin (Mr. SENSENBRENNER) and the gentlewoman from Texas (Ms. JACKSON-LEE) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Wisconsin (Mr. SENSENBRENNER).

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. SENSENBRENNER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on S. 2302, the bill currently under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Wisconsin?

There was no objection.

Mr. SENSENBRENNER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of S. 2302. This legislation will extend the program under which alien doctors can avoid having to return home for 2 years by agreeing to practice in medically underserved areas here in America.

Aliens who participate in medical residencies in the United States on a "J" visa program visa must generally leave the United States after the completion of their residencies to reside abroad for 2 years. The intent behind the policy is to encourage American-trained foreign doctors to return home to improve health conditions that advance the medical profession in their native countries.

In 1994, Congress created a waiver of the 2-year foreign residence requirement. State departments of public health may request a waiver for foreign doctors who commit to practicing medicine for no less than 3 years in geographic areas designated by the Secretary of Health and Human Services as having a shortage of health care professionals. The number of foreign doctors who can receive the waiver is limited to 30 per State each year. The waiver has proven to be an important means of ensuring quality medical care in areas of the United States with physician shortages.

S. 2302 is substantially similar to H.R. 4453, a bill introduced by the gentleman from Kansas (Mr. MORAN) that this body passed by voice vote on October 6. It will extend the waiver program to June 2006. It will also allow each State to place five of the doctors it sponsors each year in areas not designated by HHS as physician shortage areas. The bill continues the practice of allowing foreign doctors receiving waivers to receive H–1B visas regardless of the annual H–1B visa quota. Finally, the bill clarifies that doctors receiving waivers can practice specialty medicine. However, when a doctor works in a specialty, there must exist a shortage of health care professionals able to provide services in that specialty to the patients he or she will serve.

I urge my colleagues to support this bill.

Mr. Speaker, this time I will insert into the RECORD an exchange of jurisdictional letters between the chairman of the Committee on Energy and Commerce, the gentleman from Texas (Mr. BARTON), and myself.

U.S. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
COMMITTEE ON ENERGY AND COMMERCE,
Washington, DC, November 16, 2004.

Hon. F. JAMES SENSENBRENNER, Jr.,
Chairman, Committee on the Judiciary, U.S. House of Representatives, Rayburn House Office Building, Washington, DC.

DEAR CHAIRMAN SENSENBRENNER: This week the House is scheduled to consider S. 2302 under suspension of the rules.

S. 2302, as passed by the Senate, contains language, which provides for exemptions to section 214(l)(1)(D) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, involving the Secretary of Health and Human Services. As you know, Rule X of the Rules of the House of Representatives gives the Committee on Energy and Commerce jurisdiction over public health.

I recognize your desire to bring this legislation before the House in an expeditious manner. Accordingly, I will not exercise my Committee's right to a referral. By agreeing to waive its consideration of the bill, however, the Energy and Commerce Committee does not waive its jurisdiction over S. 2302. In addition, the Energy and Commerce Committee reserves its right to seek conferees on any provisions of the bill that are within its jurisdiction during any House-Senate conference that may be convened on this legislation. I ask for your commitment to support any request by the Energy and Commerce Committee for conferees on S. 2302 or similar legislation.

I request that you include this letter and your response in the RECORD during consideration of the bill. Thank you for your attention to these matters.

Sincerely,

JOE BARTON,
Chairman.

COMMITTEE ON THE JUDICIARY,
Washington, DC, November 17, 2004.

Hon. JOE BARTON,
Chairman, Committee on Energy and Commerce, House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

DEAR CHAIRMAN BARTON: Thank you for your letter regarding S. 2302, a bill to improve access to physicians in medically underserved areas. Subsection 1(d) of the bill reduces the number of slots assigned to underserved areas that are designated by the Secretary of Health and Human Services. To the extent they affect duties of the Secretary, these provisions fall within the Rule X jurisdiction of the Committee on Energy and Commerce. I appreciate your willingness to forgo consideration of the bill, and I acknowledge that by agreeing to waive its consideration of the bill, the Committee on Energy and Commerce does not waive its jurisdiction over these provisions.

I will include a copy of your letter and this response in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD during consideration of S. 2032 on the House floor.

Thank you for your assistance in this matter.

Sincerely,

F. JAMES SENSENBRENNER, Jr.,
Chairman.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I thank the distinguished chairman. This might be the last time the Subcommittee on Immigration is on the floor, possibly, in the 108th Congress; and I want to thank the full Committee on the Judiciary staff, and I want to particularly offer my appreciation to the Democratic staff of the Committee on the Judiciary for their very fine work during this Congress and their efforts toward bipartisanship, and thank Nolan Rappaport on the Subcommittee on Immigration for his work on this legislation and others dealing with immigration concerns.

Let me share with my colleagues from an Associated Press article dated August 24: "Before doctors like Mircea Rachita from Romania arrived in town, patients in this small town had to wait months for doctors' appointments. Now, underserved communities are finding good doctors easy to come by due to a visa waiver program which creates incentives for foreign-born physicians to work in communities American doctors may shun."

Clearly there is room and need for a bill to improve access to physicians in medically underserved areas, and S. 2302 is the embodiment of that bill, along with a similar House bill.

The purpose of this bill is to make it possible for foreign doctors to provide medical services in geographic areas which have been designated by the Secretary of Health and Human Services as having a shortage of health care professionals. S. 2302 is almost identical to H.R. 4453, which I cosponsored with my colleague, the chairman of the subcommittee, the gentleman from Indiana (Mr. HOSTETTLER).

H.R. 4453 passed the House on October 6 on the Suspension Calendar. The Senate bill has an additional provision which ensures that specialists sponsored by Federal and State agencies are placed in areas that have a shortage in that specialty. The additional provision requires the sponsoring agency to determine criteria for demonstrating a specialist shortage and to meet that criteria in order to sponsor the specialist, a way of broadening access to health care and recognizing the 44 million uninsured Americans who need access to sometimes public facilities that utilize these foreign doctors.

Aliens who attend medical school in the United States on J exchange program visas are required to leave the country afterward and reside abroad for 2 years before they can receive their visas to work here as physicians.

In 1994, Congress created a new temporary waiver of this 2-year foreign residence requirement which allowed States as well as Federal agencies to sponsor the doctors. It applied to foreign doctors who would commit to practicing medicine for no less than 3 years in a geographic area designated by the Secretary of Health and Human Services as having a shortage of health care professionals.

This program has been successful for 10 years in bringing highly qualified physicians to medically underserved areas. It sunsetted on June 1 of this year and created a chasm between the needs of those who need health care and the regulations of the Federal government. We now have brought those pieces together.

The first physician recommended for a waiver in Texas was Dr. Maria Camacho, a pediatric intensivist. Her services to the residents of Harlingen in Cameron County provide a level of health care to children that was previously unavailable in that county.

Dr. K.M. Moorthi is a nephrologist who was recommended for a waiver to serve at a facility in Pecos, Texas, in Reeves County. He works at a dialysis center. Patients requiring dialysis three times per week in that part of Texas used to have to travel more than 70 miles each way for the treatment. Now it is available in this county.

The bill will provide a 2-year extension for this waiver program. We started out with 1 year. I asked for 5 years. We compromised on 2 years. We have made progress.

It will also establish a pilot flexibility program which will allow a State agency to place a doctor at a location that has not been designated as underserved if the doctor, nevertheless, will serve patients from an underserved area. That is a very effective compromise to ensure that the patients, no matter where they are, get served whether they are in an underserved area or those patients that reflect that community.

The exception is limited to five doctors in each State. It targets rural underserved areas that typically get specialty medical care from a major medical facility that is not itself located within an underserved area.

Finally, the doctors who receive a waiver to come here with H–1B visas will not count toward the H–1B cap.

I urge my colleagues to consider this legislation as a very positive step for good health care in America and support it enthusiastically.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. SENSENBRENNER. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Kansas (Mr. MORAN), the author of the House counterpart to this bill.

Mr. MORAN of Kansas. Mr. Speaker, I thank the chairman for yielding me time.

I am here only once again in a series, it seems like, of a number of years in which I have been on the floor to support the provisions contained in this legislation. I commend the chairman and the ranking member in the Committee on the Judiciary for their work in getting this resolved this year.

The J-1 visa program expired on May 31 of this year. It is a program that is so important to many areas of the country. Once again, I am here to express my support for the legislation and indicate that in many places across rural America and the core of our cities, absent this program, Americans will not be served with a physician. It is important. It needs to be passed. I thank the chairman for his leadership in seeing that that occurred.

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. CONYERS).

Mr. CONYERS. Mr. Speaker, I am so happy that we are working together on a health care issue. They are critical to the United States where we have so many people without the ability to get health care. Against that background and this positive attitude, someone in this body must say, well, why are we bringing doctors in from out of the country to the most affluent nation on planet Earth, and they are providing very important necessary care? I think that is a question that will be taken up in the following upcoming session, but it is one that is troublesome.

Right now I join with the gentlewoman from Texas (Ms. JACKSON-LEE), our ranking member, in proudly supporting the work that has taken place to expand the boards. There are places where, for example, Indian reservations, technically not within the jurisdiction, will now be able to receive help. And even more important is the ability now to bring in specialists, pediatric specialists, diabetes specialists, to work in areas where, without this intervention, patients would be hundreds and hundreds of miles away from the proper medical treatment.

This is an excellent bill. It is a product of bipartisan work in the committee, and I am happy to be a part of it. I thank the gentlewoman for yielding me time.

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from North Dakota (Mr. POMEROY), who I think understands the need for health care in rural America.

Mr. POMEROY. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentlewoman for yielding me time.

I am pleased to associate myself with the ranking member on the Committee on the Judiciary, the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. CONYERS), as well as my former co-chairman with the Rural Health Care Coalition, the gentleman from western Kansas (Mr. MORAN).

Truly, we have a growing problem relative to the delivery of rural health care, and that is we do not have enough professionals to deliver the care required. As we look at the pipeline, those coming along compared to those nearing the end of their practice years, we realize that we are working ourselves into a pretty serious problem here and that is especially so when you consider the aging of the population. So I agree with the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. CONYERS). We need to look at this systemically, why this is happening, and address it. But in the near term, we need to take the step that offers a Band-Aid solution but an important Band-Aid at that, and that is the legislation before us.

North Dakota receives about a dozen doctors a year through this important visa waiver provision. Twenty-six cities in the State I represent have participated in this program. We would have a situation where failure to authorize this would create immediate problems in six or seven small towns. They would face the departure of critical medical personnel under the loss of this visa waiver.

With the passage of it, conversely, we will have opportunities to continue to build capacity. I have one city that has been going through an incredibly expensive proposition of hiring an anesthesiologist on a Locum Tenens basis. This is a temporary hire coming in from other parts of the country, and it costs a fortune. We hope to move through a resident hire through the application of this visa waiver provision.

So, bottom line, while this is an immigration bill, it is all about making sure health care services for peoples' needs in rural areas and underserved communities are available, and I urge its adoption.

Mr. CONYERS. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. POMEROY. I yield to the gentleman from Michigan.

Mr. CONYERS. Mr. Speaker, I want to commend the gentleman, because it was the senior Senator from North Dakota that put this program together almost a decade ago, and I commend both of the gentlemen.

Mr. POMEROY. I thank the gentleman very much.

Senator CONRAD has done very good work on this, as has the gentleman from Kansas (Mr. MORAN) in the House and others. I am very pleased, as the gentleman mentioned earlier, a bipartisan moment on health care. This is a good bill. Let us pass it.

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas. Mr. Speaker, how much time remains?

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. STEARNS). The gentlewoman from Texas (Ms. JACKSON-LEE) has 9 minutes.

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

In conclusion, I am very glad that the point that was made by the distinguished ranking member and the gentleman from North Dakota (Mr. POMEROY) is that this is both a medical bill, a health care bill, and it is an immigration bill. And is it not interesting that we can find an opportunity for bipartisanship around two very key issues.

I think it is also important to reemphasize the fact that we promote and encourage the education and training of individuals here in America in the medical professions, nurses, nurse practitioners, physicians, physician assistants and others that are the cornerstone of our health care system. But we know our hospital systems are overburdened. We know there are many, many people that are underserved. This bill serves a very valuable purpose.

Might I reemphasize the fact that we will give opportunities to hospitals that are located or designated as not an underserved area? It reaches out to serve the underserved, which is something we try to encourage our teaching hospitals to do, who typically are not in areas that can be considered that, so that the individuals get high-quality service. They will be able to utilize this legislation.

Mr. Speaker, in my concluding remarks, I think it is important to note that we do have before us an immigration bill. I was hoping before the conclusion of the 108th Congress we might be in a better position to really attack the question of comprehensive immigration reform. Many of us have had initiatives that have languished for a very long time. I cite for this body the Comprehensive Immigration Fairness Reform Act that really looked at immigration in a very comprehensive manner.

Probably over the next couple of months we will hear a raging debate on immigration, those for it, those against it. The debate on immigration can be a very tense and conflicted debate. It raises some of the most unpleasant aspects of many of those who are pro and con, in many instances, not being able to find common ground. I would encourage my colleagues to look at this forthrightly and understand that we can no longer turn the lights out and close the curtains on this very important issue.

We can no longer have a temporary guest program, albeit how well-intentioned this administration may be, the Flat Earth Theory that allows people to come in for 3 years and then suggest to them that they must then leave the country in order to, if you will, remain in a position to possibly have another job again. The guest worker program proposed by President Vincente Fox and this administration will not work. You will not get 8 million illegal immigrants in this country to accept that philosophy. Nor will you get to a point where you would like to be, a secure America, because we are not focusing on securing our borders. We are focusing on what I think is misdirected in a temporary guest worker program.

Comprehensive reform allows us to allow individuals to earn access to legalization, to document those who are here, and be able to be safe from terrorists by distinguishing those who have come here for economic opportunity as opposed to those who have come to do us harm. Why can we not understand that in a bipartisan way?

Now, let me say also, if we are going to do anything in the last hours of this session, make sure that we do something that helps legal immigrants who are here who for years who have been trying to reunite their families. We have passed out of the House in a bipartisan manner 245–I which would allow legal immigrants to reunite with mothers and fathers, husbands and wives or children. That would be a fair approach, and the Senate needs to help us, the other body, if I might say, needs to help us in that. Any discussion about H–1Bs clearly should be a discussion in recognizing that we must protect American jobs. We must protect American jobs in order to have an open and adequate discussion on immigration.

In conclusion, let me say this, Mr. Speaker, I would hope that our good friends who are dealing in the conference on issues of immigration reform would not pursue these in the 9/11 intelligence bill. Allow us to have a full, comprehensive debate and a full, comprehensive bipartisan approach to immigration reform that will last and will be invested in America and will make America work and comply with our principles of democracy and empowerment and equality.

Putting poison pills on an intelligence bill that deals with fixing the intelligence system is no way to go forward on a vital question of how we bring America together and answer the questions of those who say, what do you do about those illegal immigrants? Are you just going to affirm them for doing the illegal wrong thing? No, we are not. We are going to give them the opportunity to earn access to legalization while they are already here paying taxes, children in school, building houses and contributing to this economy.

Let us wake up America and stop the divisive debate on immigration and stand up for what we believe in.

This country was founded on immigration. How many of us can forget the early pinnings of this Nation; the turn of the century and the 1900s and immigrants coming from Europe? This is the very same.

Protect the borders, respond to those in Arizona and California and Texas who are concerned about the constant flow of illegal immigrants and the large deaths in the deserts. We do that by securing the borders, working with our friends in South and Central America, providing economic opportunity there, and working on a real immigration reform bill.

It saddens me that we come to the close of the 108th Congress when we could have sat down, looked each other in the eye, sat around the table and done the right thing.

I can only say that I applaud the J–1 visa legislation, a good sign of working together. It will help people in America, and I hope it will help us improve our health care system, but we can also heal a broken immigration system by doing the very same thing, looking each other in the eye and sitting around and putting the doctors to work, the political doctors to work, of good mind and good faith and make this country what it is, a country that believes in the Statue of Liberty's words: Bring us your poor and oppressed.

I thank the distinguished Speaker, and I ask my colleagues to support this legislation, and I hope the charge is that we will face immigration the way it should be, in a fair, equitable and balanced way.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. SENSENBRENNER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of the time.

Mr. Speaker, lest anyone be confused as a result of the previous speaker that this is a wide-ranging, overall immigration bill that deals with amnesty and guest workers and all of those very contentious issues, let me lay that impression to rest. This bill does not do that, and I fear that the previous speaker's statement ends up hurting the support for this bill that is broad and bipartisan.

All this bill does is allow a foreign national who is a graduate of an American medical school and who has completed his residency in an American hospital to practice in a medically-underserved area, somewhere in the United States, and the request would have to be made by a State Department of Public Health and limited to no more than 50 doctors per State.

Now, this is not what the gentlewoman from Texas is talking about. We will deal with that in due course, but let us make sure that this bill is not confused with the other more broad and contentious bills.

This bill has to pass because it extends a program that expired in June of this year, and if we vote this legislation down, then we are not going to have those doctors in the medically-underserved areas.

We should keep the discussion and bills like this confined to what is in the bill, rather than a wide-ranging overall debate on immigration policy.

Ms. BORDALLO. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of S. 2302, which would reauthorize the "Conrad 30 J–1 Visa Waiver Program." Reauthorization of this important program will help districts that experience shortages with respect to health care professionals, such as Guam, by allowing certain U.S.-trained foreign doctors to remain in the United States to practice medicine in these underserved areas.

Like many rural and insular areas, Guam experiences great difficulty attracting and retaining qualified health professionals. The cost of providing health care is higher in Guam than in many areas on the mainland, and incidents of chronic disease are above national averages. The Conrad 30 J–1 visa Waiver Program is an important tool that allows poor, rural and insular areas to meet the health care needs of their communities by permitting International Medical Graduates to maintain their work visas in the United States if they agree to remain in areas defined by the Department of Health and Human Services as Health Professional Shortage Areas or Medically Underserved Areas or Populations. Normally, these foreign physicians would have to return to their respective home countries for 2 years before they could return to the United States to again practice medicine.

While I believe priority should always be given to American doctors and health professionals for local hiring, it is clear that there are simply not enough health care professionals to meet demand in underserved areas such as Guam. Without the services of skilled foreign physicians from countries such as the Philippines, it would be difficult for Guam's public health care system to meet the medical needs of our community. S. 2302 reauthorizes a program that has been successful in addressing the issues of recruitment and retention of qualified health professionals in these areas, and I urge my colleagues to support its passage.

Mr. DAVIS of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of S. 2302. The state of health care is one of the most critical issues facing this Nation. As the world's most powerful and wealthy country, our health care system is unacceptable. According to the Health Resources and Services Administration, there are 62 designated Health Professional Shortage Areas in Cook County, Illinois, alone. It is unacceptable that 49 out of the 102 counties in Illinois lack hospitals with any obstetrical services. It is unacceptable that 49 of the 102 counties in Illinois lack hospitals with any psychiatric services. S. 2302 would help address the Nation's health care crisis by encouraging qualified medical professionals to serve in medically underserved areas. Increasing access to primary care providers and specialists would benefit the citizens of Illinois and the country as a whole.

Therefore, this bill is a step in the right direction. However, much work remains to be done to reform our health care system as a whole. We need to ensure that no American is left behind in preventative care. We need to ensure equal access to medical treatments. We need to ensure affordable health insurance. We need to erase the vast disparities in the incidents of illness and death among minorities compared to the overall U.S. population. African-American and Native-American babies die at a rate that is 2 to 3 times higher than the rate for white Americans. African Americans are 1.7 times as likely as white Americans to have diabetes; Latino Americans are twice as likely to have diabetes as their white counterparts.

Mr. Speaker, the state of one's health sets the precedent for everything else in our lives. If we are not in good health, we cannot perform our jobs well or do well in school. We must work toward making quality healthcare accessible and available to all regardless of age, race, or economic status.

Ms. CHRISTENSEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to join my fellow colleagues in support of S. 2302, also known as H.R. 4156. I first would like to thank Senator CONRAD and Congressman JERRY MORAN for sponsoring this important piece of legislation. I would also like to thank the committees jurisdiction for their quick actions in allowing this bill to come to the floor.

Mr. Speaker, over the tenure of my congressional career I have come to the floor repeatedly to demand that Congress act to address the needs of the medically underserved and to ensure that we do everything possible to eliminate arbitrary barriers which give rise to healthcare disparities.

As there is a vast amount of research on the subject of rural physician recruitment and retention, this bill is by no means a comprehensive policy. Rather, the purpose is to be a temporary stop gap measure to allay the crisis of rural health and healthcare providers.

Mr. Speaker, more than 51 million Americans live in areas classified by the U.S. Office of Management and Budget (OMB) as nonmetropolitan. They comprise one-fifth of the U.S. population. Rural populations are found to be older, poorer, sicker, less educated and to have a perception of worse health status than their urban counterparts.

They also have higher infant mortality and injury-related mortality rates, fewer hospital beds and physicians per capita, and are much less likely than urban residents to have private or public health insurance. Moreover, while the number of individuals living below the poverty line is disproportionately high in rural areas, the number receiving Medicaid benefits is disproportionately low.

In a study of the utilization rates of 28 categories of medical services, found that, with the exception of major surgical procedures, urban residents received between 20 percent and 30 percent more of each type of service than did rural residents.

With at least 20 percent of the population living in rural areas, less than 11 percent of the Nation's physicians are practicing in nonmetropolitan areas. Today, more than 2,500 physicians were needed in nonmetropolitan areas to remove all nonmetropolitan health professional shortage area (HPSA) designations for primary care. More than twice that number are needed to achieve a 2,000–1 ratio in those HPSAs. This is the current situation and does not factor in the aging physician population serving rural areas, nor does it factor in the statistical designation dealing with counties as the main reference point.

As a medical doctor, I understand that nonmetropolitan physicians derive a larger share of their gross practice revenue from Medicare and Medicaid patients than metropolitan physicians. These public programs pay physicians at lower rates than private insurers. There is a decreased ability in nonmetropolitan areas to perform economically enhancing procedures (hospitals with decreasing obstetrical and surgical units, etc.), which further decreases relative reimbursement rates. Thus, nonmetropolitan physicians, on average, work more and earn less than their metropolitan counterparts.

Rural Health Clinics (RHCs), Federally Qualified Health Centers (FQHCs) in designated HPSAs and medically underserved areas (MUAs), and differential Medicare payments to qualifying rural areas have helped to enhance reimbursement. But currently, the mandate that States pay RHCs and FQHCs their reasonable costs under Medicaid is being phased out. Medicare managed care program reimbursement to RHCs has threatened to be lower than the current reimbursement. Both of these payment changes will put providers in jeopardy.

Mr. Speaker, I along with my Congressional Black Caucus counterparts have consistently pushed the Congress for more equitable fee reimbursement and to fully fund Title VII and Title VIII health profession training program. We have also called for the strengthening, expansion, and reauthorization of these programs in our minority health bill H.R. 3459, the Healthcare Equality and Accountability Act, which I look forward to moving on the 109th Congress.

S. 2302/H.R. 4156 acknowledges that international medical graduates, through State initiated J–1 visa programs, have initially met some unmet needs of rural areas. But Mr. Speaker, I would like to highlight a recent study published by the Council on Graduate Medical Education that stated that although international medical graduates have made an important contribution to the provision of medical care in some rural areas, training these graduates is an inefficient way to expand physician supply in rural areas. Although many inner city hospitals are dependent on international medical graduates for providing care to underserved urban populations, more direct avenues exist for meeting the needs of these hospitals. The funds would be better targeted to programs that increase the flow of U.S. health professional graduates to underserved rural areas.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker while I strongly support the underlying bill, I again call on Congress to move legislation in the 109th that will do the following.

Increase ORHP funding for research related to physician recruitment, retention and networking should be supported and enhanced.

Reevaluate how designation of HPSAs and MUAs are given so the designated areas accurately reflect underserved status.

Increasing the Title VII funding for AHECs and health education training centers should be supported and enhanced.

Encourage and mandate that medical schools confront their obligation to target admissions and training to underserved populations, both rural and urban, in the primary care professions.

Encourage medical school environments to encourage individuals into primary care and encourage early and long-term rural exposure to positive rural physician role models, and such educational programs should be adequately funded.

Increase scholarship programs to place medical students with mentoring physicians in rural or remote practices during an elective or vacation period should be encouraged.

Support medical schools' and residencies' efforts to integrate community orientation and a team approach to health care. To achieve the full benefit of this effort, there needs to be further infrastructure building of rural allied health teams and rural communities' commitment to meeting the challenges of a changing health care system.

Encourage family practice residencies to offer rural electives, rural emphasis and rural training tracks.

Direct the Bureau of Health Professions (BHP) funding for residencies that are building rural-based programs and funding for those programs that have a history of producing rural physicians should become a staple rather than be at the mercy of national budget politics. An aggressive plan to increase funding should be sought.

Increase support by the BHP to primary care residencies to be continued and enhanced.

Decrease professional isolation by supporting teleinformatics and outreach education programs of states and by the use of nonphysician providers.

Increase retention through more appropriately rural-trained candidates.

Identify care needs at the community level. Use state and federal funds to assist rural hospitals where access to care would be threatened by hospital closure and physicians would be further deprived of opportunities to utilize their professional skills.

Develop and use innovative delivery systems that emphasize coordination and cooperation among providers, institutions and communities.

Develop programs allowing rural clinicians to undertake periodic rotations through academic hospital services (with locum tenens backup) in order to learn or update procedures.

Provide for those areas that do not qualify for RHC or FQHC status but still are faced with the disproportionate numbers of Medicare and Medicaid patients, there should be enhanced Medicare and Medicaid payments to rural providers.

Evaluate the enhanced reimbursement available through RHC and Community Health Center designations needs to be adequately maintained to retain providers and avoid decertification as the area's needs are met. If the same level of Medicare and Medicaid and uninsured patients persists and the area is decertified because of an adequate supply of physicians, a cycle will develop leading to economic unfeasibility, provider dissatisfaction and lower retention rates.

Mandate the States to pay RHCs and FQHCs reasonable costs under the State's Medicaid program.

Ensure that Medicare managed care reimbursement must equal or exceed the RHC and FQHC Medicare reimbursement.

Increase the supply of primary care providers in rural areas by lessening speciality and geographic differentials in physician income.

Establish relocation grants, especially for remote areas, to defray the costs of moving and setting up a practice.

Mr. Speaker, in the 109th Congress I will introduce a bill that codifies these recommendations among others and will hopefully begin the process of ensuring that we provide healthcare for all Americans within or close to current expenditures.

Mr. SENSENBRENNER. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. STEARNS). The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Wisconsin (Mr. SENSENBRENNER) that the House suspend the rules and pass the Senate bill, S. 2302.

The question was taken.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. In the opinion of the Chair, two-thirds of those present have voted in the affirmative.

Mr. SENSENBRENNER. Mr. Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX and the Chair's prior announcement, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

AUTHORIZATION OF SALARY ADJUSTMENTS FOR FEDERAL JUSTICES AND JUDGES

Mr. SENSENBRENNER. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 5363) to authorize salary adjustments for Justices and judges of the United States for fiscal year 2005.

H.R. 5363

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. AUTHORIZATION OF SALARY ADJUSTMENTS FOR FEDERAL JUSTICES AND JUDGES.

Pursuant to section 140 of Public Law 97–92, Justices and judges of the United States are authorized during fiscal year 2005 to receive a salary adjustment in accordance with section 461 of title 28, United States Code.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Wisconsin (Mr. SENSENBRENNER) and the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. CONYERS) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Wisconsin (Mr. SENSENBRENNER).

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. SENSENBRENNER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on H.R. 5363, the bill currently under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Wisconsin?

There was no objection.

Mr. SENSENBRENNER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 5363 to provide a cost-of-living adjustment for Federal judges in fiscal year 2005.

By way of background, Congress enacted the Executive Salary Cost-of-Living Adjustment Act in 1975, which was intended to give judges, Members of Congress and high-ranking executive branch officials automatic COLAs accorded other Federal employees unless rejected by Congress. In 1981, Congress amended the statute by enacting section 140 of Public Law 97–92, which requires specific congressional action to grant judges a COLA.

Mr. Speaker, the legislation before us is based on the template set forth in H.R. 3349, now Public Law 108–167. That law satisfied the section 140 requirement and thereby enabled judges to receive a COLA this past fiscal year. H.R. 5363 accomplishes the same purpose for fiscal year 2005.

H.R. 5363 will ensure that Federal judges receive a COLA when other civil servants, including Members of Congress, receive theirs. The legislation will assist in the administration of justice in our Federal courts and is otherwise noncontroversial. I urge its adoption.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. CONYERS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

This is a great day in the Federal system where we on the Committee on the Judiciary have decided to authorize a COLA for the members of the Federal judicial system in America. Now, there are only a couple of problems here, and I, of course, enthusiastically support H.R. 5363.

The first is that those who work in the administrative office of the courts, those who work for the Federal judges, now enjoy greater salaries than the judges themselves.

The second thing is that, under the system that we are implementing, Article III, section 1 of the Constitution, the fact of the matter is that the failure to provide past cost-of-living adjustments to our Federal judiciary has, in the last decade, resulted in an economic reduction in salary in the equivalent amount of $77,000, and so we are now faced with a crisis of dozens, six dozen, judges having left the judiciary in the past several years.

I think it is obvious to all that it is hard to continue to maintain a qualified and independent judiciary if we are not paying them a just wage.

Having said this, we have brought this measure forward, not a moment too soon, to provide for them a cost-of-living adjustment for the present term.

So I enthusiastically join the gentleman from Wisconsin (Chairman SENSENBRENNER) in supporting this measure.

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 5363, a bill authorizing cost-of-living salary adjustments for justices and judges of the federal courts for fiscal year 2005 that has been introduced by Chairman JIM SENSENBRENNER and co-sponsored by Ranking Member JOHN CONYERS of the Judiciary Committee. The bill would provide for a 2.5 percent adjustment of federal judiciary salaries. I thank the Chairman for his leadership in bringing this very important matter to the floor. In 1981, Congress passed a Joint Resolution Making Further Continuing Appropriations for FY 1982, and Section 140 of that legislation read as follows:

Notwithstanding any other provision of law or of this joint resolution [Pub. L. 97–92], none of the funds appropriated by this joint resolution or by any other Act shall be obligated or expended to increase, after the date of enactment of this joint resolution [Dec. 15, 1981], any salary of any Federal judge or Justice of the Supreme Court, except as may be specifically authorized by Act of Congress hereafter enacted: Provided, That nothing in this limitation shall be construed to reduce any salary which may be in effect at the time of enactment of this joint resolution nor shall this limitation be construed in any manner to reduce the salary of any Federal judge or of any Justice of the Supreme Court. This section shall apply to fiscal year 1981 and each fiscal year thereafter. (Emphasis added).

This provision placed a severe limitation on the cost-of-living adjustments—and therefore the financial well-being of judges by requiring specific implementing legislation before a salary increase could be made under the current Section 461 of Title 28 in the United States Code.

Article III, Section 1 of the United States Constitution provides that "The Judges . . . shall . . . receive for their Services, a Compensation, which shall not be diminished during their Continuance in Office." Over the past ten years though, this body has failed to provide federal judges with annual cost-of-living adjustments (COLA), and as a result, these officers have faced the economic equivalent of a $77,000 reduction in salary. In the last 30 years, while average pay has increased by 12% for most workers, it has decreased by 25% for federal judges. Federal judges make a lifetime commitment to serve the public. This legislation will help them to plan their financial futures with assurance that their pay is commensurate with the cost-of-living increases for this year.

Under the current pay schedule, federal district court judges earn $150,000 per year. This is far, far less than they could earn in private practice and is even less than an associate right out of law school earns in New York City. Our federal judiciary will not attract the kind of high caliber legal minds that are needed if the compensation is not maintained in a reasonable fashion.

It has gotten so bad that employees of the Administrative Office of Courts—who work for the federal judges—now enjoy greater salaries than the judges themselves. This is the equivalent of congressional staff earning more than Congressmen. It is no wonder that federal judges are leaving in droves, with nearly six dozen judges leaving over the last several years.

There can be no doubt of the value and importance of ensuring that our federal judges are fairly compensated. The federal judiciary is the crux of our democracy. Without the wisdom of some of the great judicial scholars of the past, many of—women, African-Americans and all minorities, immigrants, disabled, and others, would not enjoy the fundamental civil liberties that we do today. We are a long way from a completely fair and equal society, but without the best and brightest legal minds, we will never make it to that goal.

If there is any single idea in the Constitution that has separated our experiment in democracy from all other nations, it is the concept of an independent judiciary.

The Founding Fathers, in their great wisdom, created a system of checks and balances, granting independent judges not only lifetime tenure, but the right to an undiminished salary. It is no surprise that over the years, the federal judiciary, more than any other branch, has served as the protector of our precious civil rights and civil liberties. I agree with Alexander Hamilton that the "independent spirit of judges" enables them to stand against the "ill humors of passing political majorities."

We cannot have a qualified and independent judiciary if we don't pay them a just wage. Chief Justice Rehnquist has declared that "providing adequate compensation for judges is basic to attracting and retaining experienced, well-qualified and diverse men and women." Justice Breyer was even blunter when he stated, "the gulf that separates judicial pay from compensation in the non-profit sector, in academia, and in the private sector grows larger and larger . . . and threatens irreparable harm both to the institution and the public it serves."

The bill before us responds to that problem granting the judiciary a COLA retroactive to the start of the last fiscal year. I consider this to be a modest down payment in developing a more rationale and fair system of compensating our federal judges.

I urge my colleagues to join this Committee in supporting this important legislation. Mr. Speaker, I ask that my colleagues vote "yes" on H.R. 5363.

Mr. CONYERS. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. SENSENBRENNER. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Wisconsin (Mr. SENSENBRENNER) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 5363.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

REPORT ON RESOLUTION PROVIDING FOR CONSIDERATION OF S. 2986, INCREASING THE PUBLIC DEBT LIMIT

Mr. REYNOLDS (during consideration of H.R. 5363), from the Committee on Rules, submitted a privileged report (Rept. No. 108–778) on the resolution (H. Res. 856) providing for consideration of the Senate bill (S. 2986) to amend title 31 of the United States Code to increase the public debt limit, which was referred to the House Calendar and ordered to be printed.

FOR THE RELIEF OF ROCCO A. TRECOSTA

Mr. SENSENBRENNER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to take from the Speaker's table the Senate bill (S. 2042) for the relief of Rocco A. Trecosta of Fort Lauderdale, Florida, and ask for its immediate consideration in the House.

The Clerk read the title of the Senate bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Wisconsin?

There was no objection.

The Clerk read the Senate bill, as follows:

S. 2042

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. COMPENSATION OF BACK PAY.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of the Treasury shall pay, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to Mr. Rocco A. Trecosta of Fort Lauderdale, Florida, the sum of $10,000 for compensation for back pay not received as an employee of the Department of Defense Overseas Dependent Schools for service performed during the period beginning April 14, 1966, through June 30, 1975. Payment under this subsection is made after the transmission of the applicable report of the United States Court of Federal Claims under section 2509 of title 28, United States Code.

(b) NO INFERENCE OF LIABILITY.—Nothing in this section shall be construed as an inference of liability on the part of the United States.

(c) FULL SATISFACTION OF CLAIMS.—The payment authorized under subsection (a) shall be in full satisfaction of all claims of Rocco A. Trecosta against the United States for back pay in connection with his service in the Department of Defense Overseas Dependent Schools.

(d) LIMITATION ON AGENTS AND ATTORNEYS FEES.—No more than 10 percent of the payment authorized by this Act may be paid to or received by any agent or attorney for services rendered in connection with obtaining such payment, any contract to the contrary notwithstanding. Any person who violates this subsection shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be subject to a fine in the amount provided in title 18, United States Code.

Mr. SENSENBRENNER. Mr. Speaker, today S. 2042, for the relief of Rocco Trecosta, is being considered by unanimous consent by the House. I have agreed to move this private bill outside the regular private bill process for two reasons: a substantially similar bill passed the House under regular order in the 104th Congress; and this bill only arrived in the House yesterday from the Senate, making it impossible to move the bill through the normal process before this Congress adjourns. It is only because of these unusual circumstances that I am making this exception to the regular order.

In the 104th Congress, a substantially similar bill, H.R. 2765, was introduced by then Chairman of the Subcommittee on Immigration and Claims, Representative LAMAR SMITH. Pursuant to the Meritorious Claims Act, the Comptroller General recommended that Congress enact legislation to treat Mr. Trecosta as a member of the plaintiff class in March v. United States. According to the GAO: "we believe his situation is extraordinary and contains such elements of equity as to be deserving of the consideration of Congress." Because there is generally no controversy on cases referred under the Meritorious Claims Act, the House quickly passed the bill under the normal private bill process, however, it did not pass the Senate.

This bill pays Mr. Trecosta, a former teacher in the Department of Defense Overseas Dependent Schools, backpay he would have been awarded if he had been a member of the March plaintiff class. In that case, the U.S. Court of Appeals held that DOD had not properly implemented pay-setting procedures established under a law requiring the Secretary of each military department to fix the basic compensation for teachers and teaching positions in his department at rates equal to the average of the range of rates of basic compensation for similar positions of a comparable level of duties and responsibilities in urban school jurisdictions in the U.S. of 100,000 or more population.

The Court held that DOD violated the statutory requirement and directed DOD to base the salaries on current salaries paid to stateside teachers. The Court also granted the plaintiffs entitlement to recover money damages. A judgment in the District Court on June 30, 1975, provided backpay for the plaintiffs for the period from April 14, 1966, to the date of that judgment.

Out of 23,000 potential plaintiffs, only Mr. Trecosta had previously brought an action in the Court of Claims which was denied. But for his suit, he would have been included in the plaintiff-class in March. Furthermore, he could have been paid administratively. The GAO denied his claim, stating that the matter was res judicata and therefore his final Court of Claims judgment barred any further claim arising out of the matters involved in the case.

No one else is in Mr. Trecosta's position. He was the only teacher who challenged DOD's practices, and was excluded from the class due to that challenge.

When the Senate did not move the House passed bill in the 104th Congress, Mr. Trecosta was encouraged to pursue his bill in the Senate first in subsequent Congresses. In 1999, the Senate referred his claim to the Court of Federal Claims, which determined that he should be paid the back pay as a matter of equity. Only now, after receiving that decision, has the Senate passed S. 2042 for Mr. Trecosta.

First as a private bill objector for many years, and now as the Chairman of the Judiciary Committee, I have always insisted on the processing of private bills through regular order and deviate from that policy in this one instance due to the unique details of the situation. This bill previously passed the House under regular order. It was not only a Meritorious Claims Act referral, but it now also has the blessing of the Court of Federal Claims. This man has already been through a lot, for a long time, to have his claim resolved. I have checked with the Ranking Member of the Judiciary Committee, Mr. CONYERS, and the Republican and Democratic private bill objectors, Mr. COBLE, Mr. CHABOT, Mrs. BLACKBURN, Mr. BOUCHER, Mr. SCHIFF, and Mr. GRIJALVA, and they have all agreed that this procedure is appropriate under these unusual circumstances. I appreciate their cooperation. I urge my colleagues to adopt the bill.

The Senate bill was ordered to be read a third time, was read the third time, and passed, and a motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. SENSENBRENNER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on S. 2042, the bill just passed.

The Secretary of the Treasury may issue guidance to carry out this subsection.

Mr. CASTLE (during the reading). Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the amendment in the nature of a substitute be considered as read and printed in the RECORD.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Delaware?

There was no objection.

The amendment in the nature of a substitute was agreed to.

Mr. OXLEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H.R. 3204, the Benjamin Franklin Commemorative Coin Act of 2004. I want to thank the gentleman from Delaware (Mr. CASTLE) for his efforts on this bill's behalf and the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. FRANK) for allowing us to move forward with this legislation.

I also want to thank the gentleman from California (Mr. THOMAS), the Chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means for his efforts in speeding consideration of the bill. Mr. Speaker, I am inserting at this point an exchange of correspondence between myself and the gentleman from California confirming our understanding regarding the jurisdiction of our two committees.

I urge my colleagues to support this bill.

CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES,
Washington, DC, October 8, 2004.

Hon. MICHAEL G. OXLEY,
Chairman, Committee on Financial Services, Washington, DC.

DEAR CHAIRMAN OXLEY: I am writing concerning H.R. 3204, the "Benjamin Franklin Commemorative Coin Act," which is scheduled for floor consideration today.

As you know, the Committee on Ways and Means has jurisdiction over matters that concern raising revenue. Section 7 of the bill establishes a surcharge for each sale of the commemorative coins that are minted under the bill, and thus falls within the jurisdiction of the Committee on Ways and Means.

However, in order to expedite this legislation for floor consideration, the Committee will forgo action on this bill. This is being done with the understanding that it does not in any way prejudice the Committee with respect to the appointment of conferees or its jurisdictional prerogatives on this or similar legislation.

I would appreciate your response to this letter, confirming this understanding with respect to H.R. 3204, and would ask that a copy of our exchange of letters on this matter be included in the Congressional Record during floor consideration.

Best regards,

BILL THOMAS,
Chairman.

COMMITTEE ON FINANCIAL SERVICES
Washington, DC, October 8, 2004.

Hon. WILLIAM M. THOMAS,
Chairman, Committee on Ways and Means, Washington, DC.

DEAR CHAIRMAN THOMAS: Thank you for your letter regarding your Committee's jurisdictional interest in H.R. 3204, the Benjamin Franklin Commemorative Coin Act.

I acknowledge your committee's jurisdictional interest in this legislation and appreciate your cooperation in moving the bill to the House floor expeditiously. I agree that your decision to forego further action on the bill will not prejudice the Committee on Ways and Means with respect to its jurisdictional prerogatives on this or similar legislation, and I would support your request for conferees on those provisions within your committee's jurisdiction should this bill be the subject of a House-Senate conference.

I will include a copy of your letter and this response in the Congressional Record when the legislation is considered by the House.

Thank you again for your assistance.

Sincerely,

MICHAEL G. OXLEY,
Chairman.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed and read a third time, was read the third time, and passed, and a motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentlewoman from Illinois (Mrs. BIGGERT) and the gentleman from Tennessee (Mr. DAVIS) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from Illinois (Mrs. BIGGERT).

GENERAL LEAVE

Mrs. BIGGERT. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days to revise and extend their remarks and to include extraneous material on the Senate amendment to H.R. 4516, the bill now under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentlewoman from Illinois?

There was no objection.

Mrs. BIGGERT. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, when we think of how computers affect our lives, we probably think of the work we do on our office desktop machines, or maybe the Internet surfing we do in our spare time. We do not normally think of the enormous contribution that supercomputers, also called high-performance computers, make to the world around us.

These powerful machines are used in the development of pharmaceuticals, in modeling the earth's climate, and in applications critical to ensuring our national and homeland security and our economic competitiveness. High-performance computers also are central to maintaining U.S. leadership in many scientific fields. Computational science complements theory and experimentation in fields such as plasma physics and fusion, astrophysics, nuclear physics and genomics.

The bill currently under consideration, H.R. 4516, spells out in detail the research and development the Department of Energy should be doing to help ensure that America remains a leader in the development and use of supercomputers. More specifically, H.R. 4516 does three things.

First, it requires the Secretary of Energy to establish and operate high-end computing facilities involving leadership-class machines that are among the most elite in the world.

Second, this bill directs the Secretary to conduct advanced scientific and engineering research and development using these leadership class systems, and to continue to advance the capabilities of high-end computing hardware and software.

Finally, the bill requires that these computing facilities be made available on a competitive, peer-reviewed basis to researchers from U.S. industry, institutions of higher learning, national laboratories and other Federal agencies.

Mr. Speaker, dramatic scientific and commercial breakthroughs will require us to increase computing power by a factor of 100 or, in some cases, by a factor of 1,000. While attaining these increases may seem daunting, the history of computer development has taught us that, with a sustained commitment to research, such gains are within our reach.

That is why Energy Secretary Abraham announced last summer the selection of a team, including Argonne National Laboratory, Oak Ridge National Laboratory, IBM, Cray and other partners, to develop and build a new, high-end computing facility.

H.R. 4516 complements and supports this DOE initiative and ensures that the department can fulfill its responsibility to help lead the Federal Government's supercomputing R&D efforts.

The Senate passed this bill by unanimous consent last month, and in July the House passed a similar version by voice vote. I urge my colleagues to support this legislation again and send it to the President's desk so that the United States can maintain its distinction as home to the world's most powerful computer.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. DAVIS of Tennessee. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 4516, the Department of Energy High-End Computing Revitalization Act of 2004.

I had the pleasure of working on this legislation with my esteemed colleague across the aisle, the gentlewoman from Illinois (Mrs. BIGGERT), who does an excellent job on the Committee on Science, and I look forward to having more opportunities to work with her on other important policy goals that we are able to impact at the Committee on Science.

The bill authorizes research and development activities at the Department of Energy to provide for the design, the development and the deployment of powerful computing systems, including both hardware and software. It will lead to the development of the computational tools needed for solving the most demanding science and engineering problems. The activities authorized will constitute part of the ongoing interagency information technology research and development program established by the High-Performance Computing Act of 1991.

H.R. 4516 will build on the demonstrated expertise of the Department of Energy in advancing the technology needed for designing and building the most powerful scientific computing systems in the world.

Equally important, the bill provides for the development and deployment of leadership-class computing systems, such as the system recently announced for installation at the Oak Ridge National Laboratory, which will provide access on a competitive basis for the research community in the United States.

The effect of the bill will be to put into the hands of researchers the tools they need to attack the most challenging problems in science and engineering, as well as to accelerate the development of the computing tools needed to underpin industrial competitiveness and our national defense.

Finally, H.R. 4516 will help to implement the Federal plan for high-end computing that was released earlier this year by the Office of Science and Technology Policy.

Mr. Speaker, I commend this legislative measure to my colleagues and recommend its passage by the House, as amended by the other body.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mrs. BIGGERT. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I want to conclude this debate by recognizing the bill's cosponsors, the gentleman from Tennessee (Mr. DAVIS) and the gentleman from Tennessee (Mr. GORDON), and thank them for their efforts in support of this legislation.

I also would like to thank the gentleman from New York (Mr. BOEHLERT) for holding a Science Committee hearing last May to review our Federal investment in high-end computing. The hearing was a success. We received positive feedback on this legislation from a number of experts on high-performance computing who testified before the committee.

I also would like to acknowledge the U.S. supercomputing industry for its impressive accomplishments. I congratulate IBM for its new Blue Gene/L supercomputer, which was recognized just last week as the fastest computer in the world. The Blue Gene/L is faster than Japan's Earth Simulator, which held the world record in computing speed for nearly 3 years. With passage of this bill, the DOE can work closely with IBM and other industry leaders like Cray and Silicon Graphics Incorporated as well as academia to ensure that the United States continues to be home to the world's fastest supercomputer for years to come.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentlewoman from Illinois (Mrs. BIGGERT) that the House suspend the rules and concur in the Senate amendment to the bill, H.R. 4516.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the Senate amendment was concurred in.

AMENDING LIVESTOCK MANDATORY PRICE REPORTING ACT OF 1999

Mr. GOODLATTE. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the Senate bill (S. 2965) to amend the Livestock Mandatory Price Reporting Act of 1999 to modify the termination date for mandatory price reporting.

The Clerk read as follows:

S. 2965

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. EXTENSION.

Section 942 of the Livestock Mandatory Price Reporting Act of 1999 (7 U.S.C. 1635 note; Public Law 106–78) is amended by striking "terminate" and all that follows and inserting "terminate on September 30, 2005.".

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. GOODLATTE) and the gentleman from Arkansas (Mr. ROSS) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. GOODLATTE).

Mr. GOODLATTE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of this legislation, which extends an important program until September 30, 2005.

As many of my colleagues know, authorization for the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Mandatory Price Reporting Program, which was passed in the 1999 agriculture appropriation, expired on October 23. This program requires USDA to operate a mandatory price reporting system for beef, pork and lamb, which provides useful information for everyone engaged in the buying and selling of these products.

In the absence of authority to enforce mandatory reporting, the USDA has contacted the companies to encourage them to continue reporting data during the gap in program authorization. It is my understanding that everyone has been cooperating. This is because they recognize the important role this data plays in price discovery and in the operation of marketing agreements.

There is also a clear agreement that the current program should be extended for an additional year to provide livestock producers, the packer community and other interested parties additional time to identify and agree upon these technical improvements to the law.

The administration has recently written to the leadership of the House and Senate in support of this simple 1-year extension. In order to extend mandatory price reporting in a timely manner, we need to act today.

Mr. Speaker, I urge the adoption of this measure.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

□ 1845

Mr. ROSS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I rise today in support of S. 2965, a bill to amend the Livestock Mandatory Price Reporting Act of 1999 in order to modify the termination date for mandatory price reporting.

The current authority for the USDA Livestock Mandatory Price Reporting expired on October 23 of this year. It is important to the U.S. livestock markets that we maintain a dependable flow of information to producers to help them price their products in the marketplace. The bill before us today provides for a simple 1-year reauthorization of the existing program, and I am not aware of any serious opposition to this bill.

I do regret that we have not taken the time to consider a more careful revision of the statute prior to this point. We should have taken up this issue much earlier during the 108th Congress and spent the time to consider corrections to the deficiencies various groups have noted in the program as it currently exists. But since that has not been done, this 1-year extension seems like the best alternative available to maintain a stable flow of information to our producers.

It is my hope that, during this 1-year extension, the Committee on Agriculture of this House will hold hearings on this topic and consider ways it might improve the USDA price reporting system. In the meantime, however, a simple extension seems to be the best way to serve the market information needs for our farmers and ranchers.

I encourage all Members to support passage of this Senate bill.

Mr. LATHAM. Mr. Speaker, today I rise to support passage of S. 2965, a bill to extend for one year the Livestock Mandatory Price Reporting Act of 1999. As the author of the original legislation, I am pleased to see that this important program will continue for one additional year. It is my hope that during that time the program will be improved and, if it is proven cost effective, made permanent.

Four major packers slaughter 80 percent of fed cattle and process about 85 percent of boxed beef. According to producer organizations, because of the high level of concentration, it is very important to maintain a level playing field for all producers.

Mandatory price reporting addresses noncontract livestock producers concerns that the increasing use of contracts prevents complete transparency in livestock prices that, in the past, would've been made public at auction. Additionally, independent livestock producers fear that the increasing use of contracts means that there is less of a market for their product, and the price they will receive will remain low through possible packer collusion. Mandatory price reporting provides market transparency, thus ensuring that our producers get the best prices for their livestock.

Mr. Speaker, I am very supportive of this one-year extension. It will give Congress additional time to determine the efficacy of the program, whether the cost of the program outweighs the benefit, and verify price data problems that arose with USDA's implementation of the program have since been fixed.

Mr. ROSS. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. GOODLATTE. Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to adopt this important legislation to extend this program for a year.

Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. RENZI). The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. GOODLATTE) that the House suspend the rules and pass the Senate bill, S. 2965.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the Senate bill was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. GOODLATTE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks on S. 2965, the Senate bill just considered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Virginia?

There was no objection.

SUPPORTING GOALS AND IDEALS OF NATIONAL TOURETTE SYNDROME AWARENESS MONTH

Mr. BILIRAKIS. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and agree to the concurrent resolution (H. Con. Res. 430) recognizing the importance of early diagnosis, proper treatment, and enhanced public awareness of Tourette Syndrome and supporting the goals and ideals of National Tourette Syndrome Awareness Month.

The Clerk read as follows:

H. CON. RES. 430

Whereas Tourette Syndrome is an inherited neurological disorder characterized by involuntary and sudden movements or repeated vocalizations;

Whereas approximately 200,000 people in the United States have been diagnosed with Tourette Syndrome and many thousands more remain undiagnosed;

Whereas lack of public awareness has increased the social stigma attached to Tourette Syndrome;

Whereas early diagnosis and treatment of Tourette Syndrome can prevent physical and psychological harm;

Whereas there is no known cure for Tourette Syndrome and treatment involves multiple medications and therapies with costs that can be prohibitive;

Whereas the Tourette Syndrome Association is the only national nonprofit membership organization dedicated to identifying the cause, finding the cure, and controlling the effects of Tourette Syndrome; and

Whereas the Tourette Syndrome Association has designated May 15 through June 15 as National Tourette Syndrome Awareness Month, the goal of which is to educate the public about the nature and effects of Tourette Syndrome: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives (the Senate concurring), That the Congress—

(1) recognizes the impact that Tourette Syndrome can have on people living with the disorder;

(2) recognizes the importance of an early diagnosis and proper treatment of Tourette Syndrome;

(3) recognizes the need for enhanced public awareness of Tourette Syndrome;

(4) supports the goals and ideals of National Tourette Syndrome Awareness Month, as designated by the Tourette Syndrome Association; and

(5) encourages the President to issue a proclamation calling on the people of the United States and interested organizations to observe National Tourette Syndrome Awareness Month.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Florida (Mr. BILIRAKIS) and the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. BROWN) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Florida (Mr. BILIRAKIS).

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. BILIRAKIS. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on H. Con. Res. 430.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Florida?

There was no objection.

Mr. BILIRAKIS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H. Con. Res. 430 introduced by the gentleman from Florida (Mr. YOUNG), my friend and colleague from my home State of Florida.

This resolution recognizes the importance of early diagnosis, proper treatment and enhanced public awareness of Tourette Syndrome and supports the goals and ideals of National Tourette Syndrome Awareness Month.

Tourette Syndrome, or TS, is a neurological disorder that arises during childhood or adolescence. TS is characterized by repeated and involuntary body movements, tics, and uncontrollable vocal sounds. Tics can include eye blinking, repeated throat clearing or sniffing, arm thrusting, kicking movements or jumping. Although the symptoms of TS vary from person to person and range from very mild to severe, the majority of cases fall into the mild category. Some associated conditions can include attention problems, impulsiveness and learning disabilities.

The National Institutes of Health, NIH, estimates that about 2 percent of Americans are affected by TS. However, these numbers are thought to be conservative because individuals with varied mild symptoms may never seek medical attention. TS is also four times as likely to occur in boys as in girls.

Most people with TS lead productive lives and participate in all professions. However, lack of public awareness has increased the social stigma attached to TS. Increased public understanding and tolerance of TS symptoms are of extreme importance to people with Tourette Syndrome. With early diagnosis and treatment, as well as increased social understanding and acceptance, much of the physical and psychological harm of TS can be prevented.

I urge my colleagues to support H. Con. Res. 430 today.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BROWN of Ohio. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I would like to thank the gentleman from Florida (Chairman YOUNG) for sponsoring this important resolution and thank the gentleman from Florida (Mr. BILIRAKIS) for yielding me this time this evening.

Tourette Syndrome is a neurological disorder characterized by involuntary actions such as physical and vocal tics, as the gentleman from Florida (Mr. BILIRAKIS) said. It is a spectrum disorder, meaning that it manifests in a range of behaviors that occur with varying frequency and severity.

It is estimated that up to 3 percent of children in regular education classrooms and up to 7 percent of children in special ed classrooms have Tourette Syndrome. Most of these cases go undiagnosed. The media's portrayal of Tourette Syndrome has fueled significant misperceptions and misconceptions about this disorder. For example, most patients do not display the frequent involuntary use of violent language and other vocal tics that actors typically draw upon when they play adults with Tourette's. Physical tics are a far more common symptom.

While physical tics may be less dramatic than violent outbursts, they can have the same disruptive effect on the lives of Tourette patients. The gentleman from Florida's (Chairman YOUNG's) concurrent resolution acknowledges the significant impact that Tourette Syndrome has on patients and on their families. Given Tourette's prevalence, given the importance of early detection and treatment in mitigating its symptoms and given the tragic consequences for patients when Tourette's is exploited or trivialized, it is clearly in the public interest to destigmatize Tourette Syndrome and build the necessary support to find its cure. I think this concurrent resolution takes a small step in doing that.

I thank the gentleman from Florida (Mr. BILIRAKIS) and the gentleman from Florida (Mr. YOUNG) for bringing this concurrent resolution to the floor, and I urge my colleagues to support the concurrent resolution.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BILIRAKIS. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Florida (Mr. YOUNG), the author of this legislation.

Mr. YOUNG of Florida. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Florida (Mr. BILIRAKIS) for yielding me this time and for bringing this concurrent resolution to the House floor today and also the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. BROWN), the ranking member, for supporting this bill.

This concurrent resolution has been explained by the gentleman from Florida (Chairman BILIRAKIS) very well, and I introduced this because of a friend that I have, a 17-year-old teenager in my district who suffers from Tourette's and has for most of his life. I have learned his personal story of living with Tourette's and what it is like. And like so many children and adults with Tourette's, he faced difficulties, not only in his life but in his classroom because classmates and teachers did not understand the nature of the illness. He faces daily difficulties with the medication he has to take to reduce the symptoms of Tourette's so that he can work and function. Johnny Loder is one of the thousands of Tourette sufferers who bravely seek to lead a normal life with a disease that tries to make that virtually impossible.

Despite coping with the condition, Johnny has been wonderfully successful in his own endeavors, and I wish that there was some magic cure because this kid is such a great young American, and he and so many others that suffer with this disease really do suffer.

Mr. Speaker, I urge the support of this concurrent resolution, and I include the balance of my statement in the RECORD.

Mr. Speaker, last May I introduced House Concurrent Resolution 430 to support the goals and ideals of a National Tourette Syndrome Awareness Month. This issue is very important to me and the other cosponsors of this resolution; we all have many friends and constituents whose lives are affected by Tourette Syndrome. It is quite clear that our country needs more medical research, education and increased public knowledge about this greatly misunderstood and frequently misdiagnosed disease.

The resolution we consider today recognizes the importance of an early and accurate diagnosis of Tourette Syndrome, appropriate treatment, and educational outreach. The resolution will enhance our collective efforts to encourage new awareness, attention and understanding.

Tourette Syndrome, or TS—is a genetic neurobiological disorder characterized by repeated involuntary movements and sounds that are known as "tics." This complex disorder affects children and adults in all racial and ethnic groups. In a large percentage of cases TS is accompanied by other "co-occurring" disorders, the most common of which are Obsessive-Compulsive Disorder, Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder and nonverbal learning disabilities.

Researchers estimate that about 200,000 Americans have what is called substantially impairing Tourette Syndrome, and even more individuals have milder symptoms of the disorder. Largely due to the nature of the disease and the lack of understanding in our society, many individuals with Tourette Syndrome endure the stigma, isolation, and the psychological impact of this chronic disorder on a daily basis.

Mr. Speaker, I am proud to report that the Appropriations Committee which I chair appropriated funds to the Centers for Disease Control for a new research and educational outreach program on TS. This effort is designed to provide intensive training for the public, physicians, allied healthcare workers and teachers. It is our hope that this new effort will begin to educate the public and remove the stigma and other obstacles associated with living with this complex disorder.

Johnny Loder, a 17-year-old teenager from my Congressional District in Pinellas County, Florida, shared with me his personal story of living with Tourette Syndrome. Like so many children and adults with Tourette's, he faced difficulties in the classroom because his classmates and teachers did not understand the nature of his illness. He faces daily difficulties with the medication he takes to reduce the symptoms so that he can work and function. Johnny is one of the thousands of Tourette's sufferers who bravely seek to lead a normal life with a disease that tries to make that virtually impossible. Despite coping with the condition, Johnny has been wonderfully successful in his own endeavors. He and many others with Tourette Syndrome are leading rich, fulfilling lives despite the challenges that may be present along the way. They each provide outstanding examples of determination, perseverance and hope to their families, and to us all.

Mr. Speaker, the Tourette Syndrome Association has designated National Tourette Syndrome Awareness Month for the purposes I have described. I wholeheartedly support its goals and encourage Members to do the same. Passage of House Concurrent Resolution 430 would give all of us an opportunity to participate in the larger effort to familiarize ourselves and our citizens with the condition and the need for more research. It will help us better understand the impact that Tourette Syndrome can have on people living with the disorder, while recognizing the importance of early diagnosis and proper treatment.

Mr. BROWN of Ohio. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. BILIRAKIS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I, too, want to compliment and thank the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. BROWN) and all of the committee staffers for their work on this and for their cooperation.

Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Florida (Mr. BILIRAKIS) that the House suspend the rules and agree to the concurrent resolution, H. Con. Res. 430.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the concurrent resolution was agreed to.

EARL B. GILLIAM/IMPERIAL AVENUE POST OFFICE BUILDING

Mr. SHAYS. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 5364) to designate the facility of the United States Postal Service located at 5505 Stevens Way in San Diego, California, as the "Earl B. Gilliam/Imperial Avenue Post Office Building".

The Clerk read as follows:

H.R. 5364

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. EARL B. GILLIAM/IMPERIAL AVENUE POST OFFICE BUILDING.

(a) DESIGNATION.—The facility of the United States Postal Service located at 5505 Stevens Way in San Diego, California, shall be known and designated as the "Earl B. Gilliam/Imperial Avenue Post Office Building".

(b) REFERENCES.—Any reference in a law, map, regulation, document, paper, or other record of the United States to the facility referred to in subsection (a) shall be deemed to be a reference to the Earl B. Gilliam/Imperial Avenue Post Office Building.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Connecticut (Mr. SHAYS) and the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. DAVIS) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Connecticut (Mr. SHAYS).

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. SHAYS. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on the bill under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Connecticut?

There was no objection.

Mr. SHAYS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, this legislation would establish the Earl B. Gilliam/Imperial Avenue Post Office Building. I want to salute the distinguished gentleman from California (Mr. FILNER), who earned cosponsorship of all 52 of his home State colleagues to comply with a longstanding Committee on Government Reform policy. On behalf of the committee members, I congratulate him on that accomplishment.

Mr. Speaker, Judge Earl Gilliam was appointed to the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of California by President Carter in 1980 and became a senior judge 13 years later in 1993. Prior to joining the Federal bench, Judge Gilliam served as a municipal court judge in San Diego from 1963 to 1975 and as a superior court judge from 1975 to 1980. Judge Gilliam had a long and distinguished judicial record as a prosecutor, private practicing lawyer, and then as a State and Federal judge for over 30 years.

Away from the bench, he mentored many young adults and lawyers. He also taught courses and directed the trial practice at Thomas Jefferson School of Law in San Diego. He was clearly a loved and respected member of his community. Judge Gilliam passed away on January 28, 2001.

I thank the gentleman from California for this bill that commemorates Judge Gilliam's commitment to justice in both our State and Federal courts. Hopefully this post office will be a meaningful tribute to Judge Earl Gilliam's life and career, to his friends, family and the entire San Diego area.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. DAVIS of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from California (Mr. FILNER), the sponsor of this legislation.

Mr. FILNER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding me this time.

I want to thank the gentleman from Connecticut (Chairman SHAYS) and the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. DAVIS), ranking member, for the courtesy rendered to me. This post office is going to open up in 3 days, and I had to try to get this naming on the bill in just the couple days we were here. The committee was very courteous to me.

The 52 members of the California delegation, both Republican and Democrat, were all very prompt in their cosponsorship. The staff that scheduled these things was very accommodating, and I not only want to thank the Democratic staff, but the majority leader and his staff showed me a great deal of courtesy, and I appreciate that very much for getting this on the calendar today.

The gentleman from Connecticut (Mr. SHAYS) highlighted some of the important parts of Judge Gilliam's life. I would just like to add a few things, if I may. He grew up in a very poor section of San Diego, southeast San Diego, where his parents owned a fish market on the very street where this post office will be named after him. He had to work his way all the way through school, whether it was high school or college where he went to San Diego State and then on to law school.

He was appointed deputy district attorney shortly after being admitted to the California bar in 1957, and he became the first African American judge appointed to the San Diego bench just 6 years later in 1963 and was named presiding judge of the San Diego Municipal Court in 1971. Governor Jerry Brown named him a California Superior Court Judge in 1975, and President Jimmy Carter elevated him to the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of California in 1980, where he served for more than 2 decades before passing in 2001.

In his long, distinguished career, Judge Gilliam presided over numerous trials that had regional and even national importance. They dealt with drug trafficking, fraud, tax evasion, bribery, and civil matters; but Judge Gilliam always brought a fair and professional approach to the law and laid the foundation for his solid reputation, both within and outside the legal community.

He made his mark in the classroom also. The Thomas Jefferson School of Law recruited Judge Gilliam as an adjunct professor. With his background in business, economics, and law, he proved to be an inspirational and devoted instructor for the students at the Thomas Jefferson School of Law where he taught for 24 years. The moot courtroom there at the school has been in fact dedicated also to his honor.

Along with being a full-time judge, he gave his time and effort to his community in a whole number of ways. He served on the boards of organizations ranging from the San Diego Urban League to the University of California San Diego to the YMCA; and the community, in turn, honored him with a whole list of awards too numerous to mention here that attest to his unrelenting commitment to making a difference in San Diego.

The San Diego African American Lawyers Organization in 1982 honored the judge by changing its name to the Earl B. Gilliam Bar Association, and they carry on his legacy by working within our community to defend the rights of African Americans, combating racism and poverty, and fostering integrity in the legal community.

I knew Judge Gilliam for more than 30 years. He was a very big man, almost larger than life, full of energy, full of enthusiasm, love of life, great sense of humor, enjoyed life to its maximum. But he also saw the injustices around him in the community in which he was raised, and in the Nation in which he loved: and he fought to right those injustices, both on the bench and in his many community activities.

So Judge Gilliam truly was a hero who worked for all of us in San Diego. I just am so honored to have the privilege of introducing this legislation to name the post office in his old neighborhood in his honor. I hope my colleagues will support this. I once again thank this House and its staff for giving me the courtesy of allowing this bill to be passed today.

Mr. DAVIS of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

As a member of the House Committee on Government Reform, I am pleased to join with my colleagues in consideration of H.R. 5364, legislation designating the postal facility in San Diego, California, after the late Earl B. Gilliam. This measure, which was introduced by the gentleman from California (Mr. FILNER) on November 16, 2004, enjoys the support and cosponsorship of the entire California State delegation.

Earl B. Gilliam was born in 1931 in New Mexico. He moved to San Diego with his family when he was in the fifth grade. He attended local public schools and graduated from San Diego State University in 1953. He received his law degree from Hastings College of Law in 1957 and served as a deputy district attorney and private practitioner before joining the State bench.

Judge Gilliam served as a municipal court judge in San Diego from 1963 to 1975, and was a superior court judge from 1975 to 1980. In 1980, President Carter appointed Judge Gilliam to the Federal bench. The honorable Judge Gilliam was the first African American to be appointed as a judge in the San Diego municipal, superior, and district courts.

A noted jurist, Judge Gilliam presided over a number of important cases while serving on the Federal bench. He was the trial judge for the Ponzi scheme fraud trials, a trial judge in cases involving immigration, drug trafficking, and health care fraud.

Judge Gilliam was not only a distinguished jurist; he was also very involved in his community. Beginning in 1965, he was recognized by the San Diego Junior Chamber of Commerce as the Young Man of the Year, Citizen of the Year, and Good Guy Award. In 1981, the Boys' Club of San Diego chose the judge as the Golden Man of the Year. In same year, the San Diego Trial Lawyers Association chose him as the Trial Judge of the Year. He was also awarded the NAACP Civil Rights Pioneer Award, and the San Diego Black Lawyers Organization honored his hard work by changing the name of their organization to the Earl B. Gilliam Bar Association.

Sadly, Judge Gilliam passed away on January 28, 2001, following a long heart-related illness. He is survived by his wife, Rebecca, and son, Derrick.

Mr. Speaker, I commend my colleague for seeking to honor the legacy of the late Judge Earl B. Gilliam and urge swift passage of this bill.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. SHAYS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I just want to congratulate the gentleman from California (Mr. FILNER) for such extraordinary work in moving this bill so quickly and just say that I particularly appreciate that we are honoring someone, frankly, who is no longer living who has been so distinguished. We are not honoring someone who is still alive today, but someone who earned this recognition in life and is now being recognized after his death. I would encourage the House to support the passage of H.R. 5364. I would also thank my colleague from Chicago for his work on this legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. RENZI). The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Connecticut (Mr. SHAYS) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 5364.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill was passed.

INTERNATIONALLY KNOWN WILDLIFE ARTIST JOHN RUTHVEN RECEIVES NATIONAL MEDAL OF THE ARTS

(Mr. PORTMAN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. PORTMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor a very dear friend and Brown County, Ohio, constituent, John Ruthven, who was selected by President Bush to receive the National Medal of the Arts, the highest award to an artist or patron in the United States. I was honored to join John and his wife, Judy, and members of his family today at the White House for the medal presentation by President Bush.

He is one of the most talented artists in the Nation, and we are proud to know him as one of our neighbors in southern Ohio. We cannot think of anybody more deserving of this honor.

John is an author, lecturer, naturalist, conservationist, and internationally acknowledged master of wildlife art. We consider him a modern day Audubon. His love of nature is infectious. So many, including my own family, have joined John on his naturalist tours of the woods of his beloved farm.

His original paintings have been shown at the White House, the Hermitage Museum in Russia, here at the U.S. Capitol, the Ohio State capitol rotunda, and many other prestigious venues around the world.

The National Medal of Arts, Mr. Speaker, is a very prestigious award. The President may award up to 12 medals per year. There were only seven other individuals to receive the national medal today.

All of us in southern Ohio congratulate John on receiving this most prestigious national award.

AGREEMENT BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA AND JAPAN ON SOCIAL SECURITY—MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES (H. DOC. NO. 108-234)

The SPEAKER pro tempore laid before the House the following message from the President of the United States; which was read and, together with the accompanying papers, without objection, referred to the Committee on Ways and Means and ordered to be printed:

To the Congress of the United States:

Pursuant to section 233(e)(1) of the Social Security Act, as amended by the Social Security Amendments of 1977 (Public Law 95-216, 42 U.S.C. 433(e)(1)), I transmit herewith the Agreement between the United States of America and Japan on Social Security, which consists of two separate instruments: a principal agreement and an administrative agreement. The Agreement was signed at Washington on February 19, 2004.

The United States-Japan Agreement is similar in objective to the social security agreements already in force with Australia, Austria, Belgium, Canada, Chile, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Ireland, Italy, Korea, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, and the United Kingdom. Such bilateral agreements provide for limited coordination between the United States and foreign social security systems to eliminate dual security coverage and taxation, and to help prevent the lost benefit protection that can occur when workers divide their careers between two countries. The United States-

Japan Agreement contains all provisions mandated by section 233 and other provisions which I deem appropriate to carry out the purposes of section 233, pursuant to section 233(c)(4).

I also transmit for the information of the Congress a report prepared by the Social Security Administration explaining the key points of the Agreement, along with a paragraph-by-paragraph explanation of the provisions of the principal agreement and the related administrative arrangement. Annexed to this report is the report required by section 233(e)(1) of the Social Security Act, a report on the effect of the Agreement on income and expenditures of the United States Social Security program and the number of individuals affected by the Agreement.

The Department of State and the Social Security Administration have recommended the Agreement and related documents to me.

I commend to the Congress the United States-Japan Social Security Agreement and related documents.

GEORGE W. BUSH.

NONSUITABILITY OF THE SQUIRREL RIVER IN ALASKA AS AN ADDITION TO THE NATIONAL WILD AND SCENIC RIVERS SYSTEM—MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES (H. DOC. NO. 108-235)

The SPEAKER pro tempore laid before the House the following message from the President of the United States; which was read and, together with the accompanying papers, without objection, referred to the Committee on Resources and ordered to be printed:

To The Congress of the United States:

I transmit herewith the enclosed study, findings, and report for the Squirrel River in Alaska. The report and my recommendations are submitted pursuant to my authority under Article II, section 3, of the Constitution of the United States, and consistent with section 5(a) of the Wild and Scenic Rivers (WSR) Act, Public Law 90-542, as amended. The Squirrel River suitability study was authorized by Public Law 96-487 (Alaska National Interest Lands Conservation Act).

The study conducted by the Bureau of Land Management determined that all 100 miles of the river are nonsuitable for inclusion in the National WSR System. Consistent with the study, I recommend that the Congress take no action to designate the river. The withdrawal provided by section 5(a) of the WSR Act would expire within 3 years of the date of this message (unless other action is taken by the Congress). Approximately 81,501 acres of State-selected lands would be opened to mineral entry although mineral potential has been assessed as very low and there are no past or active mining claims.

GEORGE W. BUSH.

SPECIAL ORDERS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the Speaker's announced policy of January 7, 2003, and under a previous order of the House, the following Members will be recognized for 5 minutes each.

□ 1915

SMART SECURITY AND CIA 9/11 REPORT

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. RENZI). Under a previous order of the House, the gentlewoman from California (Ms. WOOLSEY) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Ms. WOOLSEY. Mr. Speaker, the worst attacks on this country's soil took place on September 11, 2001, when planes hijacked by terrorists slammed into the World Trade Center towers and the Pentagon. The last plane which crashed into a field in Pennsylvania was likely headed for the very building in which we are now standing, the U.S. Capitol.

Shortly after these devastating attacks, the House and Senate intelligence committees requested that the Office of the Inspector General at the Central Intelligence Agency provide a comprehensive report on the events surrounding 9/11.

In June, 2004, an 11-member team from the CIA's Office of the Inspector General completed its report after a 17-month investigation. Congress, however, still has not received this important report.

According to several intelligence officials, the CIA report is potentially damaging to the White House because it details pre-9/11 failures by members of the Bush administration. According to one official, "What all the other reports on 9/11 did not do is point the finger at individuals and give the how and what of their responsibility. This report does that."

Unfortunately, even though the CIA team finished its exhaustive report in June, it has yet to make its way to the House and Senate intelligence committees here in our Congress.

My colleagues, the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. HOEKSTRA) and the gentlewoman from California (Ms. HARMAN), the chairman and ranking member of the House Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence, wrote to the CIA in early October asking for delivery of this crucial report. They received no reply. Several sources in the intelligence community have stated that the reason for the delay has been the White House itself, which wanted the document released only after the November presidential election.

This should surprise no one.

What should surprise everyone is that the failure to deliver this report on time is unprecedented. The CIA has never failed to submit a report to Congress or delayed a report's submission for purely political reasons.

Mr. Speaker, the truth behind 9/11 is too important for the Bush White House to use for partisan applications. President Bush officially opposed the creation of the independent 9/11 Commission in the first place. Only when public opinion became unwieldy did he relent and allow its creation.

Then, after the Commission was created, the President opposed providing it with enough time to complete its congressionally mandated investigative report. He relented only after public opinion weighed in against him.

President Bush initially refused to allow National Security Advisor Condoleeza Rice to testify before the Commission, then relented under public pressure. Then he refused to testify before the Commission himself but relented under public pressure but only behind closed doors and with Vice President CHENEY by his side the whole time.

Mr. Speaker, there has to be a better way to respond to the threats America faces than by hiding behind closed doors. Instead, our government should depend on openness and transparency. That is why I have introduced H. Con. Res. 3792, a SMART Security Platform for the 21st Century. SMART stands for sensible multi-lateral American response to terrorism. SMART Security embodies a government that is fair, open, and transparent. SMART Security treats war as an absolute last resort. It fights terrorism with stronger intelligence and multi-lateral partnerships, and it controls the spread of weapons of mass destruction with aggressive diplomacy, strong regional security arrangements and vigorous inspection regimes.

SMART Security will defend America from future terrorist attacks by relying on the very best of America, not our nuclear capability but our capacity for multi-national leadership and our commitment to peace and freedom around the world.

If we fail to maintain the democratic principles upon which the country was founded, then we will have lost more than any terrorist could ever have taken away.

SMART Security is tough, pragmatic and safe. It depends on a government that is open, honest and transparent, and it is the right choice to keep Americans truly secure.

CONVENIENT RULE CHANGING

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. PALLONE) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. PALLONE. Mr. Speaker, earlier today during the one minutes I got up and admonished the House Republican Conference because we heard at the time that there was a possibility that they would adopt a rule change that would overturn a previous and current GOP rule that requires House leaders to automatically relinquish their post if they are indicted on charges that could carry a sentence of 2 or more years in prison.

Now, according to Congress Daily and several other sources, in fact the Republican conference today did agree by voice vote to overturn this GOP rule, which would mean that it is no longer the case that House leaders, whether it be the Speaker, the majority leader, whatever, would automatically relinquish their post if they face such an indictment.

I said before and I will say again, now that we know the House Republican Conference has indeed adopted this rule change, that it really is inappropriate and that they should be admonished, because for many years they had touted this rule as an example of how they were always going to do the right thing and basically show that they were beyond reproach.

Now I wanted to read, if I could, some sections or quote from some sections of the Washington Post today that explain essentially why this rule change is taking place. It says, "GOP Pushes Rule Change to Protect DeLay's Post. House Republicans proposed changing their rules last night," and it in fact has changed, "to allow members indicted by State grand juries to remain in a leadership post.

"The proposed rule change, which several leaders predicted would win approval at a closed meeting today," and it did, "comes as House Republicans return to Washington feeling indebted to" majority leader DELAY for the slightly enhanced majority they won in this month's elections. DELAY led an aggressive redistricting effort in Texas last year that resulted in five Democratic House Members retiring or losing reelection.

"House Republicans adopted the indictment rule in 1993 when they were trying to end four decades of Democratic control of the House . . . They said at the time that they held themselves to higher standards than prominent Democrats."

Well, obviously, Mr. Speaker, their holding themselves to higher standards is no longer the case, because now when they see it might impact one of their leaders, they simply change the rule.

The Washington Post goes on to say in this front-page article that, "The GOP rule drew little notice until this fall, when DELAY's associates were indicted and Republican lawmakers began to worry that their majority leader might be forced to step aside."

"House Republicans recognize that DELAY fought fiercely to widen their majority, and they are eager to protect him from an Austin-based investigation they view as baseless and partisan," said one of the Republican Congressmen. He is quoted as saying, "That's why this (proposed rule change) is going to pass . . . because there is a tremendous recognition that TOM DELAY led on the issue to produce five more seats for the Republicans." After emerging from a meeting of the Republican Conference, it was assumed that in fact the rule would pass.

It did, in fact, pass. I think that it is absolutely disgraceful that it did. And I was very pleased also to see in Congress Daily today that the Democrats, who have a similar rule that requires a ranking member to step down in the event of an indictment, are now working to change the caucus rules to include a provision similar to the one that the GOP just overturned.

So what we will have now is the Republicans saying that they never wanted to do this and that if any of their leadership ever was indicted that they would certainly ask them to step down. Now that they face the possibility, they have decided to change their minds. It does not say much about ethical lapses, and it certainly, I think, will get a lot of scrutiny from the American people who will not want to see this change take place.

CARING MORAL VALUES

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. BROWN) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. BROWN of Ohio. Mr. Speaker, on November 2, Ohio Democrats took our moral values to the polls. For many of us, our faith guided us, too, and our final vote for President was far too close to declare Ohio as a State full of evangelical fundamentalists.

For many of us, moral values are guided in our religious faith. My Lutheran upbringing instructs me and my fellow Christians in the teachings of Jesus to read and to follow as best we can the words of the Beatitudes, to try to live our lives and practice our politics as Jesus would have wanted us to.

For others of us, those moral values take the form of a faith in our country's greatness to solve our most pressing problems of racial inequality, of inaccessible health care, of the poverty of millions of American children, and of the war in Iraq.

For 3 years I have worn a lapel pin depicting a canary in a cage. A century ago, miners took a canary into the mines to warn them of toxic gasses. Miners were forced to provide for their own protection. No mine safety laws, no trade unions able to help, no real support from their government.

A baby born in those days had a life expectancy of about 47 years. Today, because of public health initiatives, worker safety laws, Medicare, Social Security, protections for children and minorities and the disabled, as a result we live decades longer. Every bit of progress in the struggle for economic and social justice often rooted in our Judeo-Christian beliefs, every bit of progress prevailed over the opposition of society's most privileged and most powerful.

Today, those struggles continue. Our fight for seniors who are forced to choose between medicine and food in our fight against the large pharmaceutical companies' greed comes from our understanding of the holy word.

Our opposition to tax cuts for America's most privileged adults and Head Start cuts afflicting our least privileged children follow from the teachings of Christ.

Our opposition to the death penalty, keep in mind George Bush approved an execution every 2 weeks during his 6 years as governor of Texas, our opposition to the death penalty is grounded in the scriptures.

Our belief that government programs like Medicare and Medicaid and Social Security, not privatized imitations of those programs, those programs should serve all Americans. Our belief that they should serve all Americans bespeaks a faith in the greatness of our country and its ability and willingness to lift up all of God's children.

As we have seen over the last 4 years, Republicans campaign to their religious friends on their moral values, mostly opposition to abortion and gay rights, and then govern for and with their corporate allies and contributors.

On the floor of the House of Representatives in the light of day we hear much talk from our Republican friends about moral values. But in the committee rooms and in the cloakrooms and in the back of the Chamber, choices are so often made and deals are cut that run counter to the teachings of Christ and Mohammed and the Jewish prophets and fly in the face of the values upon which our Nation was founded.

This Congress hurts families by underfunding Leave No Child Behind and college student loans, while giving tax cuts to the wealthiest among us.

This Congress hurts the elderly by defeating legislation to bring down the price of prescription drugs and then passing a Medicare bill that further enriches the drug and insurance industry.

This Congress hurts our God's earth when it caves to the energy and chemical companies.

This Congress hurts our communities when it gives tax breaks to encourage the largest corporations to outsource our jobs.

This Congress hurts our grandchildren when it loads huge burdens of debt on future generations.

Those are not the right moral values.

Tens of thousands of Ohioans worked feverishly for months to help change our Nation's course because of our moral values, because of our faith in God and because of our belief in the Nation's history of taking care of the least among us.

In no way do I question the faith of my political opponents, but I am weary of the far right's claim that they are the only ones guided by the hand of God.

My understanding of the teaching of Christ, my religious upbringing calls me to walk a different path and to express and act upon my faith in the cause of social and economic justice.

TRIBUTE TO CONGRESSWOMAN DENISE MAJETTE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. CUMMINGS) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. CUMMINGS. Mr. Speaker, the gentlewoman from Georgia (Ms. MAJETTE) is a lifelong public servant who has spent her career fighting for our families and our children.

DENISE MAJETTE was born into a working-class family, her mother, a teacher, and her father, a civil servant, who instilled in her the values of hard work, dedication to public service and strong religious beliefs. It is these childhood lessons that guided her life and her rise from these roots against tremendous odds to become one of the first African American women to attend Yale University and Duke University School of Law.

Upon graduation, DENISE MAJETTE answered the call of public service, joining the Legal Aid in Winston-Salem, North Carolina, as a staff attorney. At Legal Aid, DENISE MAJETTE helped hardworking families who were struggling to make ends meet.

After moving to Georgia in 1983, Ms. MAJETTE continued working for her community, serving as a law clerk for the Georgia Court of Appeals, a special assistant attorney general and an administrative law judge. Then in 1993, Ms. MAJETTE was appointed as a judge on the State court of DeKalb County.

In 2002, DENISE resigned from the bench and was elected to Congress, a talented legislator fighting for our children, our seniors, our veterans, and yes, our families.

DENISE lives the lesson her parents taught her, that to whom much is given, much is required. So when it looked like time was running out for Democrats in Georgia, she put it all on the line. When no one else was willing to take a chance and give up what they had, DENISE made that sacrifice, and we thank her for her courage, her determination and for the thousands of new voters in Georgia.

She made history, the first African American woman in Georgia, and that is the deep south, to become the Democratic nominee for the United States Senate. The Democratic nominee for the United States Senate from Georgia, just think about that. There were a lot of little girls watching this race. They saw DENISE's commercials. They saw DENISE debate time and time again and hold her own. They saw a legitimate, professional campaigner. Those little girls now know about a new option, a new path in life that is open to them.

It is rare these days to meet a politician who is willing to make real sacrifices, someone willing to put it all on the line for the greater good. DENISE MAJETTE serves as a reminder to all of us that this position we hold is not really about us. It is not about how many titles we obtain or how many plaques hang on our walls or how many dollars we raise.

We are here to be of service. We are not celebrities, but we are servants, and I thank DENISE for reminding us of that.

So, Mr. Speaker, we are so proud of DENISE MAJETTE and all that she has accomplished, and I do not have to wish her luck because with her faith in God, who is on her side, a strong conscience and an unshakable will, DENISE MAJETTE will never need it. She will be sorely missed in this body. May God bless her.

MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE

A message from the Senate by Mr. Monahan, one of its clerks, announced that the Senate has passed bills and a concurrent resolution of the following titles in which the concurrence of the House is requested:

S. 2986. An act to amend title 31 of the United States Code to increase the public debt limit.

S. 2991. An act to suspend temporarily new shipper bonding privileges.

S. Con. Res. 146. Concurrent Resolution to direct the Secretary of the Senate to make corrections in the enrollment of the bill S. 150.

The message also announced that the Secretary be directed to return to the House of Representatives (S. 1301) "An Act to amend title 18, United States Code, to prohibit video voyeurism in the special maritime and territorial jurisdiction of the United States, and for other purposes.", in compliance with a request of the House for the return thereof.

EXCHANGE OF SPECIAL ORDER TIME

Mr. LAMPSON. Mr. Speaker, I ask to claim the time of the gentlewoman from the District of Columbia (Ms. NORTON).

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Texas?

There was no objection.

THE HOUSE FACES A GRAVE MORAL CRISIS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Texas (Mr. LAMPSON) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. LAMPSON. Mr. Speaker, as I reflect on my time as a member of this great institution, my most important concern is to leave the House of Representatives a better place than when I started. Unfortunately, the House faces a grave moral crisis, and we have already heard other Members speak, within the last few speakers, of these morals that we have brought to bear.

Two weeks have barely passed since election day and, the majority party has just perpetrated one of the biggest hypocrisies that this institution and, more importantly, our Nation has seen. Today, just as the Washington Post reported that it would and just as our nightly news reported that it did, the majority amended its own leadership structure, if we can believe it, to allow a Member under felony criminal indictment to hold a position of leadership in this body.

The majority party campaigned on its alleged moral values agenda, but when they got back to Washington, moral values flew right out the window. I am sorely disappointed to see the majority so quickly and so arrogantly turn its back on its biggest promise to America. The proposed leadership rule change is a flagrant and despicable insult to the American public and is firm evidence that the majority party's moral compass is permanently off center.

Indeed, this rule was adopted by the majority in 1993 as an effort to bring accountability to this House's leadership structure, and rightly so. Our elected leaders must be of the highest, utmost moral fiber, and I dare anyone to disagree with that notion.

Now, the majority finds it politically inconvenient to hold congressional leaders accountable and wants to allow Members facing felony criminal charges to continue tarnishing this institution. What sort of moral value does the majority exhibit by allowing those under criminal investigation to infiltrate our highest leadership posts? Can our children ever truly understand moral clarity when the majority allows those facing criminal felony indictments to rule the roost? Has the majority lost so much control of its own moral balance by rewarding Members facing felony criminal indictments with the perquisites of leadership?

Clearly, the majority is struggling, and unsuccessfully at that, to find its own moral balance. The majority is verbally tap dancing around this issue, claiming incredulously that State court criminal indictments carry less weight than Federal court criminal indictments. Instead of supporting State prosecutors, the law enforcement officers who protect our communities against waves of criminal behavior, the majority has attacked them as partisan hacks with hidden agendas.

What sort of moral values does the majority display by declaring local law enforcement efforts irrelevant? Would any of us tell our children to ignore the safety warnings given by our brave police officers, firefighters and other law enforcement figures? For the safety of our Nation, I pray not.

Mr. Speaker, the law is the law, period. If you are suspected of breaking it, then you are the subject of a criminal indictment. This is a simple, basic and fundamental moral lesson anyone can faithfully recite, yet one the majority apparently does not understand.

The Congress is not the place to play fast and loose with the principles of moral clarity nor should any majority exploit its own internal rules and structure for crass political purposes.

When we make excuses to allow anyone under felony indictment to lead Congress, we set ourselves down a slippery slope of immoral activity and scheming. These are not the type of morals and values that the voters thought they were voting for on election day; nor should the majority so brazenly embrace this foundation of corruption.

Absolute power corrupts absolutely. The majority talked about moral values on the campaign trail but clearly blanked on their empty promise once back in Washington. The majority is not about morals. It is not about values but one thing and one thing only, protecting their majority at any or all costs.

Shame, shame on this House of Representatives and the majority for caring more about protecting their majority than about promoting true moral values for the American people.

EXCHANGE OF SPECIAL ORDER TIME

Mr. HINCHEY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to claim the time of the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. STUPAK).

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New York?

There was no objection.

ELECTION RESULTS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from New York (Mr. HINCHEY) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. HINCHEY. Mr. Speaker, on November 2, George W. Bush was reelected President of the United States, and the Republicans expanded their majorities in both the House and the Senate. I congratulate President Bush and his party on this victory.

I also congratulate the American people for once again proving the brilliance and foresight of our Founding Fathers who designed a system in which those who hold power are replaced or affirmed, peacefully and according to the rule of law.

Never in my lifetime have the American people expressed more emotion over their choice for President. It is a testament to our Founders and to present-day Americans that this passion did not devolve into violence and lawlessness when the results were finally in and the fervent desires of so many of us were rejected.

I remain deeply disappointed by the result of the 2004 election. This election exacerbated the main problem that has been at the root of all the other problems that we have experienced over the past 4 years; that is that our usual system of checks and balances has been replaced by a monolithic Federal Government.

It is not just that the legislative and executive branches are controlled by the same party that I find disturbing. It is that the leaders of the majority party in Congress refuse to even question the judgment and the policies of the Bush administration. While partisan Republicans would view this as admirable party discipline, I see it as an abdication of constitutional responsibility.

Now President Bush is claiming a mandate, saying that he intends to spend political capital he earned during the campaign. He has stated a willingness to reach across party lines, but all his actions and most of his words belie that sentiment.

The President seems determined now to surround himself only with those who share his ideology. An administration already known for marching lockstep behind its leader will now have even fewer dissenting voices.

Neither will alternative viewpoints be found in the Republican congressional leadership. Witness the attacks on Senator SPECTER by the conservative base of the Republican party. The Senator apparently must agree to act merely as a rubber stamp on President Bush's judicial nominees or be denied the committee chairmanship that would otherwise be his.

Some may look at the Republican electoral majority and this victory and see a much diminished role for the Democrats. On the contrary, never has there been a greater need for a strong and vocal opposition.

Considering the closeness of the election that initially brought George W. Bush to the White House in 2000, this administration's lack of regard for dissenting views has been shocking. We can only imagine how much more arrogant the Bush II administration will be on the strength of its 51 percent victory.

Where some see a mandate, I see a country deeply and passionately divided in its opinion of this administration. While we respect the Office of the President and the system through which its occupant is selected, we in the opposition have a duty to continue making our voices heard more enthusiastically and more effectively.

STATUS REPORT ON CURRENT SPENDING LEVELS OF ON-BUDGET SPENDING AND REVENUES FOR FY 2004 AND THE 5-YEAR PERIOD FY 2005 THROUGH FY 2009

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Iowa (Mr. NUSSLE) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. NUSSLE. Mr. Speaker, I am transmitting a status report on the current levels of on-budget spending and revenues for fiscal year 2005 and for the five-year period of fiscal years 2005 through 2009. This report is necessary to facilitate the application of sections 302 and 311 of the Congressional Budget Act and section 401 of the conference report on the concurrent resolution on the budget for fiscal year 2005 (S. Con. Res. 95, which is currently in effect as a concurrent resolution on the budget in the House under H. Res. 649). This status report is current through November 15, 2004.

The term "current level" refers to the amounts of spending and revenues estimated for each fiscal year based on laws enacted or awaiting the President's signature.

The first table in the report compares the current levels of total budget authority, outlays, and revenues with the aggregate levels set forth by S. Con. Res. 95. This comparison is needed to enforce section 311(a) of the Budget Act, which creates a point of order against measures that would breach the budget resolution's aggregate levels. The table does not show budget authority and outlays for years after fiscal year 2005 because appropriations for those years have not yet been considered.

The second table compares the current levels of budget authority and outlays for discretionary action by each authorizing committee with the "section 302(a)" allocations made under S. Con. Res. 95 for fiscal year 2005 and fiscal years 2005 through 2009. "Discretionary action" refers to legislation enacted after the adoption of the budget resolution. This comparison is needed to enforce section 302(f) of the Budget Act, which creates a point of order against measures that would breach the section 302(a) discretionary action allocation of new budget authority for the committee that reported the measure. It is also needed to implement section 311(b), which exempts committees that comply with their allocations from the point of order under section 311(a).

The third table compares the current levels of discretionary appropriations for fiscal year 2005 with the "section 302(b)" suballocations of discretionary budget authority and outlays among Appropriations subcommittees. The comparison is also needed to enforce section 302(f) of the Budget Act because the point of order under the section equally applies to measures that would breach the applicable section 302(b) suballocation.

The fourth table gives the current level for 2006 of accounts identified for advance appropriations under section 401 of S. Con. Res. 95. This list is needed to enforce section 401 of the budget resolution, which creates a point of order against appropriation bills that contain advance appropriations that are: (i) not identified in the statement of managers or (ii) would cause the aggregate amount of such appropriations to exceed the level specified in the resolution.

U.S. CONGRESS,
CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET OFFICE,
Washington, DC, November 17, 2004.

Hon. JIM NUSSLE,
Chairman, Committee on the Budget, House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. CHAIRMAN: The enclosed report shows the effects of Congressional action on the fiscal year 2005 budget and is current through November 15, 2004. This report is submitted under section 308(b) and in aid of section 311 of the Congressional Budget Act, as amended.

The estimates of budget authority, outlays, and revenues are consistent with the technical and economic assumptions of S. Con. Res. 95, the Concurrent Resolution on the Budget for Fiscal Year 2005. The budget resolution figures incorporate revisions submitted by the Committee on the Budget to the House to reflect funding for wildland fire suppression and for technical reasons. These revisions are authorized by sections 312 and 313 of S. Con. Res. 95. In addition, under section 402 of S. Con. Res. 95, amounts designated as emergency requirements are exempt from enforcement of the budget resolution. As a result, the enclosed current level report excludes the Emergency Supplemental Appropriations for Disaster Relief Act of 2004 (Public Law 108-303) since all amounts provided are designated as emergency requirements (see footnote 2 of the report).

Since my last letter, dated September 9, the Congress has cleared and the President has signed the following acts that changed budget authority, outlays, or revenues for fiscal year 2005:

The Emergency Supplemental Appropriations for Disaster Relief Act of 2004 (Public Law 108-303);

The Welfare Reform Extension Act, Part VIII (Public Law 108-308);

The Continuing Resolution, 2005 (Public Law 108-309);

The Surface Transportation Extension Act of 2004, Part V (Public Law 108-310);

The Working Families Tax Relief Act of 2004 (Public Law 108-311);

The Military Construction Appropriations Act, 2005 (Public Law 108-324);

The Homeland Security Appropriations Act, 2005 (Public Law 108-334);

The District of Columbia Appropriations Act, 2005 (Public Law 108-335);

An act to amend the Lease Lot Conveyance Act of 2002 (Public Law 108-351);

The American Jobs Creation Act of 2004 (Public Law 108-357);

The Ronald W. Reagan National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2005 (Public Law 108-375);

The Provo River Project Transfer Act (Public Law 108-382);

The 2004 District of Columbia Omnibus Authorization Act (Public Law 108-386); and

The Taxpayer-Teacher Protection Act of 2004 (Public Law 108-409).

The effects of the actions listed above are detailed in the accompanying table.

Sincerely,
DOUGLAS HOLTZ-EAKIN,
Director.

Enclosure.

TRIBUTE TO CONGRESSMAN WILLIAM O. LIPINSKI

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the Speaker's announced policy of January 7, 2003, the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. COSTELLO) is recognized for 60 minutes as the designee of the minority leader.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. COSTELLO. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks on the subject of this Special Order.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Illinois?

There was no objection.

Mr. COSTELLO. Mr. Speaker, as we come to the final days of this session of Congress, I want to recognize the service of our colleague and dear friend, Congressman BILL LIPINSKI from Chicago.

BILL decided not to seek reelection in this past general election after serving the people of his district for 22 years. BILL LIPINSKI has been a tireless advocate for the people of his district and the people of the Chicago area. BILL has been the go-to person to get things done for the City of Chicago.

As a senior member of the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure, he has delivered for Chicago and for the State of Illinois. BILL has secured funding for every major transportation project in the Chicago area for the past several years. From the southwest transit line to the Central Avenue bypass to the expansion of Midway and O'Hare airports, it was BILL LIPINSKI who was there to move the projects forward.

BILL has been an effective leader for his district, his city, and his State because he studies the issues and he rolls up his sleeves to get the job done. BILL always worked in a bipartisan manner, and in fact has as many friends on the Republican side of the aisle as he does on his own side of the aisle.

I have been privileged to serve on the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure with BILL LIPINSKI for the last 16 years. He was always there to help me and to help any other member of the committee seeking his advice and his wisdom.

I have always admired BILL's ability to get things done for his district and the City of Chicago. I appreciate his service not only to the people of his district and the State of Illinois but the people of this great Nation. And, more importantly, I appreciate his friendship.

I wish BILL, his wife, Rose Marie, and their family the very best and know that his successor, his son DAN LIPINSKI, will serve the people of his district very well.

Mr. Speaker, I would now like to yield to my colleague from the City of Chicago, the gentleman from Chicago, Illinois (Mr. RUSH).

Mr. RUSH. Mr. Speaker, I certainly want to concur with the remarks of my friend from the southern part of Illinois (Mr. COSTELLO), and I want to stand here and really speak a few words about a gentleman who comes from a different part of town, of Chicago, but someone who I identify with immeasurably, and someone who has been both a friend and someone who has been a mentor to me since I arrived here in this Congress.

Mr. Speaker, a familiar phrase that sometimes we speak about or we discuss in the city of Chicago, a phrase coined by the first Mayor Richard Daley, Mayor Daley I, Richard J. Daley, went something like: "Don't send me nobody, nobody's sent." And I think that that really kind of captures the attitude, the political attitude of BILL LIPINSKI.

BILL LIPINSKI was a person who cared about people, cared about people not only in his district but about people across this Nation. Even though he rose to heights here in Washington, D.C., in this Congress, he never forgot his role as a Democratic ward committeeman, a ward committeeman who handled the political affairs of the 23rd ward in the City of Chicago. And to a great extent his remarkable career here in this Congress, and the many things he was able to accomplish here not only for his district but for the people of the State of Illinois and also for the City of Chicago, was really a reflection of his true calling as a Democratic ward committeeman there in the City of Chicago. He was an old-time politician who understood how to work a precinct and how to get others to work a precinct and how to deliver a vote in the City of Chicago. And as a result of that, he achieved remarkable success.

Mr. Speaker, BILL LIPINSKI was somebody that was sent. He was sent and he represented the true nature of the people of his district, the Third Congressional District in Illinois. His nickname, which some of us tease him with, was "Bungalow Bill," because he represented the bungalow folks, people who lived in the bungalows in his district. The true grit, or the common, ordinary person. And BILL LIPINSKI never forgot who sent him. So he indeed was somebody who was sent not only to Washington, D.C., but prior to that, he was sent to the Chicago City Council, and prior to that he was sent to work at the Chicago Park District.

When I arrived here in Washington, he befriended me. I did not know what to expect. He and I did not share or come from the same political sector. We competed quite often in terms of local politics. But when I arrived here in Washington, he befriended me, he advised me, he helped me out, he gave me real true counsel, and we shared many stories about our similar activities there in the City of Chicago.

He is somebody who I really call a friend and someone who will always be my friend. Mr. Speaker, I will miss him so much when he retires from this Congress. I will miss him. I will miss his counsel, his friendship, and his advice. I will miss sitting on this floor just reminiscing about some of the good political battles that we engaged in in the inner city of Chicago.

And to BILL: BILL you were sent. You were somebody that was sent, and you made everybody proud. And I am sure your family is proud and DAN is proud and Rose Marie is proud. And I really will miss you and look forward to working with you as a fellow ward committeeman within the City of Chicago.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back to my colleague.

Mr. COSTELLO. Mr. Speaker, I would now like to yield to my friend and colleague, the gentleman from the City of Chicago, Illinois (Mr. DAVIS).

Mr. DAVIS of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to join with my colleagues as we all come to pay tribute to our good friend, BILL LIPINSKI.

BILL has served as a Member of Congress for over 20 years and is the senior Democratic member of the Illinois delegation. Of course, I first met him when we were both members of the Chicago City Council, although he found that a good place to be away from, and he got away just as quickly as he could and came to Congress.

BILL LIPINSKI has earned the well-deserved reputation for fairness among his colleagues in the Illinois delegation and in the House as a whole. He never hesitates to reach out to his colleagues across the aisle to help serve our Nation's interests. He has done much for Illinois' Third Congressional District, the City of Chicago, and our country as a whole.

As a member of the House Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure, he has ensured that Chicago's area transportation system has gotten the funding it needs to continue to serve the residents of the region. He has also enabled the upgrade of the Chicago Transit Authority's rail lines, as well as the extension and upgrade of a number of metro rail lines.

Mr. LIPINSKI's service on the House Subcommittee on Aviation has been especially important to the residents of Chicago and the area. He has helped to improve the region's currently overburdened airport facilities. He was instrumental in reducing delays at O'Hare International Airport through the elimination of the unnecessary slot rule. Additionally, he has ensured that Chicago's airport facilities remain state-of-the-art.

It is impossible for me to walk through the vastly and beautifully improved terminals at Midway Airport without thinking of BILL LIPINSKI's great contribution to our city.

BILL understands the art and relevance of political organizing and local base-building. As Democrat committeeman of the 23rd ward in Chicago, he leads and commands one of the most loyal and effective political groups in the State. He is a great family man and neighborhood person. He is loyal to both his community and to his family.

BILL, you have been a great friend, and best wishes to you and your wife as you get an opportunity to spend more time together in your beloved southwest side of Chicago. And I also want to take this opportunity to wish your son DAN well as he joins us. And as you go, in the words of an old Irish proverb, let me just say to you: "May the road rise up to meet you, may the wind always be at your back, may the sun shine warmly upon your face, and the rains fall softly upon your fields. And, until we meet again, may the good Lord hold you in the hollow of his hand."

Mr. Speaker, I yield back to my colleague.

Mr. COSTELLO. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentlewoman from Illinois (Ms. SCHAKOWSKY).

Ms. SCHAKOWSKY. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for organizing this tribute to our friend, BILL LIPINSKI; and I am pleased to join with other members of the Illinois delegation to celebrate the outstanding career of BILL LIPINSKI and to wish him well on his retirement after 22 years in this body.

When I was elected to Congress in 1998, I was fortunate to become part of a delegation that works together in a bipartisan and effective way to meet the needs of our State. BILL LIPINSKI has been the leader and a guiding force in bringing us together in that effort. He has helped us devise ways to make sure that Illinois' interests are protected and that Illinois gets its fair share of Federal dollars.

Over the years, I have attended many meetings where BILL LIPINSKI has kept us focused and shown us opportunities. He has built friendships and coalitions inside the Congress on both sides of the aisle and outside of Congress. He has worked day after day, year after year to make sure that his constituents got the best representation possible.

BILL LIPINSKI has helped me learn about Congress, learn about the government process, and learn how to get things done. He has always been there to give me advice, to give me support, and to answer my questions. And for that, I will always be appreciative.

In particular, BILL has helped me and so many others in this body and around the country learn more about transportation. Whether it is planes, trains, or trucks, BILL LIPINSKI knows transportation. Everyone wants to go somewhere, and BILL LIPINSKI has spent his career making sure that we can get there.

The Chicago Tribune called BILL LIPINSKI the Transit King because of his knowledge and ability to deliver for his district. As a senior member of the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure, BILL LIPINSKI has worked hard to improve infrastructure, expand the highway system, and modernize the freight rail system. He has helped meet the needs of travelers, commuters, and shippers, creating good jobs at the same time.

Chicago, a transportation hub for the Nation, has benefited tremendously from BILL LIPINSKI's national transportation reputation and experience. He is not just a national expert; he consistently tackles the transportation problems faced by Chicago and surrounding communities. BILL LIPINSKI is the living example of Tip O'Neill's axiom that "all politics are local."

Whether it is the reconstruction of the Stevenson Expressway, airport renovation, the CTA's orange line, or helping communities cope with train whistles, BILL LIPINSKI has a hands-on approach to dealing with local issues. He understands the problems his constituents face, whether it is losing a job because of unfair trade policies, struggling to pay for enormous drug bills, or protecting overtime pay.

A life-long Chicagoan, BILL worked for 17 years at the Chicago Park District and served as a Chicago alderman, which in the eyes of many Chicagoans is believed to be the highest of political achievements. And BILL LIPINSKI continued to serve his community as a local ward committeeman, in addition to his work here in Congress. And on election day, his political organization is something to behold, an operation most elected officials would only dream of.

What some of my colleagues may not know is his expertise goes beyond transportation and government to include an exhaustive knowledge of the White Sox and baseball. BILL LIPINSKI has served the people of the Third Congressional District of Illinois with dedication and skill for 11 terms. Now as BILL prepares to leave the House after 22 years of service, those of us in the Illinois delegation wish him only the very, very best and look forward to welcoming his son DAN as part of our delegation.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back to my colleague from Illinois.

Mr. COSTELLO. Mr. Speaker, I yield to another Illinois colleague, the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. EMANUEL).

Mr. EMANUEL. Mr. Speaker, first, I would like to thank my colleague, the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. COSTELLO), for organizing this. I think we will see tonight as other Members speak and those who preceded that we will be bipartisan in our praise. Mo Udall used to say, "Everything that has ever needed to be said on the subject has been said; it just has not been said by everybody that needs to say it." So this is my opportunity.

I want to shed a little light, if I could, on the fact that BILL LIPINSKI has held a series of political and public offices, ward committeeman, alderman, and Congressman. But like all great traditions in Chicago, he also worked at the Chicago Park District, that training ground of great political leaders that has literally been all over our political system in Chicago. Whether it is the county board, whether in the aldermatic or city council, the mayoral office, congressional office, or the U.S. Senate, the Chicago Park District has trained more political leaders than any other position or forum that I know of.

BILL started his career working up from the Park District to where he served as alderman, and also, to this day, as committeeman of the 23rd ward. He also is, obviously, a Congressman for over 20 years. My colleague, the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. RUSH), mentioned he is known as Bungalow BILL. A little over half of the housing stock in Chicago is in bungalows. It is a frame, or an architectural style, that Chicago is known for.

No other city has so much housing in that type of style. BILL LIPINSKI and his wife live in a bungalow. In fact, one piece of legislation I got was making the bungalow an historic site. BILL wanted to make sure that I got the architectural type of the bungalow correct, it was not just any type of architecture, and he was committed to understanding and respecting not only that architecture, but what he understood was the values of those people that lived in those bungalows.

Those people, when you asked them where they lived, they did not tell you Chicago. They told you what parish they went to. That is where they lived. What park their kids played in, what team they were on in the park district.

No matter where BILL went and however many miles he traveled, he never went very far, but he had a world view. Whenever we were going on a plane back home, BILL would pull out one of these 700, 800-pound books on history. I have a common interest in history, especially World War II history, and we usually swapped reading lists. He always read his history.

What I am trying to get at is the quality of an individual. Because this is a passing in many ways of a generation of a political leader that our city does not produce as it used to. For instance, last year, the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. GUTIERREZ) organized a Congressional Award and recognition for Sammy Sosa. This was at the time Sammy Sosa was, and still is, a hot property. Wrigley Field is in my district. BILL LIPINSKI traveled up for the event. It was the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. DAVIS), the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. GUTIERREZ), myself, and the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. LIPINSKI). BILL said, "This is the first time in my life I have even been to Wrigley Field."

If you know anything about Chicago, Bill was from the Southwest Side, Comiskey Park, and would never set foot, if not for Sammy Sosa. I would say BILL still would never have been in Wrigley Field, and he has lived his whole life in Chicago. That was the type of individual he was. He knew where he was from and who he was.

If I could make one note, it is his son who is going to replace him as a congressman. As I know the 23rd Ward, the 11th Ward, the 19th Ward that make up that congressional district, DAN on his first run got a unique and quite impressive 74 percent. In the great tradition of the 19th Ward, 11th Ward, 10th Ward and 13th Ward and 23rd Ward, I am sure they are looking for those people on the 26 percent and who they are and why they voted the other way, and good luck in getting their garbage picked up for the next 2 years.

I know BILL is probably in his office having a cup of coffee or Diet Coke, his cigarette, pizza, and making sure what we say is correct. Because tomorrow he will be down on the floor to correct us if we make a mistake. If I have, BILL, I apologize.

BILL is truly a person who, when you say "Bungalow Bill" it is a compliment, because he represents the people, values and interests of the people from the Southwest Side and all its strength because it is that period of time that is our greatest generation and our greatest building blocks.

Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. COSTELLO) for organizing this Special Order.

Mr. COSTELLO. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. EVANS).

Mr. EVANS. Mr. Speaker, I join in the salute to BILL LIPINSKI and his retirement. We are going to miss him tremendously. Many people do not understand how a progressive member of the Democratic Caucus would have anything to do with a very conservative member of our caucus, but I came to know BILL because he worked incredibly hard for our fellow citizens. He always could be counted on to live up to the highest ideals of the Democratic Party on the issues that count, and we know that he will continue to be involved on these issues in the future.

I enjoyed serving these last 22 years with BILL. I salute the whole Lipinski family. They are a great Democratic family. I think we will find out how good his son is after he is sworn in and gets involved in this committee, because his son is a college professor by background. We need a few more Members from academics and other people who have insights to things that we lawyers do not always have.

I am pleased to have worked with him and salute him for his work with us. He has been a strong advocate for veterans issues. I will tremendously miss Bill in the future.

Mr. COSTELLO. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. MANZULLO).

Mr. MANZULLO. Mr. Speaker, I first had the opportunity to meet my colleague, the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. LIPINSKI), when I became a Member of Congress in 1993. What impressed me is the fact that I could live only 100 miles from the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. LIPINSKI) and he would have an accent and I do not. Some people call that a Chicago accent.

You often wonder why would somebody who lives near Egan, Illinois, a population of 39, very small county, and who raises beef cattle, obviously lives on a farm, what would he have in common with somebody who lives in a big city like Chicago.

I took a look at BILL LIPINSKI when I first came, knew his reputation as somebody very much interested in roads and highways and transportation. BILL and I had a lot of interesting talks, most of them about roads, the significance of highways. In the historical context, BILL would wax eloquent about the significance of commerce, why airports are necessary, why roads are necessary.

In fact, we talked one time that when the convention was called in 1787, it was on adjournment from the Baltimore meeting a year earlier where delegates from the 13 States had met under the Articles of Confederation and in vain could not come up with some kind of a system whereby to standardize the width, length and depth of the locks of the navigable waters. When the delegates met the next year in Philadelphia, the original purpose of the new Constitution, because the Articles of Confederation simply were not strong enough, was to promote commerce by making sure that this Nation had this fluid system of transportation. BILL has always understood that.

Roads do run from Egan, Illinois, to downtown Chicago. BILL always supported whatever road projects we had. I always supported his requests for buses in downtown Chicago because people go from Egan, Illinois, to Chicago.

But most important was the fact that, in the whole area of air transportation, BILL worked with us to help put Rockford, Illinois, on the map with the Greater Rockford Airport, recognizing the fact that here is an airport that needed business and so why not, to the extent possible, use it for transportation to alleviate the congestion in Chicagoland.

He chaired, back when his party was in the majority, several hearings, and I had an opportunity to testify before him. And when the majority changed and he was still on the same subcommittee, I still had an opportunity to testify before him. It really did not make any difference who was in the majority or the minority. BILL was still interested in the fact that roads connect people, they connect towns and, more importantly, they connect lives.

I have never met a person as unusual as BILL LIPINSKI. A Chicago accent? You have to be from rural Illinois to recognize that there is such a thing as a Chicago accent. He in his bungalow in the big city and I in my farmhouse in outside of Egan in the suburbs know this: That the dedication of this man to the people not just in his district but in the entire State, his wisdom in placing emphasis upon infrastructure and transportation as a means to better everybody because of commerce, made him rise above political labels. It was never BILL LIPINSKI, the Democrat. It was always BILL LIPINSKI, my friend.

Mr. COSTELLO. Mr. Speaker, I yield to my friend and neighbor, the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. SHIMKUS).

Mr. SHIMKUS. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. COSTELLO) for arranging this. He does a lot of work for us throughout the State on transportation issues, but the gentleman's job is about to get a little harder with the departure of the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. LIPINSKI) as the senior ranking member on a subcommittee and one whom we relied upon a lot in Illinois for advice and counsel and to help us fight the fights.

I can speak for the Speaker to thank BILL for his help on those major infrastructure projects in Illinois. To have such a strong ally on the Committee on Transportation and the Infrastructure on the other side of the aisle was critical to us in being able to have the success that we have.

As many people know, we speak from microphones arranged by Democrats on that side and Republicans on this side. Many times, as chairman of the Page Board, I go on the Democrat side as I am talking to the pages and addressing them. But I did not think anything could get the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. MANZULLO) over on the Democratic side, and that is certainly a first, but BILL LIPINSKI did. So if there is ever a credit to BILL LIPINSKI, I think I just saw it tonight.

A lot of stuff has been said about BILL's election to Congress in 1983, serving as a City of Chicago alderman for 8 years and currently the longest-serving Democrat member of the Illinois delegation and has been a leader for Chicago but also for a branch of the Democratic Party, a conservative branch on ideologies and values that I have come to appreciate.

During BILL's 21 years in Congress, he worked tirelessly to rebuild the Nation's transportation infrastructure. He has fought hard to maintain Illinois' status as a transportation hub. He has worked across party lines, an old Illinois tradition, to pass legislation that would be beneficial for the City of Chicago and the State of Illinois. He was willing to go against his party leaders on issues that were important to him, and when push came to shove, Members always knew they could count on BILL to come through for Illinois.

His way of leadership is a dying breed, and he will be sorely missed by this body. It has been an honor to serve with him. In fact, one of the great benefits of coming to Washington is to meet the great leaders of our time and actually call them colleagues and friends and try to work to solve issues that are important to this Nation. I thank him for the friendship he has shown. He has teased and harassed me a lot, but I take that in the spirit given.

I want to take this time to thank BILL and his wife Rose Marie for their years of service to this Congress and to the State of Illinois. What I like most about BILL, and it was mentioned earlier, was his allegiance to support any baseball team that was playing the Cubs, even rooting for my St. Louis Cardinals at times. That is a true believer. He is a true White Sox fan. Too bad, I understand, that his son will not be carrying on that same tradition when he succeeds his father in the Third Congressional District.

The people of Chicago's south side should be proud to have had a man like BILL serving as their representative here in Congress, and we in Congress were proud to have him here. Thank you, BILL.

Mr. JACKSON of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I would like to take this opportunity to recognize and honor my colleague from Illinois Congressman WILLIAM LIPINSKI who is retiring from Congress after 21 years of service.

Mr. LIPINSKI—the congressman from the 3d District—grew up on the southwest side of Chicago and he has remained there as a lifelong resident. He began his political career with the Chicago Parks District, was elected 23rd Ward alderman and ward committeeman in 1975. First elected to Congress in 1983, Mr. LIPINSKI is currently the longest serving Democrat in the Illinois delegation.

Since the beginning of his career as a congressman, Mr. LIPINSKI has been a member of the House Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure—formerly the House Committee on Public Works and Transportation. As a member of this committee, he has served as Ranking Member on the Railroads Subcommittee, Ranking Member on Aviation, and is currently Ranking Member on the powerful Highways, Transit and Pipeline Subcommittee.

I'm glad he's on this side of the aisle. It's easier to go to war with Mr. LIPINSKI on your side than on the other side.

BILL LIPINSKI has worked devotedly and passionately on behalf of his constituents. He has made many important contributions to the City of Chicago and the state of Illinois. I'm thankful for his service to our city, state and nation.

And I'm proud to call him my friend.

Mr. Speaker, I join with my colleagues and thank Mr. LIPINSKI for his service and wish him and his family the best in the years to come.

Mr. PETRI. Mr. Speaker, I want to join in this tribute to the many years of public service and the more than 20 years of service here in the House of our colleague BILL LIPINSKI.

I have had the privilege of serving with BILL on the Transportation and Infrastructure Committee for many years. During this Congress, he has served as the ranking Democrat on the Subcommittee on Highways, Transit and Pipelines. Together, we had to navigate through the often frustrating, confusing and twisting course of the transportation bill reauthorization effort this year and last. BILL has always been a steady partner and a strong defender of the program. He certainly hasn't been reluctant to voice his strong support for increased investment in transportation. He is a great fighter, and we have been lucky to have him on our side during this particular fight. I have valued his advice and counsel these past two years as together we have worked to produce a transportation program that moves our country forward.

Beyond our work together on the Subcommittee, we have worked together on other issues, such as the expansion of O'Hare and many years fighting the whistle ban to protect our towns that had developed around the railroad tracks crisscrossing through our districts.

Apart from the Committee activities, BILL has been a tireless advocate for his constituents. He was born on the southwest side of Chicago, and he truly knows and understands his district. Prior to coming to Washington, BILL was a Chicago City alderman and he still is a Ward committeeman—a good education for any member of this House!

So I want to acknowledge BILL's courage, his strength in standing by his convictions, and his love for the City of Chicago. He has had a real impact, and his successes can be seen all over the city—whether riding the "el" or landing on a plane at Midway.

I wish him and his wife, Rose Marie, all the best on his retirement. He has been a valuable member of the House, and we will miss him.

CELEBRATING 35-YEAR CONGRESSIONAL CAREER OF THE HONORABLE PHILIP M. CRANE OF ILLINOIS

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. MANZULLO. Mr. Speaker. I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on the subject of my special order today.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Illinois?

There was no objection.

Mr. MANZULLO. Mr. Speaker, it is a real honor to be able to honor my close friend PHIL CRANE, my neighbor, a person with whom I share one of our counties, and others are here to do the same thing. I will reserve my remarks for later.

First I would like to recognize the gentleman from Indiana (Mr. PENCE).

Mr. PENCE. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. MANZULLO) for leading this special order tonight that I expect will be well attended as we celebrate 35 years of principled, conservative leadership on Capitol Hill.

I have scarcely been in this institution 4 years, Mr. Speaker. The very thought of arriving at a place 31 years from now in my career and still enjoying a reputation for integrity to principle, for personal integrity that Congressman PHIL CRANE enjoys is a lodestar for me. I rise today to speak on behalf of the gentleman from Illinois. I spoke today as the new incoming chairman of the Republican Study Committee, a 96-member caucus of the House of Representatives, with one of our new freshmen who, when I spoke to her about our plans for this evening, said that one of the great thrills of her life 10 years ago in Washington State at the Republican convention as a brand new freshman member of the State legislature was a chance to introduce PHIL CRANE, the keynote speaker at the Washington State Republican convention. She was thrilled at the thought of being able to spend however few days in the same Congress and call PHIL CRANE a colleague.

I rise today to make sure that the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD remembers this principled, conservative man for who he was in totality. Congressman PHIL CRANE was first elected to Congress in a special election held in November of 1969 to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of another noteworthy Illinoisan by the name of Donald Rumsfeld who has gone on to other productive ventures for his Nation.

PHIL CRANE was born on November 3, 1930, the second of five children. His father, Dr. George Crane, was the author of a nationally syndicated newspaper column entitled "Worry Clinic" which ran in papers for over 40 years. His mother, Cora, reared their children on Chicago's south side where my own family grew up. CRANE received his bachelor's degree from Hillsdale College in Michigan, and with that pedigree, after college, he served in the United States military from 1954 to 1956. He continued his education in history by earning a master's and a doctorate degree from Indiana University in Bloomington, Indiana. The career and the life and the legacy of PHIL CRANE, or Dr. CRANE as we like to call him, continues to be a source of enormous pride for Hoosiers.

After graduation, Dr. CRANE served as a professor at both Indiana University and Bradley University in Peoria, Illinois. He also served as the director of schools at Westminster Academy in Northbrook, Illinois. CRANE also has received three honorary doctorates. In his career, he has authored three books: The Democrats' Dilemma, in 1964; Surrender in Panama, in 1978; and The Sum of Good Government, a classic tome in conservative circles, published in 1976.

He married his wife, Arlene Catherine Johnson, on 14 February 1959. The Cranes have eight children and six grandchildren. In 1997, the Crane family lost Rachel at age 31 following a long battle against non-Hodgkin's disease lymphoma but is blessed by an abundant family that remains.

CRANE also serves as a trustee for Hillsdale College, as a member of the Board of Directors of the Ashbrook Center, as a director of the Intercollegiate Studies Institute, and an advisor to the Young Americans for Freedom. In short, Mr. Speaker, it is impossible to move around even briefly in the landscape of American conservatism or in the American intellectual conservative movement without crossing the shadow and experiencing the wake and wash of the career of Congressman PHIL CRANE. There will be others who will speak about his vice chairmanship of the House Ways and Means Committee, his extraordinary work as a leader expanding the markets all over the globe for American trade and, of course, his extraordinary leadership on taxes.

I choose to focus what remains of my comments tonight, Mr. Speaker, on Congressman PHIL CRANE as a conservative leader. As I said, again, I am the incoming chairman of the largest caucus in the House of Representatives. It is known as the House Republican Study Committee. The relationship of that to PHIL CRANE is personal and poignant because it was in 1974, as a relatively new Member of Congress, that Congressman PHIL CRANE started the Republican Study Committee. And in many respects, as a book written by Ed Feulner, now president of the Heritage Foundation, the most influential conservative think tank in the English-speaking world, as that book indicates, it was the Republican Study Committee that in so many ways created the environment where the ultimate election of Ronald Reagan in 1980 was made more possible and ultimately the Republican revolution manifested itself with the takeover of this institution by a Republican majority governing from a mainstream conservative agenda that was first advocated by a young Congressman PHIL CRANE when he started the Republican Study Committee in 1974.

In fact, as evidence of his impact on the conservative movement, the very first staff level executive director of the Republican Study Committee was the same aforementioned Dr. Ed Feulner who has gone on to lead the Heritage Foundation and himself become an extraordinary leader in our movement.

PHIL CRANE first became active and well known in conservative circles actually earlier in his life, in the 1960s. He campaigned heavily for Barry Goldwater in 1964, and after his election, he became one of the most sought after conservative speakers in the country. It was not just his dashing good looks. It was the soundness of his thinking, advocating free-market values, limited government and traditional moral values with courage and fierceness and compassion.

As I mentioned, he later founded the Republican Study Committee, was involved in other conservative organizations like the American Conservative Union, Americans for Sound Foreign Policy, the Free Congress Foundation, just to name a few. Fearful that Ronald Reagan would not repeat his effort to run for President as 1980 approached, Congressman PHIL CRANE announced in late 1978 his intent to seek the nomination for President of the United States. I will never forget the evening sitting on the House floor when Congressman CRANE told me the story of that night. He said, "We all just figured that one day Governor Reagan would look at Nancy and say, 'I think, Mommy, we should just go and retire to the ranch.'" Ronald Reagan and history had different intentions, but as he has always been throughout his career, PHIL CRANE was ready to stand in the gap. And when Ronald Reagan made his candidacy a reality, PHIL CRANE stayed in the race to honor his delegates from Illinois who had supported their favorite son, but he was one of the strongest supporters of President Reagan in 1980, enabling and assisting in his election and also being one of the great champions of the Reagan revolution from the minority here on Capitol Hill.

I close with simply a personal reflection. As I shared at several venues since learning that Congressman CRANE was not returning to participate in the 109th Congress, I reflected on the fact that as a new conservative in the House of Representatives over the last 2 years, I have made it my practice just a few feet from where I am standing during the course of long votes to sit to the right hand of PHIL CRANE. I have joked many nights as the gentleman knows about wanting to sit on the PHIL CRANE commemorative row. I did it out of affection. I did it out of admiration, and frankly, I did it out of a deep desire in the 2 years that we served, these past 2 and the 4 in totality, to learn as much as I possibly could from this man.

My only consolation, as Congressman PHIL CRANE goes on to be private citizen PHIL CRANE and no doubt in many respects will become, I suspect, with his newer and freer schedule an even wider influence in American conservatism and, we hope, a more prolific author than he has been in the last 15 years, my hope is however long I serve in this Congress that I will ever do so at the right hand of PHIL CRANE; that however long I serve here, that I will be guided by his example of courage, of integrity, of decency and of fealty to conservative principles.

In so many ways, when we talk of the Reagan revolution, and we rightly credit Ronald Reagan, but I suspect if the President were able to speak tonight and he would if he could, were he still among us, I suspect he would rise to say that one of the great generals in the field who won the hearts and minds of the American people by renewing our Nation, bringing us back to the ideals of our Founders, he would rise and extol the 35-year career of principled, conservative leadership that we celebrate tonight in the life and work and service of Congressman PHIL CRANE.

Mr. MANZULLO. I recognize the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. SHIMKUS).

Mr. SHIMKUS. I thank the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. MANZULLO) for arranging this special order. It is an important time to say thanks to a friend who has been helpful to me and one whom I have gotten to know and appreciate serving together.

As I have said earlier this evening, one of the great benefits of being elected to Congress is to say, "Gosh. PHIL CRANE's my colleague. I work with him." I appreciate that. That is one of the great benefits we have.

PHIL, as has been said, was elected to Congress in 1969 to replace Donald Rumsfeld. He is currently the longest-serving Republican Member in the House of Representatives.

PHIL, you will be sorely missed.

During PHIL's 35 years in Congress, he worked tirelessly to reform our Nation's tax system and expand free trade around the world. Whether it has been to reduce the taxes employers pay or lower the tax burden on hardworking Americans or to expand markets for our Nation's manufacturers and, being from southern Illinois, my farmers, PHIL has been a champion for the American taxpayer.

As a leader in the House on trade issues, PHIL has authored legislation signed into law to open trade barriers for countries in Africa and the Caribbean, led the fight to grant China normal trading relations and helped expand duty-free trade with the Andean nations of Bolivia, Peru, Ecuador and Colombia. In recent years, Congressman CRANE has shepherded other major trade policies to successful passage in Congress, and we all know that is not always easy to do. We say it as if it is easy, but it is not, including the 1994 General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade and the North American Free Trade Agreement.

Prior to Congress, PHIL served in the Army and was a professor at a number of colleges. He has always fought the fight for smaller government, and he has written books on the subject and has voted to reduce the size of government every chance he has gotten. Some believe that PHIL is a vanishing breed, but I think that PHIL will find out tonight, as was said so eloquently by MIKE PENCE and I am sure others, that there is a shadow cast on the conservative movement, a wake, a wash, these are great terms, that will have the ideas and values of PHIL CRANE live on long after your official departure from the Chamber.

But I will say one thing. The gentleman from Illinois (Mr. CRANE) will be sorely missed in this Chamber. It has been an honor to serve with him over the last eight years, as I said before, as a friend and a mentor, helpful in my campaign, being another Illinoisan.

I would like to thank him and his wife Arlene, who has always been by his side. And because he has been helpful to me, I want to thank her for allowing him to spend some time with me away from the family.

Few people know that there were actually three presidential candidates from Illinois in the 1980 presidential race: Ronald Reagan, John Anderson, and the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. CRANE). For those people who thought President Reagan was the true conservative, the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. CRANE) actually ran to the right of him. The people of Northern Illinois should be proud to have had a man like the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. CRANE) serving them in Congress, and we in Congress are proud to have him here. I thank him.

Mr. MANZULLO. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. BARTLETT).

Mr. BARTLETT of Maryland. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. CRANE), a dear personal friend and a great servant to our country and the United States Congress. I am joined tonight in this historic Chamber of the United States House of Representatives in our Nation's Capitol by many colleagues of the 108th Congress. We are all trying to do what is impossible. We want to share with those who listen and with posterity a glimpse of the extraordinary accomplishments of the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. CRANE) as an individual and as a legislator.

The gentleman from Illinois (Mr. CRANE) is a giant. In 40 years of participating in the political life of our country, his ideas, energy and leadership contributed structure, muscle and heart to the ascendancy of conservative philosophy and a Republican majority in the United States Congress. Could this change have been envisioned without the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. CRANE)? I doubt it. Could this change have occurred without the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. CRANE)? I doubt it.

This giant on the American political stage was a mentor and became a friend to me very quickly after I was sworn in as a Member of Congress in January of 1993 as a 66-year-old freshman. That is when I came to know him. This is where I can offer my personal tribute to him.

Indeed, I knew of him and admired him many years before that. I can remember in 1980, in meeting with personal friends and conservatives, when we mentioned the conservative movement and we were looking for an icon, someone who really represented that movement, it was the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. CRANE). I had never seen him. I had never met him. But I knew him through my many friends who had admired him for a number of years before I became politically interested.

And then the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. CRANE) came more than 13 years ago when I was running for Congress. I did not have a chance of winning, but he came anyhow, and he came to a little local town, and he did a fundraiser for me. So I am here partly because of the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. CRANE) and his confidence in me.

For many years here I attended every Wednesday afternoon the ACORNS meetings in his office. What a privilege and an opportunity to meet there some of the Members of Congress, the House and the Senate, who had gone on before and all of the history that they shared, and I remember fondly all of those ACORNS meetings in the gentleman from Illinois's (Mr. CRANE's) big office, and he had an enviable office here in the Congress. He deserved it. He had been here longer than any other Republican Member of the House.

America is different because of the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. CRANE). The most influential think tank in our Nation was started by a protege of the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. CRANE), the Heritage Foundation. His shadow and his legacy is very long indeed. This House will not be the same without the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. CRANE).

My heart has missed a number of friends that I have made here in this House, but I will tell my colleagues I will most fondly remember and most intensely miss my friendship with the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. CRANE). He is indeed a giant. I thank him very much for his service to his country and for his friendship to me.

Mr. MANZULLO. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Arizona (Mr. HAYWORTH).

Mr. HAYWORTH. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman, chairman of the Committee on Small Business, for yielding to me and the chance to again repeat that I hail from the State of Arizona; Arizona and Illinois, with a great symbiotic relationship that extends beyond spring training. I was talking to the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. LIPINSKI), who likewise will leave the Chamber coming up, and we honor his service. And he talked about coming out to be able to watch the White Sox and the Cubs unfettered by the contingencies of the congressional calendar.

Mr. Speaker, I obviously get emotional when I think about the friendship and the example of the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. CRANE). There have been those who have preceded me in the well who have spoken of the gentleman from Illinois' (Mr. CRANE) impressive resume, of the fact that he arrived here as a new Member of Congress to succeed our current Secretary of Defense Don Rumsfeld in 1969, the year which man finally walked on the moon, and at that time, the prevailing sentiment within the body politic was that conservative ideals were almost as distant as the moon to the here and now. And yet the cheerful persistence of this great and good man from the land of Lincoln, offering a clear, constructive example of free minds and free markets and a foreign policy built on freedom was an example day in and day out in this Chamber.

The gentleman from Illinois (Mr. CRANE), a historian, a professor, a citizen, a congressman, a presidential candidate; but always a catalyst, a catalyst for conservatism, an agent for change, yes, only in the sense that change would understand what it is in the American character that made us great, that continues to make us great.

My friend from Illinois (Mr. SHIMKUS) preceded me in the well, as did my friend from Maryland (Mr. BARTLETT). They spoke of 1980, and how I remember that year as a senior in North Carolina State University with more than a casual interest in politics, mindful that in that year no fewer than three Members of the people's House aspired to leave the legislative branch to serve as our chief executive, our friends Jack Kemp of New York and John B. Anderson of Illinois and the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. CRANE), likewise of the land of Lincoln. And as I have shared with the gentleman from Illinois (Chairman CRANE), I remember full well his opening statement in the debate in the Iowa Caucus where he quoted Frederick Douglas and how Frederick Douglas said, "I am a Republican and I will remain a Republican because of the triumph of freedom and the opportunities that this country represents."

And, yes, we think of conservative leaders, and we think of Arizona's favorite son, Barry Goldwater, for whom the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. CRANE) worked tirelessly, and we think of Ronald Reagan. And we understand also the seemingly insurmountable challenges that confront a Member of the people's House who would aspire to an address down Pennsylvania Avenue. Indeed, history records that only one among us, only one sitting Member of Congress was elected from this Chamber to serve in the executive mansion, James A. Garfield of Ohio, in 1888.

But perhaps the lesson is best told by another historical name, John Quincy Adams, who followed his father, John Adams, our second President, into the White House in later years, but who, upon losing a bid for reelection, returned home to Massachusetts. And then the people of Braintree came to him and said, "Mr. President, would you run for Congress?" And so John Quincy Adams, former President of the United States, ran for and was elected to this institution where he served to the end of his days. And what he said upon that election I think is a sentiment shared by all of us but especially by our good friend whom we honor tonight. Quoting Congressman John Quincy Adams, "There is no greater honor than serving in the people's House." And as I see my friend nod in agreement, I know through 3½ decades of public service that truth has been reaffirmed. And for the citizens of the land of Lincoln who sent our friend here, beginning in 1969, time and again, we say thank you.

And to our friend, as I look at this color scheme, I am so glad because I remember the button. It was the reverse of this, "Phil Crane for President." Now we say "Phil Crane for Citizen," in a land without title, without distinction, without peerage. The most honored title is not President, is not congressman. It is citizen.

So, Mr. Speaker, to our good friend, to his bride, Arlene, to a remarkable family that has lived the American Dream, we say, "Thank you, Citizen Crane," for what he has done, but more importantly what he is going to do. There is a reality that many of us fail to recognize and embrace, and it is that life continues. There is a life after Congress, and that life is found with friends and family and fellow citizens and an advocacy that never leaves us though we may leave the well of this House, though we may surrender a voting card in this Chamber. There is always the advocacy and the poetic justice of eternal vigilance and continued involvement in a constitutional republic, and that is the gift that the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. CRANE) over 3½ decades fought to preserve. That is the gift that he will continue to enjoy as he leaves this Chamber. And regardless of political affiliation tonight, that is what we recognize, and that is what we celebrate.

It has been said that the true measure of a man is how he treats not those born to great wealth or those who enjoy great titles, but how he treats small children. I will never forget when our middle daughter, Hannah, was much younger. Mr. Speaker, for purposes of full disclosure, I should point out that sometimes Mary and I believe we should lobby Dr. Dobson to put Hannah on the cover of the next edition of "The Strong-Willed Child," and I hope that Hannah will forgive me for that candor tonight. But Hannah has a vivacious, rambunctious personality, and her favorite Member in her first trip to the floor when she really understood this place was one PHIL CRANE who would say, well, there is Hannah Banana, what are you doing? And in that gentle, easygoing way of a man blessed with a great family who understands girls and understands children, there PHIL CRANE, right here on CRANE's Row in the people's House, would put a little girl at ease and enchant her and charm her with no great theories of government, but just an easygoing style that said, honey, I am your friend. You come visit with me.

He has been a friend of the people from the land of Lincoln. He has been a friend to this country. He remains one of the foremost founders of the modern conservative movement. His works have inspired so many, but more than his writings, it has been his call to arms. How many sit back, how many offer the dogma and the doctrine on the printed page and yet fail to have the courage to step into the arena. Theodore Roosevelt wrote to the man in the arena. PHIL CRANE has been that man in the arena.

I thank my friend, the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. MANZULLO), for the time; and I thank PHILIP CRANE for his service.

Mr. MANZULLO. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from California (Mr. DREIER).

Mr. DREIER. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank my friend from Arizona (Mr. HAYWORTH) for his thoughtful and very emotional eloquence. I have to say that just as was the case for the gentleman from Arizona (Mr. HAYWORTH), PHIL CRANE has been an inspiration to me for a long period of time.

I recalled, hearing some of the things that the gentleman from Arizona (Mr. HAYWORTH) was saying, some of the experiences that we all had in observing PHIL CRANE when he was a Presidential candidate, some of those great events that took place, like that debate. And while the gentleman from Arizona (Mr. HAYWORTH) was quoting some of the Framers, it immediately came to mind one of the Framers who was quoted by Mr. CRANE in one of those debates.

After I saw him in that debate in 1980, I committed to memory the Thomas Jefferson quote, because in fact, one of PHIL's many volumes has centered around that quote. It was Thomas Jefferson who we often like to say was the founder of the Democratic Party, but he clearly outlined what was the real role of government when he said in his first inaugural address in March of 1801, he said, "My fellow citizens, a wise and frugal government shall restrain men from injuring one another and shall leave them otherwise free to regulate their own pursuits of industry and improvement, and shall not take from the mouth of labor the bread it has earned. This is the sum of good government."

And those last words are the title of one of PHIL's volumes. There have been so many great things that PHIL has done as a Member of this body and as a Presidential candidate.

I was talking just a few minutes ago to our staff director on the Committee on Rules, Billy Pitts, and I told him I was coming over here to talk about PHIL. And Billy Pitts immediately said to me, he said, PHIL is a decent man and a fine man. And I have to say that I have never in my life met a nicer, more decent human being than PHIL CRANE.

I have had countless experiences with him, traveling internationally and spending time together here with Arlene and PHIL. And this whole notion of being one of the real, over the last several decades, leaders in the conservative movement. I cannot help but think about this cause of freedom. I know that it is often a controversial issue around here. We have pointed to the fact that as Republicans we totally subscribe to this view of freedom, and we talk about the interdependence of political freedom and economic freedom, and that interdependence is something that is very important to note.

PHIL has been in the forefront, long before he got into this Congress, for the issue of free trade. I continue to this day to use PHIL as my model, and I say what one of our former colleagues, Sam Gibbons, often said. He referred to himself as a blind free trader. And PHIL and I are both blind free traders. We had a tendency to harass a couple of our colleagues, one present colleague, one former colleague, the late Gerald Solomon, my predecessor on the Committee on Rules, and we would refer to the Tariff Act, the Smoot-Holly Tariff Act of the 1930s, and we referred to Jerry Solomon as "Smoot Solomon" and DUNCAN HUNTER, my California colleague, as "Hunter Holly." Because unfortunately, not everyone in the Republican Party embraces this free trade position. But even when it has been unpopular, PHIL has championed it.

I think about the lead that he has provided in ensuring that we blast our Western values into repressive societies around the world, like the People's Republic of China. PHIL has always been at the forefront in our pursuit of what was Most Favored Nation status and ultimately permanent normal trade relations. If we look at what has taken place today with the kind of political liberalization which is on the rise; no one is an apologist in the government of the People's Republic of China, but the political liberalization which has followed the economic liberalization, and PHIL CRANE has been at the forefront for decades of that cause of ensuring that we get economic freedom to as many people in the world as possible. That is why when we look at the prospect of PHIL's retirement, we think about the wonderful things that he has done, inspiring Americans, and he has also done it all over the world.

On repeated occasions we have been together in Latin America as we pursued what was Ronald Reagan's vision that he outlined on November 6 of 1979 when he announced his candidacy for President of the United States, and he envisaged this accord of free trade among all of the Americas. Right now we are in pursuit, as President Bush wants, of this free trade area of the Americas. We also know that we have just been able to see the benefits of things that PHIL worked on for a long period of time when we put into place a free trade agreement with Australia. We have had the chance to visit there with PHIL and Arlene and others in our delegation that PHIL led there to talk about the need for us to make sure that we create even greater economic opportunity in our country.

PHIL is someone who understands that trade is a win-win-win all the way around. We know that some people obviously are displaced, and we know that it is a challenge. My friend from Illinois (Mr. MANZULLO) has talked with us regularly about this. But I do believe passionately that creating greater economic opportunity for people here in the United States and other parts of the world helps us in dealing with everything from simply enhancing the quality of life and the standard of living for peoples, but also in dealing with this global war on terrorism.

Because when one thinks about what it is that has led to terrorism, a part of it, not totally, but an important part of it happens to be the fact that there are societies that are economically devastated. I was talking a few months ago to someone in the Pentagon who said, just think about it, if we had a percentage or two of greater economic growth in Afghanistan or Pakistan, that clearly would have diminished the kind of threat that existed, because people are seeking economic opportunity. So PHIL has done that.

Then, of course, there is, as has been mentioned, the very important human side to PHIL CRANE, and that is why when I mentioned Billy Pitts's statement about PHIL being a decent man and a kind man, I listened to the gentleman from Arizona (Mr. HAYWORTH) talk about his daughter, Hannah, and I think about all of the young children who come in here. It is rare that you see someone have the great interaction with children and young people the way PHIL CRANE interacts with young people.

That is why I will join in saying that his leaving this great institution will create a void, a void for the institution itself, because he has regularly stood right here in this well and here in the House of Representatives fighting for his deeply rooted principles. This is one of the things that is so impressive, is that PHIL has always stood by those principles, no matter what. And I think that that is something that is to be admired.

Mr. Speaker, the Burkean view of representative government is one that I think is very important, and PHIL has always followed that edict of Edmond Burke, the Father of Conservatism, a member of the British Parliament who, a couple of hundred years ago made it clear; more than that, in fact, he made it very clear that he believed passionately that a representative owes his judgment to his constituents. That is why those core beliefs of PHIL CRANE's have always come out in his speeches, in his actions, in his votes, and in the legislation that he has pursued.

That kind of model is one that will continue to be there for me. It will continue to be there because as I cast votes, as I talk about issues, as I think about formulating positions, I will be doing everything that I can to continue to try and follow that great model that PHIL CRANE has provided.

I thank my friend for yielding. I will say that it is going to be a very, very difficult time for a lot of us seeing PHIL leave and seeing Arlene depart as well. But I will say that his spirit will still be alive and well in the greatest deliberative body known to man.

Mr. MANZULLO. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the man of the hour, the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. CRANE).

Mr. CRANE. Mr. Speaker, let me thank all of my colleagues, but I want to start with my distinguished neighbor, the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. MANZULLO). The gentleman was a dynamic freshman 12 years ago. I remember when he arrived here and we were impressed with his performance then, but it has escalated through the years. He plays a very important leadership role. But to host this event and to listen to these tributes paid by my dear and close friends through the years here in the House is truly moving.

Mr. Speaker, my colleague from Indiana erred; we just had our seventh grandchild yesterday, so we are up to seven. My wife, Arlene, and I had eight to begin with, and that to me was a good start, but I am pleased that she is here tonight, especially to have the opportunity to hear these tributes paid by colleagues that have been very moving to me. I cannot express my appreciation enough.

One of the things that I reflect on most about my years of service in this body is the personal relationships, and it is that feeling of trust and confidence and the commitment of colleagues to basic principles that I have felt are critically important in the service that we perform here.

I have done things consistently along a path that I believe in.

I have embraced politically all the years I have served, and I know that sometimes constituents do not always believe with those things, but at least I have been predictable. Being predictable along certain lines that I embrace based on our history, and I say that as a former history professor, I think are fundamental values that all of us should be embracing, and that is a commitment to limited constitutional government. It is a commitment to free enterprise and the growth of our economy. It is a commitment to a strong national defense. It is a commitment to advancing free trade.

One of the things that I pointed out when I was teaching is, as the gentleman from California (Mr. DREIER) focused on, is the importance of free trade. To me, it has done more to advance civilized values than anything else in the span of recorded history. And I think that personal contact that the gentleman from California (Mr. DREIER) focused on, especially with China, that personal contact with people, and they get the opportunity to see that there is a better way to live and that a better way to live is advancing those free institutions, that we have been in the vanguard of advancing and promoting here in the United States in the span of recorded history and we will continue to do.

I want to focus on one other point that one of our Founding Fathers noted, and that is that the history of liberty is the history of limitation of governmental power, never the increase of it. When we resist concentration of governmental power, we are resisting the powers of death, for the destruction of human liberty has ever been preceded by concentration of governmental power.

All of us have a responsibility in this Chamber and in the other Chamber as well to make sure that we seek to guarantee that we are living within our means, that government is limited in its intrusion into our lives, and simultaneously we are providing the greatest opportunities imaginable for individuals to realize the fulfillment of their talents and ambitions.

I commend my colleagues on our side of the aisle, but I commend some on the other side of the aisle, too, who have joined in this effort. I salute them, and I am going to miss all of you. The personal relationships that I have developed have been very moving to me. Saying good-bye is something that I am not going to do because I do not plan to say good-bye to you folks. I hope that we can continue to stay in touch.

I have no idea what I will do with the remainder of my life, but my birthday was the day after the election, and I told my wife at the time that my defeat may have been God's birthday present. It may have been an opportunity to get back and relax and reflect and decide what I would like to do yet in the remaining time I have and simultaneously try and continue to make positive contributions. I have talents that are in this Chamber, and we heard a lot of those talents tonight, that can continue to carry on that cause here on the House floor. I will try to help in any way that I can in the time I have remaining.

I will only conclude by saying that I have cherished this opportunity, and I cannot tell my colleagues enough how much I have enjoyed our personal relationships through the years in working on objectives that I have cherished. I will continue to try and maintain personal contact with you. I just want to say God bless you all and God bless this institution and the United States of America. It is in good hands. Bless you all.

Mr. MANZULLO. Mr. Speaker, the honor of being elected to Congress is distinct, singular, as the gentleman from Arizona (Mr. HAYWORTH) so eloquently stated. But I never thought in my life I would have the opportunity to serve with PHIL CRANE. There are big shadows in the Illinois delegation, the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. HYDE), the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. HASTERT), and PHIL CRANE.

Mom was living when I was elected to Congress in 1992, and I think that one of reasons she was so excited when I was elected is the fact that she would have the opportunity to meet PHIL CRANE and talk to him on a regular basis.

I first met PHIL when I was given the distinction of being awarded the Freedom Foundation Award. The Freedom Foundation is out of Valley Forge, Pennsylvania. The note that came with that was I could have somebody present this to me. I said, oh, my goodness gracious. I called PHIL, and I said, Would you do me the honor of giving me this award? It was as if I needed an excuse to get in to talk to him.

I drove over to I believe it was Arlington Heights. I have got this picture. We were thinner, younger and had darker hair back then; and I keep that. It is on the refrigerator held by magnets that say "Manzullo for Congress, 1992," in a place of great prominence.

I came here in 1992, actually, January of 1993, and he would ask me a simple question, Now, can you tell me the constitutional basis for that bill?

We do not talk about that anymore. We get tied up in so many issues. People do not talk about the underpinnings of liberty. Members do not get together and have discussions about what the Founders would do.

The sense of history of this place often becomes chewed up by the exogenous of the issues. And yet to this man from the 8th district of Illinois who defied logic in getting elected to Congress, I guess I share that same with him, no one ever thought I would be here. He has always understood how important history is. It makes us who we are. I read when PHIL's dad wrote those articles in the newspaper for years. I always read those articles, always heard of PHIL CRANE.

I was the chairman of Young Americans for Freedom at American University here in Washington, D.C., and he was making noise then as a professor before he was elected to Congress. Then throughout law school and before I was elected to Congress and after, of course, he would always associate the sea change in America, the thinking of this country with getting back to roots of free enterprise to somebody called PHIL CRANE, eternally a professor, always the pedagogue, to me a personal mentor.

The manufacturers in this country who struggle have PHIL CRANE to thank for setting the template that lowers the taxes of everybody who manufactures in this country so that we can keep jobs here and be more competitive.

The other side of the coin that says free trade is fair trade, PHIL always believed in that, too. In fact, he would say things such as. "Corporations do not pay taxes. They collect them."

It took me a while to understand what he was talking about, but what he was saying is it is the consumer that is going to pay the tax in the increased price of the product that the corporations would be collecting from them. No one has ever said that except PHIL CRANE. because he has always understood that the ultimate power in this republic is in the heart of the people who live here. It is the people who started the revolution in 1776. It is the people to whom government must be accountable. that every individual has worth, deep worth, self-worth, value.

I recall another time when I was running in the primary in 1992, I went to see PHIL at a town meeting in Nunda Township in McHenry County. He very adroitly had scheduled that just as the bingo game ended for the senior citizens at that township. and as PHIL came in the door everybody stood up. I said, wow, do they respect this man.

For about 20 minutes, without notes, he talked about the issues of the day, how they impacted the people he represented. The people would nod in agreement, and some of them got up and asked a question. and he would always be very responsive. If the person disagreed with what he had to say, PHIL would smile and with this huge heart, embracing the fact that everybody is important and everybody has great worth. he would say, I welcome the fact that you disagree with me. Now, let me give you an explanation of why that is.

Where do you find people like this? How many institutions are left in America? How many walking history books are left? How many authors on their feet, mentoring Members of Congress and ask questions such as, do you think government should be this big? Why have we gotten here? Is there really a constitutional basis for what you are trying to do?

Sitting in the CRANE role, the role of significance, he would ponder this place and his 35 years of distinct service and look around at all these young people and place himself in that position and have a sense of envy on his face that if he could exchange bodies and take with him that great mind, how magnificent he would be and even more respected by his colleagues.

You do not find people like that. They are just not there any more. Who are the people that remember the greatness of America? Who are the people that take the time to share the basis of the Constitution? Who talks about liberty anymore? Who talks about freedom?

PHIL's legacy is that his insistence on constitutional government, on the principles of freedom, on the integrity of the individual. the wholesomeness of life, of the honesty of one's word, of a principled devotion to this Chamber. Where do you find people like PHIL CRANE?

PHIL will officially be gone when this Congress ends, but his shadow, his influence. his love for me as a person who overcame insurmountable odds to get elected to Congress, who is this guy from Egan, Illinois, population 42, who never held office before?

He had never held office before and he could always relate to him because he had never held office before, and no one ever gave him a chance of being elected to Congress. He is my brother, he is my friend. he is my teacher. he is my mentor.

His words will always ring in my ears, and though I will not see his face every day, his spirit is impressed upon this place. and I am a better man because of him.

Thank you, Phil. God bless you and thank you for your service to America.

Mr. PAUL. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to take this opportunity to pay tribute to my friend and colleague PHIL CRANE. During his 35 years in Congress, PHIL has been one of the House's most consistent defenders of low taxes, free-markets, limited government, and individual liberty. I count myself among the numerous elected officials and activists in the free-market movement who have been inspired by his example.

As a conservative professor, author, and activist, PHIL was already a nationally known conservative leader before he ran for Congress. Two of his books, "The Democrat's Dilemma" and "The Sum of Good Government" stand out as conservative classics that educated and motivated many conservative activists. Among the attributes that have made PHIL a hero to the free-market movement is his understanding of sound economics. PHIL is one of the few members of Congress who is well versed in the teachings of great free-market teachers such as Ludwig von Misses. This country would be much better off if more representatives understood economics as well as PHIL CRANE.

When PHIL CRANE came to Congress in the late sixties, there were only a handful of members supporting free-markets. This was a time when a "conservative" President imposed wage and price controls and "conservative" Representatives and Senators called for balancing the budget with tax increases rather than spending cuts. Thanks in large part to PHIL's effort; the political and intellectual climate of the Nation became more receptive to free-market ideas. PHIL's work with groups such as the American Conservative Union, the Free Congress Foundation, and the Republican Study Committee, which he founded, played a major role in growing the movement for individual liberty. PHIL's service as an advisor to Young Americans for Freedom and as a director of the Intercollegiate Studies Institute, Hillsdale College, and the Ashbrook Center helped inspire new generations of young people to become active in the movement for liberty.

When I came to Congress in the seventies to fight to limit the size and scope of the Federal Government, I was pleased to find a kindred spirit in the gentleman from Illinois. I had the privilege of working with PHIL on several efforts to cut taxes, reduce regulations, and return the Government to its constitutional size. I also had the privilege of working with PHIL when we where two of only four members to endorse Ronald Reagan's 1976 primary challenge to President Gerald Ford.

As the number of representatives committed to free-markets and low taxes increased, PHIL's status as a congressional leader and accomplished legislator grew. Thanks in large part to PHIL's leadership; Congress has provided tax relief to American families and businesses during each of the last 4 years.

As his distinguished congressional career draws to a close, I hope all who value free-markets, individual liberty, and limited government will join me in thanking PHIL CRANE for his work on behalf of freedom.

Mr. BILIRAKIS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to our colleague PHIL CRANE, who will be leaving this hallowed institution after nearly 35 years of service to his constituents in Illinois and the citizens of the United States. I honor him as a patriot, a public servant, and a friend.

The longest-serving Republican in the House of Representatives, PHIL CRANE championed conservative ideals before it was popular to do so, and he continues to be a leader to which many Members turn for guidance. As a former college professor and published author, he always brings thoughtful opinions and ideas to the table. Supporters of free trade certainly owe him a debt of gratitude. The institutional knowledge and prosperity for policy he exhibits demonstrate that he is truly a legislator.

PHIL also is a devoted husband to Arlene, a father and grandfather. My wife Evelyn and I have had the privilege of entertaining the Cranes in my Florida congressional district on a couple of occasions. Both of us will miss PHIL and Arlene as this chapter of their lives draws to a close.

Mr. Speaker, it is fitting that we take time today to honor our friend and colleague. May God bless you, PHIL, as you and Arlene pursue new dreams and challenges throughout the coming years.

IRAQ WATCH

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. BEAUPREZ). Under the Speaker's announced policy of January 7, 2003, the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. HOEFFEL) is recognized for 60 minutes.

Mr. HOEFFEL. Mr. Speaker, we are here to have another week of the Iraq Watch.

Before I start, I want to add my words of congratulations to the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. CRANE) for his outstanding career and what we just witnessed on the floor, a very warm and rare moment of emotion and friendship between two colleagues. I wish we had more of those moments here, but I want to salute the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. CRANE) for his years of service and his dedication to this House.

A year and a half ago, Mr. Speaker, a number of us started what we call Iraq Watch. We began to come to this floor once a week to talk about Iraq, to talk about the problems that we saw with our policy there, to ask questions and to suggest changes in our national policy. Now, a year and a half later, like the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. CRANE), I will be leaving this House, and yet the questions regarding our policy in Iraq remain.

Things have changed in Iraq over the last year and a half, but some of the fundamental problems that were apparent at the beginning of our involvement remain today and plague us today and challenge our best national interest today.

A number of us involved in Iraq Watch, some like me who voted for the military power that the President sought in October of 2002 and some in Iraq Watch who opposed the President's request for military power, all of us were alarmed in the spring of 2003 when the fighting actually began in Iraq, that the President had used what we thought was such an arrogant approach to this challenge, to the diplomacy, to the need to move forward with as many allies as possible to confront what was surely a murderous tyrant, Saddam Hussein.

We saw an arrogant approach. We saw a go-it-alone foreign policy, what many of us thought was a cowboy diplomacy, where we pushed aside our allies, where we told our international institutions, such as the United Nations and NATO and others, that we did not need their help, that we were happy to go alone into the challenge that faced us in Iraq. A lot of us were raising questions about that a year and a half ago.

Unfortunately, that approach has not changed. The President talks about having the coalition of the willing supporting us in Iraq, but it is not the kind of strong international coalition that we truly need to share the burdens and share the costs and share the sacrifices that we have faced in Iraq and not the kind of strong international coalition that his father put together in the early 1990s for the Persian Gulf War.

What the President is now doing since his reelection this November is making changes in his Cabinet and promoting loyal members of his staff to higher positions and to Cabinet positions in a way that, in my judgment, will limit the options brought to the President for his consideration; that he will begin to hear just what he wants to hear from his Cabinet and top officials; that the advice they give him will be the advice they know he already provides to himself; and that he has, instead of turning in a second term to an independent and vigorous Cabinet of obviously loyal Republicans, which is the President's due, instead of building that kind of working relationship, he has decided to build an echo chamber, to create a foreign policy advice and support system in the State Department and in the CIA and in the National Security Adviser that will tell him what he wants to hear.

Well, what he ought to hear, Mr. Speaker, with due respect to the President and with due respect to his victory and the tough decisions he has to make every day, what he ought to hear is that he still needs international support in Iraq. He still needs to internationalize the challenges, the financial challenges, the security challenges, the military challenges in Iraq, and he still needs to Iraq-tize Iraq. We still need to train up the Iraqis so that they can fight for their own future, so they can provide their own security, so that they can be the tip of the spear.

Currently, we are using American forces, brave American forces, courageously led, and brave troops to battle the insurgency in Iraq, door to door, in Fallujah and other urban settings, and our troops are behaving magnificently, performing magnificently.

But it is my view, and I think shared by my colleagues here in Iraq Watch, that we are doing ourselves more harm than good with the reality that it is American troops fighting the insurgency, instead of Iraqi troops, Arab troops, multinational troops with American support; that the fact that we are having to fight door to door, facing the true horrors of urban warfare. That we are doing this virtually alone, without international help, without very much help from the Iraqis, is generating such ill-will in the Muslim world that while Iraq is better off with Saddam Hussein out of power and Iraq has some hope of moving toward a tolerant and pluralistic society with some version of self-government, hopefully a flourishing democracy sooner rather than later, while Iraq is better off, the way we have gone about this has actually done more harm than good to America; that we have created more terrorists than we have killed; that we have created more ill-will than goodwill in the Muslim world; and that the arrogant and go-it-alone policies that we have pursued, the cowboy diplomacy that we pursue to this day, has set back the relations between this country and the Muslim world, while at the same time we do offer clearly hope to the Iraqi people that they can have a flourishing country, free from the abuses of the tyrant and murderer Saddam Hussein.

There is a lot more I would like to say tonight, but I am joined by two of the stalwarts of Iraq Watch, the gentleman from Washington (Mr. INSLEE) and the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. STRICKLAND) who have been here week after week for a year and a half. So let me turn to the gentleman from Washington (Mr. INSLEE) as he was the first on the floor, and I am happy to yield to him.

Mr. INSLEE. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. HOEFFEL) but not just for this evening.

The Iraq Watch, which has been trying to bring a responsible voice to Iraq policy now for many months, was the brain child of the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. HOEFFEL), and he really did lead this effort, and we are very appreciative of him, and I know his constituents are, too.

I have to tell the gentleman, he has a lot of fans out in the State of Washington that I hear about, why can you not can be as good as Mr. HOEFFEL. I hear that many times.

But seriously, the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. HOEFFEL) did something that does not happen all the time around here. He really led, and he led in an important issue to make sure Americans heard a voice about Iraq other than just from the White House, and that is important we have that debate. This was a creation of his and I think has been useful, and I know a lot of people have appreciated it, and I appreciate his leadership on that. We look forward to when the gentleman is back in public service. So we hope within 2 years, maybe even shorter. Who knows?

But with that, let me turn to the subject here which is a tough one tonight. I have to call a mother and father who lost their 19-year-old Marine in Fallujah this week tomorrow, and it is very difficult because all three of us here this evening voted against this war, and we have all had this experience of talking to families. It is very, very difficult.

What I am going to say is, what I know what we all have said, is no matter what you think of the policy, these are all good Americans who served, and no American has died in vain while serving under the flag of the United States. I am going to do my best to make sure parents appreciate that. No matter what you think of the policy, they died as heroes, and the people who are sitting tonight in Fallujah, that is how I think of them, no matter what you think of the policy. I know we all share that view.

It is difficult because it does inspire some anger sometimes I think in all of us as to what has happened in Iraq, where a war was started based on false assumptions about weapons of mass destruction and false assumptions and statements by the White House about Saddam's connection to 9/11.

The trouble I have tonight is that the same type of source of the mistake was made unfortunately is being perpetuated by the White House. In other words, one would think after the White House started a war based on two major falsehoods, that was given to him by certain people, that the President would be doubly diligent to endeavor to get people who would not perpetuate that same kind of mistake, but in fact, what we have seen since the election on November 2 is sort of like a green light for hubris, a green light to go ahead and actually make stronger in the administration the very voices that fouled up in giving us bad information about this war and making repeated misjudgments about how to perpetuate it.

Just look at the decisions that have been made in the last week. The man who himself admitted responsibility for putting a false statement into the State of the Union address, where the President told people that Saddam was trying to get uranium to build a nuclear weapon, it was a clear falsehood in the State of the Union address, and the man who himself admitted being responsible for telling Americans and the world that falsehood did not get docked pay, did not get fired. He just got a promotion to the National Security Council. So here we have the guy who is responsible for a major failure of American information that led to a war where 1,200 Americans have died. He gets a promotion. This is a perpetuation of this arrogant attitude that has got us into this pickle in Iraq.

What happens to the Defense Secretary who has had running arguments, as we know, with the Secretary of State Colin Powell about whether to go into this war and how to perpetuate it? Who is the one who leaves? It is the guy who, we are told at least, said let us be scrupulous about this, and the Secretary of Defense stays, the one who has been in charge of this since Abu Ghraib and did not give us accurate information, including the U.S. Congress, leading up to this.

Then what do we see happens at the CIA? Well, here's the capper for me. Here we have a man who left this chamber. He is now heading the CIA. What is the first thing he does, almost first thing he does? He writes a memo to all the CIA employees. I have not seen this memo but it is quoted in the paper. It says, he expects all employees that their job is to support the administration and its policies in our work and as agency employees we do not identify with, identify with, support or champion opposition to the administration or its policies.

He sent a very strong message to CIA employees: what the White House wants, it is going to get. And that is language that people understand.

The last thing this President needs is unanimity from his intelligence agencies. He needs debate. He needs to be told some information that may not square with his preordained view of the world. And, in fact, they are going the wrong way at the CIA and firing people who have deigned to give the President information that is different from information he believes to be true.

Mr. STRICKLAND. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman from Washington will yield just on that point, the last thing this country needs is for our intelligence, our CIA to be politicized, to have decisions made, conclusions reached that are based on political considerations rather than on factual, objective data.

This memo from a newly appointed CIA director, Mr. Goss, is a blatant attempt to politicize our intelligence operations, to politicize the CIA. What that will do is place this country at great risk. Because if we cannot trust the intelligence to be based on actual fact, actual objective data as best we can collect it, but make decisions based on political considerations, then that will put the American people at risk, and it will put our troops at risk.

That is absolutely almost unthinkable, that a newly appointed director of the CIA would be so insensitive and out of touch that he would actually put such a directive into a written memo and have it circulated.

And I yield back to the gentleman.

Mr. INSLEE. I thank the gentleman for his comments, Mr. Speaker, and let me continue.

Later on in the memo, Goss has language that says "We provide the intelligence as we see it and let the facts alone speak to the policymaker." But when you send a memo to your employees suggesting they dare not ever say anything to challenge the President's preassumptions, that sentence does not bear out this memo. The message was sent and I am sure received by the CIA.

And I am very disturbed about something I saw last night, a show I was watching, and I cannot remember the name of it, but a former CIA person who has now left the agency and who was the person in charge of the unit searching for Osama bin Laden was on this program. This was the gentleman whose professional duty it was, for about 6 years, to lead the hunt for Osama bin Laden. In fact, he was so aggressive about it, for about 2 years they took him off the job because he was driving his superiors nuts because he was raising these red flags about Osama bin Laden. After September 11, they put him back on the post because they realized he was right about how serious this issue was.

He has now left the post, but last night he said there was absolutely no credible evidence of a substantive link between Osama bin Laden and Saddam Hussein. The number one guy in the employment of the Central Intelligence Agency last night told Americans there was no link. And for a year or more, the President, the Vice President, you name it, was running around America trying to create this impression in America's mind that there was a link in order to justify this war. That is disturbing to me.

Here is a guy that ought to be in the CIA challenging the White House's political decisions. He needs to be on the job rather than spit out of the agency like a watermelon seed. That is what they are doing. Anyone down there who is challenging the White House orthodoxy is getting kicked out.

This is not a good thing for our future decisions. We have tough decisions to make with regard to Iraq. This offensive in Fallujah, where heroes died, and they were heroic, but it is not the end of the trail. We have some tough, tough decisions.

I yield back to my colleague from Pennsylvania (Mr. HOEFFEL).

Mr. HOEFFEL. Well, Mr. Speaker, I thank my colleagues, and I am very concerned about the problems we are seeing at the CIA. The reality is that this administration, over the last couple of years, has a very sorry record of spinning the information that the CIA has given them. So we have got a problem with the CIA intelligence not being as accurate as it needs to be for a number of reasons, I guess, listening to each other parroting back what other agencies have said. Not enough human intelligence agencies in Iraq during the Hussein regime. There are a variety of reasons.

The intelligence that they did produce about weapons of mass destruction was incorrect. It was filled with caveats and uncertainties. The reports that were being issued to the White House in the fall of 2002 said we think he has these weapons, we believe he has got these weapons, we have been told he has these weapons. But none of that uncertainty was passed on to the Congress or to the American people.

In fact, I was briefed at the White House with 20 of our colleagues, a bipartisan group, in the Roosevelt Room of the White House on October 2, 2002, by George Tenet, then Director of the CIA, and Condoleezza Rice, then the National Security Adviser to the President, and they spoke with complete certainty: we know that Hussein has weapons of mass destruction, they said to us. We know how many he has got. We know where they are. We know how much those weapons weigh.

It turns out that 7 or 8 months later, when the reports that George Tenet's CIA was giving to him and to Condoleezza Rice in the fall of 2002 finally became public, or actually became available for rank-and-file members to review, those reports were filled with caveats, filled with uncertainties, filled with hesitance; and yet none of that was passed on.

So I would say to the gentleman from Washington (Mr. INSLEE) that there has been spinning at the White House for quite a while. And as my colleague says, the Deputy National Security Adviser has now been promoted and the National Security Adviser is now going to be the Secretary of State. I must say, based upon her intentional misleading of the 20 Members of the Congress who were briefed by her and by George Tenet on October 2, 2002, I do not have confidence in Condoleezza Rice. I am afraid she is going to tell the President what he wants to hear and will not tell the Congress and the American people what we need to hear and will not face up to the President when she needs to.

I yield to the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. STRICKLAND).

Mr. STRICKLAND. Mr. Speaker, I thank my friend for yielding to me, and as we stand here and talk this evening, there may be those listening who wonder why are we talking about the past. I think there is a very good reason for us to talk about the past and to remember what has happened, because the very people who are responsible for having made these erroneous decisions in the past are the same people who are in positions of power and even being promoted in the present. That means that they will be in a position to make decisions about the future.

Now, many of the decisions that have been made have been deadly decisions, and lives have been lost as a result of decisions that were based upon false information or distorted or twisted information; quite frankly, I believe information that was purposefully manipulated in such a way as to try to get the support of the American people for carrying out this President's foreign policy.

I just want to share with my colleagues some human consequences of what has happened. About 3 weeks ago, I received nearly 20 letters from various members of a family support group. This family support group consists of family members whose loved ones are part of a transportation reserve unit that has been activated and is now in Iraq. And at the time they wrote me, they told me their loved ones were around the Fallujah area, which is one of the most dangerous places in which to be in Iraq.

The people who wrote me indicated at the time that they wrote that out of this one reserve unit that is headquartered in Cadiz, Ohio, that they had lost three of their loved ones. They have since lost a fourth. So four soldiers have been lost out of that one reserve unit. It is a transportation unit.

The letters told me that they were getting messages from their loved ones, these troops, telling them that they were not being adequately supplied with proper life-saving equipment. They were driving around in vehicles that were not armed, for example. And we know that if you are a member of a transportation unit and you are on patrols and you are delivering supplies and so on, one of the great dangers in Iraq is driving over these explosives that have been placed in the roadways.

So out of this one unit, four have already been lost. And these letters that I received from the loved ones said to me, when we gave our precious soldiers to go fight this war, we trusted our government to provide them with every protection possible. Now they are deeply, deeply disturbed and concerned that their loved ones are not being adequately cared for.

Now, I believe that part of the problem in the execution of this war has been the fact that it was initially based upon these false assumptions and this false information. We were told basically this was going to be a piece of cake; that we were going to be welcomed as heroes; and there was not adequate planning, not adequate preparation. It took the Pentagon, it took this administration, this President, because he is the Commander in Chief, more than a year to be able to say that all of our troops, each of our troops in Iraq was equipped with basic body armor. Now, I think that is absolutely shameful.

I wonder how many of our troops have lost their lives because they were not properly equipped, and how many of our troops right tonight, as we stand here in the Chamber of the people's House, how many of our troops are in danger tonight simply because this administration has failed to properly plan and provide them with adequate materials. There is a consequence to the kind of behavior that we have been describing. There is a consequence when people use false information or distort information or make such unrealistic assumptions, and it is absolutely tragic.

In my congressional district, the Sixth Congressional District in Ohio, we have lost five soldiers, a 20-year-old, a 21-year-old, and three men who were in their late 30s. One of those men left five children ages 3 through 12. We are talking here about real consequences. We are talking about real people, real families. And there are Americans tonight who are worried sick because they have loved ones over there fighting this war, and they are doing the very best they can under very difficult circumstances, and we honor our troops, but that is one of the reasons that we stand here and advocate that they be cared for in a way that is befitting a great Nation.

We should never send one of our soldiers into harm's way without them having proper armor and equipment. And tonight I can say, based on what I have heard from my constituents and some of the soldiers who are currently in the field, we are not doing all that we can to keep them as safe as they can possibly be kept.

I yield back to the gentleman from Pennsylvania.

Mr. HOEFFEL. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Ohio. That is a very human account of what is happening in Iraq.

There is no question that this President knows how to use American power, but what I fear is that he is not aware or willing to use the totality of American power, which certainly starts with military power but is much more than that. We are certainly the strongest military in the world, and we need to stay that way. It is a dangerous world. The war on terror is going to be a challenge for years to come, and we must maintain our military strength. But there is more to American power than the military power that we possess, and this President does not seem to appreciate or understand or value the totality of our power, which includes diplomatic power and economic power, our cultural ties, the powers of moral persuasion.

We are the only superpower left in the world, and I am thankful we are. It gives us an opportunity to lead, inspire, cajole, push, advocate, and pressure. We have the ability through diplomacy and trade and economic ties and cultural ties to bend people to our will, up to a point, if we have a good argument and we are right on the facts and it is in their interest too. Obviously, every situation is different from the prior. But this President does not seem to put any value in the totality of American power.

The military strength we have needs to be maintained and nurtured, but it has to be used as a last resort, not a first resort.

As strong as we are, we cannot be the world's policemen. We cannot impose our will through military strength alone, and yet that is the circumstance that we face in Iraq. We are trying to do very good things there, and we all share the President's goals of creating a pluralistic society, a tolerant, democratic society. And yet the unilateral, go-it-alone, arrogant strategy, the cowboy diplomacy, the failure to admit mistakes, the inability to train up the Iraqis for them to do their own fighting and provide their own security, and the mistakes that were made. The first thing we did was dismiss the Iraqi Army and the border patrol, and the second thing was dismiss the Iraqi civil service, and there was nobody left to run the country but Americans.

This President does not seem capable of acknowledging error and fixing it. The people he has been promoting in this echo chamber seem unwilling or incapable of standing up and saying, Mr. President, you have to change these policies.

Mr. INSLEE. Mr. Speaker, I want to follow up on what the gentleman said on the failure to successfully pursue any international involvement.

The bad news is that the President's plan is even unraveling with those who originally made some commitments to him. I read in the paper last week that Hungary has just announced that they will withdraw their troops. This was on top of withdrawals, either actual or announced, by Spain, 1,300 troops; Poland, 2,400 troops; the Netherlands, 1,400 troops; Thailand, 450 troops; the Dominican Republic, 322 troops; Nicaragua, 115 troops; Honduras, 370 troops; the Philippines, 51 troops; Norway, 155 troops; and New Zealand, 60. These are relatively small numbers, but I think it is a symptom of some bad decisionmaking. And the reason we talk about the past is the President is perpetuating his decisionmaking that created these conditions. He sees no reason ever to change.

We had a small coalition to start this, and now the small number of troops sent to help us are being withdrawn so our people are having to bear the burden of the fighting.

In Fallujah, this long after the fight, we had token Iraqis with us, and one of the reasons is the administration did not set up an infrastructure for training the Iraqis. Last month, 4 weeks ago, all that time since the original invasion, we still had only 40 percent of the trainers that the plan called for on day one to train Iraqis troops.

This thing has been botched, and the problem is the President is promoting people who are responsible for it, and we are getting deeper. One thing that bothers me, the gentleman mentioned the President knows how to use power. He should not use it in a way that lets politics dictate military decisions. It is pretty clear to any neutral observer that is what happened in Fallujah, because this spring we had an offensive into Fallujah. It was called off. Everybody knew we were going to have to go back in there, and it would seem to me it would make prudent sense to go back in there before we give thousands of insurgents time to build bunkers, accumulate their communications network. What did the President do? It is pretty clear. Not until after the election because there is going to be American blood flow.

One week after the election, all of a sudden we get the attack on Fallujah. Thirty-eight Americans die in the attack. It is pretty clear, and it is sad to say what happened here. There was a political decision to avoid this assault and, as a result, these insurgents had more and more time to fortify Fallujah. That was wrong by a Republican, a Democrat or anybody, to put our men in harm's way, to allow the enemy to consolidate their position, and we had to walk our people into those dens of fire.

Mr. STRICKLAND. Mr. Speaker, I want to reinforce what the gentleman from Washington (Mr. INSLEE) is saying. It was very obvious this decision and the timetable attached to it was influenced by a political clock. The fact is, we telegraphed to the world and the enemy what we were going to do. We gave them time to prepare, and we waited until a few days after the election and then the decision was made to go in.

That is a troubling thing to conclude. It really troubles me to think that a decision like that that would involve a military operation that was going to likely consume American lives would be in any way influenced by a political clock, but the evidence seems quite clear that is what happened. We had to build up for months and then more intensely in the weeks leading up to the election, and the enemy knew we were coming in. That gave them an opportunity to be ready for us, to have supplies and equipment in place. There was no element of surprise in our going into Fallujah. We basically let them know, as soon as the election was over, it was going to happen. That truly troubles me. I think it should trouble every American.

Mr. INSLEE. Mr. Speaker, it troubles me because I am going to call some parents tomorrow who lost their 19-year-old son in that battle. I am not going to broach this with them. I do not know if the thought has crossed their mind, but I cannot reach any other conclusion. What possible reason was there to wait 6 months to go into Fallujah except the fact that there was an election on November 2, and then do it just a few days after the election. What possible reason could there be other than the fact of the election schedule?

We saw how horrendous the fighting was in Fallujah. Some of these tunnels were reinforced with steel, and we gave them 6 months to do that. People's heads should roll in the administration for that.

Again, what we hear tonight is the people responsible for that have been promoted into higher positions of authority. We are not going in the right direction in Iraq.

Unfortunately, let me note a reality in Iraq, we have to some degree obtained some degree of success over Fallujah, but just read what happened everywhere else.

In Samarra, we had a Fallujah-like assault several months ago, and we thought we were successful there, but this week the Iraqi police stations were raided by the insurgents, and 33 Iraqi soldiers and policemen were killed, injured 48.

In Ramadi, a slew of suicide car bombers wounded 20 U.S. Marines. Guerillas raided three police stations, killing 22 officers.

In Diyala Province, a governor's aide and two members of the Provincial Governing Council were killed, and bombs exploded across Baghdad at a Catholic Church and against U.S. convoys along the main road to the airport.

We still cannot secure the main road to the airport in Baghdad. We still are hiring the people responsible for these debacles and giving them promotions. It is wrong.

Mr. ABERCROMBIE. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman mentioned the main road from Baghdad and the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. HOEFFEL) indicated earlier tonight that we have been holding this Iraq Watch special order for some period of months now. Those who have listened to us before may recall that I have mentioned in the past that I was privileged to be in the first delegation of American Congress Members who were able to get into Iraq, leave the Baghdad airport and go into what is now the Green Zone in May after the initial attack on Baghdad.

We were there in late May on the day that Ambassador Bremer took the reins of control from General Garner. Forgive me for going over some past ground, but, unfortunately, what is being cited by the gentleman from Washington (Mr. INSLEE) and by the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. STRICKLAND) and the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. HOEFFEL) tonight requires this for a very simple reason.

When we hear of standing up or creating this Army, creating these forces, that was the goal that was stated to us the very first day that Ambassador Bremer was there, supposedly based on the work that General Garner was supposed to be doing up to that time. And we continue to have reports in the presses as if this is something suddenly just discovered.

On that day, we sat at the table with Ambassador Bremer and General Garner. I recall very clearly saying to them, we have just been down this road from the airport, the international airport in Baghdad here, and I said to them. You are going to need 10,000 soldiers just to guard that highway. I said. It is a strip of tar going from the airport in the middle of a desert into Baghdad. This is not the Big Dig up in Boston or entering metropolitan Atlanta. This is not finding your way around Philadelphia or New York. This is a strip of tar from another big strip of tar where planes land into Baghdad. I said, there are no lights. There is no possibility of being able to stop people planting mines or coming up with shoulder-held rocket grenade launchers, explosive propellants of all kinds.

And now here we are nearing the end of 2004, and you cannot even go on that road today. This is a debacle. This is a disaster. This is taking place right now in circumstances in which we are observing generals saying to their troops, witnessed by embedded reporters with television cameras, drawing the analogy to Hue in Vietnam.

I am old enough to have been involved in the discussions that took place during the 1960s with what we were doing in Vietnam with a half a million soldiers and an indigenous Army fighting with the South Vietnamese that could fight, that was trained and was equipped. And the analogy was Hue in Vietnam. Fallujah is going to be like Hue. Hue was a disaster for us. A few more wins like that, and we are completely undone.

What we forget is the actual military activity that took place had nothing to do with the war in the sense of whether or not we would be successful politically or militarily. The actual circumstances of the combat and the capabilities of the soldiers, all of which have been cited by us over and over again, that is not the issue. The competency of the American soldier is not the issue. The willingness of the American soldier to fight or the bravery, the professionalism, that is not the issue as such. Whether they are equipped properly, of course, that is an issue for us, but the political reality is this is an unmitigated disaster. We are setting the foundation and groundwork, if you will, for decades, if not centuries, of opposition to us as a result of what is going on right now.

You need only go to look at how it is characterized around the country. I was visiting with my mother in Florida, and I have been to Massachusetts. I have gone all over the country. The Palm Beach Post, the Providence Journal, how is it characterized? Here is what the Providence Journal said on Monday, November 15.

"The absence of insurgent bodies in Fallujah has remained an enduring mystery." It is no mystery. This is a guerilla fight.

In the same paper:

"But much of the city lay in smoking ruins. Isolated bands of rebels still harassed American and Iraqi soldiers." Rebels against what? "The military victory appeared to be nearly overshadowed by insurgent violence elsewhere, particularly in the northern city of Mosul."

Again quoting:

"The Governor of Mosul province, saying he had lost faith in local security forces, called in thousands of Kurdish militiamen for the first time to quell the insurgent uprising there."

Today a hearing was held on the staffing requirements, the personnel requirements for the Guard and the Reserve, testimony at the Committee on Armed Services today. Happy faces, it was characterized to me by a Republican Member here tonight, a stalwart member of the committee. And I reiterate again with respect to the many times we have appeared on the floor, this is not a Republican versus Democratic issue. The Committee on Armed Services tries not to operate in that kind of a context. We try to operate on the basis of the security interests of the United States. One of our colleagues said to us, "They put on happy faces today." What the gentleman from Washington (Mr. INSLEE) has just quoted, what these other two of my colleagues here have been quoting is that we are living in a fantasy. I was asked by a former Member today, What are you doing over at the Capitol? I said, We're organizing our delusions. We are in the midst of organizing our delusions.

Mr. HOEFFEL. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. ABERCROMBIE. I would yield with one observation, though, as has been stated by our colleagues here tonight. The thing that I most regret about coming back this evening is that shortly we will be taking leave of the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. HOEFFEL). He is the founder of this opportunity that the rest of us have seized upon week after week. He has been the guiding light and the inspiration for this. I deeply regret that he will not be here next year because, unfortunately, I am afraid we are going to have to be here next year. But I can tell him that the fire that he has lit in us and in others who have come here will not go out, and we will try to carry on the legacy that he has established for us to live up to.

Mr. HOEFFEL. Mr. Speaker, that is very kind of the gentleman from Hawaii, a bit overblown and exaggerated, but very kind of him.

Mr. ABERCROMBIE. Not a bit.

Mr. HOEFFEL. Next year I am going to be watching. I am going to be tuning in. I know my colleagues will be fighting the good fight as they have been for the last year and a half.

I wanted to comment upon your views, that what is virtually a purely military approach to our challenge in Iraq is not working, cannot work in the face of a guerilla opposition that melts away when we attack en masse and comes up and attacks us where we least expect it a few days later in another location. It is consistent with my earlier statement that as strong as our military is and as strong as we have to keep it, we have got to use more than just our military power in our dealings with the rest of the world. We have to use the totality of our power, which includes diplomatic power, economic power, cultural ties, the powers of moral suasion.

One of the things I wish this President would talk about and I hope the next Congress will talk about is the need for economic revitalization in the Middle East and in Eurasia. We need a modern day Marshall Plan. We need to address the challenges in Iraq and the rest of that part of the world not just with a military strategy but we have got to give to those young men and women, mostly young men, although there are now suicide bombers who are women, who are so desperate, who are so hopeless that they would believe it is in their best interests to strap a bomb on and kill innocent civilians rather than have some hope that they can build a better life, that they can find a job, they can improve the quality of life for themselves and their families. We have got to address the economic needs. I do not mean by handing out money. I mean by making the kinds of investments, along with Western Europe and other industrialized societies, the kinds of investments that will build some economic strength.

In the Marshall Plan after World War II, over a period of 4 years we invested $13 billion in 14 countries. That in today's dollars would be $100 billion over 4 years, $25 billion a year. Our total foreign aid now is about $20 billion a year. So if we a little bit more than doubled our foreign aid, we could create a similar economic revitalization plan as we did so successfully in the late 1940s.

It is a different challenge. The countries we are trying to help here are frankly much worse off than the Western European countries were after World War II. Those countries had a labor force that was trained. They had been industrial countries. The Afghanistans, all the Stans, Iraq, Iran, those are countries with much greater needs. But if we try to solve the problems of the world with military solutions only, if we try to keep ourselves safe with military solutions only, if we try to win the war on terror with only a military response, we will not succeed. Our military will perform well, as they always do; but there is not a military solution, a purely military solution, to the challenges that face us.

We have got to pay attention to the hopes and aspirations. It is more than just the poverty these people face. It is the grinding helplessness and hopelessness they must feel. We have got to create a sense of opportunity in this part of the world.

Mr. ABERCROMBIE. In that context, then, you have indicated, yes, a Marshall Plan might be in order, but that presumes that the fighting has ended. The fighting has not ended. It is nowhere near ending. You cannot make an investment in somewhere, where again I will quote, most of the city lay in smoking ruins.

Another quote: "Tanks and armored vehicles, their turret guns blazing in all directions, finished the sweep through the city." We are destroying everything in our path. And then the only thing that I see is that, well, we will be responsible, the United States is going to have to be responsible for the rebuilding. Who? Another Halliburton? Another series of projects to be laid out? You cannot guarantee that the people who are going to do the building will be safe.

So all of this is a fantasy. It is a delusion, that somehow we are going to succeed with this. My final point on that is that it is the military itself then at that point that will have difficulties because we are not going to be able to recruit. Despite the happy face that has been put on this, the Reserves are falling behind in their recruitment and retention. The Guard is falling behind in their recruitment and retention, and those strains and those stresses are going to become more apparent in the days and months to come, and the stress and strain in the days and months to come will manifest itself in the inability of the United States to have the kinds of deployments under the circumstances that would be most ideal to maximize the efficiency of the Armed Forces.

It is not that they will not try. It is not that they will not do their best. It is not that they will not give their all. It is that we will be letting them down in the first place by requiring something of them that actually is against the protocols and the standards that we have set up in order to have the best possible military capacity.

Mr. STRICKLAND. If the gentleman will yield, just listening to the gentleman, I am reminded of a fact. The fact is this: that the only people sacrificing for this war are the soldiers and the people who love them. The President is not sacrificing for this war. The corporate world is not sacrificing for this war. Those of us who sit in the safety of this Chamber, we are not sacrificing for this war. We do not have sons and daughters and loved ones in Iraq in harm's way.

So who is sacrificing? The taxpayer is not sacrificing for this war, not the current taxpayer, because the President has decided that the cost of this war is just going to be pushed into the future so the children and the children yet to be born will bear the burden for paying for this war. It is a shame that the President is asking nothing of us as a Nation, save the lives and the time, the service of our soldiers and the grief and the worry of the people who love them. It is just almost beyond belief that we find ourselves where we are tonight.

Our country was attacked as a result of Osama bin Laden, the Taliban. We supported going into Afghanistan, obviously, all of us. Out of 535 members of the House and Senate, only one voted against the war in Afghanistan because it was wholly, totally justified and necessary. And then all of a sudden the President and his advisers decided that we were going to go to Iraq. No connection with the attack upon this country. No weapons of mass destruction. No imminent danger to us. Yet we divert resources and intelligence away from Afghanistan, away from the search for Osama bin Laden, and here we find ourselves in Iraq and we all knew that we were going to win the military battle.

There is not a country on the face of this Earth or a combination of countries on the face of this Earth that can stand up to our military and our fighting men and women. We all knew that. And so there is this quick, so-called end of combat, and the President got on the aircraft carrier, there was that sign up there Mission Accomplished, and look what has followed. Thousands of people injured. Well over 1,000 of our soldiers are now dead. Iraq has become a haven for terrorists. They are coming from throughout the world, gathering in Iraq; and we find ourselves bogged down with no plan, continuing death, continuing injuries, continuing expense. And we have got an administration who is wanting to continue to do the same thing they have been doing for the last several months. It is truly alarming, saddening, that our Nation finds itself in this situation tonight.

Mr. HOEFFEL. I yield to the gentleman from Washington.

Mr. INSLEE. I just want to say that there is a future in Iraq. The one thing we should recognize and we are in it together, Democrats and Republicans, whether we voted for this war or not, and we all have responsibilities to try to make tough decisions about what to do now. Our discussion of the past does not mean to suggest that we can walk away in the next 24 hours from Iraq, but I think what we are saying is that we need people that we can trust with decision-making in Iraq, that we will have a rational, decision-making process that is based on the facts rather than just hopes and wishes.

I remember just even 6, 8 months ago listening to the Vice President talking about how things were going so remarkably well in Iraq and we had the Mission Accomplished incident. We had Ambassador Bremer telling us and Wolfowitz telling us that this entire thing was going to be financed with oil revenues from Iraq. He told us, to Congress, I remember this very well. He said, "There won't be a single taxpayer dollar associated with this project." How many billion are we in it now? It is hard to tell.

As the gentleman from Ohio pointed out, the one thing we know about every billion dollars this President has spent, it has been of my grandchildren's money. He has not asked any sacrifice of us. Winston Churchill said, "All I have to offer you is blood, sweat, toil and tears." This President has said, "Just go shopping." That is how he has approached this. So we are asking this horrific sacrifice of our men and women in Fallujah tonight. But this President wants to keep cutting taxes for the wealthiest folks, his friends. That is how he handles it. He is the only President in American history who has insisted that in the middle of war when our warriors are out there risking their lives, he does not want to risk anything except his tax cuts, and he will not even risk that.

He is the only American President who has ever done major tax cuts in a war. I would assert that he is in the panoply of those who are the most economically and morally irresponsible. This is a moral issue to ask our soldiers to go die in Fallujah and go back here in the homestead and try to boost his popularity by giving tax breaks to the rich.

That is a moral issue. And there has been a lot of talk about moral values in this last election.

I want to say, I look at that as a violation of the values that I hold and I think a majority of my constituents hold. We ought to be in this together as Americans, and this President does not want any American to be in it except those on the frontline because he does not want people to know how costly war is. And it is not cheap. And that is a moral failure.

And if we raise our voices on occasion, it is because there is cause for anger here. And there is cause for anger when I hear in the last week that this President gives promotions. There is not a guy who has lost his extra vacation day in this administration as a result of the debacle in Iraq. What kind of message is that to send on personal accountability when a guy who told us that it was not going to cost the taxpayers a dollar is sitting fat and happy as the Secretary of Defense, has never got his hand even slapped, did not even get a memo in his personnel file, and his buddy takes over the National Security Council and had the President tell us something that was a blatant falsehood to start this war? And now we are going to make calls, all four of us, to family members who lost people in Fallujah. That is a moral insult. It is not just bad public policy.

Mr. HOEFFEL. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for his comments. I believe we are out of time this evening.

Iraq Watch will be back in January, in February and March, as long as these challenges continue, as long as there is a need for debate and for questions to be asked.

Mr. ABERCROMBIE. Would the gentleman yield?

Mr. HOEFFEL. I yield to the gentleman from Hawaii.

Mr. ABERCROMBIE. Mr. Speaker, we may be here a few more days than we expected, and I for one am quite concerned about what is taking place and would be interested in coming back if the time is available to us before we leave.

Mr. HOEFFEL. Excellent. Mr. Speaker, let me just say it has been a long time coming, but change is going to come.

"(c) FINDINGS.—Congress finds the following:

"(1) Disability is a natural part of the human experience and in no way diminishes the right of individuals to participate in or contribute to society. Improving educational results for children with disabilities is an essential element of our national policy of ensuring equality of opportunity, full participation, independent living, and economic self-sufficiency for individuals with disabilities.

"(2) Before the date of enactment of the Education for All Handicapped Children Act of 1975 (Public Law 94-142), the educational needs of millions of children with disabilities were not being fully met because—

"(A) the children did not receive appropriate educational services;

"(B) the children were excluded entirely from the public school system and from being educated with their peers;

"(C) undiagnosed disabilities prevented the children from having a successful educational experience; or

"(D) a lack of adequate resources within the public school system forced families to find services outside the public school system.

"(3) Since the enactment and implementation of the Education for All Handicapped Children Act of 1975, this title has been successful in ensuring children with disabilities and the families of such children access to a free appropriate public education and in improving educational results for children with disabilities.

"(4) However, the implementation of this title has been impeded by low expectations, and an insufficient focus on applying replicable research on proven methods of teaching and learning for children with disabilities.

"(5) Almost 30 years of research and experience has demonstrated that the education of children with disabilities can be made more effective by—

"(A) having high expectations for such children and ensuring their access to the general education curriculum in the regular classroom, to the maximum extent possible, in order to—

"(i) meet developmental goals and, to the maximum extent possible, the challenging expectations that have been established for all children; and

"(ii) be prepared to lead productive and independent adult lives, to the maximum extent possible;

"(B) strengthening the role and responsibility of parents and ensuring that families of such children have meaningful opportunities to participate in the education of their children at school and at home;

"(C) coordinating this title with other local, educational service agency, State, and Federal school improvement efforts, including improvement efforts under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965, in order to ensure that such children benefit from such efforts and that special education can become a service for such children rather than a place where such children are sent;

"(D) providing appropriate special education and related services, and aids and supports in the regular classroom, to such children, whenever appropriate;

"(E) supporting high-quality, intensive preservice preparation and professional development for all personnel who work with children with disabilities in order to ensure that such personnel have the skills and knowledge necessary to improve the academic achievement and functional performance of children with disabilities, including the use of scientifically based instructional practices, to the maximum extent possible;

"(F) providing incentives for whole-school approaches, scientifically based early reading programs, positive behavioral interventions and supports, and early intervening services to reduce the need to label children as disabled in order to address the learning and behavioral needs of such children;

"(G) focusing resources on teaching and learning while reducing paperwork and requirements that do not assist in improving educational results; and

"(H) supporting the development and use of technology, including assistive technology devices and assistive technology services, to maximize accessibility for children with disabilities.

"(6) While States, local educational agencies, and educational service agencies are primarily responsible for providing an education for all children with disabilities, it is in the national interest that the Federal Government have a supporting role in assisting State and local efforts to educate children with disabilities in order to improve results for such children and to ensure equal protection of the law.

"(7) A more equitable allocation of resources is essential for the Federal Government to meet its responsibility to provide an equal educational opportunity for all individuals.

"(8) Parents and schools should be given expanded opportunities to resolve their disagreements in positive and constructive ways.

"(9) Teachers, schools, local educational agencies, and States should be relieved of irrelevant and unnecessary paperwork burdens that do not lead to improved educational outcomes.

"(10)(A) The Federal Government must be responsive to the growing needs of an increasingly diverse society.

"(B) America's ethnic profile is rapidly changing. In 2000, 1 of every 3 persons in the United States was a member of a minority group or was limited English proficient.

"(C) Minority children comprise an increasing percentage of public school students.

"(D) With such changing demographics, recruitment efforts for special education personnel should focus on increasing the participation of minorities in the teaching profession in order to provide appropriate role models with sufficient knowledge to address the special education needs of these students.

"(11)(A) The limited English proficient population is the fastest growing in our Nation, and the growth is occurring in many parts of our Nation.

"(B) Studies have documented apparent discrepancies in the levels of referral and placement of limited English proficient children in special education.

"(C) Such discrepancies pose a special challenge for special education in the referral of, assessment of, and provision of services for, our Nation's students from non-English language backgrounds.

"(12)(A) Greater efforts are needed to prevent the intensification of problems connected with mislabeling and high dropout rates among minority children with disabilities.

"(B) More minority children continue to be served in special education than would be expected from the percentage of minority students in the general school population.

"(C) African-American children are identified as having mental retardation and emotional disturbance at rates greater than their White counterparts.

"(D) In the 1998–1999 school year, African-American children represented just 14.8 percent of the population aged 6 through 21, but comprised 20.2 percent of all children with disabilities.

"(E) Studies have found that schools with predominately White students and teachers have placed disproportionately high numbers of their minority students into special education.

"(13)(A) As the number of minority students in special education increases, the number of minority teachers and related services personnel produced in colleges and universities continues to decrease.

"(B) CONSTRUCTION.—Nothing in this title requires that children be classified by their disability so long as each child who has a disability listed in section 602 and who, by reason of that disability, needs special education and related services is regarded as a child with a disability under this part.

"(4) INDIVIDUALIZED EDUCATION PROGRAM.—An individualized education program, or an individualized family service plan that meets the requirements of section 636(d), is developed, reviewed, and revised for each child with a disability in accordance with section 614(d).

"(5) LEAST RESTRICTIVE ENVIRONMENT.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—To the maximum extent appropriate, children with disabilities, including children in public or private institutions or other care facilities, are educated with children who are not disabled, and special classes, separate schooling, or other removal of children with disabilities from the regular educational environment occurs only when the nature or severity of the disability of a child is such that education in regular classes with the use of supplementary aids and services cannot be achieved satisfactorily.

"(B) ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENT.—

"(i) IN GENERAL.—A State funding mechanism shall not result in placements that violate the requirements of subparagraph (A), and a State shall not use a funding mechanism by which the State distributes funds on the basis of the type of setting in which a child is served that will result in the failure to provide a child with a disability a free appropriate public education according to the unique needs of the child as described in the child's IEP.

"(ii) ASSURANCE.—If the State does not have policies and procedures to ensure compliance with clause (i), the State shall provide the Secretary an assurance that the State will revise the funding mechanism as soon as feasible to ensure that such mechanism does not result in such placements.

"(6) PROCEDURAL SAFEGUARDS.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—Children with disabilities and their parents are afforded the procedural safeguards required by section 615.

"(B) ADDITIONAL PROCEDURAL SAFEGUARDS.—Procedures to ensure that testing and evaluation materials and procedures utilized for the purposes of evaluation and placement of children with disabilities for services under this title will be selected and administered so as not to be racially or culturally discriminatory. Such materials or procedures shall be provided and administered in the child's native language or mode of communication, unless it clearly is not feasible to do so, and no single procedure shall be the sole criterion for determining an appropriate educational program for a child.

"(7) EVALUATION.—Children with disabilities are evaluated in accordance with subsections (a) through (c) of section 614.

"(8) CONFIDENTIALITY.—Agencies in the State comply with section 617(c) (relating to the confidentiality of records and information).

"(A) CHILDREN ENROLLED IN PRIVATE SCHOOLS BY THEIR PARENTS.—

"(i) IN GENERAL.—To the extent consistent with the number and location of children with disabilities in the State who are enrolled by their parents in private elementary schools and secondary schools in the school district served by a local educational agency, provision is made for the participation of those children in the program assisted or carried out under this part by providing for such children special education and related services in accordance with the following requirements, unless the Secretary has arranged for services to those children under subsection (f):

"(I) Amounts to be expended for the provision of those services (including direct services to parentally placed private school children) by the local educational agency shall be equal to a proportionate amount of Federal funds made available under this part.

"(II) In calculating the proportionate amount of Federal funds, the local educational agency, after timely and meaningful consultation with representatives of private schools as described in clause (iii), shall conduct a thorough and complete child find process to determine the number of parentally placed children with disabilities attending private schools located in the local educational agency.

"(III) Such services to parentally placed private school children with disabilities may be provided to the children on the premises of private, including religious, schools, to the extent consistent with law.

"(IV) State and local funds may supplement and in no case shall supplant the proportionate amount of Federal funds required to be expended under this subparagraph.

"(V) Each local educational agency shall maintain in its records and provide to the State educational agency the number of children evaluated under this subparagraph, the number of children determined to be children with disabilities under this paragraph, and the number of children served under this paragraph.

"(III) ACTIVITIES.—In carrying out this clause, the local educational agency, or where applicable, the State educational agency, shall undertake activities similar to those activities undertaken for the agency's public school children.

"(IV) COST.—The cost of carrying out this clause, including individual evaluations, may not be considered in determining whether a local educational agency has met its obligations under clause (i).

"(V) COMPLETION PERIOD.—Such child find process shall be completed in a time period comparable to that for other students attending public schools in the local educational agency.

"(iii) CONSULTATION.—To ensure timely and meaningful consultation, a local educational agency, or where appropriate, a State educational agency, shall consult with private school representatives and representatives of parents of parentally placed private school children with disabilities during the design and development of special education and related services for the children, including regarding—

"(I) the child find process and how parentally placed private school children suspected of having a disability can participate equitably, including how parents, teachers, and private school officials will be informed of the process;

"(II) the determination of the proportionate amount of Federal funds available to serve parentally placed private school children with disabilities under this subparagraph, including the determination of how the amount was calculated;

"(III) the consultation process among the local educational agency, private school officials, and representatives of parents of parentally placed private school children with disabilities, including how such process will operate throughout the school year to ensure that parentally placed private school children with disabilities identified through the child find process can meaningfully participate in special education and related services;

"(IV) how, where, and by whom special education and related services will be provided for parentally placed private school children with disabilities, including a discussion of types of services, including direct services and alternate service delivery mechanisms, how such services will be apportioned if funds are insufficient to serve all children, and how and when these decisions will be made; and

"(V) how, if the local educational agency disagrees with the views of the private school officials on the provision of services or the types of services, whether provided directly or through a contract, the local educational agency shall provide to the private school officials a written explanation of the reasons why the local educational agency chose not to provide services directly or through a contract.

"(iv) WRITTEN AFFIRMATION.—When timely and meaningful consultation as required by clause (iii) has occurred, the local educational agency shall obtain a written affirmation signed by the representatives of participating private schools, and if such representatives do not provide such affirmation within a reasonable period of time, the local educational agency shall forward the documentation of the consultation process to the State educational agency.

"(v) COMPLIANCE.—

"(I) IN GENERAL.—A private school official shall have the right to submit a complaint to the State educational agency that the local educational agency did not engage in consultation that was meaningful and timely, or did not give due consideration to the views of the private school official.

"(II) PROCEDURE.—If the private school official wishes to submit a complaint, the official shall provide the basis of the noncompliance with this subparagraph by the local educational agency to the State educational agency, and the local educational agency shall forward the appropriate documentation to the State educational agency. If the private school official is dissatisfied with the decision of the State educational agency, such official may submit a complaint to the Secretary by providing the basis of the noncompliance with this subparagraph by the local educational agency to the Secretary, and the State educational agency shall forward the appropriate documentation to the Secretary.

"(vi) PROVISION OF EQUITABLE SERVICES.—

"(I) DIRECTLY OR THROUGH CONTRACTS.—The provision of services pursuant to this subparagraph shall be provided—

"(B) CHILDREN PLACED IN, OR REFERRED TO, PRIVATE SCHOOLS BY PUBLIC AGENCIES.—

"(i) IN GENERAL.—Children with disabilities in private schools and facilities are provided special education and related services, in accordance with an individualized education program, at no cost to their parents, if such children are placed in, or referred to, such schools or facilities by the State or appropriate local educational agency as the means of carrying out the requirements of this part or any other applicable law requiring the provision of special education and related services to all children with disabilities within such State.

"(ii) STANDARDS.—In all cases described in clause (i), the State educational agency shall determine whether such schools and facilities meet standards that apply to State educational agencies and local educational agencies and that children so served have all the rights the children would have if served by such agencies.

"(C) PAYMENT FOR EDUCATION OF CHILDREN ENROLLED IN PRIVATE SCHOOLS WITHOUT CONSENT OF OR REFERRAL BY THE PUBLIC AGENCY.—

"(i) IN GENERAL.—Subject to subparagraph (A), this part does not require a local educational agency to pay for the cost of education, including special education and related services, of a child with a disability at a private school or facility if that agency made a free appropriate public education available to the child and the parents elected to place the child in such private school or facility.

"(ii) REIMBURSEMENT FOR PRIVATE SCHOOL PLACEMENT.—If the parents of a child with a disability, who previously received special education and related services under the authority of a public agency, enroll the child in a private elementary school or secondary school without the consent of or referral by the public agency, a court or a hearing officer may require the agency to reimburse the parents for the cost of that enrollment if the court or hearing officer finds that the agency had not made a free appropriate public education available to the child in a timely manner prior to that enrollment.

"(iii) LIMITATION ON REIMBURSEMENT.—The cost of reimbursement described in clause (ii) may be reduced or denied—

"(I) if—

"(aa) at the most recent IEP meeting that the parents attended prior to removal of the child from the public school, the parents did not inform the IEP Team that they were rejecting the placement proposed by the public agency to provide a free appropriate public education to their child, including stating their concerns and their intent to enroll their child in a private school at public expense; or

"(bb) 10 business days (including any holidays that occur on a business day) prior to the removal of the child from the public school, the parents did not give written notice to the public agency of the information described in item (aa);

"(III) upon a judicial finding of unreasonableness with respect to actions taken by the parents.

"(iv) EXCEPTION.—Notwithstanding the notice requirement in clause (iii)(I), the cost of reimbursement—

"(D) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION.—Notwithstanding any other individual right of action that a parent or student may maintain under this part, nothing in this paragraph shall be construed to create a right of action on behalf of an individual student for the failure of a particular State educational agency or local educational agency staff person to be highly qualified, or to prevent a parent from filing a complaint about staff qualifications with the State educational agency as provided for under this part.

"(15) PERFORMANCE GOALS AND INDICATORS.—The State—

"(iii) CONDUCT OF ALTERNATE ASSESSMENTS.—The State conducts the alternate assessments described in this subparagraph.

"(D) REPORTS.—The State educational agency (or, in the case of a districtwide assessment, the local educational agency) makes available to the public, and reports to the public with the same frequency and in the same detail as it reports on the assessment of nondisabled children, the following:

"(18) MAINTENANCE OF STATE FINANCIAL SUPPORT.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—The State does not reduce the amount of State financial support for special education and related services for children with disabilities, or otherwise made available because of the excess costs of educating those children, below the amount of that support for the preceding fiscal year.

"(B) REDUCTION OF FUNDS FOR FAILURE TO MAINTAIN SUPPORT.—The Secretary shall reduce the allocation of funds under section 611 for any fiscal year following the fiscal year in which the State fails to comply with the requirement of subparagraph (A) by the same amount by which the State fails to meet the requirement.

"(C) WAIVERS FOR EXCEPTIONAL OR UNCONTROLLABLE CIRCUMSTANCES.—The Secretary may waive the requirement of subparagraph (A) for a State, for 1 fiscal year at a time, if the Secretary determines that—

"(c) EXCEPTION FOR PRIOR STATE PLANS.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—If a State has on file with the Secretary policies and procedures that demonstrate that such State meets any requirement of subsection (a), including any policies and procedures filed under this part as in effect before the effective date of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Improvement Act of 2004, the Secretary shall consider such State to have met such requirement for purposes of receiving a grant under this part.

"(2) MODIFICATIONS MADE BY STATE.—Subject to paragraph (3), an application submitted by a State in accordance with this section shall remain in effect until the State submits to the Secretary such modifications as the State determines necessary. This section shall apply to a modification to an application to the same extent and in the same manner as this section applies to the original plan.

"(3) MODIFICATIONS REQUIRED BY THE SECRETARY.—If, after the effective date of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Improvement Act of 2004, the provisions of this title are amended (or the regulations developed to carry out this title are amended), there is a new interpretation of this title by a Federal court or a State's highest court, or there is an official finding of noncompliance with Federal law or regulations, then the Secretary may require a State to modify its application only to the extent necessary to ensure the State's compliance with this part.

"(d) APPROVAL BY THE SECRETARY.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—If the Secretary determines that a State is eligible to receive a grant under this part, the Secretary shall notify the State of that determination.

"(2) NOTICE AND HEARING.—The Secretary shall not make a final determination that a State is not eligible to receive a grant under this part until after providing the State—

"(A) with reasonable notice; and

"(B) with an opportunity for a hearing.

"(e) ASSISTANCE UNDER OTHER FEDERAL PROGRAMS.—Nothing in this title permits a State to reduce medical and other assistance available, or to alter eligibility, under titles V and XIX of the Social Security Act with respect to the provision of a free appropriate public education for children with disabilities in the State.

"(f) BY-PASS FOR CHILDREN IN PRIVATE SCHOOLS.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—If, on the date of enactment of the Education of the Handicapped Act Amendments of 1983, a State educational agency was prohibited by law from providing for the equitable participation in special programs of children with disabilities enrolled in private elementary schools and secondary schools as required by subsection (a)(10)(A), or if the Secretary determines that a State educational agency, local educational agency, or other entity has substantially failed or is unwilling to provide for such equitable participation, then the Secretary shall, notwithstanding such provision of law, arrange for the provision of services to such children through arrangements that shall be subject to the requirements of such subsection.

"(2) PAYMENTS.—

"(A) DETERMINATION OF AMOUNTS.—If the Secretary arranges for services pursuant to this subsection, the Secretary, after consultation with the appropriate public and private school officials, shall pay to the provider of such services for a fiscal year an amount per child that does not exceed the amount determined by dividing—

"(i) the total amount received by the State under this part for such fiscal year; by

"(ii) the number of children with disabilities served in the prior year, as reported to the Secretary by the State under section 618.

"(B) WITHHOLDING OF CERTAIN AMOUNTS.—Pending final resolution of any investigation or complaint that may result in a determination under this subsection, the Secretary may withhold from the allocation of the affected State educational agency the amount the Secretary estimates will be necessary to pay the cost of services described in subparagraph (A).

"(C) PERIOD OF PAYMENTS.—The period under which payments are made under subparagraph (A) shall continue until the Secretary determines that there will no longer be any failure or inability on the part of the State educational agency to meet the requirements of subsection (a)(10)(A).

"(3) NOTICE AND HEARING.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall not take any final action under this subsection until the State educational agency affected by such action has had an opportunity, for not less than 45 days after receiving written notice thereof, to submit written objections and to appear before the Secretary or the Secretary's designee to show cause why such action should not be taken.

"(B) REVIEW OF ACTION.—If a State educational agency is dissatisfied with the Secretary's final action after a proceeding under subparagraph (A), such agency may, not later than 60 days after notice of such action, file with the United States court of appeals for the circuit in which such State is located a petition for review of that action. A copy of the petition shall be forthwith transmitted by the clerk of the court to the Secretary. The Secretary thereupon shall file in the court the record of the proceedings on which the Secretary based the Secretary's action, as provided in section 2112 of title 28, United States Code.

"(C) REVIEW OF FINDINGS OF FACT.—The findings of fact by the Secretary, if supported by substantial evidence, shall be conclusive, but the court, for good cause shown, may remand the case to the Secretary to take further evidence, and the Secretary may thereupon make new or modified findings of fact and may modify the Secretary's previous action, and shall file in the court the record of the further proceedings. Such new or modified findings of fact shall likewise be conclusive if supported by substantial evidence.

"(D) JURISDICTION OF COURT OF APPEALS; REVIEW BY UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT.—Upon the filing of a petition under subparagraph (B), the United States court of appeals shall have jurisdiction to affirm the action of the Secretary or to set it aside, in whole or in part. The judgment of the court shall be subject to review by the Supreme Court of the United States upon certiorari or certification as provided in section 1254 of title 28, United States Code.

"SEC. 613. LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCY ELIGIBILITY.

"(a) IN GENERAL.—A local educational agency is eligible for assistance under this part for a fiscal year if such agency submits a plan that provides assurances to the State educational agency that the local educational agency meets each of the following conditions:

"(1) CONSISTENCY WITH STATE POLICIES.—The local educational agency, in providing for the education of children with disabilities within its jurisdiction, has in effect policies, procedures, and programs that are consistent with the State policies and procedures established under section 612.

"(2) USE OF AMOUNTS.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—Amounts provided to the local educational agency under this part shall be expended in accordance with the applicable provisions of this part and—

"(i) shall be used only to pay the excess costs of providing special education and related services to children with disabilities;

"(ii) shall be used to supplement State, local, and other Federal funds and not to supplant such funds; and

"(iii) shall not be used, except as provided in subparagraphs (B) and (C), to reduce the level of expenditures for the education of children with disabilities made by the local educational agency from local funds below the level of those expenditures for the preceding fiscal year.

"(B) EXCEPTION.—Notwithstanding the restriction in subparagraph (A)(iii), a local educational agency may reduce the level of expenditures where such reduction is attributable to—

"(i) the voluntary departure, by retirement or otherwise, or departure for just cause, of special education personnel;

"(ii) a decrease in the enrollment of children with disabilities;

"(iii) the termination of the obligation of the agency, consistent with this part, to provide a program of special education to a particular child with a disability that is an exceptionally costly program, as determined by the State educational agency, because the child—

"(I) has left the jurisdiction of the agency;

"(II) has reached the age at which the obligation of the agency to provide a free appropriate public education to the child has terminated; or

"(III) no longer needs such program of special education; or

"(C) ADJUSTMENT TO LOCAL FISCAL EFFORT IN CERTAIN FISCAL YEARS.—

"(i) AMOUNTS IN EXCESS.—Notwithstanding clauses (ii) and (iii) of subparagraph (A), for any fiscal year for which the allocation received by a local educational agency under section 611(f) exceeds the amount the local educational agency received for the previous fiscal year, the local educational agency may reduce the level of expenditures otherwise required by subparagraph (A)(iii) by not more than 50 percent of the amount of such excess.

"(ii) USE OF AMOUNTS TO CARRY OUT ACTIVITIES UNDER ESEA.—If a local educational agency exercises the authority under clause (i), the agency shall use an amount of local funds equal to the reduction in expenditures under clause (i) to carry out activities authorized under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965.

"(iii) STATE PROHIBITION.—Notwithstanding clause (i), if a State educational agency determines that a local educational agency is unable to establish and maintain programs of free appropriate public education that meet the requirements of subsection (a) or the State educational agency has taken action against the local educational agency under section 616, the State educational agency shall prohibit the local educational agency from reducing the level of expenditures under clause (i) for that fiscal year.

"(iv) SPECIAL RULE.—The amount of funds expended by a local educational agency under subsection (f) shall count toward the maximum amount of expenditures such local educational agency may reduce under clause (i).

"(D) SCHOOLWIDE PROGRAMS UNDER TITLE I OF THE ESEA.—Notwithstanding subparagraph (A) or any other provision of this part, a local educational agency may use funds received under this part for any fiscal year to carry out a schoolwide program under section 1114 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965, except that the amount so used in any such program shall not exceed—

"(i) the number of children with disabilities participating in the schoolwide program; multiplied by

"(ii)(I) the amount received by the local educational agency under this part for that fiscal year; divided by

"(II) the number of children with disabilities in the jurisdiction of that agency.

"(3) PERSONNEL DEVELOPMENT.—The local educational agency shall ensure that all personnel necessary to carry out this part are appropriately and adequately prepared, subject to the requirements of section 612(a)(14) and section 2122 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965.

"(4) PERMISSIVE USE OF FUNDS.—

"(A) USES.—Notwithstanding paragraph (2)(A) or section 612(a)(17)(B) (relating to commingled funds), funds provided to the local educational agency under this part may be used for the following activities:

"(i) SERVICES AND AIDS THAT ALSO BENEFIT NONDISABLED CHILDREN.—For the costs of special education and related services, and supplementary aids and services, provided in a regular class or other education-related setting to a child with a disability in accordance with the individualized education program of the child, even if 1 or more nondisabled children benefit from such services.

"(ii) EARLY INTERVENING SERVICES.—To develop and implement coordinated, early intervening educational services in accordance with subsection (f).

"(iii) HIGH COST EDUCATION AND RELATED SERVICES.—To establish and implement cost or risk sharing funds, consortia, or cooperatives for the local educational agency itself, or for local educational agencies working in a consortium of which the local educational agency is a part, to pay for high cost special education and related services.

"(B) ADMINISTRATIVE CASE MANAGEMENT.—A local educational agency may use funds received under this part to purchase appropriate technology for recordkeeping, data collection, and related case management activities of teachers and related services personnel providing services described in the individualized education program of children with disabilities, that is needed for the implementation of such case management activities.

"(5) TREATMENT OF CHARTER SCHOOLS AND THEIR STUDENTS.—In carrying out this part with respect to charter schools that are public schools of the local educational agency, the local educational agency—

"(A) serves children with disabilities attending those charter schools in the same manner as the local educational agency serves children with disabilities in its other schools, including providing supplementary and related services on site at the charter school to the same extent to which the local educational agency has a policy or practice of providing such services on the site to its other public schools; and

"(B) provides funds under this part to those charter schools—

"(i) on the same basis as the local educational agency provides funds to the local educational agency's other public schools, including proportional distribution based on relative enrollment of children with disabilities; and

"(ii) at the same time as the agency distributes other Federal funds to the agency's other public schools, consistent with the State's charter school law.

"(6) PURCHASE OF INSTRUCTIONAL MATERIALS.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—Not later than 2 years after the date of enactment of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Improvement Act of 2004, a local educational agency that chooses to coordinate with the National Instructional Materials Access Center, when purchasing print instructional materials, shall acquire the print instructional materials in the same manner and subject to the same conditions as a State educational agency acquires print instructional materials under section 612(a)(23).

"(B) RIGHTS OF LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCY.—Nothing in this paragraph shall be construed to require a local educational agency to coordinate with the National Instructional Materials Access Center. If a local educational agency chooses not to coordinate with the National Instructional Materials Access Center, the local educational agency shall provide an assurance to the State educational agency that the local educational agency will provide instructional materials to blind persons or other persons with print disabilities in a timely manner.

"(7) INFORMATION FOR STATE EDUCATIONAL AGENCY.—The local educational agency shall provide the State educational agency with information necessary to enable the State educational agency to carry out its duties under this part, including, with respect to paragraphs (15) and (16) of section 612(a), information relating to the performance of children with disabilities participating in programs carried out under this part.

"(8) PUBLIC INFORMATION.—The local educational agency shall make available to parents of children with disabilities and to the general public all documents relating to the eligibility of such agency under this part.

"(9) RECORDS REGARDING MIGRATORY CHILDREN WITH DISABILITIES.—The local educational agency shall cooperate in the Secretary's efforts under section 1308 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 to ensure the linkage of records pertaining to migratory children with a disability for the purpose of electronically exchanging, among the States, health and educational information regarding such children.

"(b) EXCEPTION FOR PRIOR LOCAL PLANS.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—If a local educational agency or State agency has on file with the State educational agency policies and procedures that demonstrate that such local educational agency, or such State agency, as the case may be, meets any requirement of subsection (a), including any policies and procedures filed under this part as in effect before the effective date of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Improvement Act of 2004, the State educational agency shall consider such local educational agency or State agency, as the case may be, to have met such requirement for purposes of receiving assistance under this part.

"(2) MODIFICATION MADE BY LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCY.—Subject to paragraph (3), an application submitted by a local educational agency in accordance with this section shall remain in effect until the local educational agency submits to the State educational agency such modifications as the local educational agency determines necessary.

"(3) MODIFICATIONS REQUIRED BY STATE EDUCATIONAL AGENCY.—If, after the effective date of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Improvement Act of 2004, the provisions of this title are amended (or the regulations developed to carry out this title are amended), there is a new interpretation of this title by Federal or State courts, or there is an official finding of noncompliance with Federal or State law or regulations, then the State educational agency may require a local educational agency to modify its application only to the extent necessary to ensure the local educational agency's compliance with this part or State law.

"(c) NOTIFICATION OF LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCY OR STATE AGENCY IN CASE OF INELIGIBILITY.—If the State educational agency determines that a local educational agency or State agency is not eligible under this section, then the State educational agency shall notify the local educational agency or State agency, as the case may be, of that determination and shall provide such local educational agency or State agency with reasonable notice and an opportunity for a hearing.

"(d) LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCY COMPLIANCE.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—If the State educational agency, after reasonable notice and an opportunity for a hearing, finds that a local educational agency or State agency that has been determined to be eligible under this section is failing to comply with any requirement described in subsection (a), the State educational agency shall reduce or shall not provide any further payments to the local educational agency or State agency until the State educational agency is satisfied that the local educational agency or State agency, as the case may be, is complying with that requirement.

"(2) ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENT.—Any State agency or local educational agency in receipt of a notice described in paragraph (1) shall, by means of public notice, take such measures as may be necessary to bring the pendency of an action pursuant to this subsection to the attention of the public within the jurisdiction of such agency.

"(3) CONSIDERATION.—In carrying out its responsibilities under paragraph (1), the State educational agency shall consider any decision made in a hearing held under section 615 that is adverse to the local educational agency or State agency involved in that decision.

"(e) JOINT ESTABLISHMENT OF ELIGIBILITY.—

"(1) JOINT ESTABLISHMENT.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—A State educational agency may require a local educational agency to establish its eligibility jointly with another local educational agency if the State educational agency determines that the local educational agency will be ineligible under this section because the local educational agency will not be able to establish and maintain programs of sufficient size and scope to effectively meet the needs of children with disabilities.

"(B) CHARTER SCHOOL EXCEPTION.—A State educational agency may not require a charter school that is a local educational agency to jointly establish its eligibility under subparagraph (A) unless the charter school is explicitly permitted to do so under the State's charter school law.

"(2) AMOUNT OF PAYMENTS.—If a State educational agency requires the joint establishment of eligibility under paragraph (1), the total amount of funds made available to the affected local educational agencies shall be equal to the sum of the payments that each such local educational agency would have received under section 611(f) if such agencies were eligible for such payments.

"(3) REQUIREMENTS.—Local educational agencies that establish joint eligibility under this subsection shall—

"(A) adopt policies and procedures that are consistent with the State's policies and procedures under section 612(a); and

"(B) be jointly responsible for implementing programs that receive assistance under this part.

"(4) REQUIREMENTS FOR EDUCATIONAL SERVICE AGENCIES.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—If an educational service agency is required by State law to carry out programs under this part, the joint responsibilities given to local educational agencies under this subsection shall—

"(i) not apply to the administration and disbursement of any payments received by that educational service agency; and

"(ii) be carried out only by that educational service agency.

"(B) ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENT.—Notwithstanding any other provision of this subsection, an educational service agency shall provide for the education of children with disabilities in the least restrictive environment, as required by section 612(a)(5).

"(f) EARLY INTERVENING SERVICES.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—A local educational agency may not use more than 15 percent of the amount such agency receives under this part for any fiscal year, less any amount reduced by the agency pursuant to subsection (a)(2)(C), if any, in combination with other amounts (which may include amounts other than education funds), to develop and implement coordinated, early intervening services, which may include interagency financing structures, for students in kindergarten through grade 12 (with a particular emphasis on students in kindergarten through grade 3) who have not been identified as needing special education or related services but who need additional academic and behavioral support to succeed in a general education environment.

"(2) ACTIVITIES.—In implementing coordinated, early intervening services under this subsection, a local educational agency may carry out activities that include—

"(A) professional development (which may be provided by entities other than local educational agencies) for teachers and other school stuff to enable such personnel to deliver scientifically based academic instruction and behavioral interventions, including scientifically based literacy instruction, and, where appropriate, instruction on the use of adaptive and instructional software; and

"(B) providing educational and behavioral evaluations, services, and supports, including scientifically based literacy instruction.

"(3) CONSTRUCTION.—Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to limit or create a right to a free appropriate public education under this part.

"(4) REPORTING.—Each local educational agency that develops and maintains coordinated, early intervening services under this subsection shall annually report to the State educational agency on—

"(A) the number of students served under this subsection; and

"(B) the number of students served under this subsection who subsequently receive special education and related services under this title during the preceding 2-year period.

"(5) COORDINATION WITH ELEMENTARY AND SECONDARY EDUCATION ACT OF 1965.—Funds made available to carry out this subsection may be used to carry out coordinated, early intervening services aligned with activities funded by, and carried out under, the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 if such funds are used to supplement, and not supplant, funds made available under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 for the activities and services assisted under this subsection.

"(g) DIRECT SERVICES BY THE STATE EDUCATIONAL AGENCY.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—A State educational agency shall use the payments that would otherwise have been available to a local educational agency or to a State agency to provide special education and related services directly to children with disabilities residing in the area served by that local educational agency, or for whom that State agency is responsible, if the State educational agency determines that the local educational agency or State agency, as the case may be—

"(A) has not provided the information needed to establish the eligibility of such local educational agency or State agency under this section;

"(B) is unable to establish and maintain programs of free appropriate public education that meet the requirements of subsection (a);

"(C) is unable or unwilling to be consolidated with 1 or more local educational agencies in order to establish and maintain such programs; or

"(D) has 1 or more children with disabilities who can best be served by a regional or State program or service delivery system designed to meet the needs of such children.

"(2) MANNER AND LOCATION OF EDUCATION AND SERVICES.—The State educational agency may provide special education and related services under paragraph (1) in such manner and at such locations (including regional or State centers) as the State educational agency considers appropriate. Such education and services shall be provided in accordance with this part.

"(h) STATE AGENCY ELIGIBILITY.—Any State agency that desires to receive a subgrant for any fiscal year under section 611(f) shall demonstrate to the satisfaction of the State educational agency that—

"(1) all children with disabilities who are participating in programs and projects funded under this part receive a free appropriate public education, and that those children and their parents are provided all the rights and procedural safeguards described in this part; and

"(2) the agency meets such other conditions of this section as the Secretary determines to be appropriate.

"(i) DISCIPLINARY INFORMATION.—The State may require that a local educational agency include in the records of a child with a disability a statement of any current or previous disciplinary action that has been taken against the child and transmit such statement to the same extent that such disciplinary information is included in, and transmitted with, the student records of nondisabled children. The statement may include a description of any behavior engaged in by the child that required disciplinary action, a description of the disciplinary action taken, and any other information that is relevant to the safety of the child and other individuals involved with the child. If the State adopts such a policy, and the child transfers from 1 school to another, the transmission of any of the child's records shall include both the child's current individualized education program and any such statement of current or previous disciplinary action that has been taken against the child.

"(j) STATE AGENCY FLEXIBILITY.—

"(1) ADJUSTMENT TO STATE FISCAL EFFORT IN CERTAIN FISCAL YEARS.—For any fiscal year for which the allotment received by a State under section 611 exceeds the amount the State received for the previous fiscal year and if the State in school year 2003–2004 or any subsequent school year pays or reimburses all local educational agencies within the State from State revenue 100 percent of the non-Federal share of the costs of special education and related services, the State educational agency, notwithstanding paragraphs (17) and (18) of section 612(a) and section 612(b), may reduce the level of expenditures from State sources for the education of children with disabilities by not more than 50 percent of the amount of such excess.

"(2) PROHIBITION.—Notwithstanding paragraph (1), if the Secretary determines that a State educational agency is unable to establish, maintain, or oversee programs of free appropriate public education that meet the requirements of this part, or that the State needs assistance, intervention, or substantial intervention under section 616(d)(2)(A), the Secretary shall prohibit the State educational agency from exercising the authority in paragraph (1).

"(3) EDUCATION ACTIVITIES.—If a State educational agency exercises the authority under paragraph (1), the agency shall use funds from State sources, in an amount equal to the amount of the reduction under paragraph (1), to support activities authorized under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 or to support need based student or teacher higher education programs.

"(4) REPORT.—For each fiscal year for which a State educational agency exercises the authority under paragraph (1), the State educational agency shall report to the Secretary the amount of expenditures reduced pursuant to such paragraph and the activities that were funded pursuant to paragraph (3).

"(5) LIMITATION.—Notwithstanding paragraph (1), a State educational agency may not reduce the level of expenditures described in paragraph (1) if any local educational agency in the State would, as a result of such reduction, receive less than 100 percent of the amount necessary to ensure that all children with disabilities served by the local educational agency receive a free appropriate public education from the combination of Federal funds received under this title and State funds received from the State educational agency.

"SEC. 614. EVALUATIONS, ELIGIBILITY DETERMINATIONS, INDIVIDUALIZED EDUCATION PROGRAMS, AND EDUCATIONAL PLACEMENTS.

"(a) EVALUATIONS, PARENTAL CONSENT, AND REEVALUATIONS.—

"(1) INITIAL EVALUATIONS.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—A State educational agency, other State agency, or local educational agency shall conduct a full and individual initial evaluation in accordance with this paragraph and subsection (b), before the initial provision of special education and related services to a child with a disability under this part.

"(B) REQUEST FOR INITIAL EVALUATION.—Consistent with subparagraph (D), either a parent of a child, or a State educational agency, other State agency, or local educational agency may initiate a request for an initial evaluation to determine if the child is a child with a disability.

"(C) PROCEDURES.—

"(i) IN GENERAL.—Such initial evaluation shall consist of procedures—

"(I) to determine whether a child is a child with a disability (as defined in section 602) within 60 days of receiving parental consent for the evaluation, or, if the State establishes a timeframe within which the evaluation must be conducted, within such timeframe; and

"(II) to determine the educational needs of such child.

"(ii) EXCEPTION.—The relevant timeframe in clause (i)(I) shall not apply to a local educational agency if—

"(I) a child enrolls in a school served by the local educational agency after the relevant timeframe in clause (i)(I) has begun and prior to a determination by the child's previous local educational agency as to whether the child is a child with a disability (as defined in section 602), but only if the subsequent local educational agency is making sufficient progress to ensure a prompt completion of the evaluation, and the parent and subsequent local educational agency agree to a specific time when the evaluation will be completed; or

"(II) the parent of a child repeatedly fails or refuses to produce the child for the evaluation.

"(i) IN GENERAL.—

"(I) CONSENT FOR INITIAL EVALUATION.—The agency proposing to conduct an initial evaluation to determine if the child qualifies as a child with a disability as defined in section 602 shall obtain informed consent from the parent of such child before conducting the evaluation. Parental consent for evaluation shall not be construed as consent for placement for receipt of special education and related services.

"(II) CONSENT FOR SERVICES.—An agency that is responsible for making a free appropriate public education available to a child with a disability under this part shall seek to obtain informed consent from the parent of such child before providing special education and related services to the child.

"(ii) ABSENCE OF CONSENT.—

"(I) FOR INITIAL EVALUATION.—If the parent of such child does not provide consent for an initial evaluation under clause (i)(I), or the parent fails to respond to a request to provide the consent, the local educational agency may pursue the initial evaluation of the child by utilizing the procedures described in section 615, except to the extent inconsistent with State law relating to such parental consent.

"(II) FOR SERVICES.—If the parent of such child refuses to consent to services under clause (i)(II), the local educational agency shall not provide special education and related services to the child by utilizing the procedures described in section 615.

"(III) EFFECT ON AGENCY OBLIGATIONS.—If the parent of such child refuses to consent to the receipt of special education and related services, or the parent fails to respond to a request to provide such consent—

"(aa) the local educational agency shall not be considered to be in violation of the requirement to make available a free appropriate public education to the child for the failure to provide such child with the special education and related services for which the local educational agency requests such consent; and

"(bb) the local educational agency shall not be required to convene an IEP meeting or develop an IEP under this section for the child for the special education and related services for which the local educational agency requests such consent.

"(iii) CONSENT FOR WARDS OF THE STATE.—

"(I) IN GENERAL.—If the child is a ward of the State and is not residing with the child's parent, the agency shall make reasonable efforts to obtain the informed consent from the parent (as defined in section 602) of the child for an initial evaluation to determine whether the child is a child with a disability.

"(II) EXCEPTION.—The agency shall not be required to obtain informed consent from the parent of a child for an initial evaluation to determine whether the child is a child with a disability if—

"(aa) despite reasonable efforts to do so, the agency cannot discover the whereabouts of the parent of the child;

"(bb) the rights of the parents of the child have been terminated in accordance with State law; or

"(cc) the rights of the parent to make educational decisions have been subrogated by a judge in accordance with State law and consent for an initial evaluation has been given by an individual appointed by the judge to represent the child.

"(E) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION.—The screening of a student by a teacher or specialist to determine appropriate instructional strategies for curriculum implementation shall not be considered to be an evaluation for eligibility for special education and related services.

"(2) REEVALUATIONS.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—A local educational agency shall ensure that a reevaluation of each child with a disability is conducted in accordance with subsections (b) and (c)—

"(i) if the local educational agency determines that the educational or related services needs, including improved academic achievement and functional performance, of the child warrant a reevaluation; or

"(ii) if the child's parents or teacher requests a reevaluation.

"(B) LIMITATION.—A reevaluation conducted under subparagraph (A) shall occur—

"(i) not more frequently than once a year, unless the parent and the local educational agency agree otherwise; and

"(ii) at least once every 3 years, unless the parent and the local educational agency agree that a reevaluation is unnecessary.

"(b) EVALUATION PROCEDURES.—

"(1) NOTICE.—The local educational agency shall provide notice to the parents of a child with a disability, in accordance with subsections (b)(3), (b)(4), and (c) of section 615, that describes any evaluation procedures such agency proposes to conduct.

"(2) CONDUCT OF EVALUATION.—In conducting the evaluation, the local educational agency shall—

"(A) use a variety of assessment tools and strategies to gather relevant functional, developmental, and academic information, including information provided by the parent, that may assist in determining—

"(i) whether the child is a child with a disability; and

"(ii) the content of the child's individualized education program, including information related to enabling the child to be involved in and progress in the general education curriculum, or, for preschool children, to participate in appropriate activities;

"(B) not use any single measure or assessment as the sole criterion for determining whether a child is a child with a disability or determining an appropriate educational program for the child; and

"(C) use technically sound instruments that may assess the relative contribution of cognitive and behavioral factors, in addition to physical or developmental factors.

"(3) ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENTS.—Each local educational agency shall ensure that—

"(A) assessments and other evaluation materials used to assess a child under this section—

"(i) are selected and administered so as not to be discriminatory on a racial or cultural basis;

"(ii) are provided and administered in the language and form most likely to yield accurate information on what the child knows and can do academically, developmentally, and functionally, unless it is not feasible to so provide or administer;

"(iii) are used for purposes for which the assessments or measures are valid and reliable;

"(iv) are administered by trained and knowledgeable personnel; and

"(v) are administered in accordance with any instructions provided by the producer of such assessments;

"(B) the child is assessed in all areas of suspected disability;

"(C) assessment tools and strategies that provide relevant information that directly assists persons in determining the educational needs of the child are provided; and

"(D) assessments of children with disabilities who transfer from 1 school district to another school district in the same academic year are coordinated with such children's prior and subsequent schools, as necessary and as expeditiously as possible, to ensure prompt completion of full evaluations.

"(4) DETERMINATION OF ELIGIBILITY AND EDUCATIONAL NEED.—Upon completion of the administration of assessments and other evaluation measures—

"(A) the determination of whether the child is a child with a disability as defined in section 602(3) and the educational needs of the child shall be made by a team of qualified professionals and the parent of the child in accordance with paragraph (5); and

"(B) a copy of the evaluation report and the documentation of determination of eligibility shall be given to the parent.

"(5) SPECIAL RULE FOR ELIGIBILITY DETERMINATION.—In making a determination of eligibility under paragraph (4)(A), a child shall not be determined to be a child with a disability if the determinant factor for such determination is—

"(A) lack of appropriate instruction in reading, including in the essential components of reading instruction (as defined in section 1208(3) of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965);

"(B) lack of instruction in math; or

HR

(21) The House bill applies the requirements for a highly qualified teacher in NCLB to special education teachers. The Senate amendment mirrors the NCLB definition of a highly qualified teacher, with these exceptions:

1. Requires all special education teachers to be certified as special education teachers.

2. Exempts teachers who only provide consultative services from demonstrating subject knowledge/competency.

3. Requires middle/high school teachers, who primarily teach children with significant cognitive disabilities to demonstrate knowledge of elementary curriculum rather than high level competition in each of the subjects they teach.

HR with an amendment to read as follows:

"(10) HIGHLY QUALIFIED.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—For any special education teacher, the term "highly qualified" has the meaning given the term in section 9101 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965, except that such term also—

"(i) includes the requirements described in subparagraph (B); and

"(ii) includes the option for teachers to meet the requirements of section 9101 of such Act by meeting the requirements of subparagraph (C) or (D).

"(B) REQUIREMENTS FOR SPECIAL EDUCATION TEACHERS.—When used with respect to any public elementary school or secondary school special education teacher teaching in a State, such term means that—

"(i) the teacher has obtained full State certification as a special education teacher (including certification obtained through alternative routes to certification), or passed the State special education teacher licensing examination, and holds a license to teach in the State as a special education teacher, except that when used with respect to any teacher teaching in a public charter school, the term means that the teacher meets the requirements set forth in the State's public charter school law;

"(ii) the teacher has not had special education certification or licensure requirements waived on an emergency, temporary, or provisional basis; and

"(iii) the teacher holds at least a bachelor's degree.

"(C) SPECIAL EDUCATION TEACHERS TEACHING TO ALTERNATE ACHIEVEMENT STANDARDS.—When used with respect to a special education teacher who teaches core academic subjects exclusively to children who are assessed against alternate achievement standards established under the regulations promulgated under section 1111(b)(1) of such Act, such term means the teacher, whether new or not new to the profession, may either—

"(i) meet the applicable requirements of section 9101 of such Act for any elementary, middle, or secondary school teacher who is new or not new to the profession; or

"(ii) meet the requirement of subparagraph (B) or (C) of section 9101(23) of such Act as applied to an elementary school teacher, or, in the case of instruction above the elementary level, has subject matter knowledge appropriate to the level of instruction being provided, as determined by the State, needed to effectively teach to those standards.

"(D) SPECIAL EDUCATION TEACHERS TEACHING MULTIPLE SUBJECTS.—When used with respect to a special education teacher who teaches 2 or more core academic subjects exclusively to children with disabilities, such term means that the teacher may—

"(i) meet the applicable requirements of section 9101 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 for any elementary, middle, or secondary school teacher who is new or not new to the profession;

"(ii) in the case of a teacher who is not new to the profession, demonstrate competence in all the core academic subjects in which the teacher teaches in the same manner as is required for an elementary, middle, or secondary school teacher who is not new to the profession under section 9101(23)(C)(ii) of such Act, which may include a single, high objective uniform State standard of evaluation covering multiple subjects; or

"(iii) in the case of a new special education teacher who teaches multiple subjects and who is highly qualified in mathematics, language arts, or science, demonstrate competence in the additional core academic subjects in which the teacher teaches in the same manner as is required for an elementary, middle, or secondary school teacher under section 9101(23)(C)(ii) of such Act, which may include a single, high objective uniform state standard of evaluation covering multiple subjects, not later than 2 years after the date of employment.

"(E) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION.—Notwithstanding any other individual right of action that a parent or student may maintain under this part, nothing in this section or part shall be construed to create a right of action on behalf of an individual student or class of students for the failure of a particular State educational agency or local educational agency employee to be highly qualified.

"(F) DEFINITION FOR PURPOSES OF THE ESEA.—A teacher who is highly qualified under this paragraph shall be considered highly qualified for purposes of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965."

Report language: "The Conference Committee intends to clarify that, for the purposes of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 and the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act, a special education teacher who provides only consultative services to a highly qualified teacher (as such term is defined in section 9101 (23) of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965) should be considered a highly qualified special education teacher if such teacher meets the requirements of section 602(10)(A) of this legislation. Such consultative services do not include instruction in core academic subjects, but may include adjustments to the learning environment, modifications of instructional methods, adaptation of curricula, the use of positive behavioral supports and interventions, or the use of appropriate accommodations to meet the needs of individual children."

Report language: "Under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965, each state was charged with developing a 'high, objective, uniform state standard of evaluation' (HOUSSE) to provide teachers with another avenue through which to demonstrate the subject mastery requirements of the "highly qualified" definition. Some states have developed HOUSSE standards for special education teachers. With the passage of this legislation, the Conference committee intends to clarify that under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965, states may allow special education teachers to utilize a HOUSSE which applies to all teachers or adapt a HOUSSE to accommodate special education teachers, including a HOUSSE that consists of a single evaluation to cover multiple subjects. Such adaptations or accommodations must not, however, establish a lesser standard for the content knowledge requirements of special education teachers compared to the standards for general education teachers. The Conference committee encourages all states to explore these options."

Report language: "It is the conferees' intent that any new special education teacher teaching one core academic subject shall demonstrate competency by passing a rigorous State academic subject test in that subject, or successful completion in that subject of an academic major, a graduate degree, coursework equivalent to an undergraduate academic major, or advanced certification or credentialing. Any special education teacher who is not new to the profession and who teaches one core academic subject must, by the end of the 2005–2006 school year, pass a rigorous State academic subject test in that subject, complete in that subject an academic major, a graduate degree, coursework equivalent to an undergraduate academic major, or advanced certification or credentialing, or complete a high objective uniform State standard of evaluation."

Report language: "The bill requires special education teachers to have obtained full State certification as special education teachers, but it does not prevent general education and other teachers who are highly qualified in particular subjects from providing instruction in core academic subjects to children with disabilities in those subjects. For example, a reading specialist who is highly qualified in reading instruction, but who is not certified as a special education teacher, would not be prohibited by this provision from providing reading instruction to children with disabilities."

Report language: "In special cases where such children also receive instruction in one or more core academic subjects at an instructional level above the basic elementary school curriculum, the Conferees fully intend for such instruction to be provided by a highly qualified teacher demonstrating a high level of competency in each of the core academic subjects taught. Such instruction could be provided by a highly qualified teacher in the general education classroom or by such teacher providing instruction in a self-contained classroom. Such competency shall be demonstrated consistent with the requirements of this section and with those of section 9101 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965."

"(i) a natural, adoptive or foster parent of a child (unless prohibited by State law);

"(ii) a guardian (but not the State if the child is a ward of the State)

"(iii) an individual acting in the place of a natural or adoptive parents, including a grandparent, stepparent or other relative with whom the child lives or an individual who is legally responsible for the child's welfare; or

"(iv) except as used in sections 615(b)(2) and 639(a)(5), an individual assigned under either of those sections to be a surrogate parent."

(27) The House bill and Senate amendment are largely similar except the Senate amendment includes an exception regarding certain medical devices and the Senate amendment includes interpreting services, school health services, and travel training instruction as listed related services. The Senate amendment, but not the House bill, includes an exception for medical devices that are surgically implemented or its replacement.

HR with an amendment:

(39) The House bill requires a public comment period of 60 days while the Senate amendment limits the comment period to 90 days.

SR with an amendment:

Strike "60" and insert "75".

(40) There are minor wording differences between the House bill and the Senate amendment, but the content is the same.

HR

(41) The House and Senate have the same language, but the Senate amendment places this in (f) (see note 43).

HR

(42) The House bill and Senate amendment are similar with minor wording differences, except that the Senate amendment and not the House bill includes a provision that any letters are provided as guidance and are not legally binding.

HR

(43) The House and Senate have similar language, but the House bill places this in (e) (see note 41).

HR

(44) The House bill includes this technical language as part of its structure to keep parts of current law. The Senate amendment replaces the entire existing law.

LC

(45) The House bill and Senate amendment contain similar provisions regarding State support and facilitation of regulations. But the House bill, not the Senate amendment, requires States to minimize the number of regulations under the Act while the Senate amendment, not the House bill, requires States to identify in writing any rule, regulation, or policy that is generated by the State, not the Act or its regulations.

HR with an amendment:

Insert paragraph (2) of House bill.

(46) The Senate amendment allows up to 15 States to participate in a paperwork reduction pilot. The House bill allows the participation of up to 10 States in note 263.

HR

(47) The House bill contains a request for GAO to report on the paperwork burden of the Act every 2 years, with an initial 2 year deadline.

HR

(48) The House bill also includes requests for GAO to report on disability definitions in the States, distance learning for professional development programs, and the impact of the Act on limited English proficient students. The Senate amendment does not include these reports.

HR

(49a) The Senate amendment, but not the House bill, specifies that the Freely Associated States shall continue to be eligible for competitive grants administered by the Secretary.

HR

Part B

(49) The House bill includes this technical language as part of its structure to keep parts of current law. The Senate amendment replaces the entire existing law.

LC

(50) There are no differences between the House bill and the Senate amendment.

LC

(51) The House bill places a cap on the maximum grant that is based on the number of students in the State. The Senate amendment bases the formula for the maximum total cap on the number of children with disabilities in the 02–03 school year and adjusts the formula by the change in the population and poverty rates in the State.

SR with an amendment:

Rewrite (a)(2) to read as follows:

"(2) MAXIMUM AMOUNTS.—The maximum amount of the grant a State may receive under this section for any fiscal year is—

"(A) for fiscal years 2005 and 2006 is—

"(i) the number of children with disabilities in the State who are receiving special education and related services—

"(I) aged 3 through 5 if the State is eligible for a grant under section 619; and

"(II) aged 6 through 21; multiplied by—

"(ii) 40 percent of the APPE in public elementary and secondary schools in the United States; and

"(B) for fiscal year 2007 and subsequent fiscal years—

"(i) the number of children with disabilities in the 2004–2005 school year in the State who received special education and related services—

"(I) aged 3 through 5 if the State is eligible for a grant under section 619; and

"(II) aged 6 through 21; multiplied by—

"(ii) 40 percent of the APPE in public elementary and secondary schools in the United States; adjusted by:

"(iii) the rate of annual change in the sum of—

"(I) 85 percent of such State's population described in subsection (d)(3)(A)(i)(II); and

"(II) 15 percent of such State's population described in subsection (d)(3)(A)(i)(III)."

(52) The Senate amendment includes the Freely Associated States as eligible entities under this Act. The House bill does not.

HR

(53) There are no differences between the House bill and Senate amendment.

LC

(54) The Senate amendment allows funds to be allocated to the Freely Associated States and for studies and evaluations under Part B. The FAS's are not eligible entities under the House bill, and the House bill allocates funds for studies and evaluations in Part D.

HR with amendment:

Insert:

"(i) TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary may reserve not more than ½ of 1 percent of the amounts appropriated under this Part for each fiscal year to provide technical assistance activities authorized under section 616.

"(B) MAXIMUM AMOUNT.—The maximum amount the Secretary may reserve under (A) for any fiscal year is $25,000,000, increased by the cumulative rate of inflation since fiscal year 2004."

(55) The House bill and Senate amendment have different language to recalculate the 1999 base amount if a State that served 3-5 year olds in that year does not serve them in a subsequent year.

(60) The House bill limits the amount of funds for State-level activities to 25% of its FY 97 State grant, adjusted by inflation or the percent increase of the Federal appropriation, and allows these funds to be used without regard to commingling or supplantation requirements. The Senate amendment allows States in FY 04 and 05 to reserve 10% off their State grant for State-level activities, after reserving funds for administration. After FY 05, this figure is then increased by the inflation rate. Small States are allowed to reserve 12% until FY 05, and then adjust that level by inflation (see note (62)). Both House and Senate allow commingling. See note (66).

(61) The House bill allows States to use up to 20% of its State set-aside for administration, or $750,000. The Senate amendment allows States to use their FY 03 level for administration, or $800,000, adjusted for inflation each year.

The Senate amendment, but not the House bill, also requires States to certify that they meet the requirements of designating financial responsibilities for services.

SR with an amendment to read as follows:

"(1) STATE ADMINISTRATION.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—For the purpose of administering this part, including paragraph (3), section 619, and the coordination of activities under this part with, and providing technical assistance to, other programs that provide services to children with disabilities—

"(i) each State may reserve for each fiscal year not more than the maximum amount the State was eligible to reserve for State administration under this part for fiscal year 2004 or $800,000 (adjusted in accordance with subparagraph (B)), whichever is greater; and

"(ii) each outlying area may reserve for each fiscal year not more than 5 percent of the amount the outlying area receives under subsection (b) for the fiscal year or $35,000, whichever is greater.

"(B) CUMULATIVE ANNUAL ADJUSTMENTS.—For each fiscal year beginning with fiscal year 2005, the Secretary shall cumulatively adjust (i) the maximum amount the State was eligible to reserve for State administration under this part for fiscal year 2004, and (ii) $800,000, by the rate of inflation as measured by the percentage increase, if any, from the preceding fiscal year in the Consumer Price Index For All Urban Consumers, published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the Department of Labor.

"(C) PART C.—Funds reserved under subparagraph (A) may be used for the administration of part C, if the State educational agency is the lead agency for the State under that part.

"(D) CERTIFICATION.—Prior to expenditure of funds under this paragraph, the State shall provide assurances to the Secretary that the arrangements to establish responsibility for services pursuant to section 612(a)(12(A) are current."

(62) The Senate amendment allows States in FY 04 and 05 to reserve 10% off their State grant for State-level activities, after reserving funds for administration. After FY 05, this figure is then increased by the inflation rate. Small States are allowed to reserve 12% until FY 05, and then adjust that level by inflation. The House bill limits the amount of funds for State-level activities to 25% of its FY 97 State grant, adjusted by inflation or the percent increase of the Federal appropriation, and allows these funds to be used without regard to commingling or supplantation requirements. See note (66).

SR with an amendment to read as follows:

"(A) STATE-LEVEL ACTIVITIES.—

"(i) IN GENERAL.—For the purpose of carrying out State-level activities, each State may reserve for each of the fiscal years 2005 and 2006 not more than 10 percent from the amount of the State's allocation under subsection (d) for fiscal year 2005 and 2006, respectively. For fiscal year 2007 and each subsequent fiscal year, the State may reserve the maximum amount the State was eligible to reserve under the preceding sentence for fiscal year 2006 (adjusted by the cumulative rate of inflation since fiscal year 2006 as measured by the percentage increase, if any in the Consumer Price Index For Al' Urban Consumers, published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the Department of Labor.

"(ii) SMALL STATE ADJUSTMENT.—Notwithstanding clause (i), in the case of a state for which the maximum amount reserved for State administration is not greater than $850,000 the State may reserve for the purpose of carrying out State-level activities for each of the fiscal years 2005 and 2006, not more than 10.5 percent from the amount of the State's allocation under subsection (d) for fiscal year 2005 and 2006, respectively. For fiscal year 2007 and each subsequent fiscal year, such State may reserve the maximum amount the State was eligible to reserve under the preceding sentence for fiscal year 2006 (adjusted by the cumulative rate of inflation since fiscal year 2006 as measured by the percentage increase, if any, in the Consumer Price Index For All Urban Consumers, published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the Department of Labor).".

(63) The Senate amendment establishes a list of required activities that States must support with their State-level funds to support. The House bill has no similar requirement.

SR with an amendment to read as follows:

"(B) REQUIRED ACTIVITIES.—Funds reserved under subparagraph (A) shall be used to carry out the following activities:

"(i) For monitoring, enforcement and complaint investigation.

"(ii) To establish and implement the mediation, processes required by section 615(e)(1), including providing for the costs of mediators, support personnel."

(64) The Senate amendment establishes a list of authorized activities that States may conduct with State-level funds. The House bill includes Senate activities (i), (ii), (vii), and (viii) in note 67 and adds monitoring and complaint investigation, mediation and voluntary binding arbitration, support to meet State goals in 612(a)(15), prereferral services, and subgrants to LEAs designated as in need of improvement due to the scores of students with disabilities. Activities (iii)-(vi), (ix), and (x) in the Senate amendment are not included in the House bill.

SR with an amendment to read as follows:

"(C) AUTHORIZED ACTIVITIES.—Funds reserved under subparagraph (A) may be used to carry out the following activities:

"(i) For support and direct services, including technical assistance, personnel preparation, and professional development and training.

"(ii) To support paperwork reduction activities, including expanding the use of technology in the IEP process.

"(iii) To assist local educational agencies in providing positive behavioral interventions and supports and mental health services for children with disabilities.

"(iv) To improve the use of technology in the classroom by children with disabilities to enhance learning.

"(v) To support the use of technology, including universally designed technology and assistive technology devices, to maximize accessibility to the general curriculum for children with disabilities.

"(vi) Development and implementation of transition programs, including coordination of services with agencies involved in supporting the transition of students with disabilities to post-secondary activities.

"(vii) To assist local educational agencies in meeting personnel shortages.

"(viii) To support capacity building activities and improve the delivery of services by local educational agencies to improve results for children with disabilities.

"(ix) Alternative programming for children who have been expelled from school, and services for children in correctional facilities, children enrolled in State-operated or State-supported schools, and children in charter schools.

"(x) To support the development and provision of appropriate accommodations for children with disabilities, or the development and provision of alternate assessments that are valid and reliable for assessing the performance of children with disabilities, in accordance with sections 1111(b) and 6111 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965.

"(xi) To provide technical assistance to schools and local educational agencies, and direct services, including supplemental educational services, to students with disabilities, in schools or local educational agencies identified as being in need of improvement under section 1116 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 on the basis, in whole, of the assessment results of the disaggregated subgroup of students with disabilities, including providing professional development to special and regular education teachers, that teach students with disabilities, based on scientifically based research to improve educational instruction, in order to improve academic achievement to meet the goals in section 1111."

(65) The House bill allows States to reserve up to 40% of its state-level funds to establish a fund for high cost special education services. The Senate requires States to reserve 2% of their State grant (after reserving funds for administration) to establish a LEA risk pool and distribute those funds to LEAs. The Senate requires the State to pay 75% of the costs that exceed 4 times the national APPE for every student in each LEA that applies. This amount is ratably reduced if there are not sufficient funds. The Senate amendment requires LEA applications to ensure that the State funds do not supplant State medicaid payments for appropriate services. The Senate amendment also allows pre-existing State programs to override the required elements established in the Senate amendment.

HR with an amendment to read as follows:

"(3) LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCY RISK POOL.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—For the purpose of assisting local educational agencies (and charter schools that are local educational agencies, and consortia of local educational agencies) in addressing the needs of high-need children, each State shall reserve for each fiscal year 10 percent from the amount of the State's reservation for state-level activities under paragraph (2)(A), to—

"(i) establish a high-cost fund, but only during the initial fiscal year of the fund;

"(ii) make disbursements from the high-cost fund to local educational agencies in accordance with this paragraph; and

"(iii) support innovative and effective ways of cost-sharing by the State, by a local educational agency, or among a consortia of local educational agencies, as determined by the State in coordination with representatives from local educational agencies (including charter schools that are local educational agencies, and consortia of local educational agencies).

"(B) LIMITATION ON USES OF FUNDS.—

"(i) The funds used pursuant to subparagraph (A)(i) to establish a high-cost fund shall not exceed five percent of the reservation in the initial fiscal year of the fund.

"(ii) The funds used pursuant to subparagraph (A)(iii) to support the innovative and effective ways of cost-sharing among a consortia of local educational agencies shall be not more than five percent of the reservation.

"(C) STATE PLAN FOR HIGH-COST FUND.—

"(i) The State educational agency shall establish a plan, including the State's definition of a 'high need' child with a disability, which is developed in consultation with local educational agencies (including charter schools that are local educational agencies, and consortia of local educational agencies) within 90 days of the reservation of funds under this subsection.

"(ii) Such plan shall—

"(I) Establish, in coordination with representatives from local educational agencies (including charter schools that are local educational agencies, and consortia of local educational agencies), the definition of a 'high need' child with a disability that, at a minimum—

"(aa) addresses the financial impact the specific 'high need' child with a disability has on that child's local educational agency budget, and

"(bb) ensures that the cost of any such 'high need' child with a disability is greater than three times the average per pupil expenditure (as defined in ESEA) in a local educational agency during the preceding school year for an elementary or secondary school student, as may be appropriate;

"(II) Establish eligibility criteria for the participation of local educational agencies (including charter schools that are local educational agencies, and consortia of local educational agencies) that, at a minimum, takes into account the number and percentage of 'high need' children with disabilities in a local educational agency;

"(III) Develop a funding mechanism that provides distributions each fiscal year to eligible local educational agencies (including charter schools that are local educational agencies, and consortia of local educational agencies) that meet the criteria developed by the State under subclause (II); and

"(IV) Establish an annual schedule by which the State educational agency shall make its distributions from the fund each fiscal year.

"(iii) The State shall make its final plan publicly available at least 30 days prior to the beginning of the school year, including dissemination of such information on the State website.

"(D) DISBURSEMENTS FROM THE HIGH-COST FUND.—

"(i) IN GENERAL.—Each State educational agency shall make all annual disbursements from the fund established under subparagraph (A)(i) in accordance with the plan published pursuant to subparagraph (C).

"(ii) USE OF DISBURSEMENTS.—Each State educational agency shall make annual disbursements to eligible local educational agencies in accordance with its plan under (C)(ii).

"(iii) APPROPRIATE COSTS.—The costs associated with educating a high need child under clause (ii) are only those costs associated with providing direct special education and related services to such child that are identified in such child's IEP.

"(E). LEGAL FEES.—The disbursements under subparagraph (D) shall not support legal fees, court costs, or other costs associated with a cause of action brought on behalf of such child to ensure a free appropriate public education for such child.

"(F) ASSURANCE OF A FREE APPROPRIATE PUBLIC EDUCATION.—Nothing in this section shall be construed—

"(i) to limit or condition the right of a child with a disability who is assisted under this part to receive a free appropriate public education pursuant to section 612(a)(1) in a least restrictive environment pursuant to section 612(a)(5); or

"(ii) to authorize a State educational agency or local educational agency to establish a limit on what may be spent on the education of a child with a disability.

"(G) MEDICAID SERVICES NOT AFFECTED.—Disbursements provided under this subsection shall not be used to pay costs that otherwise would be reimbursed as medical assistance for a child with a disability under the State medicaid program under title XIX of the Social Security Act.

"(H) SPECIAL RULE FOR RISK POOL AND HIGH-NEED ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS IN EFFECT AS OF JANUARY 1, 2004.—Notwithstanding the provisions of subparagraphs (A) through (G), a State may use funds reserved pursuant to this paragraph for implementing a placement neutral cost-sharing and reimbursement program of high-need, low-incidence, catastrophic, or extraordinary aid to local educational agencies that provides services to students eligible under this part based on eligibility criteria for such programs that were created not later than January 1, 2004 and are currently in operation, provided such program meets the minimum definition of a 'high need' child with a disability in subparagraph (C)(2)(I).

"(I) REMAINING FUNDS.—Funds reserved under subparagraph (A) in any fiscal year but not expended in that fiscal year pursuant to subparagraph (D) or subparagraph (F) shall be allocated to local educational agencies in the same manner as funds are allocated to local educational agencies under subsection (f)."

(66) The Senate amendment allows State-level funds to be used without regard to commingling or supplantation requirements. See note (60), which includes identical language from the House bill.

HR with an amendment:

Strike ", and (3)" and insert "and" before (2) in paragraph (4).

(67) The House bill establishes a list of authorized activities that States may conduct with State-level funds. The Senate amendment only includes House activities (A), (D), (F), and (H) in note 64 and adds positive behavioral supports and mental health services, use of technology, transition programs, alternative programming for expelled students, and support for appropriate accommodations and alternate assessments.

(68) The House bill, but not the Senate amendment, requires States to use any increase in State-level funds that exceeds the rate of inflation to be used to provide subgrants to LEAs designated as in need of improvement due to the scores of students with disabilities to improve results for students with disabilities in those LEAs.

HR

(69) There are minor wording differences between the House and Senate amendments, and the House bill includes a requirement that the report include information on the percentage of funds distributed by formula to LEAs.

HR

(70) The Senate amendment allows States to use State-level funds under Part B and the 619 program to support a State policy to allow children to remain in Part C instead of moving to the 619 program until kindergarten. The House bill does not include this provision.

LC

(74) The House bill places a cap on the amount of funds for State-level activities to the FY 03 level, except that the amount may increase by the rate of inflation for the purpose of making subgrants to LEAs designated as in need of improvement due to the assessment scores of students with disabilities.

HR with an amendment:

Add the following language to section 611(e) as paragraph (5):

LC

(76) The House bill and the Senate amendment are the same, except the House bill includes a requirement that the BIA distribute 80% of its funds to BIA schools by July 1 of the fiscal year and 20% of the funds by September 30 of the fiscal year.

SR

(77) There are minor wording differences between the House bill and Senate amendment, but the content is the same.

LC

(86) There are no differences between the House bill and Senate amendment.

LC

(87) The Senate amendment exempts States from FAPE requirements if the State provides services to children through the part C program that are eligible for the 619 program. The House bill has similar language as part C.

HR

(88) The Senate amendment, but not the House bill, includes language regarding children with disabilities who are homeless or are wards of the State.

HR

(89) The House bill and Senate amendment have the same definition of least restrictive environment. The House bill requires that if a State distributes funds through a mechanism based on the child's setting, such formula cannot result in violations of the LRE requirements. The House bill also requires States to modify funding mechanisms that do not comply with that requirement. The Senate amendment prohibits a funding mechanism that violates the LRE requirements and requires States to revise any funding mechanism that violates that requirement.

HR

Report language: The conferees are concerned that some States continue to use funding mechanisms that provide financial incentives for, and disincentives against, certain placements. It is the intent of the changes to Section 612(a)(5)(B) to prevent State funding mechanisms from affecting appropriate placement decisions for students with disabilities.

"The law requires that each public agency shall ensure that a continuum of alternative placements (instruction in regular classes, special classes, special schools, home instruction, and instruction in hospitals and institutions) is available to meet the needs of children with disabilities for special education and related services. State funding mechanisms are in place to ensure funding is available to support the requirements of this provision, not to provide an incentive or disincentive for placement. Part B's LRE principle is intended to ensure that a child with a disability is served in a setting where the child can be educated successfully in the least restrictive environment. Through the Individual Education Plan (IEP) process the Team shall make placement decisions that are individually determined on the basis of each child's abilities and needs. The new provisions in this section were added to prohibit States from maintaining funding mechanisms that violate appropriate placement decisions, not to require States to change funding mechanisms that support appropriate placements decisions."

(90) The House bill and Senate amendment are substantially the same except the House bill, but not the Senate amendment, requires that children with disabilities also be evaluated in accordance with section 614 (c).

(91) The House bill and Senate amendment are similar, with the Senate amendment adding a clause referring to the Senate language allowing a child to stay in the Part C program until kindergarten, instead of moving to the Section 619 program at age 3.

HR

(92) The House bill and Senate amendment include similar requirement, except the Senate amendment requires a written explanation by LEAs when they disagree with private school officials, a written affirmation from private school officials about consultation, and the provision of direct services (to the extent practicable) private schools. Also, the Senate amendment does not include the supplement, not supplant language included in the House bill. The House bill also contains specific sections regarding thorough child find when calculating the proportionate share of Federal funds and regarding services to be provided by employees of a public agency or through a contract by a public agency.

SR with an amendment to read as follows:

"(10) CHILDREN IN PRIVATE SCHOOLS.—

"(A) CHILDREN ENROLLED IN PRIVATE SCHOOLS BY THEIR PARENTS.—

"(i) IN GENERAL.—To the extent consistent with the number and location of children with disabilities in the State who are enrolled by their parents in private elementary and secondary schools in the school district served by a local educational agency, provision is made for the participation of those children in the program assisted or carried out under this part by providing for such children special education and related services in accordance with the following requirements, unless the Secretary has arranged for services to those children under subsection (f):

"(I) Amounts to be expended for the provision of those services (including direct services to parentally-placed children) by the local educational agency shall be equal to a proportionate amount of Federal funds made available under this part.

"(II) In calculating the proportionate share of Federal funds, the local educational Agency, after timely and meaningful consultation with representatives of private schools as described in clause (iii), shall conduct a thorough and complete child-find process to determine the number of parentally-placed children with disabilities attending private schools located in the district.

"(III) Such services to children with disabilities parentally-placed may be provided to children with disabilities on the premises of private, including religious, schools, to the extent consistent with law.

"(IV) State and local funds may supplement and in no case shall supplant the proportionate amount of Federal funds required to be expended under this paragraph.

"(V) Each local educational agency shall maintain in its records and provide to the State educational agency the number of children evaluated under this paragraph, the number of children determined to be children with disabilities, and the number of children served under this subsection.

"(ii) CHILD-FIND REQUIREMENT.—

"(I) IN GENERAL.—The requirements of paragraph (3) of this subsection (relating to child find) shall apply with respect to children with disabilities in the State who are enrolled in private, including religious, elementary and secondary schools.

"(III) ACTIVITIES.—In carrying out this clause, the local educational agency, or where applicable, the State educational agency, shall undertake activities similar to those activities undertaken for its public school children.

"(IV) COST.—The cost of carrying out this clause, including individual evaluations, may not be considered in determining whether a local educational agency has met its obligations under clause (i).

"(V) COMPLETION PERIOD.—Such child-find process shall be completed in a time period comparable to that for other students attending public schools in the local educational agency.

"(iii) CONSULTATION.—To ensure timely and meaningful consultation, a local educational agency, or where appropriate, a state educational agency, shall consult with private school representatives and representatives of parents of parentally-placed private school children with disabilities during the design and development of special education and related services for these children including—

"(I) the child-find process and how parentally-placed private school children suspected of having a disability can participate equitably, including how parents, teachers, and private school officials will be informed of the process;

"(II) the determination of the proportionate share of Federal funds available to serve parentally-placed private school children with disabilities under this paragraph, including the determination of how those funds were calculated;

"(III) the consultation process among the local educational agency private school officials, and representatives of parents of parentally-placed private school children with disabilities including how such process will operate throughout the school year to ensure that parentally-placed children with disabilities identified through the child find process can meaningfully participate in special education and related services;

"(IV) how, where, and by whom special education and related services will be provided for parentally-placed private school children, including a discussion of types of services, including direct services and alternate service delivery mechanisms, how such services will be apportioned if funds are insufficient to serve all children, and how and when these decisions will be made; and

"(V) how, if the local educational agency disagrees with the views of the private school officials on the provision of services or the types of services, whether provided directly or through a contract, the local educational agency shall provide to the private school officials a written explanation of the reasons why the local educational agency chose not to provide services directly or through a contract.

"(iv) WRITTEN AFFIRMATION.—When timely and meaningful consultation as required by this section has occurred, the local educational agency shall obtain a written affirmation signed by the representatives of participating private schools, and if such representatives do not provide such affirmation within a reasonable period of time, the local educational agency shall forward the documentation of the consultation process to the State educational agency.

"(v) COMPLIANCE.—

"(I) IN GENERAL.—A private school official shall have the right to complain to the State educational agency that the local educational agency did not engage in consultation that was meaningful and timely, or did not give due consideration to the views of the private school official.

"(II) PROCEDURE.—If the private school official wishes to complain, the official shall provide the basis of the noncompliance with this section by the local educational agency to the State educational agency, and the local educational agency shall forward the appropriate documentation to the State educational agency. If the private school official is dissatisfied with the decision of the State educational agency, such official may complain to the Secretary by providing the basis of the noncompliance with this section by the local educational agency to the Secretary, and the State educational agency shall forward the appropriate documentation to the Secretary.

"(vi) PROVISION OF EQUITABLE SERVICES.—

"(I) DIRECTLY OR THROUGH CONTRACTS. The provision of services under this Act shall be provided—

"(aa) by employees of a public agency; or

"(bb) through contract by the public agency with an individual, association, agency, organization, or other entity.

"(II) SECULAR, NEUTRAL, NONIDEOLOGICAL.—Special education and related services provided to children with disabilities attending private schools, including materials and equipment, shall be secular, neutral, and nonideological.

"(vii) PUBLIC CONTROL OF FUNDS.—The control of funds used to provide special education and related services under this section, and title to materials, equipment, and property purchased with those funds, shall be in a public agency for the uses and purposes provided in this Act, and a public agency shall administer the funds and property.

"(B) CHILDREN PLACED IN, OR REFERRED TO, PRIVATE SCHOOLS BY PUBLIC AGENCIES.—

"(i) IN GENERAL.—Children with disabilities in private schools and facilities are provided special education and related services, in accordance with an individualized education program, at no cost to their parents, if such children are placed in, or referred to, such schools or facilities by the State or appropriate local educational agency as the means of carrying out the requirements of this part or any other applicable law requiring the provision of special education and related services to all children with disabilities within such State.

"(ii) STANDARDS.—In all cases described in clause (i), the State educational agency shall determine whether such schools and facilities meet standards that apply to State and local educational agencies and that children so served have all the rights they would have if served by such agencies.

"(C) PAYMENT FOR EDUCATION OF CHILDREN ENROLLED IN PRIVATE SCHOOLS WITHOUT CONSENT OF OR REFERRAL BY THE PUBLIC AGENCY.—

"(i) IN GENERAL.—Subject to subparagraph (A), this part does not require a local educational agency to pay for the cost of education, including special education and related services, of a child with a disability at a private school or facility if that agency made a free appropriate public education available to the child and the parents elected to place the child in such private school or facility.

"(ii) REIMBURSEMENT FOR PRIVATE SCHOOL PLACEMENT.—If the parents of a child with a disability, who previously received special education and related services under the authority of a public agency, enroll the child in a private elementary or secondary school without the consent of or referral by the public agency, a court or a hearing officer may require the agency to reimburse the parents for the cost of that enrollment if the court or hearing officer finds that the agency had not made a free appropriate public education available to the child in a timely manner prior to that enrollment.

"(iii) LIMITATION ON REIMBURSEMENT.—The cost of reimbursement described in clause (ii) may be reduced or denied—

"(I) if—

"(aa) at the most recent IEP meeting that the parents attended prior to removal of the child from the public school, the parents did not inform the IEP Team that they were rejecting the placement proposed by the public agency to provide a free appropriate public education to their child, including stating their concerns and their intent to enroll their child in a private school at public expense; or

"(bb) 10 business days (including any holidays that occur on a business day) prior to the removal of the child from the public school, the parents did not give written notice to the public agency of the information described in division (aa);

"(II) if, prior to the parents' removal of the child from the public school, the public agency informed the parents, through the notice requirements described in section [615(b)(7)], of its intent to evaluate the child (including a statement of the purpose of the evaluation that was appropriate and reasonable), but the parents did not make the child available for such evaluation; or

"(III) upon a judicial finding of unreasonableness with respect to actions taken by the parents.

"(iv) EXCEPTION.—Notwithstanding the notice requirement in clause (iii)(I), the cost of reimbursement—

"(I) shall not be reduced or denied for failure to provide such notice if—

"(aa) the school prevented the parent from providing such notice; or

"(bb) the parents had not received notice, pursuant to section 615, of the notice requirement in clause (iii)(I); or

"(cc) compliance with clause (iii)(I) would likely result in physical harm to the child; and

"(II) may, in the discretion of a court or a hearing officer, not be reduced or denied for failure to provide such notice if—

"(aa) the parent is illiterate or cannot write in English; or

"(bb) compliance with clause (iii)(I) would likely result in serious emotional harm to the child."

(97) The House bill requires the State plan to include standards to ensure that all special education teachers are highly qualified in core academic subjects; that standards for all related services personnel and paraprofessionals are set to ensure the providers are qualified to provide services, and that the SEA develops innovative strategies for professional development. The Senate amendment requires all special education teachers to be highly qualified by the end of the 2006-2007 school year, requires States to inform parents about the qualifications of the teachers, requires States to adopt policies to recruit, train, and retain highly qualified personnel, and establishes that those requirements do not create a right to action.

HR with an amendment:

Strike references to "standards" and replace with "qualifications" throughout and strike "not later than the end of the 2006-2007 school year." in (C)(i) and in (ii)(II).

Report language: "Conferees are cognizant of the difficulties that some local educational agencies have experienced in recruiting and retaining qualified related services providers and have provided greater flexibility to State educational agencies to establish appropriate personnel standards.

"Conferees are concerned that language in current law regarding the qualifications of related services providers has established an unreasonable standard for State educational agencies to meet, and as a result, has led to a shortage of the availability of related services for students with disabilities.

"Conferees intend for State educational agencies to establish rigorous qualifications for related services providers to ensure that students with disabilities receive the appropriate quality and quantity of care. State educational agencies are encouraged to consult with local educational agencies, other State agencies, the disability community, and professional organizations to determine the appropriate qualifications for related service providers, including the use of consultative, supervisory, and collaborative models to ensure that students with disabilities receive the services described in their individual IEP's."

(98) The House bill and Senate amendment are the same except the Senate amendment adds a requirement that States establish performance goals for graduation rates.

Insert "which may include elements of the reports required under section 1111(h) of the Elementary and Secondary Education act of 1965." at the end of subparagraph (C).

(99) The House bill and Senate amendment include similar requirements except the Senate amendment adds requirements for alternate assessments, reporting requirements relating to students with disabilities taking alternate assessments, and requirements regarding universal design. Both the House bill and Senate amendment require that alternate assessments have been developed and conducted.

HR with an amendment to read as follows:

"(25) Prohibition on mandatory medication.

"(a) IN GENERAL.—The State educational agency shall prohibit State and local educational personnel from requiring a child to obtain a prescription for substances covered by the Controlled Substances Act as a condition of attending school, receiving an evaluation under section 614 (a) and (c) or receiving services.

"(b) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION.—Nothing in subsection (a) shall be construed to create a Federal prohibition against teachers and other school personnel consulting or sharing classroom-based observations with parents or guardians regarding a student's academic and functional performance, or behavior in the classroom or school, or regarding the need for evaluation for special education or related services under section 612(a)(3)."

(122) The House bill allows LEAs to treat 20% of the increase from one year to the next as local funds to be used for educational programs authorized under ESEA, unless the SEA determines that the LEA has not provided FAPE to its students with disabilities. The Senate amendment allows LEAs to treat 8% of their funds as local funds each year. The Senate amendment allows LEAs to treat not more than 40% of their funds as local funds in any year that the maximum amount for State grants is provided under 611. The Senate amendment requires any LEA that exercises this authority to include that in its calculation of funds reserved for prereferral services.

SR with an amendment to read as follows:

"(C) ADJUSTMENT TO LOCAL FISCAL EFFORT IN CERTAIN FISCAL YEARS.—

"(i) AMOUNTS IN EXCESS.—Notwithstanding clauses (ii) and (iii) of subparagraph (A), for any fiscal year for which the allocation received by a local educational agency under section 611(f) exceeds the amount the local educational agency received for the previous fiscal year, the local educational agency may reduce the level of expenditures otherwise required by subparagraph (A)(iii) by not more than 50 percent of the amount of such excess.

"(ii) USE OF AMOUNTS TO CARRY OUT ACTIVITIES UNDER ESEA.—If a local educational agency exercises the authority under clause (i), the agency shall use an amount of local funds equal to the reduction in expenditures under clause (i) to carry out activities authorized under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965.

"(iii) STATE PROHIBITION.—Notwithstanding clause (i), if a State educational agency determines that a local educational agency is unable to establish and maintain programs of free appropriate public education that meet the requirements of subsection (a) or the State educational agency has taken action against the local educational agency under section 616, the State educational agency shall prohibit the local educational agency from reducing the level of expenditures under clause (i) for that fiscal year.

"(iv) SPECIAL RULE.—The amount of funds expended by a local educational agency under subsection (f) shall count toward the maximum amount of expenditures such local educational agency may reduce under clause (i)."

Report language: "The Conferees intend for school districts to have meaningful flexibility to use local funds that are generated from their reduction in the maintenance of effort. The Conferees do not intend that school districts have to use these local funds for programs exclusively authorized under the Elementary and Secondary Act of 1965. The conferees recognize that most state and local education programs are consistent with the broad flexibility that is provided in Sec 5131 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965.

"The Conferees intend that in any fiscal year in which the local educational agency or State educational agency reduces expenditures pursuant to section 613(a)(2)(C) or section 613(j), the reduced level of effort shall be considered the new base for purposes of determining the required level of fiscal effort for the succeeding year."

(127) The House bill and Senate amendment include a similar requirement requiring LEAs to use the national instructional materials accessibility standard when purchasing instructional materials.

HR with an amendment to read as follows:

SR with an amendment to read as follows:

"(j) STATE AGENCY FLEXIBILITY.—

"(1) Adjustment to state fiscal effort in certain fiscal years.—For any fiscal year for which the allotment received by a State under section 611 exceeds the amount the State received for the previous fiscal year and if the State in school year 2003-2004 or any subsequent school year pays or reimburses all local educational agencies within the State from State revenue 100 percent of the non-Federal share of the costs of special education and related services, the State educational agency, notwithstanding paragraphs (17) and (18) of section 612(a) and section 612(b), may reduce the level of expenditures from State sources for the education of children with disabilities by not more than 50 percent of the amount of such excess.

"(2) PROHIBITION.—Notwithstanding paragraph (1), if the Secretary determines that a State educational agency is unable to establish, maintain, or oversee programs of free appropriate public education that meet the requirements of this part, or that the State needs assistance, intervention, or substantial intervention under section 616(d)(2)(A), the Secretary shall prohibit the State educational agency from exercising the authority in paragraph (1).

"(3) EDUCATION ACTIVITIES.—If a State educational agency exercises the authority under paragraph (1), the agency shall use funds from State sources, in an amount equal to the amount of the reduction under paragraph (1), to support activities authorized under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 or to support need based student or teacher higher education programs.

"(4) REPORT.—For each fiscal year for which a State educational agency exercises the authority under paragraph (1), the State educational agency shall report to the Secretary the amount of expenditures reduced pursuant to such paragraph and the activities that were funded pursuant to paragraph (3).

"(5) LIMITATION.—Notwithstanding paragraph (1), a State educational agency may not reduce the level of expenditures described in paragraph (1) if any local educational agency in the State would, as a result of such reduction, receive less than 100 percent of the amount necessary to ensure that all children with disabilities served by the local educational agency receive a free appropriate public education from the combination of Federal funds received under this title and State funds received from the State educational agency."

HR

(144) The House bill and Senate amendment are similar, with the House bill adding parental consent in the heading.

SR

(145) The House bill and Senate amendment have similar language regarding initial evaluations, with the Senate amendment requiring that such evaluations take place within 60 days unless the State has an existing established time frame.

HR with an amendment to read as follows:

"(C) Procedures.—

"(i) In general.—Such initial evaluation shall consist of procedures—

"(I) to determine whether a child is a child with a disability (as defined in section 602(3)) within 60 days of receiving parental consent for the evaluation, or, if the State establishes a timeframe within which the evaluation must be conducted, within such timeframe; and

"(II) to determine the educational needs of such child.

"(ii) EXCEPTION.—The relevant timeframe in subparagraph (i)(I) shall not apply to a local educational agency if—

"(I) a child enrolls at a local educational agency after the relevant timeframe in subparagraph (i)(I) has begun and prior to a determination by the child's previous local educational agency as to whether a child is a child with a disability (as defined in section 602(3)), provided that the local educational agency is making sufficient progress to ensure a prompt completion of the evaluation, and the parent and local educational agency agree to a specific time when the evaluation will be completed; or

(146a) The House bill provides guidance to parents and LEAs if the parent refuses consent for evaluation or initial services. The Senate amendment provides that the LEA is not in violation of FAPE if the parent refuses services.

SR with an amendment to read as follows:

"(ii) Absence of consent.—

"(I) FOR INITIAL EVALUATION.—If the parent of such child does not provide consent for an initial evaluation under clause (i)(I), or the parent fails to respond to a request to provide the consent, the local educational agency may pursue the initial evaluation of the child by utilizing the procedures described in section 615, except to the extent inconsistent with State law relating to such parental consent.

"(II) FOR SERVICES.—If the parent of such child refuses to consent to services under clause (i)(II), the local educational agency shall not provide special education and related services to the child by utilizing the procedures described in section 615.

"(III) EFFECT ON AGENCY OBLIGATIONS.—If the parent of a child refuses to consent to the receipt of special education and related services, or the parent fails to respond to a request to provide the consent—

"(aa) the local educational agency shall not be considered to be in violation of the requirement to make available a free appropriate public education to the child for the failure to provide the special education and related services for which the local educational agency requests such consent; and

"(bb) the local educational agency shall not be required to convene an IEP meeting or develop an IEP under this section for the child for services for which the local educational agency requests such consent."

(146b) The Senate amendment, but not the House bill, allows the school district to not seek parental consent for wards of the State if consent has been given by an appropriate official.

SR with an amendment to read as follows:

"(iv) EXCEPTION FOR WARDS OF THE STATE.—If the child is a ward of the state and is not residing with the child's parent, the agency shall make reasonable efforts to obtain the informed consent from the parents, as defined in section 602(22), of a child for an initial evaluation to determine whether the child is a child with a disability. "(I) despite reasonable efforts to do so, the agency cannot discover the whereabouts of the parents of such child;

"(II) the rights of the parents have been terminated in accordance with State law; or

"(III) the rights of the parents to make educational decisions have been subrogated by a judge in accordance with State law and consent has been given by an individual appointed by the judge to represent the child the agency shall not be required to obtain informed consent from the parents of a child for an initial evaluation to determine whether the child is a child with a disability."

"(D) assessments of children with disabilities who transfer from 1 school district to another school district in the same academic year, are coordinated with such children's prior and subsequent schools as necessary and as expeditiously as possible to ensure prompt completion of full evaluations."

Report language: "The Conferees recognize that the high mobility rates of some children, including homeless children and youth and children and youth in the custody of a state child welfare agency, may cause delays in the assessment process and in the provision of a free appropriate public education. In order to minimize such delays, the Conferees intend that local education agencies ensure that assessments for these children and youth be completed expeditiously, taking into consideration the date on which such children and youth were first referred for assessment in any local educational agency. Such assessments shall be made in collaboration with parents (including foster parents) and, where applicable, surrogate parents, homeless liaisons designated under Section 723(g)(1)(j)(ii) of the McKinney-Vento Homeless Assistance Act, court appointed special advocates, a guardian ad litem, or a judge."

Report language: "Conferees intend the evaluation process for determining eligibility of a child under this Act to be a comprehensive process that determines whether the child has a disability, and as a result of that disability, whether the child has a need for special education and related services. As part of the evaluation process, conferees expect the multi-disciplinary evaluation team to address the educational needs of the child in order to fully inform the decisions made by the IEP Team when developing the educational components of the child's IEP. Conferees expect the IEP Team to independently review any determinations made by the evaluation team, and that the IEP Team will utilize the information gathered during the evaluation to appropriately inform the development of the IEP for the child."

(171) The House bill refers to the general education curriculum while the Senate amendment refers to the general curriculum. The Senate amendment, but not the House bill, specifies that a child who is a ward of the State may have an appropriate official at the IEP Team meeting.

(172) The Senate amendment allows an IEP team member flexibility in which parts of the meetings they attend so long as the parent and LEA agree and so long as the excused member submits input prior to the IEP meeting. See note 170 and 177 for similar House provision.

HR with an amendment:

Insert "to the IEP team" after "submits" in (C)(ii)(II).

HR with an amendment:

Strike "that member," in (C)(i) and (C)(ii)(I), and the "," after "parent" in (C)(ii)(I), and insert "in writing to the parent and IEP team" after "input" in (C)(ii)(II).

HR with an amendment:

Insert (D) to read as follows:

"(D) IEP TEAM TRANSITION.—In the case of a child who was previously served under Part C, an invitation to the initial IEP meeting to the Part C service coordinator or other representatives of the Part C system to assist with the smooth transition of services."

Report language: "The Conferees recognize that ensuring that a smooth transition from the Part C system to the Preschool Program or to school is vital for a child's educational success. It is the Conferees' intent that during the initial IEP meeting for a child transferring from the Part C program the types of services the child received as part of the IFSP are discussed. The Conferees understand that services provided through the Part B program may differ in frequency, duration, and environment, however, the IEP Team should explain the changes in services in the initial IEP meeting. The Conferees do not intend that a State or district reduce any service a child would be otherwise eligible for under Part B."

(173) The House bill, but not the Senate amendment, requires the IEP team to consider the IFSP when developing an IEP.

The Senate amendment, but not the House bill, requires that IEPs transfer with a child from one district to another, or State to State.

SR with an amendment:

Insert (C) to read as follows:

"(C) PROGRAM FOR CHILDREN WHO TRANSFER SCHOOL DISTRICTS.—

"(i) IN GENERAL.—

"(I) In the case of a child with a disability who transfers school districts within the same academic year, who enrolls in a new school and who had an IEP that was in effect in the same State, the local educational agency shall provide such child with a free appropriate public education, including services comparable to those described in the previously held IEP, in consultation with the parents until such time as the local educational agency adopts the previously held IEP or develops, adopts, and implements a new IEP that is consistent with Federal and State law.

"(II) In the case of a child with a disability who transfers school districts within the same academic year, who enrolls in a new school and who had an IEP that was in effect in another State, the local educational agency shall provide such child with a free appropriate public education, including services comparable to those described in the previously held IEP, in consultation with the parents until such time as the local educational agency conducts an evaluation pursuant to section 614(a)(1), if determined to be necessary by such agency, and develops a new IEP, if appropriate, that is consistent with Federal and State law.

"(ii) TRANSMITTAL OF RECORDS.—To facilitate the transition for a child described in clause (i)—

"(I) the new school in which the child enrolls shall take reasonable steps to promptly obtain the child's records, including the IEP and supporting documents and any other records relating to the provision of special education or related services to the child, from the previous school in which the child was enrolled pursuant to 34 CFR 99.31(a)(2), and

"(II) the previous school in which the child was enrolled shall take reasonable steps to promptly respond to such request from the new school."

(174) The House bill and Senate amendment have similar language, in different order, and the Senate amendment adds a requirement that the functional needs of the child are considered.

HR

Report language: "The Conferees understand that the development of a child's IEP involves many considerations and decisions on how best to create an education program that serves the needs of the individual child. The Conferees intend that the uniqueness of each child help guide these decisions, including the child's strengths, characteristics, and background when developing the IEP."

(175) The Senate amendment, but not the House bill, requires that IEPs provide behavioral interventions for children whose behavior impedes their own learning or that of others. The Senate amendment also requires the IEP team to consider a larger list of services for blind students.

(176) The House bill, but not the Senate amendment, allows for the possibility that the regular education teacher may not be part of the IEP team if appropriately determined.

HR

(177) The House bill allows an IEP team member flexibility in which parts of the meetings they attend so long as the parent and LEA agree and so long as the excused member submits written input prior to the IEP meeting. See note 172 for similar Senate provision.

HR

(178) The House bill encourages consolidation of IEP meetings while the Senate amendment encourages consolidation of reevaluations with the IEP Team meeting.

HR with an amendment:

Strike (E) and insert new (E) to read as follows:

"(E) CONSOLIDATION OF IEP TEAM MEETINGS.—To the extent possible, the local educational agency shall encourage the consolidation of reevaluation meetings for the child and other IEP Team meetings for the child."

(179) The House bill, but not the Senate amendment, specifies that changes to the IEP can be done by amendment, instead of rewriting the entire IEP.

SR with an amendment:

Insert "Upon request, a parent shall be provided an executed copy of the IEP." at the end of subparagraph (G).

(180) The House bill, but not the Senate amendment, allows for the possibility that the regular education teacher may not be part of the IEP team if appropriately determined.

HR

(181) Both the House bill and the Senate amendment allow the LEA to offer to parents the ability to develop a comprehensive 3-year IEP, if the parents choose to develop such an IEP. The House bill allows this to be done for all children that receive special education. The Senate amendment restricts this option to students age 18 that stay within the educational system.

SR with an amendment to read as follows:

"(5) MULTI-YEAR IEP DEMONSTRATION.—

"(A) PILOT PROGRAM.—

"(i) PURPOSE.—The purpose of this subsection is to provide an opportunity for States to allow parents and local educational agencies the opportunity for long-term planning by offering the option of developing a comprehensive multi-year IEP, not to exceed 3 years, that is designed to coincide with the natural transition points for the child.

"(ii) AUTHORIZATION.—In order to carry out the purpose of this subsection, the Secretary is authorized to approve not more than 15 States based on proposals submitted by States to allow parents and local educational agencies the opportunity for long-term planning by offering the option of developing a comprehensive multi-year IEP, not to exceed 3 years, that is designed to coincide with the natural transition points for the child.

"(iii) PROPOSAL.—

"(I) IN GENERAL.—A State desiring to participate in the program under this subsection shall submit a proposal to the Secretary at such time and in such manner as the Secretary may reasonably require.

"(II) CONTENT.—The proposal shall include—

"(aa) assurances that the parent must consent to the option of developing a comprehensive multi-year IEP;

"(bb) a list of required elements for each multi-year IEP, including—

"(AA) measurable goals pursuant to paragraph (1)(A)(i)(II), coinciding with natural transition points for the child, that will enable the child to be involved in and make progress in the general education curriculum and that will meet the child's other needs that result from the child's disability; and

"(BB) measurable annual goals for determining progress toward meeting the goals described in subitem (AA); and

"(cc) a description of the process for the review and revision of each multi-year IEP, including—

"(AA) a review by the IEP Team of the child's multi-year IEP at each of the child's natural transition points;

"(BB) in years other than a child's natural transition points, an annual review of the child's IEP to determine the child's current levels of progress and whether the annual goals for the child are being achieved; and to amend the IEP, as appropriate, to enable the child to continue to meet the measurable goals set out in the IEP;

"(CC) if the IEP Team determines on the basis of a review that the child is not making sufficient progress toward the goals described in the multi-year IEP, a local educational agency will ensure that the IEP Team reviews the IEP within 30 calendar days; and

"(DD) at the request of the parent, the IEP Team shall conduct a review of the child's multi-year IEP rather than or subsequent to an annual review.

"(B) REPORT.—Beginning 2 years after the date of enactment, the Secretary shall submit an annual report to the Committee on Education and the Workforce in the House of Representatives and the Health, Education, Labor and Pensions Committee in the Senate regarding the effectiveness of the program and any specific recommendations for broader implementation of such program including

"(i) reducing—

"(I) the paperwork burden on teachers, principals, administrators, and related service providers; and

"(II) noninstructional time spent by teachers in complying with this part;

"(ii) enhancing longer-term educational planning;

"(iii) improving positive outcomes for children with disabilities;

"(iv) promoting collaboration between IEP Team members; and

"(v) ensuring satisfaction of family members."

"(C) DEFINITION.—As used in this paragraph, the term 'natural transition points' means those periods that are close in time to the transition of a child with a disability from preschool to elementary grades, from elementary grades to middle or junior high school grades, from middle or junior high school grades to high school grades, and from high school grades to post-secondary activities, but in no case longer than 3 years."

(182) There are no significant differences between the House bill and Senate amendment.

LC

(183) The Senate amendment, but not the House bill, requires that placements of homeless children with disabilities comply with the McKinney-Vento Homeless Assistance Act.

The House bill, but not the Senate amendment, allows for alternative means of meeting participation for meetings under section 615.

SR with an amendment:

Strike "and 615" in (f) and insert ", 615(e) and (f)(1)(B), and administrative matters under 615 (such as scheduling, exchange of witness lists and status conferences)".

(184) The House bill includes a Sense of Congress regarding the need to have a disability diagnosis performed by a physician or licensed health care professional. The Senate amendment does not include this provision.

HR

(189) The Senate amendment, but not the House bill, includes language regarding homeless children and children who are wards of the State.

SR with an amendment:

Rewrite (b)(2) to read as follows:

"(b)(2)(A) In General.—procedures to protect the rights of the child whenever the parents of the child are not known, the agency cannot, after reasonable efforts, locate the parents or the child is a ward of the State, including the assignment of an individual (who shall not be an employee of the State educational agency, the local educational agency or any other agency that is involved in the education or care of the child) to act as a surrogate for the parents. In the case of—

"(i) a child who is a ward of the State, such surrogate may alternatively be appointed by the judge overseeing the child's care provided that the surrogate meets the requirements of this paragraph;

"(ii) an unaccompanied homeless youth as defined in Sec 725(6) of the McKinney-Vento Homeless Assistance Act, the LEA shall appoint a surrogate in accordance with this paragraph.

"(B) Time requirement.—The State shall make reasonable efforts to ensure the assignment of the surrogate not more than 30 days after there is a determination made by the agency that the child needs a surrogate."

Report language: "In light of the fact that unaccompanied homeless youth are a particularly mobile population, once the school district has made a determination that such youth require a surrogate, the Conferees encourage States or local educational agencies where allowed by law to quickly appoint a surrogate or refer the child to the child welfare system if consistent with State law. The Conferees recognize that, because the parents of homeless unaccompanied youth may be unavailable or unwilling to participate in the youth's education, homeless unaccompanied youth face unique problems in obtaining a free appropriate public education. Accordingly, the Conferees intend that the surrogate parent process be available for such youth, to ensure that they are provided with a free appropriate public education. Furthermore, the Conferees intend that appropriate staff members of emergency shelters, transitional shelters, independent living programs, and street outreach programs not be considered to be employees of agencies involved in the education or care of youth, for purposes of the prohibition of certain agency employees from acting as surrogates for parents as set forth in Sec. (b)(2)(A), provided that a such role is temporary until a surrogate can be appointed that meets the requirements and such role in no way conflicts with, or is in derogation of, the provision of a free appropriate public education to these youth."

LC

(191) There are no differences between the House bill and Senate amendment.

LC

(192) The House bill adds a requirement for voluntary binding arbitration that the Senate amendment does not include.

HR

(193) The House bill and Senate amendment have similar language regarding the opportunity to present complaints, but the House bill, not the Senate amendment, includes language establishing a 1 year statute of limitations on the right to present complaints. Senate has a 2 year timeline for filing complaints at note 221.

SR with an amendment to read as follows:

"(6) an opportunity to present complaints—

"(A) with respect to any matter relating to the identification, evaluation, or educational placement of the child, or the provision of a free appropriate public education to such child; and

"(B) which set forth an alleged violation that occurred not more than two years before the date the parent or public agency knew or should have known about the alleged action that forms the basis of the complaint."

(199) The Senate amendment, but not the House bill, requires the notice to include what options the agency considered but did not include, and why. The Senate amendment, but not the House bill, requires a description of any other factors relevant to the agency's proposal or refusal.

SR with an amendment:

Insert (C) as amended by striking "any other options that the agency considered" and inserting "other options considered by the IEP team" and insert (E) as amended by striking "any other" and inserting "the".

(200) The Senate amendment, but not the House bill, presumes that the complaint is sufficient unless a party submits an objection to the notice, establishes timelines and procedures to support this rule, and requires the other party to receive the notice.

The Senate amendment, but not the House bill, also allows parents to amend their complaint if the hearing officer or other party consents, with timelines restarting at the time the amendment is filed.

HR with an amendment:

Strike "only" and insert "not later than 5 days" in (2)(D)(i)(II).

HR with an amendment:

"(II) a description of other options that the IEP team considered and the reasons why those options were rejected;

"(III) a description of each evaluation procedure, test, record or report the agency used as the basis for the proposed or refused action; and

(IV) a description of the factors that are relevant to the agency's proposal or refusal.

"(iii) Sufficiency.—A response filed by a local educational agency pursuant to clause (ii) shall not be construed to preclude such local educational agency from asserting that the parent's due process complaint notice was insufficient, where appropriate."

(201) The House bill includes this technical language as part of its structure. The Senate amendment replaces the entire existing law.

HR/LC

(202) The Senate amendment, but not the House bill, requires a notice whenever a due process complaint is filed.

HR with an amendment:

Rewrite (d)(1) to read as follows:

"(d) Procedural Safeguards Notice.—

"(1) In general.—

"(A) A copy of the procedural safeguards available to the parents of a child with a disability shall be given to the parents only 1 time a year, except that a copy also shall be given to the parents—

"(i) upon initial referral or parental request for evaluation;

"(ii) upon the first occurrence of the registration of a complaint under subsection (b)(6); and

(iii) upon request by a parent.

"(B) The local educational agency may place a current copy of the procedural safeguards notice on its Internet website, if such website exists."

(203) The House bill and Senate amendment contain similar language, except the House bill requires a description of the safeguards while the Senate amendment requires a full explanation.

"(I) states that all discussions that occur during the mediation process shall be confidential and may not be used as evidence in any subsequent due process hearings or civil proceedings;

"(II) is signed by both the parent and a representative of the public agency who has the authority to bind such agency; and

"(III) is enforceable in any State court of competent jurisdiction or in a district court of the United States.

HR/LC

(222) The Senate amendment, but not the House bill, includes several exceptions to the requirements of a statue of limitations.

HR with an amendment to read as follows:

HR with an amendment to read as follows:

"(k) PLACEMENT IN ALTERNATIVE EDUCATIONAL SETTING.—

"(1) AUTHORITY OF SCHOOL PERSONNEL.—

"(A) CASE-BY-CASE DETERMINATION.—School personnel may consider any unique circumstances on a case-by-case basis when determining whether to order a change in placement for a child with a disability who violates a code of student conduct.

"(B) AUTHORITY.—School personnel under this section may remove a child with a disability who violates a code of student conduct from their current placement to an appropriate interim alternative educational setting, another setting, or suspension, for not more than 10 school days (to the extent such alternatives are applied to children without disabilities).

"(C) ADDITIONAL AUTHORITY.—If school personnel seek to order a change in placement that would exceed 10 school days and the behavior that gave rise to the violation of the school code is determined not to be a manifestation of the child's disability pursuant to subparagraph (E), the relevant disciplinary procedures applicable to children without disabilities may be applied to the child in the same manner and for the same duration in which the procedures would be applied to children without disabilities, except as provided in section 612(a)(1) although it may be provided in an interim alternative educational setting.

"(D) SERVICES.—A child with a disability who is removed from the child's current placement under subparagraph (G) (irrespective of whether the behavior is determined to be a manifestation of the child's disability) or (C) shall—

"(i) continue to receive educational services, as provided in section 612(a)(1), so as to enable the child to continue to participate in the general education curriculum, although in another setting, and to progress toward meeting the goals set out in the child's IEP; and

"(ii) receive, as appropriate, a functional behavioral assessment, behavioral intervention services and modifications, that are designed to address the behavior violation so that it does not recur.

"(E) MANIFESTATION DETERMINATION.—

"(i) IN GENERAL.—Except as provided in subparagraph (B), within 10 school days of any decision to change the placement of a child with a disability because of a violation of a code of student conduct, the local educational agency, the parent and relevant members of the IEP Team (as determined by the parent and the local educational agency) shall review all relevant information in the student's file, including the child's IEP, any teacher observations, and any relevant information provided by the parents to determine—

"(I) if the conduct in question was caused by, or had a direct and substantial relationship to, the child's disability; or

"(II) if the conduct in question was the direct result of the local educational agency's failure to implement the IEP.

"(ii) MANIFESTATION.—If the local educational agency, the parent and relevant members of the IEP Team determine that either subclause (I) or (II) of clause (i) is applicable for the child, the conduct shall be determined to be a manifestation of the child's disability.

"(F) DETERMINATION THAT BEHAVIOR WAS A MANIFESTATION.—If the local educational agency, the parent and relevant members of the IEP Team make the determination that the conduct was a manifestation of the child's disability, the IEP Team shall—

"(i) conduct a functional behavioral assessment, and implement a behavioral intervention plan for such child, provided that the local educational agency had not conducted such assessment prior to such determination before the behavior that resulted in the change in placement described in subparagraph (C) or (G);

"(ii) in the situation where a behavioral intervention plan has been developed, review the behavioral intervention plan if the child already has such a behavioral intervention plan, and modify it, as necessary, to address the behavior; and

"(iii) except as provided in subparagraph (G), return the child to the placement from which the child was removed, unless the parent and the local educational agency agree to a change of placement as part of the modification of the behavioral intervention plan.

"(G) SPECIAL CIRCUMSTANCES.—School personnel may remove a student to an interim alternative educational setting for not more than 45 school days without regard to whether the behavior is determined to be a manifestation of the child's disability, in cases where a child—

"(i) carries or possesses a weapon to or at school, on school premises, or to or at a school function under the jurisdiction of a State or local educational agency; or

"(ii) knowingly possesses or uses illegal drugs, or sells or solicits the sale of a controlled substance, while at school, on school premises, or a school function under the jurisdiction of a State or local educational agency; or

"(H) NOTIFICATION.—Not later than the date on which the decision to take disciplinary action is made, the local educational agency shall notify the parents of that decision, and of all procedural safeguards accorded under this section.

(2) DETERMINATION OF SETTING.—The interim alternative educational setting in subparagraph (C) and (G) of paragraph (1) shall be determined by the IEP Team.

(3) APPEAL.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—The parent of a child with a disability who disagrees with any decision regarding placement, or the manifestation determination under this subsection, or a local educational agency that believes that maintaining the current placement of the child is substantially likely to result in injury to the child or to others, may request a hearing.

"(B) AUTHORITY OF HEARING OFFICER.—

"(i) IN GENERAL.—A hearing officer shall hear, and make a determination regarding, an appeal requested under subparagraph (A).

"(ii) CHANGE OF PLACEMENT ORDER.—In making the determination under clause (i), the hearing officer may order a change in placement of a child with a disability. In such situations, the hearing officer may—

"(I) return a child with a disability to the placement from which the child was removed; or

"(II) order a change in placement of a child with a disability to an appropriate interim alternative educational setting for not more than 45 school days if the hearing officer determines that maintaining the current placement of such child is substantially likely to result in injury to the child or to others.

"(4) PLACEMENT DURING APPEALS.—When an appeal under paragraph (3) has been requested by either the parent or the local educational agency—

"(A) the child shall remain in the interim alternative educational setting pending the decision of the hearing officer or until the expiration of the time period provided for in paragraph (1)(C), whichever occurs first, unless the parent and the State or local educational agency agree otherwise; and

"(B) the State or local educational agency shall arrange for an expedited hearing, which shall occur within 20 school days of the date the hearing is requested and shall result in a determination within 10 school days after the hearing.

"(5) PROTECTIONS FOR CHILDREN NOT YET ELIGIBLE FOR SPECIAL EDUCATION AND RELATED SERVICES.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—A child who has not been determined to be eligible for special education and related services under this part and who has engaged in behavior that violates a code of student conduct, may assert any of the protections provided for in this part if the local educational agency had knowledge (as determined in accordance with this paragraph) that the child was a child with a disability before the behavior that precipitated the disciplinary action occurred.

"(B) BASIS OF KNOWLEDGE.—A local educational agency shall be deemed to have knowledge that a child is a child with a disability if, before the behavior that precipitated the disciplinary action occurred—

"(i) the parent of the child has expressed concern in writing to supervisory or administrative personnel of the appropriate educational agency, or a teacher of the child, that the child is in need of special education and related services;

"(ii) the parent of the child has requested an evaluation of the child pursuant to section 614(a)(1)(B); or

"(iii) the teacher of the child, or other personnel of the local educational agency, has expressed specific concerns about a pattern of behavior demonstrated by the child, directly to the director of special education of such agency or to other supervisory personnel of the agency.

"(C) EXCEPTION.—A local educational agency shall not be deemed to have knowledge that the child is a child with a disability if the parent of the child has not allowed an evaluation of the child pursuant to section 614 or has refused services under this part or the child has been evaluated and it was determined that the child was not a child with a disability under this part.

"(D) CONDITIONS THAT APPLY IF NO BASIS OF KNOWLEDGE.—

"(i) In General.—If a local educational agency does not have knowledge that a child is a child with a disability (in accordance with subparagraph (B) or (C)) prior to taking disciplinary measures against the child, the child may be subjected to disciplinary measures applied to children without disabilities who engaged in comparable behaviors consistent with clause (ii).

"(ii) Limitations.—If a request is made for an evaluation of a child during the time period in which the child is subjected to disciplinary measures under this subsection, the evaluation shall be conducted in an expedited manner. If the child is determined to be a child with a disability, taking into consideration information from the evaluation conducted by the agency and information provided by the parents, the agency shall provide special education and related services in accordance with this part, except that, pending the results of the evaluation, the child shall remain in the educational placement determined by school authorities."

Report language: "The Conferees intend to assure that the manifestation determination is done carefully and thoroughly with consideration of any rare or extraordianry circumstances presented. Additionally, it is the intention of the Conferees that when a student has violated a code of conduct school personnel may consider any unique circumstances on a case-by-case basis to determine to whether a change of placement for discipline purposes is appropriate. The Conferees intend that if a change in placement is proposed, the manifestation determination will analyze the child's behavior as demonstrated across settings and across time when determining whether the conduct in question is a direct result of the disability. The Conferees intend that in situations where the local educational agency, the parent and the relevant members of the IEP team determine that the conduct was the direct result of the child's disability, a child with a disability should not be subject to discipline in the same manner as a non-disabled child.

"The Conferees intend that in order to determine that the conduct in question was a manifestation of the child's disability, the local educational agency, the parent and the relevant members of the IEP team must determine the conduct in question be the direct result of the child's disability. It is intention of the Conferees that the conduct in question was caused by, or has a direct and substantial relationship to, the child's disability, and is not an attenuated association, such as low self-esteem, to the child's disability."

"(c) Approval Process.—

"(1) Deemed approval.—The Secretary shall review (including the specific provisions described in subsection (b)) each performance plan submitted by a State pursuant to subsection (b)(1)(B) and the plan shall be deemed to be approved by the Secretary unless the Secretary makes a written determination, prior to the expiration of the 120-day period beginning on the date on which the Secretary received the plan, that the plan does not meet the requirements of this section, including the specific provisions described in subsection (b).

"(2) Disapproval.—The Secretary shall not finally disapprove the plan, except after giving the State educational agency notice and an opportunity for a hearing.

"(2) DETERMINATION.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—Based on the information provided by the State in the State performance report, information obtained through monitoring visits, and any other public information made available, the Secretary shall determine if the State—

"(i) meets the requirements and purposes of this part;

"(ii) needs assistance in implementing the requirements of this part;

"(iii) needs intervention in implementing the requirements of this part; or

"(B) NOTICE AND OPPORTUNITY FOR A HEARING.—For any determinations made under subparagraph (A), the Secretary shall provide reasonable notice and an opportunity for a hearing on such determination.

"(B) Direct the use of State level funds under section 611(e) on the area or areas in which the State needs assistance.

"(C) Identify the State as a high-risk grantee and impose special conditions on the State's grant under this part.

"(2) NEEDS INTERVENTION.—If the Secretary determines, for 3 or more consecutive years, that a State needs intervention under subsection (d)(2)(iii) in implementing the requirements of this Act, the following shall apply:

"(A) The Secretary may take any of the actions in (1), and

"(B) The Secretary shall take 1 or more of the following actions:

"(i) Require the State to prepare a corrective action plan or improvement plan if the Secretary determines that the State should be able to correct the problem within 1 year.

"(ii) Require the State to enter into a compliance agreement under section 457 of the General Education Provisions Act, if the Secretary has reason to believe that the State cannot correct the problem within 1 year.

"(iii) Each year of the determination withhold not less than 20 and not more than 50 percent of the State's funds under section 611(e), until the Secretary determines the State has sufficiently addressed the areas in which the State needs intervention.

"(iv) Seek to recover funds under section 452 of the General Education Provisions Act.

"(v) Withhold, in whole or in part, any further payments to the State under this part pursuant to paragraph (5).

"(vi) Refer the matter for appropriate enforcement action, which may include referral to the Department of Justice.

"(A) Recover funds under section 452 of the General Education Provisions Act.

"(B) Withhold, in whole or in part, any further payments to the State under this part.

"(C) Refer the case to the Office of the Inspector General at the Department of Education.

"(D) Refer the matter for appropriate enforcement action, which may include referral to the Department of Justice.

"(4) OPPORTUNITY FOR HEARING.—

"(A) WITHHOLDING OF FUNDS.—Prior to withholding any funds under this section, the Secretary shall provide reasonable notice and an opportunity for a hearing to the State educational agency involved.

"(B) SUSPENSION.—Pending the outcome of any hearing to withhold payments under subsection (b), the Secretary may suspend payments to a recipient, suspend the authority of the recipient to obligate funds under this part, or both, after such recipient has been given reasonable notice and an opportunity to show cause why future payments or authority to obligate funds under this part should not be suspended.

"(5) REPORT TO CONGRESS.—The Secretary shall report to the Committee on Education and the Workforce in the House of Representatives and the Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions in the Senate within 30 days of taking enforcement action pursuant to paragraph (1), (2) or (3), on the specific action taken and the reasons why enforcement action was taken.

"(6) NATURE OF WITHHOLDING.—

"(A) LIMITATION.—If the Secretary withholds further payments pursuant to paragraphs (2) or (3), the Secretary may determine—

"(i) that such withholding will be limited to programs or projects, or portions thereof, that affected the Secretary's determination in (d)(2); or

"(ii) that the State educational agency shall not make further payments under this part to specified State agencies or local educational agencies that caused or were involved in the Secretary's determination in subsection (d)(2).

"(B) WITHHOLDING UNTIL RECTIFIED.—Until the Secretary is satisfied that the conditions that caused the initial withholding has been substantially rectified—

"(i) payments to the State under this part shall be withheld in whole or in part; and

"(ii) payments by the State educational agency under this part shall be limited to State agencies and local educational agencies whose actions did not cause or were not involved in the Secretary's determination in (d)(2), as the case may be.

"(7) PUBLIC ATTENTION.—Any State educational agency that has received notice under subsection (d)(2) shall, by means of a public notice, take such measures as may be necessary to bring the pendency of an action pursuant to this subsection to the attention of the public within the State.

"(8) JUDICIAL REVIEW.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—If any State is dissatisfied with the Secretary's action with respect to the eligibility of the State under section 612, such State may, not later than 60 days after notice of such action, file with the United States court of appeals for the circuit in which such State is located a petition for review of that action. A copy of the petition shall be transmitted by the clerk of the court to the Secretary. The Secretary thereupon shall file in the court the record of the proceedings upon which the Secretary's action was based, as provided in section 2112 of title 28, United States Code.

"(B) JURISDICTION; REVIEW BY UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT.—Upon the filing of such petition, the court shall have jurisdiction to affirm the action of the Secretary or to set it aside, in whole or in part. The judgment of the court shall be subject to review by the Supreme Court of the United States upon certiorari or certification as provided in section 1254 of title 28, United States Code.

"(C) STANDARD OF REVIEW.—The findings of fact by the Secretary, if supported by substantial evidence, shall be conclusive, but the court, for good cause shown, may remand the case to the Secretary to take further evidence, and the Secretary may thereupon make new or modified findings of fact and may modify the Secretary's previous action, and shall file in the court the record of the further proceedings. Such new or modified findings of fact shall be conclusive if supported by substantial evidence.

"(f) STATE ENFORCEMENT.—If a State educational agency determines that a local educational agency is not meeting the requirements of this part, including the targets in the State's performance plan, the State educational agency shall prohibit the local educational agency from reducing the local educational agency's maintenance of effort under this part as local funds under section 613(a)(2)(C) for any fiscal year.

"(g) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION.—Nothing under this section shall be construed to restrict the Secretary from utilizing any authority under the General Education Provisions Act to monitor and enforce the requirements of this Act."

Report language: "The Conferees believe that accurate decision making with regard to enforcement of the IDEA is required in order to: (1) ensure that federal dollars are being spent productively on education, and, (2) to ensure that monitoring and enforcement is administered fairly. It is our expectation that state performance plans, indicators, and targets will be developed with broad stakeholder input and public dissemination.

"The Secretary is directed to monitor states using rigorous targets and to request such information from states and stakeholders as is necessary to implement the purposes of IDEA, including the use of onsite monitoring visits and student file reviews, and to enforce the requirements of the IDEA.

"Conferees strongly encourage the Secretary to review all relevant and publicly available data, including the data gathered under Section 618, related to the targets and priority areas established for reviewing the efforts of States and local educational agencies to implement the requirements and purposes of IDEA. The Secretary is also authorized to use qualitative measures to inform his decision-making process in determining the efforts of the State or LEA in implementing IDEA.

"Conferees recommend that the Secretary diligently investigate any root causes prior to selecting enforcement options, so that enforcement options are appropriately selected and have the greatest likelihood in yielding improvement in that state. However, investigations must not unduly delay the enforcement action."

Report language: "Conferees commend the Office of Special Education & Rehabilitative Services for developing updated early intervention materials that set out the full range of options for families with deaf and hard of hearing children who now have the potential to develop age appropriate language in whatever modality their parents choose. Dramatic improvements in hearing technology, both hearing aids and cochlear implants, provide new opportunities for families who wish to pursue spoken language for their child with hearing loss. These new materials and efforts further the goals of the IDEA that early intervention personnel actively provide comprehensive and bias-free information on the range of language options available to a child with hearing loss, including the benefits of early amplification and/or early implantation of a cochlear implant."

(295a) The House bill requires that services be provided in a setting other than the natural environment only when intervention cannot be achieved satisfactorily in that setting. The Senate amendment requires that services be provided in the natural setting unless a specific outcome cannot be met.

SR with an amendment to read as follows:

"(B) the provision of early intervention services for any infant or toddler occurs in a setting other than a natural environment that is most appropriate, as determined by the parent and the individualized family service plan team, only when early intervention cannot be achieved satisfactorily for the infant or toddler in a natural environment."

Report language: "The legislation amends current law to recognize that there may be instances when a child's individualized family service plan cannot be implemented satisfactorily in the natural environment. The Conferees intend that in these instances, the child's parents and the other members of the individualized family service plan team will together make this determination and then identify the most appropriate setting in which early intervention services can be provided."

(295b) The Senate amendment, but not the House bill, requires procedures for homeless children and wards of the State.

SR

(296) The Senate amendment does not include this requirement.

SR with an amendment to strike "consistent with State law within 3 years."

(297) Both the House bill and the Senate amendment allow States to continue to provide services to children aged 3–5 in the Part C program, if the parent chooses to keep their child in that system. The Senate amendment consolidates its language in this section. The House bill incorporates language in multiple areas.

HR with an amendment to read as follows:

"(b) FLEXIBILITY TO SERVE CHILDREN 3 YEARS OF AGE UNTIL ENTRANCE INTO ELEMENTARY SCHOOL.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—A statewide system described in section 633 may include a State policy, developed and implemented jointly by the lead agency and the State educational agency, under which parents of children with disabilities who are eligible for services under section 619 and previously received services under this part, may choose the continuation of early intervention services (which shall include an educational component that promotes school readiness and incorporates pre-literacy, language, and numeracy skills) for such children under this part until such children enter, or are eligible under State law to enter, kindergarten.

"(2) REQUIREMENTS.—If a statewide system includes a State policy described in paragraph (1), the statewide system shall ensure—

"(A) that parents of children served pursuant to this subsection are provided with annual notice that provides—

"(i) a description of such parents' right to elect services pursuant to this subsection or under part B; and

"(ii) an explanation of the differences between receiving services pursuant to this subsection and receiving services under part B, including—

"(I) the types and location of services available under both provisions;

"(II) applicable procedural safeguards under both provisions; and

When aligned to state standards such programs create a high level of accountability for local programs serving children with disabilities.

“The HOSTS Language Arts program, which is used widely in Texas, Ohio, Florida, Delaware, Michigan, Louisiana, and other states, is an example of such a program. HOSTS Learning programs have assisted schools in significantly improving student achievement and test results for all children, including children with disabilities. Research conducted by Bowling Green University has specifically demonstrated the efficacy of HOSTS Learning with children with disabilities and with children whose low achievement might otherwise cause them to be mislabeled as disabled.

“It has been demonstrated that these programs reduce academic failure, promote the integration of children with disabilities into the mainstream of educational success, decrease the incidence of school dropout, substance abuse, teen pregnancy, crime, and unemployment. This is instrumental in restoring trust in America's schools. Specifically, the conferees believe these intensive, research-based learning systems, that utilize teacher oversight, diagnostic and prescriptive tools, and community engagement, dramatically increase student achievement and implement the recommendations of the National Reading Panel for all children.”

TRIBUTE TO COACH WILLIE JEFFRIES

HON. JAMES E. CLYBURN

OF SOUTH CAROLINA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, November 16, 2004

Mr. CLYBURN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to a trailblazer, an athletic legend and a dear friend—Coach Willie Jeffries. Coach Jeffries has dedicated much of his extraordinary career to my alma mater, South Carolina State University in Orangeburg, South Carolina. But his impact has been felt far beyond that campus.

Coach Jeffries is a man of humble beginnings. He was born in Union, South Carolina. His widowed mother raised him in a two-room house in this segregated Southern town. Earning money by working various jobs at the local white-only country club, he got to see how the other side lived.

He graduated from South Carolina State University with a bachelor's degree in civil engineering and a master's degree in guidance and counseling. Having played football and baseball for the historically black college, Coach Jeffries secured coaching jobs at segregated high schools in Lancaster and Gaffney, South Carolina. After compiling a 6-year 65–7–2 record with three consecutive State AAA championships, North Carolina A&T came calling with an assistant coach's job, which started Coach Jeffries in college coaching. He was next lured to Pittsburgh as an assistant coach. There he tasted coaching against big-time college football schools such as Florida State, UCLA and West Virginia.

But when his alma mater sought him out, the 36-year-old Coach Jeffries jumped at the chance to come home and lead his beloved Bulldogs. In six seasons as his alma mater's head coach, he compiled a 50–13–4 record and became a hot prospect for other head coaching positions. It was an offer from Wichita State in Kansas that enticed Coach Jeffries to leave S.C. State. It was historic. Coach Jeffries became the first African American to serve as the head football coach of a predominantly white university. At Wichita State, he led a team that had lost 14 of its last 15 seasons to an 8–3 season after 4 years of rebuilding. After 5 years, he left the program, which later folded, and became the head coach for Howard University, where he spent another 5 years.

In 1989, another tug from S.C. State brought Coach Jeffries back to the place where his love of football began. He coached another 13 years, before retiring following the 2001 season to become the director of athletic fund raising for the Bulldogs. During his 29-year coaching career, Coach Jeffries amassed a 179–132–6 record. This tremendous record included six Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference (MEAC) championships, two national titles, several post-season appearances, and numerous coaching awards. He holds the title for the most wins of any S.C. State coach and the most MEAC victories.

Coach Jeffries has been inducted into the South Carolina State University Athletic Hall of Fame, the South Carolina Athletic Hall of Fame and the MEAC Hall of Fame. He has been honored with South Carolina's Order of the Silver Crescent, the State's highest award for community service. He has received the Black Coaches' Association Lifetime Achievement Award and is enshrined in the Palmetto State's Black Hall of Fame. Since 2002, he has served on the NCAA Football Rules Committee.

Mr. Speaker, I ask you and my colleagues to join me in commending Coach Willie Jeffries for his extraordinary contributions and courage. He is a legendary football coach that has touched many lives on and off the playing field. He is an inspiration to young people who aspire to rise above their current circumstances and even break barriers. This humble man from humble beginnings is a role model, a resilient leader, and a renowned motivator. In short, Coach Willie Jeffries is a national treasure.

RESOLUTION HONORING THE LIFE AND CONTRIBUTIONS OF YOGI BHAJAN

HON. TOM UDALL

OF NEW MEXICO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, November 16, 2004

Mr. UDALL of New Mexico. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to introduce a resolution honoring the life and numerous contributions of Yogi Bhajan, the chief religious and administrative authority for Sikhism in the West. Yogi Bhajan passed away in Española, New Mexico on October 6th.

A native of India, Yogi Bhajan introduced thousands around the world to Sikhism, a religion that carries the message of truthful living and the fundamental unity of humanity, and reaches out to people of all backgrounds to work together for world peace. When he came to the United States in 1968, Yogi Bhajan recognized immediately that the experience sought by many young people through drugs could be alternatively achieved through Kundalini yoga, which stimulates individual growth through breath, chanting, and meditation among other components. Soon after, he founded the Healthy, Happy, Holy Organization (3110), a nonprofit private educational and scientific foundation with 300 centers in 35 countries, dedicated to improving physical well-being, deepening spiritual awareness, and offering guidance on matters of health and heart. He later also founded a successful drug rehabilitation program that blends ancient yogic wisdom of the East with modern technology of the West.

In 1971, the president of the governing body of Sikh Temples in India gave Yogi Bhajan the title of chief religious and administrative authority for Sikhism in the Western Hemisphere. That same year, the Sikh Dharma was legally incorporated and recognized as a religion in the U.S., and soon after Yogi Bhajan founded the Sikh ashram that still thrives in Espanola, New Mexico in my district. Yogi Bhajan wrote 30 books and inspired 200 more through his teaching, and inspired the founding of several businesses including Akal Security Inc., one of the fastestgrowing security companies in the nation. Throughout his lifetime, he traveled the world and met with world leaders such as Pope John Paul II and the Dalai Lama to discuss world peace and religious unity. He also served as informal counsel to numerous political and spiritual leaders. As the resolution states, Yogi Bhajan's teachings and the businesses formed under his inspiration, improved personal, political, spiritual and professional relations between citizens of the United States and citizens of the nation of India.

After the terrorist attacks on U.S. soil on September 11th, Yogi Bhajan reached out to Sikhs across America, encouraging and helping them to educate their fellow citizens about Sikhs, and to work with law enforcement and community leaders to help them protect Sikh populations. He established links to human rights advocates nationwide to ensure that the issue of Sikh identity was understood and respected. When a Sikh man named Balbir Singh Sodhi was murdered in Arizona five days after 9/11, Yogi Bhajan worked with community and government leaders in Arizona to help raise awareness about the Sikh community there, and to honor Balbir Singh with a major memorial event.

I had the privilege of Yogi Bhajan's friendship and support for more than 20 years. He was a dynamic, powerful person with a strong devotion to human rights, religious freedom, and good health. Whatever one's faith, he had the right words, the right lesson, and the right message. He spoke to us all, and he inspired us. Around the world he was a powerful voice for peace.

The resolution I am introducing today recognizes Yogi Bhajan as a wise teacher and mentor, an outstanding pioneer, a champion of peace and compassionate human being, and extends condolences on his passing. I would like to thank Representatives Joe Wilson and Joe Crowley, the Co-Chairs of the House India Caucus who have helped build support for this resolution, as well as Senators Jeff Bingaman and Pete Domenici, who will introduce the Senate companion. I also thank the bipartisan groups of original cosponsors who join me in urging my colleagues to support this important resolution.

RECOGNIZING BUCKNER CHRISTIAN CHURCH

HON. SAM GRAVES

OF MISSOURI

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, November 17, 2004

Mr. GRAVES. Mr. Speaker, I proudly pause to recognize the Buckner Christian Church. On November 14, 2004, the Buckner Christian Church celebrated 120 years of service. In 1884, after much thought and prayer, twenty-six devout Christians in or near Buckner Hill, most members of Sibley Christian Church, elected a building committee of four. Together they founded the church. They organized themselves "into a congregation of worshiping Disciples, by renewing our covenant with our Heavenly Father, and pledging our mutual faith to each other, promising thereby to take the Word of God as our only rule of faith."

On November 8, 1884, the trustees purchased four lots for $100 in the town of Buckner Hill. Despite many weather disasters and set-backs, a simple, almost austere, building was erected and the congregation was able to attend church in their own sanctuary. In 1923, plans were made to build a new church. On March 24, 1924, the old building was moved to the lots at the back of the site where services continued while a new church was built. The cornerstone of the new building was laid on June 15, 1924, and on Sunday, May 3, 1925, the new church was dedicated debt-free, with services in the morning, a basket dinner at noon, and an afternoon formal dedication service. The Independence Christian Church loaned an old pulpit to the church which is still in use today. This pulpit was once used by Alexander Campbell during one of his visits to Independence. In 1957, city water was installed and the baptistery remodeled. In 1963, the first telephone was installed. In 1995, the stained glass windows were replaced and a new wooden window-sash was made. In 1997, a new slate roof replaced the old one.

Mr. Speaker, I proudly ask you to join me in congratulating the Buckner Christian Church on 120 years of service. I honor the early members of the church as they tried to keep their Christian commitment in their community. Today, I honor the young people of the church and those who will lead it in the future. May the Buckner Christian Church grow and prosper in this new century.

TRIBUTE TO EDWARDSVILLE TIGERS GIRLS' GOLF TEAM

HON. JOHN SHIMKUS

OF ILLINOIS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, November 17, 2004

Mr. SHIMKUS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to the Edwardsville Girls' Golf Team. The Tigers recently won their first state championship in golf, finishing their season with a perfect record. This outstanding southern Illinois sports team is the first girls' golf team south of the state capitol to capture a state title.

The Tigers' hard work and dedication to the sport this season has allowed them to capture this title. The Tigers performed twenty-three strokes better than all other teams in competition for the state title.

My congratulations go to the Edwardsville Tigers Girls' Golf Team and retiring Coach Gary Bair on an outstanding season!

HON. ROSA L. DeLAURO

OF CONNECTICUT

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, November 17, 2004

Ms. DELAURO. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to two individuals from my state who have played a major role in the war in Iraq. Judith and Larry Moore, both civilians from Somers, Connecticut, played a very special role in the war effort.

As everyone knows, it happens rarely but occasionally that military spouses are simultaneously deployed. Christopher and Bryony Soltis, both Army doctors, were sent to Iraq last year with the Army's 1st Armored Division. With a new child in tow, it was a difficult time. The entire family was separated for over a year as Christopher and Bryony cared for wounded soldiers and civilians in Baghdad. They turned to Christopher's mother and stepfather to care for their 7-month-old daughter, Madeline.

Judy and Larry Moore were up to the task. Together, Judith and Larry provided an environment in which Maddie thrived. They cared for Madeline every day from August 2003 to July 2004 while her parents were deployed. They put photos of her parents throughout the house, read her letters from afar, and reminded her daily that her parents would come home soon. Christopher and Bryony came home in late July 2004 to find their baby had grown into a loving, well-adjusted, beautiful toddler. I am told that Maddie recognized them immediately and ran to their arms when they arrived home.

Judy Moore knows full well the toll that deployment can take. She is a remarkable woman who has contributed enormously to her country. She served as a U.S. Air Force nurse from 1958–1960 and cared for Turkish prisoners while living abroad with her late husband, Lt. Colonel Ronald Soltis, a U.S. Air Force pilot. After more than 19 years of active duty service, LTC Soltis died suddenly in a tragic training accident, leaving behind Mrs. Moore and their three children.

Larry Moore is a retired small businessman who ran his own auto repair shop before retiring. Although he has considerable back pain from spinal stenosis, Larry provided "sole care" for Maddie when Judy broke her arm after a fall on an icy road during the winter. By all accounts, he succeeded fantastically.

Mr. Speaker, all Americans should share the pride that I feel for the Moore and Soltis families. They represent the best of American military service, our responsibility to our children, and our willingness to sacrifice in times of national need.

HONORING OAKLAND POLICE CHIEF RICHARD L. WORD

HON. BARBARA LEE

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, November 17, 2004

Ms. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor the contributions of Chief Richard L. Word of the Oakland Police Department in Oakland, California. After more than two decades of dedicated service, Chief Word will be leaving the Oakland area, and I would like to take this opportunity to recognize his contributions not only to the Police Department, but to the community as a whole.

Born and reared in San Francisco's Ingleside District, Chief Word graduated from Riordan High School in 1980. Following his time at Riordan, where he excelled academically and was a valued leader in the campus' Black Student Union, Chief Word attended San Francisco State University as well as the University of San Francisco. He then devoted two years to the San Francisco Sheriff's Department as a cadet and subsequently entered the Oakland Police Academy, where he would go on to become the valedictorian of the 1984 recruiting class.

Following his graduation, Chief Word rose quickly through the ranks of Sergeant and Lieutenant before being promoted to Captain in 1997 and was later sworn in as Oakland's Chief of Police on July 2, 1999. As the Chief of Police for the past five years, Chief Word has been a distinguished leader in many ways. Not only was he the youngest Chief in the Oakland Police Department's history, but his selection was also one of the first steps taken by Mayor Jerry Brown as part of his plan to dramatically reduce crime rates in the City of Oakland. In working to reach this goal, Chief Word employed a number of methods and strategies, such as strengthening the Department's Crime Analysis Section, assigning more officers to the field, and building closer ties to Oakland's neighborhoods through community policing, the use of joint problem-solving programs by community policing officers and neighborhood residents, and the establishment of the Youth Citizens Police Academy, which is comprised of youth from all of Oakland's high schools.

In addition to his work within the Police Department, Chief Word is involved with a number of community and professional organizations. He sits on the Board of Directors of the Oakland Chapter of the American Red Cross, the Boys and Girls Clubs of Oakland, and the California Police Chiefs Association. He also serves as Vice President of the Alameda County Police Chiefs' and Sheriffs' Association, and is a member of both the International Association of Chiefs of Police and the National Black Forum of Black Public Administrators. In addition to his accomplishments within the police force, Chief Word also earned a bachelor's degree in business administration from John F. Kennedy University, from which he graduated cum laude, and a master's degree in public administration from Golden Gate University. Furthermore, he completed the FBI National Academy, and recently graduated from the FBI National Executive Institute.

On November 12, 2004, Chief Word will be honored in Oakland, California for twenty years of outstanding service to the Oakland Police Department and the City of Oakland. This occasion is an opportunity for us to recognize him not only for his service within the Police Department, but also for his outstanding leadership on the issues of crime prevention and the development of community partnerships between law enforcement officers and neighborhood residents. By remaining active in and dedicated to these vital areas, Chief Word has contributed enormously to the City of Oakland and California's 9th Congressional District. I salute and congratulate Chief Word for his many years of invaluable service.

RECOGNIZING ADMIRAL RICHARD TRULY ON HIS RETIREMENT AS DIRECTOR OF THE NATIONAL RENEWABLE ENERGY LABORATORY

HON. BOB BEAUPREZ

OF COLORADO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, November 17, 2004

Mr. BEAUPREZ. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to a great American. At the end of this year, after a lifetime of dedicated service to his country, Admiral Richard Truly will be stepping down as Director of the National Renewable Energy Laboratory (NREL) located in Golden, Colorado.

As many of you know, NREL is the U.S. Department of Energy's premier laboratory for renewable energy research and development and a leading laboratory for energy efficiency research. Since first being elected to Congress two years ago, I have had the distinct pleasure of representing NREL and the many talented and dedicated employees that work at the lab. Through the leadership of Admiral Truly, NREL has continued to be at the forefront of new scientific discoveries, developing new energy technologies to benefit both the environment and the economy.

I first became acquainted with Richard Truly through his position as Director of NREL, but as I later learned this is but one of the many great contributions he has made to his country in his storied career as a public servant. Prior to his service at NREL, Admiral Truly served as NASA's eighth Administrator under President Bush from 1989–92, and his career in aviation and space programs of the U.S. Navy and NASA spanned 35 years. He retired as a Vice Admiral after a Navy career of more than 30 years. As a naval aviator, test pilot and astronaut, he logged over 7,500 hours and made over 300 carrier arrested landings, day and night.

Under his leadership, NASA matured the Space Shuttle, solidified Space Station plans and initiated new space science and aeronautics programs. He initiated major acquisition reforms and significantly streamlined the agency. He continually placed a very strong emphasis on NASA's math and science educational programs. In recognition of these accomplishments, President Reagan awarded the Presidential Citizen's Medal to Admiral Truly in 1989.

While I am quite certain that the great works that Admiral Truly and his staff have been able to accomplish since he began serving as Director of NREL in May of 1997 will continue under new leadership, the next Director will certainly have big shoes to fill.

Again, I want to congratulate him for his many outstanding years of public service. I wish both him and his wife many years of happiness as they move into this new stage of their lives.

HONORING NEW JERSEY BLOOD SERVICES

HON. MIKE FERGUSON

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, November 17, 2004

Mr. FERGUSON. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor the members of New Jersey's Blood Services on their 30th Anniversary.

Since September 1973, New Jersey Blood Services has been serving the residents of New Jersey by collecting blood, holding blood drives and recruiting donors. NJBS has collected more than 2.2 million blood donations throughout its 30-year history, has developed important relationships with the American Red Cross and fostered several partnerships to provide health services throughout the State of New Jersey.

NJBS has pioneered efforts in mobile aphaeresis collections that have gained the attention of collection organizations throughout the country. The group also has piloted several programs to ensure the safety of both blood donors and recipients. Its efforts, combined with those of New Jersey-based businesses, have lead to tremendous success in local blood drives to provide for New Jerseys' blood needs.

Mr. Speaker, I commend all Americans who work hard to support the blood supply needs of the United States. These men and women work tirelessly to protect and preserve the lives and health of their fellow citizens.

I ask my colleagues to join with me in congratulating the New Jersey Blood Service for its 30 years of service to our communities.

HONORING STAFF SERGEANT THEODORE "SAM" HOLDER II

HON. THOMAS G. TANCREDO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, November 17, 2004

Mr. TANCREDO. Mr. Speaker, it is with deep regret and heartfelt admiration that I rise today honor a fallen Marine from my district, Staff Sergeant Theodore "Sam" Holder II of Littleton. Sadly, Staff Sergeant Holder was killed in the line of duty during combat operations on Veterans Day in the Al Anbar Province of Iraq.

Staff Sergeant Holder was an Infantry Unit Leader with Company A, 1st Light Armored Recon, 1st Battalion, 3rd Marine Regiment, Regimental Combat Team 7, 1st Marine Division, I Marine Expeditionary Force based in Camp Pendleton, California.

His unit was fighting terrorists in Fallujah. He was just 27 years old.

"Sam" was a graduate of Green Mountain High School in Lakewood, and served his country for 8 years with distinction including tours protecting American diplomats and interests abroad at our Embassies. He also guarded Secretary of State Colin Powell at one time, and met both President George W. Bush and former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger. His friends described him as "a special person," and "the ultimate Marine."

He was an accomplished soldier whose awards include the Navy and Marine Corps Achievement Medal, the Marine Corps Good Conduct Medal, the Navy and Marine Corps Overseas Service Ribbon, the Marine Security Guard Ribbon and the National Service Defense Medal.

Mr. Speaker, my deepest sympathies go out to the family of Staff Sergeant Holder. He served his country honorably and with distinction in the War on Terror, making the ultimate sacrifice fighting for freedom and democracy in defense of a grateful Nation. He will be missed by all who knew and loved him.

Americans owe him a great debt of gratitude. His dedication and bravery will not be forgotten.

IN HONOR OF GOLDIE MALONE

HON. DENNIS J. KUCINICH

OF OHIO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, November 17, 2004

Mr. KUCINICH. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in honor and recognition of my dear friend, Goldie Malone, as she is being honored by the Croation Fraternal Union, (CFU) for her remarkable service to the Union, and for her outstanding and continued service to our community.

Born to Nicholas and Helen Strahinic in Cleveland, Ohio, Goldie learned the significance of family, faith community, heritage and hard work from an early age. While attending Jane Addams High School in Cleveland, Goldie worked at the White Dove Mattress Company. After high school graduation, she continued working at Dove Mattress for another 13 years. In 1952, Goldie married James Malone, and together they raised their daughter, Jamie, who now resides in Illinois. Beyond caring for her family, Goldie Malone has always reached out into the community, sharing her time and talents with those around her. She joined Zumberak Lodge nearly 60 years ago, and became Fraternal Secretary in October of 1953, a position she still holds today. Throughout the years, Goldie has consistently reflected a spark of energy and joy within every CFU project and event.

Ahead of her time, Goldie organized CFU's first Ladies Basketball Team in 1952—a division of the CFU. The league still exists today. She has organized numerous youth basketball teams and projects, and initiated countless fundraisers in support of community youth activities. Her abilities as a leader were evidenced during her 8 year tenure as President of the Board of the CFU, and as the past President of the Ohio Fraternal Congress in the late seventies. Moreover, Goldie actively worked to preserve and promote the culture and history of Croatia. She directed her energies toward the youth of the CFU, so that they would gain a deep understanding and appreciation of their Croation heritage. She led the efforts to raise funds for costumes, musical instruments and other materials reflective of their Eastern European homeland.

Mr. Speaker and Colleagues, please join me in tribute and recognition of Goldie Malone, as she is honored by the Croation Fraternal Union for her outstanding dedication, clear vision, hard work and unequalled leadership within this historic organization. Goldie Malone continues to be an inspiration to everyone in her life—especially to her family and friends. Her loyalty, friendship, convictions, boundless energy and good works are invaluable gifts to all of us who know her well, and her dedication and work has uplifted the Croation Fraternal Union, and has uplifted our entire Greater Cleveland community.

TRIBUTE TO CONGRESSMAN JACK QUINN

HON. EDOLPHUS TOWNS

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, November 17, 2004

Mr. TOWNS. Mr. Speaker, I rise in honor of the gentleman from New York, my colleague in the New York delegation JACK QUINN. After 12 years of distinguished service, JACK has chosen to leave the Chamber. But he can do so knowing that he was an effective and tireless representative for his constituents in the Buffalo area. JACK has successfully opened and closed over 10,000 cases on behalf of the people in his district, which I believe speaks volumes about the type of care and concern he showed his constituents.

JACK is the only New York State Member of the Veterans' Affairs Committee, and has been a vital resource for our veterans in New York and across the country. In April 1996, he was awarded the prestigious AMVETS Silver Helmet Award for his work on behalf of our Nation's veterans.

As chairman of the Railroads Subcommittee, JACK has been a strong and consistent voice in fighting hard for preserving Amtrak. Amtrak remains a critical part of our transportation infrastructure, especially in New York and along the Northeast corridor. JACK's leadership on this issue has greatly benefited all of us who rely on this important national passenger rail system. In fact, his commitment to this issue earned him the "Golden Spike Award" from the National Association of Railroad Passengers. Safety on railways is another key issue for Representative QUINN.

Mr. Speaker, JACK QUINN will be missed by his constituents as well as all of us who had the pleasure of working with him during the last 12 years. We wish you all of the best in the future.

A TRIBUTE TO MAGGIE KATIE BROWN KIDD

HON. DAVID SCOTT

OF GEORGIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, November 17, 2004

Mr. SCOTT of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to Mrs. Maggie Katie Brown Kidd, a loyal and loving wife and mother who has devoted her long and wonderfully blessed life to her family. Mrs. Kidd will be celebrating her 100th birthday with her family on November 26th in my congressional district.

Maggie was born on December 8, 1904 to Lucy and William "Doc" Brown of Stephens, Georgia; the eleventh of twelve children. William received the nickname "Doc" from his neighbors because of his reputation for helping anyone in need. His neighbors used to tell everyone to "go see Doc" if they were ever in trouble. Maggie began to develop a similar reputation as she grew up as she never hesitated from sharing whatever she had, even when she had little.

Lucy and Doc owned a farm in Stephens where the whole family was welcomed when they needed a place to live. Maggie continued this tradition when she took over the farm, offering a home to all of her relatives that needed one. She even helped raise her grandniece. The people who lived close to her farm knew her as a good neighbor. Her parents joined Mt. Zion Baptist Church in Stephens where Rosalyn worshipped and studied when she was a child. She still maintains a membership at the church today.

On November 30, 1940, Maggie married Willie Kidd. They had two children, Rosalyn and John and continued to work on her parent's farm. Maggie and Willie worked the farm until 1961, when she and Willie decreased the size of their farm and began gardening. Willie passed away in 1962 from complications due to diabetes. She lived on the same land until 1989. Now she lives with Rosalyn in Riverdale, GA where she continues to make beautiful quilts when her health permits. She is blessed to have four grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Mr. Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join me and Maggie's family in wishing her a happy 100th birthday.

HONORING THE KERITE COMPANY AS THEY CELEBATE THEIR 150TH ANNIVERSARY

HON. ROSA L. DeLAURO

OF CONNECTICUT

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, November 17, 2004

Ms. DELAURO. Mr. Speaker, it gives me great pleasure to rise today to join the Greater Valley Chamber of Commerce and the entire Valley community in extending my sincere congratulations to the Kerite Company of Seymour, Connecticut as they celebrate their 150th Anniversary. One of the oldest wire and cable companies in the United States, this is a remarkable milestone for this company which has become a true community landmark.

Founded in 1854 by Austin Goodyear Day, Kerite has long been a leader in the development and production of utility transmission and distribution power cables as well as industrial power cables. The innovations credited to Kerite have marked unparalleled technological advancements—with each new technology bringing the dawn of a new era, not only in the industry but in our society as well. The 1865 invention of the crosshead extruder by A.G. DeWolfe Kerite resulted in the first insulated telegraph wire. Kerite introduced the signal cable for railroads and was responsible for the first submarine power cable as well as for cable supplied to the Panama Canal. As the needs of industry changed, Kerite has adapted itself to provide quality products to its consumers. In modern history, the Kerite Company introduced the first 69 kilovolt and the first 138 kilovolt power cables and are responsible for the longest and deepest submarine power cable project in North America.

I had the opportunity to visit the Kerite Company in August of last year. Nestled in the Seymour community, the company has preserved much of its history in an onsite museum. While touring the facility, I was also able to develop a better understanding of the technology they are employing today. Through their continued commitment to providing quality and superior performance, the Kerite Company has developed an international reputation for service and value. It is this dedication that has allowed them to withstand the toughest test of all—the test of time.

For a century and a half, Kerite has been a pioneer in its industry and with its distinguished reputation has been a source of pride for the Seymour and Valley communties. Today, as the Kerite Company celebrates its past and looks ahead to the future, I am proud to stand and congratulate them on their 150th Anniversary and extend my very best wishes to them for many more years of success.
